

Index

- Abraham, 99–103, 354n176, n182, n187, 361n285, 362n304; and covenant theology, 102ff, 349n106; and resistance theory, 107ff
- Abrams, M. H., 266, 268, 283
- absolute spirit, 445n106, 446n107, n111; among German idealists, 209–13; and first class, 276; and objective experience, 416n51; and point of indifference, 266, 268; as pre- and postpolitical idea, 290ff
- accommodationism, religious, 12–17, 305n67, 310n92, 348–9n105, 352n150, 355n197, 393–4n318; and teleology, 383n127, 387n214; in Bengel, 96; in Calvinism, 92, 347n89; in Christianity, 12ff; in Clement, 15, 92; in covenant theology, 103; in Hegel, 387n211, n214; in Kant, 391n275, 395n341; in Protestantism, 15; its economies, 190–1. See also covenant theology; divine economy
- Alexandrian Fathers, 27–9, 47, 54, 74, 306n70, 307n71, 308n79, 310n89, n92, n96, 313n142; and synergism, 55, 308–9n82; theology of, 13–6. See also Clement; Origen
- Alte Recht* (Altrecht), ix, 7–11, 37–9, 112–37 passim. See also Good Old Law
- Ancient Constitution, 118–23 passim, 366n44; and Moser, 128–30; religious aspect of, 121ff
- Andreae, J. V., 61–9 passim, 75, 78–80, 84, 85, 121; and civil piety, 67–8; and praxis pietatis, 66–7; and Second Reformation, 69, 332n182; as critic of orthodox Lutheranism, 66–8; Christianopolis, 66–8, 73. See also Pietism
- animal life, 403–4n28, 416n31; and Gemüter, 392n289, n90; in Ferguson, 415n7; in Hegel, 210, 236; in Rousseau, 221–3; in Schiller, 218, 236, 237, 261
- approximationism, religious, 317n221, 334n209; as distinct from deification, 14; in Kant, 169–70. See also assimilation to God; deification
- Aristotelianized Protestantism, 227–30 passim, 314n162, 423n206
- Arndt, J., 62–6, 69, 74, 75, 79, 92, 94, 333n191, n199, n200; as critic of orthodox Lutheranism, 62–3; doctrine of assimilationism in, 62–3, 333n202; opposed to deification, 63; True Christianity by, 62–3, 66. See also Pietism
- assimilation to God (homoiosis), 13–6 passim, 27–9, 44, 47, 50–1, 62, 63, 306n69, n70, 307n71, 333n202, 338n288, 350n123, n127, 384n144; among Alexandrians, 13–16, 147; among Aufklärer, 135, 146–7; among German Protestants, 74–5, 100, 104, 126; and Gemüt, 163; and Kingdom of God, 164; eschatology of, 16, 93, 149; in Hegel, 160, 279; in Joachim, 54; in Kant, 166–7, 169–70, 172, 279; in Pelagius, 27–9; Platonic aspect of, 62. See also drawing near to God; Genesis 1:26; homoiosis; self-realizing teleology
- Aufklärung* (Aufklärer), 12–32 passim, 135, 314n170; Pelagianizing tendencies in, 17–34 passim; theology of, 12, 22–7, 135
- Augustine (Augustinianism): and sacramentalism, 42, 51–2; and theocentric religion, 17–27 passim, 30;

- Augustine (Augustinianism) (cont.)
