Index

adaptive learning models, and rationality, 23–4
additive separability, and decision cost, 48–9
agents, rules of institutions and behavior of, 251
Alger, D., 280n6, 351, 352n4, 355, 361
Allen, B., 348
allocation rules, and institutions, 250
Amihud, Y., 382
amplitude, of stock market bubbles, 417, 430–2
amygdala, damage to and models of mind, 86
analysis of variance (ANOVA): and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 366–8; and bubbles in stock market, 430–3
Anderson Darling (AD) test, 100
Andrews, J., 51–2
anonymity: and two-person bargaining games, 90, 98, 100
anthropology, and sharing behavior, 130.
See also ethnology
Arizona Stock Exchange (AZX), 383, 405–6
Arrow, K. J., 8n1, 9
autarky experiments, 208–10
autism, and behavioral research, 86, 88, 180
average variable cost (AVC), 268, 270
Axelrod, R., 181
backwards induction, and extensive form games, 153
Bailey, E. E., 267
Balenovich, D., 412–13, 417, 430
bargaining and bargaining games: and experimental design, 95–100; and first-mover advantage, 13n8, 100–8; and instructions for experiments, 117–26; oligopoly and studies of, 56–8; and property rights, 94–5; results of experiments compared to theoretical and experimental literature on, 111–14; signaling, trust, and punishment in, 191–7. See also dictator games; ultimatum games Baron-Cohen, S., 87, 180, 184
baseline environments: and off-floor trading, 332–4; and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 385–6 Baumol, W. J., 266–7, 269
Bayesian Bernoulli trials theory, 159–61
Becker, G. M., 26
Beckman, M., 348
behavior: contestable market experiments and industrial organization, 284–5; dictator game and cooperative, 130–1, 136; dynamical system for investor, 416–17; and extensive form games, 153; and fairness considerations in market, 6, 75; instabilities of and box design, 319; irrational in binary choice, 55; monopoly and collusive, 220–1; and Nash equilibrium analysis, 47–8; oligopoly markets and price-setting, 348; other-regarding in bargaining games, 115–16, 130; Slutsky-Hicks model of maximizing, 264; and theory of subject bidding, 252–3; ultimatum game and rejection, 151; ultimatum game and self-regarding, 137; uncertainty and bubbles in stock market, 429; verbal in economic theory and cognitive psychology, 11–16; Walrasian têtonnement auction and individual, 401–2. See also collusion; cooperation; expectations; fairness; markets; psychology; rationality and rational theory; reciprocity
Benoit, J., 349, 360
Berg, J. E., 75, 191, 197
Bernoulli trials experiment: and probability matching, 18–19
Index

design, 268–73; interpretation of experimental results, 276–85; and monopoly behavior, 265; sunk costs, conjectural variations, and entry barriers in, 266–8; parameter summary for, 268t; and PLATO posted-offer procedure, 273–5; role of buyers in, 275–6. See also markets cooperation: in dictator game, 130–1; and extensive form games, 84, 173t, 175–6; and mental algorithms for social exchange, 179–83; and repeated game theory, 178. See also behavior

Cosmides, L., 86, 137–8, 182, 199

cournot oligopoly, and bilateral bargaining, 56–8

Coursey, D., 258, 265–7, 270, 284

Cox, J., 204, 253n6

Cramer-Von Mises test, 100

Crano, W. D., 127n1, 187

crashes, of stock market: and exchange institutions, 247–8, 249f; severity of, 421; and verbal behavior, 16. See also bubbles culture: and bargaining games, 114; and cooperative behavior in dictator game, 130–1; and deep structure of language, 179–80; and monopoly, 222; and reciprocity, 178, 180. See also social context; social exchange

