EC and UK Competition Law
Commentary, Cases and Materials
Maher M. Dabbah,
Queen Mary, University of London

EC and UK Competition Law: Commentary, Cases and Materials offers a clear, concise and comprehensive account of the competition rules of the EC and the UK. EC Competition rules are an important source of consultation, increasingly serving as a model followed by many countries when adopting or developing competition rules within their domestic legal systems. This book offers a single up-to-date source of all the important cases, legislation and guidelines, clearly annotated and presented. With a detailed commentary and case studies (with model answers) throughout, this book eliminates the need for students to consult multiple sources. Key developments in EC and UK competition law are covered: Regulation 139/2004 and Guidelines on Horizontal Mergers; Regulation 772/2004 and Guidelines on Technology Transfer Agreements; the Enterprise Act 2002; and recent amendments to the Competition Act 1998. Recent EC and UK judgments and decisions are covered: Commission v Bayer; Michelin v Commission; VW v Commission; and the Microsoft decision.

EU Enlargement and the Constitutions of Central and Eastern Europe
Anneli Albi
University of Kent

In the wake of the EU’s biggest enlargement to date, Anneli Albi’s book explores the adaptation of the constitutions of Central and Eastern Europe (CEE) for membership in the European Union. In response to the painful past, these new constitutions were notably closed to transfer of powers to international organizations, and instead accorded a prominent status to sovereignty and independence. A little more than a decade later, the process of amending these provisions in view of the transfer of sovereign powers to a supranational organization has proved a sensitive and controversial exercise. This book analyses these amendments against the background of comparative experience and theory of sovereignty, as well as the context of political sensitivities, such as rising euroscepticism, ahead of accession referendums.

Special features
• First comprehensive coverage of recent constitutional amendments for EU membership in the Central and Eastern European countries.
• Synopsis of the case-law in Central and Eastern Europe pertaining to the Europe Agreements, the EU and NATO, and application of international treaties.
• Comparative tables throughout the book to facilitate an overview of legal provisions and of constitutional developments in individual countries.

TEXTBOOK
European Union Law in a Global Context
Text, Cases and Materials
Trevor C. Hartley,
London School of Economics and Political Science
This book is a comprehensive introduction to European law in its international context. It also includes significant coverage of international and comparative law, especially in the area of human rights. The author provides an explanation of the basic principles of each topic covered. The inclusion of cases and extracts from EC treaties and other instruments make it an invaluable resource for students of EU law at university level, and its coverage of the practical application of EU law in British Courts will be of use to practitioners of the subject.

TEXTBOOK
Health Law and the European Union
Tamara K. Hervey,
University of Nottingham
And Jean V. McHale,
University of Leicester
How does the law of the European Union affect health law and policy? At first sight, it seems limited. However, despite its restricted formal competence, the EU has recently become increasingly involved in the health field. This book explores the various impacts of measures of EU law on national health law and policy. Through elaboration of selected examples, the authors show that, within the EU, health law cannot be regarded as a purely national affair.

Employment Policy and the Regulation of Part-time Work in the European Union
A Comparative Analysis
Edited by Silvana Sciarra,
Università degli Studi, Florence,
Paul Davies,
London School of Economics and Political Science
And Mark Freedland,
University of Oxford
Part-time work has been the fastest growing of all forms of ‘non-standard’ work. All Member States of the European Union have given increasing attention to its regulation over the past quarter century. This book examines the influence of European Community rules and procedures on the development by Member States of their policies towards part-time working. It consists of an analysis of the relevant EU rules, a consideration of the national policies and the impact upon them of the EU provisions, as well as a suggested framework for the identification of these influences.

The European Union and Conflict Prevention
Legal and Policy Aspects
Edited by V. Kronenberger, European Court of Justice, Luxembourg
And Jan Wouters, Université Catholique de Louvain, Belgium
This volume explores and scrutinizes the progress achieved by the European Union in the definition of a concrete conflict prevention strategy, as well as the challenges it still faces. Includes 25 original essays where contributors to the volume focus on the following issues: definition of and indicators for conflict prevention; institutional and constitutional dimension of conflict prevention; EU’s instruments for the prevention of violent conflicts; structural conflict prevention and mainstreaming conflict prevention into EU’s policies; and cooperation with other international organisations and civil society. European Comparative Company Law
Mads Andenas, British Institute of International and Comparative Law
And Frank Wooldridge, Notre Dame University
European Comparative Company Law is a contribution to the emerging discipline of European company law where both the harmonisation of company law by the EU, and also national jurisdictions are the important features. The EU Company Law Directives, the case law of the Court of Justice on the directives and the right to free movement and establishment in the Treaty of Rome, are considered.

Compensation for Personal Injury in English, German and Italian Law
A Comparative Outline
Basil Markesinis, University College London
Michael Coester, University of Munich
Guido Alpa, University of Rome
And Augustus Ullstein

Cross-border claims for personal injuries are becoming more common, creating a need to know more about the law of damages in Europe and America. This book aims to fill that gap by looking at the law in England, Germany and Italy.

Law and Governance in Postnational Europe
Compliance Beyond the Nation-State
Edited by Michael Zürn, Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin für Sozialforschung
And Christian Joerges, European University Institute, Florence

What accounts for compliance beyond the nation-state? Comparing compliance with regulations that have been formulated in a very similar way at different levels of governance, the authors demonstrate that verification and sanctioning systems seem to be more important than the presence of an agent that is able to enforce rules.

The Politics of Judicial Co-operation in the EU
Sunday Trading, Equal Treatment and Good Faith
Hans W. Micklitz, Otto-Friedrich-Universität Bamberg

The European legal order is largely based on judicial co-operation between the ECJ and the national courts. The three case studies outlined in the subtitle reveal that national courts and national litigants are mainly pursuing national interests, while the ECJ seeks European solutions.

For the transnational lawyer the present European situation is equivalent to that of a traveller compelled to cross legal Europe using a number of different local maps. To assist lawyers in the journey beyond their own locality The Common Core of European Private Law Project was launched in 1993 at the University of Trento under the auspices of the late Professor Rudolf B. Schlesinger. The aim of this collective scholarly enterprise is to unearth what is already common to the legal systems of European Union member states.

Security Rights in Movable Property in European Private Law

Edited by Eva-Maria Kieninger,
Bayerische-Julius-Maximilians-Universität Würzburg, Germany

The book presents a survey of the law relating to secured transactions in all member states of the EU. Following the Common Core Approach the national reports are centered around 15 hypotheticals dealing with the most important issues of secured transactions law such as the creation of security rights in different business situations, the relationship between debtor and secured creditor, the nature of the creditor’s rights and their enforcement as against third parties. Each case is followed by a comparative summary. A general report evaluates the possibilities of European harmonisation.

Mistake, Fraud and Duties to Inform in European Contract Law

Edited by Ruth Sefton-Green,
Université de Paris I

This book investigates how thirteen European legal systems solve twelve case studies about mistake, fraud or duties to inform in contract law. After considering the historical origins of these legal concepts, national reports explain each system’s solution. Comparative observations synthesise and evaluate the national rules.

Handbook on the European Arrest Warrant
Rob Blekxtoon, District Court of Amsterdam
On 13 June 2002 the Framework Decision on the European Arrest Warrant and Surrender Procedures between Members States of the European Union (EAW) was adopted by the Council of the European Union. Written by legal experts — practitioners and academics — this handbook offers an introduction to the EAW, its origin and its implications. It covers the history of extradition as a legal system and compares the EAW with the old system of extradition between the Member States. It includes the full text of the EAW with commentaries per paragraph.
