Contents

List of illustrations page [vii]
List of contributors [viii]
Preface [ix]
Acknowledgments [xii]
List of abbreviations [xvi]

Part I Overview: music early and late [1]
1 The true significance of Elliott Carter’s early music Jonathan W. Bernard [3]
2 Elliott Carter’s late music John Link [33]

Part II Analysis and aesthetics [55]
3 The search for order: Carter’s Symphonia and late-modern thematicism Arnold Whittall [57]
4 Ritornello form in Carter’s Boston and ASKO concertos Marguerite Boland [80]
5 “The matter of human cooperation” in Carter’s mature style John Roeder [110]
6 Time management: rhythm as a formal determinant in certain works of Elliott Carter Andrew Mead [138]
7 “I try to write music that will appeal to an intelligent listener’s ear.” On Elliott Carter’s string quartets Dörte Schmidt [168]
8 Composition with intervals: melodic invention in Elliott Carter’s recent concertos Stephen Heinemann [190]

Part III Sketch studies [215]
9 Left by the wayside: Elliott Carter’s unfinished Sonatina for Oboe and Harpsichord Felix Meyer [217]
10 At the edge of creation: Elliott Carter’s sketches in the Library of Congress Stephen Soderberg [236]
vi Contents

Part IV Music and text [251]

11 Three Illusions . . . and maybe a fourth: a hermeneutic approach to Carter’s recent music Max Noubel [253]

12 Layers of meaning: expression and design in Carter’s songs Brenda Ravenscroft [271]

13 Text, music, and irony in What Next? Guy Capuzzo [292]

14 Words and music in The Defense of Corinth Annette van Dyck-Hemming [311]

Bibliography [331]

Index [343]
Illustrations

Fig. 7.1  Elliott Carter explains his Third Quartet, Juilliard School, late 1970s  page [176]
Fig. 7.2  Page of sketches for the Fourth Quartet  [181]
Fig. 7.3  Page of sketches for the Fourth Quartet  [182]
Fig. 7.4  Analytical diagram for the Third Quartet  [185]
Fig. 9.1  Sonatina for Oboe and Harpsichord, draft of movement 1, p. [1] (mm. 1–24)  [224]
Fig. 9.2  Sonatina for Oboe and Harpsichord, sketches for movement 1 (top third of a page from the folder “unidentified sketches”)  [227]
Fig. 9.3  Sonatina for Oboe and Harpsichord, sketches for movement 1 (top half of a page from the folder “Sonatina”)  [228]
Fig. 9.4  Sonatina for Oboe and Harpsichord, draft of movement, p. [1] (mm. 1–28)  [230]
Fig. 9.5a  Sonatina for Oboe and Harpsichord, sketches for movement 3, inside dust cover of sketchbook  [231]
Fig. 9.5b  Sonatina for Oboe and Harpsichord, sketches for movement 3 in sketchbook, p. [1].  [232]

All illustrations are from the Elliott Carter Collection at the Paul Sacher Foundation. Reproduced with kind permission of the Paul Sacher Foundation.