Dasgupta, P., 348

Davidson, C., 349, 362, 371–2

Davis, D., 349n1, 351, 352n4

Dawes, R. M., 49

day, R., 415–16
dealer services, and off-floor trading, 321. See also brokerage fees; commissions decision cost: and additive separability, 48–9; approach to formulation of, 41–2; effect of incentive rewards and opportunity cost on performance, 49–60; and fairness, 142; and motivation theory, 42–8; and rationality, 5–6, 18; and uncertainty, 51–5. See also decision making decision making: and adaptive learning models, 24; and effort or labor theory, 60; and expected utility theory, 264; and mind reading, 87–9; and models of mind, 199; models of in economic theory and cognitive psychology; and social context, 8n2; and standard mental model, 85. See also decision cost demand, and posted-bid pricing, 238–9 deneckere, R., 349, 362, 371–2 dictator game: and bargaining game experiments, 91–4, 97t, 101f, 103f, 108–17; and cooperative behavior, 130–1; cumulative distribution in, 129f; and experimental design, 135; and fairness, 127–8, 137–8; game theory and research on, 79–80, 82–4; and instructions for experiments, 122–6; and monetary incentives, 50–1; pairwise Epps-Singleton test for, 101f; pairwise Wilcoxon rank-sum test for, 103f; observability, signaling, and reciprocity behavior in, 186–7, 190–1; and social distance, 131–5, 149n6
discriminative price cutting, 296
disequilibrium adjustment process, and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 372–4 dominance, and behavior in extensive form games, 153 dominance case, and decision cost, 46–8 dominant strategy equilibrium, and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 381 double auctions: and box design, 319; and bubbles in stock market, 423–4; competitive price theory and boundary experiments, 292, 301–2, 318; and decision cost, 58–60; exchange institutions and pricing, 243–5; and multiple markets, 245–7; and off-floor trading, 332, 346; and swastika design, 305, 318; and uniform-price mechanism, 32–4; and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 396–8. See also double oral auctions; uniform-price double auction double blind: and dictator game, 131–3; and experimental design of bargaining games, 99–100, 109–11, 115–16, 125–6 double oral auctions: alternative forms of, 224–30; and intertemporal exchange experiments, 208–10; and monopoly, 220–4; and one-sided pricing institutions, 231–2; and posted-offer markets, 350–1; and price controls, 210–20; and swastika design, 305; and underrevealing of demand, 239. See also double auctions

Drago, R., 58
dual entitlements, and posted-offer markets, 62
duopoly: and competitive price theory, 288f, 289–302, 319; and Edgeworth price cycles, 357–8
Index

454
duration, of stock market bubbles, 417, 430–2
Dutch auctions, 250–2, 405
earnings inequity boundary, and competitive price theory, 303, 305, 310, 318
Easley, D., 9n3
Eckel, C. C., 83, 87, 136, 142, 190n6 economic theory: and exchange institutions, 255–6; fairness considerations in classical, 72; models of decision making and methodological differences between cognitive psychology and, 3–4; models of mind in psychology and, 85–6; and rationality as conscious cognition, 7–11; and verbal behavior, 11–16. See also experimental economics; theory
Edgeworth, F. Y., 311, 348
Edgeworth price cycles: and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 368–70, 374; and duopoly, 357–8
Edwards, W., 19, 41–2, 51
efficiency: definition of in competitive price and boundary experiments, 290; of player choices in extensive form games, 166–7; and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 381n1, 395–6, 398, 400, 405 efficient markets hypothesis, 259
effort theory; of decision making, 60
Einhorn, H. J., 14n9 endowment effect: choice tests of, 26–9; definition of, 25; exchange tests of, 29–39; explanation of principle, 4–5; and undertrading, 4, 30, 40
enforcement, and boundary experiments, 220
English auctions, 250–2, 382, 405
entry barriers, and contestable markets, 266–8 environment: of exchange institutions, 243, 250; and posted-offer pricing, 245; Walrasian têtonnement auction and experimental, 385–92. See also baseline environments
Epps, T. W., 100, 102n7
Epps-Singleton (ES) test, 29, 100, 102, 145 equality and equity, and reciprocity in social exchange, 187. See also fairness Ermentrout, G. B., 412, 416, 430 error: and binary choice, 60; and decision cost, 46–7; theoretical treatments of effects of, 44–5n4, 48n7 ethnology: and cooperative behavior, 130; and reciprocal altruism, 117. See also anthropology evolutionary biology, and reciprocal altruism, 91 exchange institutions: and bubbles or crashes in stock market trading, 247–8, 249f; and double auction pricing, 243–5; and experimental design, 241–3; institutions and creation of wealth, 240–1; in law and economics, 255–6; and multiple market double auction, 245–7; and political institutions, 254–5; and single-object auctions, 248, 250–3. See also institutions; markets; social exchange excess bids equation, and prices changes in stock market, 410–11 excess units, and competitive price theory, 308 expectations: behavioral research on industrial organization and concept of, 285; bubbles in stock market and rational, 411–12, 414, 421, 425–7, 429; and competitive price theory, 308; and contestable markets, 276; information and knowledge in repeated games, 197–8; of reciprocity in dictator game, 136; and ultimatum game, 93 expected utility theory (EUT): and concept of rationality, 264; and experimental design, 259–64; review of studies, 257–9, 264; and ultimatum game, 147–9 experience, of traders in stock market bubble experiments, 418 experimental design: and bargaining games, 95–100; and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 352–62; contestable markets and sunk costs, 268–73; and dictator game, 135; and exchange institutions, 241–3; and expected utility theory, 259–64; and extensive form games, 155–9; and off-floor trading, 322–30; and posted-offer markets, 66–7; and repeated games, 193, 194t; and ultimatum game, 143–5 experimental economics: effect of incentive rewards and opportunity cost on performance in, 49–60; psychologists and criticism of, 22–3; and scientific rigor, 240. See also economic theory; experimental design experimental market mechanisms: distinction between heuristic or
Index