 as Christian tradition, 19ff; confuses deification and assimilation, 317n218; contest with Pelagius of, 26, 47; eschatology of, 45, 47ff, 311n105, 322n17, n20, 323n26, 325n55, 326n79; in Aufklärung, 16–7, 19, 25; opposed to moral progress (homiois), 31–2, 45, 48, 50, 317n218, 327n89, 439n8. See also theocentric religion
- Avineri, S., 193
- axiology: and eschatology, 47; and teleology, 43–4, 47, 52, 326n69, 350n124, 389n241, 393n311, 433n70; definition of, 323n32; in Augustine, 51; in Kant, 166, 169. See also eschatology, realized
- bad infinity, 246–52 passim, 270–2, 278, 283, 399n425, 423n211, 425n50, 428n119
- Barker, E., 105–6
- Bellah, R., 10, 304n47, n8, 305n55. See also civil religion
- Bengel, A., 80–2
- Bengel, J. A., 8, 34, 38, 61, 62, 74, 76–112 passim, 136; and covenant theology, 99ff, 103ff; and down-to-earth Pietism, 8, 100; and Moser, 119, 128, 130–1; Gnomon, 94–9; opposed to separatism, 83–5, 94; school of, 90; theology of divine economy in, 86–9, 96–104. See also accommodationism; down-to-earth Pietism; economy of salvation; Pietism
- Berger, P., 7, 38, 127; and T. Luckmann, 7
- Besold, C., 120–1, 335n230, 367n59
- Bestimmung* (religious destination), 163, 166, 174, 224, 267, 388n232, 388–9n236, 391n270, 434n97. See also teleology
- Bildung*, religiocultural pedagogic ideal of, 79, 85, 254, 268, 271, 272, 276, 278–93, passim, 344n56, 435n121, 436n142, 438n185; Protestant aspect of, 32, 270ff. See also calling; division of labor; first class; indifference; indirection
- Bloom, A., 222
- Bohlin, T., 28–9
- bourgeois (ie), 157, 182, 212–27 passim, 242–5, 252, 274–5, 389–90n242; and bad infinity, 248; and bürger, 405n57, 421n167; and courage, 220, 245; and economics, 212ff, 233–4, 249, 263, 399n422; and law-abidingness 245; and relative identity, 276; opposed by liberal Protestants, 263–4, 272, 396n350; recognition and need among, 242ff, 249–50. See also civil society; objective experience, as social moment; Sittlichkeit, natural
- Bouwisma, W., 312n128, 321n1
- Brown, P., 29
- Bürger*, 223, 405n57, 423n3
- Bultmann, R., 42, 323n31, 326n71
- Burke, K., ix, 37, 183, 234, 249, 298n14, 299n17, 300n22, 300–1n26, 320n30, 373n5, 374n14, 379n55
- calling (vocation), 73, 74, 126, 339n314, 344n55, 351n133; and Bildung, 276; and exegesis, 53, 90, 95; and first class, 275; and recollectivization, 101–5 passim
- Calvin, J. (Calvinism, Calvinists), 23, 91–2, 96, 198, 229, 280, 305n67, 349n118, 442n62, 443n72; and assimilationism, 332n202, 349n111, 350n123, 434n97; and covenant theology, 309n83; and indirection, 349n121; and religious accommodation, 347n89, 355n197; and resistance theory, 105; on wealth, 251, 406n66, n68; strict and moderate forms of, 91ff. See also Coccejus; covenant theology; federal theology; resistance theory
- Calvinized Lutheranism, 336n250, 342n23, 346n75
- cameralists, 195–7, 200
- Chamley, P., 192–3
- Christian Reform, 12–32 passim; concept of, 12; distinguished from revivalism as form of renewal, 10–11, 85, 282, 305n59, 343n48, 433n70; in Aufklärung, 17–25 passim; in relation to axiology and teleology, 44; theology of, 14–16. See also Ladner, G.
