CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-17436-7 - Fiction and History in England, 1066-1200
Laura Ashe
Index
More information

Index

Adrian IV, pope 174
Aeneid
  see Virgil
Ailred of Rievaulx
  Genealogia regum Anglorum 52
  Vita S. Edwardi 29, 31–3, 52, 77
Alexander III, pope 174, 176
Alnwick, capture of William the Lion at 114
Althusser, Louis 27
'Angevin empire' 97, 127, 157
  see also cross-Channel cohesion, historiography of Anglo-Norman historians 47, 58, 79
  see also Geffrei Gaimar; Henry of Huntingdon; Orderic Vitalis; William of Malmesbury Anglo-Norman literature, precocity of 23 see also genre, literary Anglo-Saxon Chronicle 5–6, 205–7
Anselm, Saint, archbishop of Canterbury
  on language 17
  on truth 119
antique romances
  see romans antiques, romans d'antiquité
Arbroath, royal abbey of 115
Arthurian literature 10
  see also Chrétien de Troyes assize of novel disseisin, the 103
Augustine, Saint, bishop of Hippo
  on language 15–17
  on prophecy 166

Bakhtin, Mikhail 134, 143
barbarism, collocated with paganism 116–17, 156–7, 175
Barthes, Roland 18, 65
Bayeux Tapestry, the 20–1, 35–47
  as an Anglo-Norman production 37, 43–4 borders of 46–7
  hermeneutic openness of 36–7, 44
  interpretive silences of 37–8, 39–41 lack of later influence of 78
  performative text of 41–3
  political bias of 36, 40
Benôit de Sainte-Maure 50
  Chronique des Ducs de Normandie 58, 67, 125
Bernard de Balliol, baron 102
Bernard of Clairvaux, Saint Vita sancti Malachiae 175
borderlands
  see Scotland, borderland loyalties; Wales, marcher society of; Vexin, the Norman Brittany, relations with England of 155
Broceliande, forest of 73–4
Bury St Edmunds, praise of 87

Canterbury
  Bayeux Tapestry connection of 36
  manuscript art of 40
Chrétien de Troyes 10, 73, 144
  Arthurian romances, fictionality of 24–5, 144–5
  Yvain 73, 118
Common Law, the English 11–14, 103, 104
communities, medieval 4
Copsi, Coxo, earl of Northumbria 44
Couronnement de Louis, The 109 cross-Channel cohesion 3
  historiography of 95
  division of landholding 75, 96
  literary reception and circulation 10 separatism 96–7
cultural utility, as a mode of analysis 19

Deeds of the Normans in Ireland, The see Song of Dermot and the Earl, The 'Description of England', the Anglo-Norman 207–8
Diarmait Mac Murchada, king of Leinster 159, 160, 173, 195
Domesday Book 48–9

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-17436-7 - Fiction and History in England, 1066-1200
Laura Ashe
Index
More information

Domnall Mac Donnchada, king of Osraige 183–5
Domnall Mór Ua Briain, king of Thomond 185
Dunwich, defence of 88

Eadmer of Canterbury
  Historia Novorum 40
Edgar Ætheling 44
Edith, queen of England, wife of Edward the Confessor 28, 45
Edward the Confessor, king of England 28, 31, 39, 45
Edwin, Eadwine, earl of Mercia 44
Eleanor of Aquitaine, queen of England 98, 125
English identity
  historiography of 7–9, 10–11, 94–5
  pre-Conquest 3–5
  relation with language of 8–9
  see also Common Law, the English Espurgatoire Seint Patriz
  see Marie de France
exile-and-return, literary motif of 107, 110–12
Expugnatio Hibernica
  see Gerald of Wales