exploratory and nomothetic, 207–8; and influence of theory, 206–7 extensive form games: and Bayesian Bernoulli trials theory, 159–61; evolution of play over repetitions of, 167–74; and experimental design, 155–9; and institutions, 203; optimality and efficiency of player choices in, 166–7; and posterior expected probabilities, 161–6; and principles of behavior, 153–5; and reciprocity, 175–6; and trust, 174–5 Eye Direction Detector, 88 fairness: and bargaining games, 91–2, 112n10; decision cost and commodity value of, 142; and dictator game, 127–8, 136–7; and game theory, 79–80; and market behavior, 6; and opportunity cost in psychology literature, 21–2; and posted-offer markets, 62–6, 72–5; social rules of, 61–2; and swastika design, 319; and ultimatum game, 135–6
Federal Trade Commission, 280n6
Fehr, E., 74–5, 197
fiat money experiments, 137 financial markets: and claims of front running, 410; and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 382–5. See also Arizona Stock Exchange; bubbles; crashes; exchange institutions; markets; New York Stock Exchange; Paris Bourse Fiorina, M. P., 50
first-mover results, in ultimatum game, 100–8
first price auctions, 250–2
fixed costs, and sunk costs, 267
Folk theorem: and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 373n18; and extensive form games, 153, 165, 175
forecasts, and stock market bubbles, 418–19, 429
foreign exchange markets, and price bubbles, 411
Forsythe, R., 14n9, 15, 50–1, 81–2, 91–3, 95, 97–8, 102, 104, 107–8, 110–11, 115, 127, 139, 186, 190n6
Fouraker, L., 47, 49, 56, 92, 95, 98, 114, 128, 134, 140, 147, 191, 203, 350 framing: and expected utility theory, 258–9; and opportunity cost in psychology literature, 21–2
free-riding, and sharing behaviors, 130
Friedman, D., 351, 352n4
friend-or-foe (FOF) detection, 86–7
front running, in financial markets, 410 futures markets: and off-floor trading, 320–1; and price bubbles, 426–8. See also markets game theory: and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 348–9; and common knowledge assumption, 418; and Edgeworth duopoly model, 357n10; and experimental studies of two-person bargaining games, 90; ultimatum and dictator game experiments, 79–84; and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 405
game tree experimental design, 158t
Goodman, B., 49
Gordon, H. S., 203
Grether, D., 17, 50, 204
Grossman, P., 83, 87, 136, 142, 190n6
Guth, W., 91–2, 94, 112
Hamilton, W. D., 181
Hanson, N. R., 206
Harrison, G., 41, 42, 94–5n2
Hellwig, M., 348
Herrnstein, R. J., 55, 60
heuristic experiments, 207–8
Heywood, J. S., 58
Hill, K., 130
Hoffman, E., 12, 73n7, 94–5, 128, 131n5, 139–40, 149n6, 151–2, 186–7, 191, 255
Hogarth, R. M., 7–8, 14n9, 22–3
Hoggatt, A., 203, 351, 352n4
Holt, C., 348, 349n2
Homans, G. C., 187
Huang, W., 415–16
Hurwicz, L., 203
incentive compatibility, and sealed bid-offer auction, 19–20 incentive failure, and boundary experiments, 220 incentive rewards, and opportunity cost of performance, 49–60
Indiana University, 243, 289, 424
induced preference, theory of, 254 induced valuation, and structure of experimental markets, 287
industrial organization, and behavioral research, 284–5
information: Bertrand-Edgeworth competition and provision of, 352, 366, 372; and expectations in repeated games, 197–8; and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 384, 390–1, 395–6. See also instructions; private information; public information institutions: and double oral auctions, 208–30; and one-sided pricing, 230–9; political economy of exchange and creation of wealth, 240–1; power of to control outcomes, 203–5; rediscovery of in economic thought, 203. See also exchange institutions; financial markets instructions: for bargaining game experiments, 117–26; and endowment effect, 28–9; handouts for fairness experiments, 68; and PLATO computer system, 375–6. See also information