- Christianity, 5–137 passim; biblical and classical conceptions of, 19, 312n128; civil impulse in, 10, 12; importance of Augustine and Pelagius in 19–20, 27, 31, 34. See also Calvin, J.; Christian Reform; eschatology; orthodox Lutheranism; Pietism; Protestant civil piety
- civic humanism, Christian aspect of, 227–8
- civil millenarianism, 33–9 passim, 228, 319n16
- civil religion, 10, 30, 292, 304n47, 305n54, 318n9, 337n268, 413n168
- civil society (bürgerlich Gesellschaft), 157, 190, 196, 200, 233, 250, 400n7; and

- bourgeois values, 157, 182; and liberal Protestantism, 157; and Sittlichkeit, 230–3; in Garve, 225; in Hegel, 184–5, 207, 233–5, 417n76. See also bourgeois; Bürger
- civilization, idea of, 190, 402n9, 403n24; among Scots, 238; and culture, 188, 237; and division of labor, 254, 274; and luxury, 186–7, 229; in Garve, 188–9; in Hegel, 173, 182–3, 218, 249, 389–90n242; in Kant, 167–9, 188, 237, 251, 392n283, n284, 400n10; in Schiller, 237, 244, 256, 259, 263. See also luxury; wisdom
- Clement, 13–6, 74, 97, 103, 191; and accommodationism, 305n67, 310n92; and assimilationism, 306n70, 309n86; and homoiosis, 309n87, 310n97, 378n39; and indirection, 349n121; and Kant, 389n238; on luxury, 406n66; “Sermon on Riches,” 191. See also Alexandrian Fathers
- Coccejus (Coccejianism), 82–96 passim, 103, 305–6n67, 316n204, 341n22, 344n57, n60, 346n88; as moderate Calvinist, 91–3, 100; theology of history, 90ff. See also covenant theology; economy of salvation; eschatology; federal theology
- conditional mode of discourse, 178, 211, 301n27, 384n143, 401n28, 415n14, 436n1
- contextualism, research strategy of, vii–xiii passim, 32, 299n18, 373n8
- courage (Tapferkeit), 220–7 passim, 242, 264, 419n124; among various European thinkers, 221ff; and bourgeoisie, 220, 245; and luxury, 221ff; as conversion principle, 223ff; in Garve, 224–5; in Schiller, 257–8; relation of, to Gemüt and to Geist, 224–6; two types of, 222
- covenant theology, 44, 57, 63, 87–112 passim, 140, 305–6n67, 309n83, 310n198, 316n204, 318n6, 319n24, 328n114, 347n97, 353n157; and recollectivization, 101, 127, 331n175; and resistance theory, 105–11 passim; different schools of, 91–4; interpretation of, 347–8n98, 349n116; sociology of, 96–103 passim. See also economy of salvation; eschatology; federal theology
- Crane, R. S., 189–90, 305–6n67
- Cranz, F. E., 46, 49, 50
- Cumming, R. D., x, 298n15, 300n22, n23, 303n28, 380n69
- Davidic covenant, 107–8, 360n260, 361n280, n285, 362n289, n304; royalist aspect of, 108ff. See also Mosaic covenant; Old Testament; resistance theory
- Deane, H., 279, 327n89
- deification, 34, 46, 63, 315n190, 317n221, 328n117; distinct from assimilationism, 75, 170, 279–80, 307n71, 308n81, 439n11. See also approximationism; assimilation to God
- Diderot, D. 250–1
- Diez, K. I., 157–9, 165, 171
- divine economy, 77–112 passim, 328n107, 336n252, 352n154, 356n217. See also economy of salvation
- division of labor, 270–7 passim, 408n86, 409n99, 426n70; and dying into life, 280; and point of indifference, 263ff, 271ff; and social moment of objective experience, 253; Ferguson on, 219, 254–6; Hegel on, 236–7, 239, 240, 247, 250, 252ff, 263ff; Rousseau on, 221, 246; Schiller on, 254ff, 259, 263; Scots on, 238, 254
- Dodd, C. H., 43, 321n6, 322n21, 323n30, 323–4n34; on eschatology as evolutionary teleology, 324n34
- down-to-earth Pietism, 34, 40ff, 57–76 passim, 158, 298n15, 304n38, 342n26; and praxis pietatis, 11, 152; as tradition in Württemberg, 7–11, 79; eschatology of, 16, 37, 158; relation of, to Spener and Bengel, 94, 113. See also Bengel; Pietism; Spener
- dramatic action; concept of, 393n304, 423n9; moment of, in Hegel’s development, 136–7, 233–4, 273
- drawing near to God: and homoiosis, 173; in Hegel, 149, 173, 396–7n357; in Kant, 170. See also assimilation to God; homoiosis
- Dunn, J., 299n18, 374n18
- Durkheim, E., 9, 235
- dying into life, 69–76 passim, 102, 126, 145, 186, 280, 339n306–7, 376n20
- economy of salvation, 15–6, 75, 77–112 passim, 189, 310n95, n96, 346n87, 348–9n105, 349–50n121, 355n198; among Anglicans, 190; and indirection, 260; and recollectivization, 102ff; in Bengel, 96ff, 104ff, 352n150; in Clement, 15–16; in Hegel, 149, 281–2, 284ff; in Joachim, 53–7; in Lessing, 74, 284; in Pietism, 75; pedagogic aim of, 100ff. See also

- economy of salvation (cont.)