Fornham, battle of 89, 91

Geffrei Gaimar
  Estoire des Engleis 20, 58, 124, 207
genre, literary 143
  chansons de geste 57, 108–10, 165
  epic 134, 143
  lyric 133, 134, 141–3, 144
  romance
    Continental, characteristics of 144–6 formation and origins of 134, 143–5 insular, characteristics of 22, 23–4, 26, 107, 123–4, 146, 157 love, as a structural principle of 144
  see also Bakhtin, Mikhail
Geoffrey, count of Nantes, brother of Henry II 128
Geoffrey V, count of Anjou, father of Henry II 54, 57
Geoffrey of Monmouth use of prophecy of 33, 166
  Historia regum Britanniae 24, 60–2, 124
    comparison of the Vulgate and First Variant versions 61
Gerald of Wales
  Expugnatio Hibernica 26–7, 161–3, 166–79
    moral interpretation in 167
    Fortune in 167–9
    influence of 163
    Irish barbarism, representation of 161, 173, 177–9 justification of conquest in 177, 192
    prophecies of Merlin in 169
    purposeful omission of events in 177, 187
  provincialism and family loyalty of 168, 169–70, 185
Gesta Normannorum Ducum 57–8
Gilbert de Munfichet, baron 90
Gilbert of Louth, monk 195, 197, 199
Godwinesons, the, family of Earl Godwine 28, 45
Gospatric fitz Orm, castellan 89

H. de Saltrey, clerical writer
  Tractatus de Purgatorio sancti Patricii 194–8 representation of Irish barbarism in 196–7
habitus, anthropological theory of 14
Harley Psalter, the 40
Harold Godwineson, king of England 39–41, 45
  as an illegitimate king 31, 37
  regarded as legitimate for purposes of prophecy 33
Hasting, viking invader of northern France 68–9
Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich 34, 66
Henry I, king of England 32, 49, 51, 76
Henry II, king of England 82, 91
  as a foreign king 104–5
  as 'fitz Empress' 105
  as legal reformer 11, 103
  as patron of literature 49–50, 67, 125–7 compared with Charlemagne 107
  doing penance at Becket's tomb 114
  English genealogy of 32, 52
  lack of imperial ambition of 127
  multiple identities of 52, 104–5, 107 policy for Ireland of 121, 187–9, 204 policy for Wales of 93, 171
  racial address in the charters of 93
  submission of the Irish kings to 188
  using mercenaries 92
Henry of Huntingdon 58
  on William the Conqueror 6
Henry, the 'Young King' 57, 82, 99
heraldry 85
Hervey de Montmorency, uncle of Richard fitz Gilbert 178
history
  and hagiography 33–4
  and topography 48–9, 59
  as a divine plan 77, 119
  as textuality 15, 18, 34, 65–6, 117–18
  see also Hegel, Georg Wilhelm Friedrich; Hugh of St Victor; Isidore of Seville; White, Hayden

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-17436-7 - Fiction and History in England, 1066-1200
Laura Ashe
Index
More information

Hugh Bigod, first earl of Norfolk 89
Hugh de Lacy, curial baron 190
Hugh del Chastel, lord of Châteauneuf-en-Thimerais 91
Hugh de Puiset, bishop of Durham 90
Hugh of Cyfeiliog, fifth earl of Chester 93
Hugh of St Victor
  on history 18
Humphrey (III) de Bohun 89, 91, 101, 102, 111

ideology, definition and use of 19
images, image-making 16
Ireland
  adoption of Irish and Welsh saints by the invaders of 186
  as a colonial and post-colonial space 27, 192–4, 201–4 causes of the English invasions of 173–4 connections with England of 160 distinctive characteristics of the Church of 175 feudal structures in 190
  interpreters in 164, 181
  justification of the conquest of 104, 176–80
  lay literacy in 164–5
  nature of English lordship of 189–90
  nature of the English invasions of 180–1, 188 paradoxes in the conquest of 192 regarded as barbarous and uncivilized 174–7 submission to Henry II of the kings of 188 Treaty of Windsor regarding 188
  see also Henry II, policy for Ireland of; Laudabiliter Isidore of Seville
  on historia 66
  on truth 117–18

Jameson, Fredric 154
John de Courcy, lord of Ulster 186, 189–90
John, king of England, lord of Ireland 57, 193, 204
Jordan Fantosme 56
  Chronicle 21–2, 81–120, 207
    compared with chansons de geste 107–10 Englishness expressed in 9, 89, 105
    as providential history 117–20 audience of 82–4
    barons loyal to Henry II, list of 111
    compared with the Romance of Horn 123, 154 disapproval of ravaging in 98–102 exile-and-return in 110–12
    nobility of townspeople and peasants in 88–9, 105 representation of London in 112 representations of Scottish atrocities in 115–17 representation of the Flemings in 85–6, 87–8 representation of William the Lion in 85, 101
    structure of 105, 106–7, 114
    use of 'foreigners' in 84–7, 90, 92, 110
    versification of 106