Intentionality Detector, 87–8

intentionality signaling, and communication in repeated games, 184–97

Intermarket Trading System, 321

intertemporal exchange experiments, 208–10

intrinsic value dividend theory, 248

Iowa Presidential Stock Market, 14–15, 74

irrational behavior, in binary choice, 55

Isaac, R. M., 49n8, 185, 210–14, 302, 358

Jamal, K., 59–60

Jenness, D., 90, 117

Jonckere test, 69

Joyce, P., 381–2, 385, 390, 393, 395, 404

Kachelmier, S., 6, 64–5

Kahneman, D., 3, 6, 10–13, 17, 25, 61–2, 72, 91, 95n4, 134, 140n1, 144n4, 186, 203, 257, 258

Kaplan, A., 206, 220, 286

Kaplan, H., 130

Ketcham, J., 65, 273, 348, 350–1, 352n4, 356

King, R. R., 421–2, 428

Knetsch, J. L., 257

Kolmorogov-Smirnov (KS) test, 100, 370n16

Kreps, D., 47, 178

Krishna, V., 349, 360

Kroll, Y., 42n3, 50

laboratory stock market experiments, and verbal behavior, 15–16

labor theory, of decision making, 60

language: culture and deep structure of, 179–80; and inflection rules, 85; social context and learning of, 23–4

law, and exchange institutions, 255–6

learning, adaptive models of, 23–4

Ledyard, J., 235n6

LePore, M., 89, 196n7

Levitan, R., 348

Lichtenstein, S., 14, 257

limit pricing: change rules and bubbles in stock market, 428; and contestable market hypothesis, 271, 282–4. See also price and price theory

Lucas, R. E., Jr., 9, 23

MacLeod, W. B., 199

Mann-Whitney test, 220, 344

margin rules, and stock market bubbles, 422–3, 429

markets: concepts of conduct and structure in determination of performance, 285; contestable market hypothesis and collapse of, 272, 283, 284; fairness considerations and behavior, 6; off-floor trading and failures of, 345; and parameters for Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 354; post-bid and posted-offer markets and, 233–9; and queues, 230; and theories of behavior under price controls, 210–12; and verbal behavior, 13–16. See also behavior; contestable markets; exchange institutions; financial markets; futures markets; posted-offer markets marginal costs, and posted-offer markets, 71–2

Maskin, E., 348, 357n10

matching protocols, and extensive form games, 157–9

McCabe, K. A., 89, 114, 137, 151, 157, 191–2, 196n7, 198, 406

McClelland, G., 51

McKee, M., 94–5n2

Mendelson, H., 382

message restriction specification, and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 391

Messick, S., 49–50

middlemen, and double auction institutions, 244

Miller, R. G., Jr., 208–9

mind, models of in psychology and in economic theory, 85–6

mind reading, and decision making, 87–9 monetary incentives: and decision cost, 48–60; and psychological research, 16–17, 42

monopoly: and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 360, 371; and competitive
Index

price theory, 289–302, 319; and double oral auctions, 220–4, 225; and post-bid auctions, 236; 237–9. See also natural monopoly motivation theory, and decision cost, 42–8 multiple markets, and double auctions, 245–7. See also markets multiunit nonstationary supply and demand environment, and Walrasian tétontement auction, 388–9