 covenant theology; eschatology; federal theology
- egocentric religion, 19, 21, 25, 27, 93, 312n129, 378n41, 386n193; in Pelagius, 19ff. See also theocentric religion
- Ehrbarkeit*, 80, 115–16, 120, 127–34 passim, 364n14, 371n146
- Enlightenment, European: and Anti-Enlightenment, 409n99; differences within, 17–22; Schiller on, 256, 263–4. See also Aufklärung, Scottish Enlightenment
- enthusiasm (enthusia, 71, 317n225, 338n285, 339n315, 344n51, 384n139; and Schiller's doctrine of indirection, 259–63; Hegel on, 282–3. See also separatism
- environmentalism, religious, 22, 73, 313n154, 326–7n88
- Erastus (Erastianism), 64–8, 331n174, 337n260
- Erbvergleich* (1770), 125
- eschatology, 33–112 passim, 321n4, 343n48; and relation to axiology and teleology, 43–4, 52, 323n31; and relation to mysticism, 43, 323n30; different forms of, 34ff, 40ff, 46ff, 321n6, n7, 322n10; evolutionary, 37, 44, 47–8, 50, 52–7, 63, 75, 80, 84, 87, 90, 93, 104, 135–6; futurist, 41ff; in Augustine, 45, 47ff; in down-to-earth Pietism, 40ff; in Eusebius, 46–7; in Joachim, 33, 52–7, 108–14; in Lutheranism, 338n288, 345n70, 350n124; realized, 43, 45–7, 51–2, 90–3, 321n6, 322n21, 326n79; self-realizing, 326n69; thoroughgoing, 41ff. See also covenant theology; economy of salvation; federal theology
- Eusebius, 46ff, 318n9, 325n59
- expressivism, 226, 268, 283, 287, 431–2n43
- Febvre, L., 6, 402n9
- federal theology, 84, 86–96 passim, 310–11n104, 316n204; and Pietism, 87, 345n62, n70, 346n79; different schools of, 87ff, 91ff. See also Coccejus; covenant theology; economy of salvation; eschatology
- Ferguson, A., 183–97 passim, 205, 216–21, 229, 240, 242, 244, 249–51, 255–7, 263, 275, 284; and German theology of history, 188ff; as read by Germans, 188–9; works of: Essay on the History of Civil Society, 188, 194, 205, 219, 250–1; Institutes, 188, 194. See also Scottish Enlightenment
- Fichte, J. G., 4–6, 207–12 passim; as moral formalist, 209ff
- Findlay, J., 149, 301n1, n3, 323n30, 369n96, 378n42, n45
- first class, 270–93, passim, 329n146, 340n317, 437n173, n178, 438n194, 439–40n15, 440n23, 441n26, n33, 443n75, 445n106; and division of labor, 270–75 passim, 280–1; and indifference, 281; and indirection, 276; and reflective moment, 280; as calling, 272, 275, 279, 282–5
- Flajole, E., 190
- Flatt, J., 6
- Fourth Gospel, eschatology of, 42ff
- Foxe, J., 34–5, 45–6, 324n36, n46, 330n156, 331n171
- Francke, A., 72, 75, 79, 302n10, 355n200
- Franklin, J., 106
- Frye, N., 8, 130
- Funkenstein, A., 383n127, 404n34; on evolutionary eschatology, 321n6
- Garve, C. 188–94 passim, 223–6, 229, 428n138
- Gay, P., 17–18
- Geertz, C., ix, 38, 140, 141, 298n8, n10, n13, n14, 299–300n21, 300n22, 304n36, 317n1, 319n21, 320n33, 324n43, 374n13, n15
- Geist*, xii, 32, 153–5, 220–7 passim, 384n144, n146; and first class, 276, 290; and Gemüt, 163–4; and Reformation 377n28, n30; and Sittlichkeit, 145, 225–7; as religio teleological principle, 145, 156–7; in Schiller, 257, 262. See also absolute spirit; Gemüt
- Gemüt*, 163–4, 172–3, 223ff, 375n9, 388n229, n30, 388n232, 392n289, 394n324, 421n171; and courage, 224ff; and Geist, 163–4; in Hegel, 172–3, 223ff; in Kant, 166, 170; in Schiller, 223ff, 259, 261. See also Geist; courage