Kundera, Milan 148

Lacan, Jacques 161, 205
landholding
  as the source of nobility 59–60, 98, 119
  revolutionized by the Conquest 12–13, 104
  see also Domesday Book
Laudabiliter 174
Leicester, earl and countess of
  see Robert de Breteuil; Petronilla de Grandmesnil
Lévi-Strauss, Claude 161
London 112
Lorcán Ua Tuathail, Saint, archbishop of Dublin 184
Louis VII, king of France 82, 99

Mac Donnchada
  see Domnall Mac Donnchada
Magna Carta 104
Marie de France 165
  Espurgatoire Seint Patriz, attrib. to 198–201
    representation of the Irish in 199–200
  possible identity of 201
Maud, Matilda, Empress, wife of Geoffrey V of Anjou, mother of Henry II 32, 53, 105
Maud, Matilda, queen of England, wife of Henry I 32, 105
Maurice de Prendergast, 'of Osraige' 183–5
Maurice fitz Gerald, uncle of Gerald of Wales 167
Meiler fitz Henry, justiciar of Ireland 162
mercenaries, Brabançon 92
Morcar, earl of Northumbria 44
Murchad Ua Brain, king of Dubthar, executed by Strongbow 182–3 nationalism, historiography of 4

  see also English identity
Norman Conquest of England
  ambiguity in the justification of 172

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-17436-7 - Fiction and History in England, 1066-1200
Laura Ashe
Index
More information

continental responses to 35 effect on Normanitas of 56–7 revolution in landholding of 12–13, 48–9, 59–60, 104 traumatic effect of 3, 5–6 Normanitas 6–7, 55–7, 92–3
paradoxically threatened by the Conquest 56–7, 78
see also Wace, poet, Roman de Rou
Northumberland, ravaging of 99–101
Norwich, capture of 110

Odinel II d'Umfraville, baron 111
Odo, bishop of Bayeux and earl of Kent 36, 206
Orderic Vitalis 55, 57, 59
on ravaging 108
Orosius, Paulus
Historiarum adversus paganos libri septem 166
Osbert of Clare
Vita Edwardi 29, 30–1
Ovid, Publius Ovidius Naso
Fasti 132
Heroides: Epistula Dido Aeneae
Dido, representation of 133
twelfth-century interpretations of 139
lovesickness tropes derived from 130–1, 138–9
on Virgil's Aeneid 132
twelfth-century influence of 132, 133

paganism
collocated with barbarism 116–17, 156–7, 175
see also Thomas, poet, Romance of Horn, The Patrick, Saint 186, 195, 196, 199
Petronilla de Grandmesnil, countess of Leicester, wife of Robert de Breteuil 90
Philip, count of Flanders 99 points de capiton, Derridan, as a mode of analysis 2 post-colonialism
see Ireland, as a colonial and post-colonial space prophecy
in the vitae of Edward the Confessor 29–33
see also Geoffrey of Monmouth
Orosius, Paulus
Gerald of Wales, Expugnatio Hibernica
purgatory, twelfth-century invention of 195

race and racism, medieval forms of 7, 192, 202
Ranulf de Glanville, justiciar 111
Raymond fitz William fitz Gerald, 'le Gros', cousin of Gerald of Wales 178 repetition, the creation of culture by means of 112–13
see also Thomas, poet, Romance of Horn, The Richard de Lucy, justiciar 100, 101–2, 105, 111, 112
Richard fitz Gilbert de Clare, 'Strongbow', earl of Pembroke 90, 187–8
Richard fitz Nigel, administrator and bishop of London 102
Richard I, king of England 57, 107
Richard of Ilchester, bishop of Winchester 105, 111
Robert Curthose, duke of Normandy 49, 51, 54, 74, 205–6
Robert de Barry, baron, brother of Gerald of Wales 162
Robert de Breteuil, third earl of Leicester 89, 91, 102
Robert de Vaux, baron 111, 112
Robert fitz Stephen, baron, uncle of Gerald of Wales 162, 171, 187
Robert of Torigni 57
Roger Bigod, second earl of Norfolk 111
Roger de Breteuil, earl of Hereford 205
Roger Stuteville, sheriff of Northumberland 111
Roman d'Eneas, The 26, 124–46
ahistoricity of 134–5, 143, 145
gender theory applied to 128–9
Dido, representation of 138–40
lyric and lament in 138, 141–3
manuscript tradition of 126
marvels in 135, 136–7
Ovidian love tropes in 130–1, 138–9
tombs of Pallas and Camille in 136–7 twelfth-century colouring of 135–6
sources of 130, 138
romance
see genre, literary Romance of Horn, The
see Thomas, poet
romans antiques, romans d'antiquité 24, 124, 145
as Angevin propaganda 125
Ruaidrí Ua Conchobair, king of Connacht, high-king of Ireland 184, 187