Nash, John, 412
Nash equilibrium analysis: and bargaining games, 92; behavior and concept of bounded rationality, 47–8; and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 358–9, 370–1, 374; and symmetrical four-seller game, 378; and trial-and-error adjustment processes, 74n7; and Walrasian tétontement auction, 381–2, 386–8
National Market System, 321
National Science Foundation, 253n6 natural monopoly: and contestable market hypothesis, 271, 278, 280, 283–4; and cost structure, 265. See also monopoly net asset value (NAV), for Spain Fund, 414, 415f
New York Stock Exchange, 226–7, 243, 321, 328–9n4, 383, 406
nomothetic experiments, 207–8
nonsatiation, and extensive form games, 153
norms. See social exchange
North, D., 203
Noussair, C., 382, 390
Novanet posted-offer mechanism, 65–6
observability, communications and intentionality signaling in repeated games, 184–97
Ochs, J., 92
off-floor trading: and conclusions from experiments, 345–7; and experimental design, 322–30; and experimental results, 330–45; and futures markets, 320–1; and related background literature, 321–2 Okun, A., 61
oligopoly: and Nash equilibrium strategy, 359; and posted-offer experiments, 350; and price formation, 348; and studies of bargaining, 56–8
one-sided pricing institutions: double oral auctions compared to, 231–2; examples of, 230; and posted-price institutions, 232–9. See also price and price theory opportunity costs: and incentive rewards in experimental economics, 49–60; and sunk costs, 20–2 optimization theory, and fairness ethic, 72

oral bid experiments, 231–2
order flow information, and Walrasian tétontement auction, 391
orderly drift, and competitive price theory, 311, 318–19
Ordinary Least Squares (OLS) regression: and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 366, 369t; and off-floor trading experiments, 341–5; and stock market bubble experiments, 421
Osborne, M., 349
overrevelation, and Walrasian tétontement auction, 401
Palfrey, T. R., 48n6
Panzer, J. C., 267
Pareto optimal solution, and bilateral bargaining, 56
Paris Bourse, and Walrasian process, 404–5 payoff chart, and bargaining games, 96
Pitchik, S., 349
PLATO computer system, 215, 223, 225, 273–5, 287, 305, 327–9, 375–6 Plott, C. R., 9, 10n5, 11n6, 17, 20, 49n8, 50, 204, 210–14, 232, 234, 348, 411 political institutions, and exchange, 254–5 politics. See Iowa Presidential Stock Market Porter, D., 422, 427
posted-bid pricing, and posted-offer markets, 65–6. See also price and price theory posted-offer markets: and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 357n9; and double oral auctions, 350–1; and dual entitlements, 62; and environment of exchange institutions, 245; and experimental design, 66–7; fairness and setting of prices in, 62–6, 72–5; hypotheses and experimental results, 67–71; and interpretation of experimental results, 71–2; and monopoly experiments, 302; and price-setting behavior, 348; and two- and three-seller experiments, 351. See also markets posted-price institutions, and one-sided pricing institutions, 232–9 posterior expected probabilities, and extensive form games, 161–6 prediction hypothesis, for posted-offer markets, 64–5 preference reversals, 13–14
price adjustment function, for Walrasian têtonnement auction, 390
price floors. See ceiling prices price and price theory: and double auctions, 210–20, 243–5; fairness and setting of in posted-offer markets, 62–75; and intertemporal exchange experiments, 208–10; and middlemen, 244; and oligopoly markets, 348; price gouging and fairness ethic, 72. See also ceiling prices; competitive price theory; Edgeworth price cycle; limit pricing; revelation prices; unstable prices Prisoner’s Dilemma: and cooperation, 181; and matching protocols, 157 private information, and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 352, 366. See also information probability matching: and Bernoulli trials experiment, 18–19; and decision cost, 51 production cost, 287
profit-fairness trade-off, in posted-offer markets, 73
profit tax, and posted-offer markets, 66–7, 69–70
property rights: and bargaining games, 94–5; institutions and rules of, 248; and reciprocity, 181; and ultimatum game, 145, 146t psychology: and adaptive learning models, 23–4; bubbles in stock market and rational expectations, 411–12; and criticism of experimental economics, 22–3; and domain-specific cognitive algorithms, 152; and irrational behavior in binary choice, 55; models of decision making and methodological differences between economic theory and, 3–4; and monetary incentives, 16–17, 42, 49–50; and rationality, 7–11, 17–20; social exchange and mental algorithms in cognition supporting cooperation, 177–83; and specialized mental models, 85–9; sunk costs and opportunity costs, 20–2; and verbal behavior, 11–16
public goods, and exchange in political institutions, 254 public information: and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 352, 366, 372; and stock market bubble experiments, 418. See also information punishment: constituent games and strategy of, 156; signaling and trust in bargaining games, 191–7 pure replication experimental design, 262 quantity shift, and price expectations in boundary experiments, 308 queues: and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 355; and market behavior, 230; and off-floor trading, 322, 329n4
randomization, and ultimatum experiments, 93
Rassenti, S. J., 89
Rational Choice (Hogarth & Reder, 1987), 7–8, 23
rational expectations equilibrium (REE) theory, 259–61, 264 rationality and rational theory: and adaptive learning models, 23–4; bubbles in stock market and expectations, 411–12, 414, 421, 425–7, 429; as conscious cognition, 7–11; and decision cost, 5–6, 43–5; and expected utility theory, 258–9, 264; and psychology, 17–20; and ultimatum game, 186. See also bounded rationality reciprocity: culture and social norms, 178; in ethnology and evolutionary biology literature, 91, 117; in experimental settings, 199–200; and expectations in dictator game, 136; and extensive form games, 153–4, 173t, 175–6; negative and positive in social exchanges, 154–5; and noncooperative play, 197–8; observability, communication, and intentionality signaling in repeated games and, 184–97. See also behavior; cooperation; collusion Reder, E., 7–8, 22–3
regression tests, and off-floor trading experiments, 341–5
Renshaw, 411, 421
repeated games: and explanations of cooperation, 178; observability, communication, and intentionality signaling in, 184–97; and social exchange, 181
repeat play experiments, and extensive game forms, 164t, 165–6
Index

