

Cambridge University Press

0521351642 - Reflexive language: Reported Speech and Metapragmatics

Edited by John A. Lucy

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

Acknowledgments	page ix
General introduction	1
Part I Theoretical foundations	5
Introduction to Part I	7
1 Reflexive language and the human disciplines John A. Lucy (University of Pennsylvania)	9
2 Metapragmatic discourse and metapragmatic function Michael Silverstein (University of Chicago)	33
Part II The relation of form and function in reflexive language	59
Introduction to Part II	61
3 The boundaries of reported speech in narrative discourse: some developmental aspects Maya Hickmann (Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen)	63
4 Metapragmatic presentationals: reporting speech with quotatives in Yucatec Maya John A. Lucy (University of Pennsylvania)	91
5 Metalanguage and pragmatics of deixis William F. Hanks (University of Chicago)	127
6 Learning what to ask: metapragmatic factors and methodological reification Elizabeth Mertz (American Bar Foundation)	159

Cambridge University Press

0521351642 - Reflexive language: Reported Speech and Metapragmatics

Edited by John A. Lucy

Table of Contents

More information

viii

Contents

Part III Text, context, and the cultural functions of reflexive language	175
Introduction to Part III	177
7 Generic versus metapragmatic dimensions of Warao narratives: who regiments performance? Charles L. Briggs (Vassar College)	179
8 Performance form and the voices of characters in five versions of the Wasco Coyote Cycle Robert E. Moore (University of Chicago)	213
9 The represented functions of speech in Shokleng myth Greg Urban (University of Texas, Austin)	241
10 The political function of reported speech: a Belauan example Richard J. Parmentier (Brandeis University)	261
Part IV Interpretation, reported speech, and metapragmatics in the Western tradition	287
Introduction to Part IV	289
11 Text, transference, and indexicality Vincent Crapanzano (City University of New York)	293
12 The importance of reflexive language in George H. Mead's theory of self and communication Steve C. Caton (University of California, Santa Cruz)	315
13 Where epistemology, style, and grammar meet literary history: the development of represented speech and thought Ann Banfield (University of California, Berkeley)	339
14 Metalanguages and subjectivities Benjamin Lee (Center for Psychosocial Studies, Chicago)	365
15 Re-creating Genesis: the metapragmatics of divine speech Naomi Janowitz (University of California, Davis)	393
Name index	406
Subject index	410