Contents

Preface
Symposium participants

Part I. Challenging problems

1. Critical challenges for natural language processing Madeleine Bates, Robert J. Bobrow, and Ralph M. Weischedel
   page 3

Part II. Building a lexicon

2. The contribution of lexicography
   B. T. Sue Atkins
   page 37

3. The contribution of linguistics
   Beth Levin
   page 76

4. The contribution of computational lexicography Branimir K. Boguraev
   page 99

Part III. Semantics and knowledge representation

5. Events, situations, and adverbs
   Robert C. Moore
   page 135

6. Natural language, knowledge representation, and logical form
   James F. Allen
   page 146

Part IV. Discourse

7. Getting and keeping the center of attention
   Rebecca J. Passonneau
   page 179

8. Surface structure, intonation, and discourse meaning Mark Steedman
   page 228

Part V. Spoken language systems

9. Prosody, intonation, and speech technology
   Janet Pierrehumbert
   page 257
vi Contents

Part VI. Conclusion

10 The future of computational linguistics 283
MADELEINE BATES and RALPH M. WEISCHEDEL

Author index 289
Subject index 292