reputation theory, and fairness in actions of large firms, 72 reserve book, of Arizona Stock Exchange, 383 response variability, and decision cost, 52
retail markets, and posted-offer pricing, 233, 273
revelation price, and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 399n6, 401
Reynolds, R., 267–8 risk aversion, and stock market bubbles, 422
Roberts Rules of Order, 254
Robinson, J., 150, 206
Roth, A. E., 82–3, 91–2, 113–14, 143n2
sales function, and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 355n6
sales tax, and posted-offer markets, 67, 69f, 70
Sauermann, H., 203
Savage, L. J., 264
Scheinkman, J., 349
Schutze, W., 258
Schwartz, M., 267–8, 321
sealed bid auctions, 250
sealed bid-offer auction: and incentive compatibility, 19–20; and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 382
second-mover results, in ultimatum game, 108
second-price auctions, 250–2
Securities Act Amendments (1975), 321
Securities and Exchange Commission, 321
self-regarding offers, 107n8
seller capacity, and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 352 Selten, R., 47, 157, 203
severity, of stock market bubbles and crashes, 421
Shared Attention Mechanism, 88
Shogren, J. F., 40
short selling, and bubbles in stock market, 423, 426, 429
Shubik, M., 203, 348
Siegel, S., 17–19, 22, 42, 47, 49, 51–6, 92, 95, 98, 114, 128, 134, 140, 147, 191, 203, 350
Simon, H. A., 7–8, 9n3, 17, 42
Sinden, J. A., 257
single blind, and dictator game, 133–4
single-object auctions, and exchange institutions, 248, 250–3 single-play experiments, and extensive form games, 162, 163t, 165 single unit condition: and off-floor trading experiments, 334, 336–7, 346–7; and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 386–8, 394f Singleton, K. J., 100, 102n7
Slovic, P., 14, 257
Slutsky-Hicks model, of maximizing behavior, 264
Smith, Adam, 240–1, 246
social context: and cognitive processes in decision-making, 8n2; and language learning, 23–4; and ultimatum game, 82. See also culture; social exchange social contracts, and boundary experiments, 220
social distance: definition of, 128n3; and dictator game, 131–5, 138, 149n6 social exchange: and cheater detection mechanisms, 85; culture and models of mind for decision making, 199; equality and equity, 187; and mental algorithms in cognition supporting cooperation, 177–83; negative and positive reciprocity, 154–5; and social distance, 138; and social norms, 75, 127n1. See also culture; exchange institutions; social context soft close procedure, and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 392
Solís-Soberon, F., 349n2
Spain Fund, and net asset value, 414, 415f
Spitzer, M., 12, 94–5, 255
spot market, and price bubbles in futures markets, 426–7 stability, and competitive price theory, 311, 313, 318
standard-contract average-floor-price, and off-floor trading, 331n6 Standard and Poor index, 421, 429 static competitive price theory, and middlemen in double auctions, 244 stock market. See Arizona Stock Exchange; bubbles; crashes; financial markets; New York Stock Exchange; Paris Bourse Stoecker, R., 157, 351, 352n4
Stoll, H., 382
stopping rule, and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 392
Suchanek, G., 157, 253n6
Sunder, S., 59–60