Scotland
atrocities, Latin chroniclers' representations of 115–16
borderland loyalties 89
connections with France 85 regarded as barbarous 116–17
see also Jordan Fantosme, Chronicle

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-17436-7 - Fiction and History in England, 1066-1200
Laura Ashe
Index
More information

Song of Dermot and the Earl, The 27, 159–60, 180–7 ghosts in 159–60
ideology of conquest in 191, 193–4
lack of national bias in 181–3, 185, 186
law in 194
manuscript and date of 163
representation of the Irish in 181–3
secularity of 164, 165–6
sources of 181
spectre, 'symbolic debt' 47, 161
Stephen, king of England 53
Stephen of Lexinton, abbot of Clairvaux
on the Irish 202–3
Strongbow
see Richard fitz Gilbert
swords, legendary 57

Thomas Becket, Saint, archbishop of Canterbury 114, 115
Thomas, poet
Romance of Horn, The 22, 26, 121–4, 146–58
Christian ideology of 147, 149–50
compared with Jordan Fantosme's Chronicle 123, 154
historicity of 146, 151, 158
Horn, perfect character of 122–3, 147, 148
language, truthfulness of 146–7, 149–50
love in 147, 151–3
pagans, representation of 156–7
ravaging in 155–6
regional separatism in 154–6, 157
repetition in 148–51
versification of 123
Tinchebrai, Battle of 49
Todorov, Tzvetan 143
Tractatus de Purgatorio sancti Patricii
see H. de Saltrey, clerical writer translation, twelfth-century practice of 130

Ua Briain
see Domnall Mór Ua Briain

Vexin, the Norman 96–7
Virgil, Publius Vergilius Maro
Aeneid 132–3, 136
as a source for the Roman d'Eneas 130
Dido, representation of 132
sublimation of grief in 141–2
Vita Ædwardi 28–30, 45

Wace, poet 49, 124
as historian 54
Roman de Brut, The 50–1, 60–4, 98, 125
manuscript contexts of 64, 126
Roman de Rou, The 21, 49–55, 65–80
'Chronique ascendante' 52–4
false start of 68–70
hostility toward Anjou in 54
lack of success of 50–2
later reception of 80
Norman Conquest in 78
Normandy, origins of the name of 79–80
Normanitas in 66–8, 70, 79–80
textuality of 65–6, 71–2
sources of 58, 74
Wales
Henry II's policy for 171
marcher society of 104, 171–2, 185
Waltheof, earl of Northumbria 44, 205
Waterford, capture of 177–9
White, Hayden 18, 34
William the Conqueror, king of England, duke of Normandy as Edward the Confessor's legitimate successor 31, 38, 79 intentions for his heirs 53, 96
nationalistic bias in descriptions of 38 negative assessment of 6
seeking to conciliate the English 44, 45
William d'Aubigny, first earl of Arundel 91, 111
William d'Aubigny, second earl of Arundel 91
William II, 'Rufus', king of England 54, 205
William IV, 'the Lion', king of Scotland 82, 99, 101, 114, 115
see also Jordan Fantosme, Chronicle
William of Jumièges 58
William of Malmesbury
as an English historian 58–9
on barbarism 117
on Ireland 177
on the Norman Conquest 38–9, 72
on saints' bodies and other corpses 59, 137–8
on William the Conqueror 38–9
William, second earl of Gloucester 90–1

Žižek, Slavoj 19

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org