Conversation strategies

Starting a conversation

Here are some natural ways to start your conversations.

How’s it going?  How are you doing?

Responses

Great!  Good!  Pretty good.
OK.  Not bad.  All right.
Not so good.

If you answer Not so good, be ready to say why. For example:

Not so good. I have a cold.
Not so good. I’m sleepy.

PRACTICE

With a partner, ask How are you doing? five times. Your partner will use five different answers. Then do the same for How’s it going?

Ending a conversation

Here’s a natural way to end your conversation.

Nice talking with you!  You too!

PRACTICE

Work with a partner. Start conversations again. This time, finish with Nice talking with you! and You too!
Letting your partner talk

Here is an easy way to ask your partner the same question they ask you.

How about you?

This phrase gives your partner a chance to talk.

Hi! My name is Cathy. I’m from the US. I like snowboarding, driving, and listening to music. How about you?

My name is . . .

Use How about you? with each partner in your group.

Asking to repeat

Sometimes it’s difficult to hear what your partner says. You can use these phrases to ask them to repeat what they said.

Pardon me?

I like listening to music and XXXXXXXX.

Excuse me?

Pardon me?

I like listening to music and watching TV.
