Studies in Emotion and Social Interaction

This series is jointly published by the Cambridge University Press and the Editions de la Maison des Sciences de l’Homme, as part of the joint publishing agreement established in 1977 between the Fondation de la Maison des Sciences de l’Homme and the Syndics of the Cambridge University Press.

Gestures and speech: Psychological investigations

Pierre Feyereisen
Faculté de Psychologie, Université Catholique de Louvain

Jacques-Dominique de Lannoy
Faculté de Psychologie, Université de Genève
Contents

Acknowledgments ............................... page vii

Introduction ......................................... 1
   1.1 Historical background .................... 1
   1.2 Overview .................................... 2
   1.3 Definition problems .................... 3

1 Body language .................................... 6
   1.1 The cross-cultural study of gestures .... 6
   1.2 The semiotic meaning of gestures ...... 9
   1.3 The syntax of gestures .................. 12
   1.4 Linguistic descriptions of gestural behavior 20
   1.5 Concluding remarks ..................... 25

2 Language as gesture: an ethological approach .... 27
   2.1 The phylogeny of gestures and speech .... 28
   2.2 Gestures and speech in a comparative perspective 36
   2.3 Concluding remarks: what is communication? 47

3 Autonomy of gestures and speech: the notion of nonverbal communication .... 49
   3.1 The role of gestures and postures in nonverbal communication .... 51
   3.2 The relationships between verbal and nonverbal communication .... 61
   3.3 Concluding remarks: separation or interaction? 69

4 Cognitive approaches ............................ 71
   4.1 Gesture production while speaking ...... 71
vi  Contents

4.2  Gesture and speech comprehension  87
4.3  Concluding remarks  103

5  Developmental perspectives  104
  5.1  Early symbols  105
  5.2  Language acquisition and preverbal social interactions  116
  5.3  The nonverbal input in first verbal exchanges  125
  5.4  Development of gestural behavior beyond infancy  130

6  Gestures and speech in neuropsychology and psychopathology  136
  6.1  Introduction: on drawing inferences from pathology and lateral differences  136
  6.2  Verbal and gestural communication  139
  6.3  The fractionation of functions in gestural and verbal processing  147

References  157
Subject index  206
Acknowledgments

This book was written while Pierre Feyereisen was Research Associate of the National Fund for Scientific Research (Belgium) at the University of Louvain and Jacques-Dominique de Lannoy was Professor at the University of Geneva. These institutions provided the facilities for the realization of the project. Gratitude is expressed for the editorial services of Edward Haasl, who improved the English translation of the manuscript.