sunk costs: and contestable markets hypothesis, 265–8; definition of, 267; and experimental design, 268–73; interpretation of experimental results, 276–85; and opportunity costs, 20–2; and PLATO posted-offer procedure, 273–5; role of buyers in, 275–6 swastika design, and competitive price theory and boundary experiments, 302–10, 318–19 symmetric, four-seller game, 377–80
tacit collusion: and Bertrand-Edgeworth competition, 359–62, 372–4; and contestable market hypothesis, 271, 278, 283. See also collusion
Telser, K. G., 142
Thaler, R., 17, 25
theory: influence of on experimental market mechanisms, 206–7; and scientific rigor in experimental economics, 240. See also economic theory
Theory of Mind Mechanism, 88
Tietz, R., 94, 112
Tirole, J., 357n10
Tooby, J., 86, 137–8, 182, 199
transaction costs, and off-floor trading, 330–2
transparency, and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 384
trial-and-error adjustment processes, and Nash bargaining experiments, 74n7 trust: and extensive form games, 174–5; and friend-or-foe detection, 87; and signaling in bargaining games, 191–7 turnover, of stock market bubbles, 417, 430–2 Tversky, A., 3, 10–11, 17, 19, 25, 51, 72, 134, 203, 257, 258 two-person bargaining games: and subject anonymity, 90, 98, 100. See also bargaining games ultimatum game: and bargaining game experiments, 91–4, 97; 111–17; and decision cost model, 5; expected utility model of, 147–50; and experimental design, 143–5; and first-mover results, 100–8; game theory and research on, 79–83; and high stakes argument, 140–3; and instructions for experiments, 119–22; observability, signaling, and reciprocity behavior in, 186–91; and property rights, 145t, 146t; and rejection behavior, 151; and second-mover results, 108; and self-regarding behavior, 137; and subject effect differences, 149; and subject recruitment, 143 ultimate numbers boundary, 292 uncertainty: and boundary experiments, 220; and bubbles in stock market, 429; decision making and decision cost, 51–5 underrevelation, and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 401–2, 403f, 404, 406
undertrading, and endowment effect, 4, 30, 40 uniform-price double auction: and endowment effect, 32–5; and Walrasian têtonnement auction, 406. See also double auctions University of Arizona, 143, 243, 289, 352, 424
University of Iowa, 14 unstable prices, and contestable market hypothesis, 271–2, 282, 284. See also price and price theory verbal behavior, in economic theory and in cognitive psychology, 11–16. See also behavior Vickrey, W., 23, 203, 251, 405
Vives, X., 349
voluntary contribution mechanisms (VCM), 184–5
Walker, J., 253n6
Walker, J. M., 17, 47–8, 142, 185
Walras, 404
Walrasian têtonnement auction: and experimental design, 392–3; and experimental environment, 385–92; and experimental results, 393–404; and financial markets, 382–5; and interpretation of experimental results, 404–6; and parameters for experiments, 381–2; and price adjustments in stock market, 419, 421, 427, 432–3
Wason, P., 182–3
wealth, political economy of exchange and creation of, 240–1
Weigelt, K., 198n8
Wellford, C. P., 95
Whaley, R., 382
Wharton School, 424n2
Wilcoxon rank-sum test, 102, 103f, 107, 145

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org
Index

Williams’ Syndrome, 86
Willig, R. D., 267, 269
willingness-to-pay (WTP) and willingness-to-accept (WTA): and endowment effect, 25, 27t, 28–9, 30n4, 35, 38–40; and experimental design, 259–64; and review of studies, 257–9
Winterfeldt, D. von, 41–2
Wolf, C., 50
Zeckhauser, R., 7, 14n9