- Genesis 1:26, 13–15, 306n70, 307n74. See also assimilation to God; homotiosis
- Gilson, E., 21
- gnosis, 16, 54, 93–4; and Hegel's first class, 285ff
- God as husbandman, 15, 100, 355n197
- godly people, 60, 119, 125, 318n9,

- 319n15, n20, 337n261, 359n245, 367n62; and Bildung, 286–7; and covenant theology, 101–3; and Lebens-Reformation, 126; and recollectivization, 102–13, passim; and resistance theory, 102–13, passim; in Hegel, 246, 281–3; in Mornay, 106ff, 359n256, 363n315; in Moser, 130, 136, 368n87, 368–9n89; in Old-Württemberg, 105, 111–12, 119–23, 362n309; in Rousseau, 286; in Spener, 69
- godly prince, 34, 57–61 passim, 65, 68, 74, 105, 314n14, 320n28, 330n156, 335n241, 367n59. See also deification
- Goethe, J., 181, 405–6n63
- Good Old Law, 7–8, 11, 34, 37–8, 112–14, 119–21, 128ff, 298n15, 366n44, 369n93. See also Alte Recht
- Haering, T., 174, 193
- Haller, W., 45, 94, 324n46
- Harris, H S., 159, 161, 165–6, 386n181, n182, 387n202, n204, 390n251, 396n352, 401n30
- Hazard, P., 17, 22, 78
- Hegel, G.: and economy, x–xi, 150, 155–6, 178, 181ff, 192–204 passim, 205ff, 212–20 passim, 241–6 passim; and Kingdom of God, 148, 158–64, 173–4, 289–90; and praxis pietatis, 145, 153, 161, 173–4; and Protestantism, xiii, 1–13 passim, 151–3, 172–7, 227–30; and recollectivization, 144–5, 157, 183, 206, 217, 246; and Reformation, 146–9; and Scots, x–xi, 137, 183, 192–204 passim, 238; and social counterwill, 272, 282; and Württemberg origins, ix–x, 1–32 passim, 38, 140–3; as liberal Protestant reformer, 12–13, 32, 141–2, 157, 184, 206, 229, 381n86, 383n134, 396n350, 438n186, 446n107; as representative thinker, x, 7, 299n21; asceticism of, 149, 156, 186, 191, 206, 210–11; concept of people in, 245, 273ff, 276, 284ff, 375n10, 437n174, n178; distinguishes between legal and moral recognition, 247; distinguishes between recognition and need, 242–50, 252, 256, 264, 278; distinguishes between social and human, 236, 239, 241, 247–8; his crisis, 150–6 passim; his Kantianism, 157–79 passim; idealism and realism in, 206–7, 212, 240; on absolute spirit, xii, 278–93 passim; on bad infinity, 246–52; on Bildung, 270–93 passim; on bourgeois values, 212–20 passim, 233–4, 242–56 passim; on courage, 212–27 passim; on division of labor, 236–77, passim; on first class, 270–93 passim; on indifference, 259–63, 270–7; on intuitions and concepts, 263–70; on moral formalism, 207–12; on objective experience, xii, 145, 184–5, 193, 206, 212–14, 231–4, 242, 252–4, 264ff, 269–72, 279; on origin of society, 234–41; on pride, 278–93 passim; on Sittlichkeit, xi–xii, 156, 183, 205–52; on social aspect of economics, 215–17, 219, 242ff; on Volksreligion, 140–5, 151–79 passim; works of: “Berne Plan,” 182, 375n7; “early theological writings,” 150–79 passim; Ethical Life, 207–59 passim; “German Constitution,” 231–3, 418n104; “Life of Jesus,” 173–9; Natural Law, 207–42 passim; Phenomenology, xii, 5, 185, 207; “Positivity of Christianity,” 173–7; Tagebuch, 2, 192; “Tübingen Essay,” 161–5, 171, 177, 181–2
- Heine, H., 144–5
- Henrich, D., 157–8, 385n156, n164
- Hillers, D., 108–9
- Hirsch, E., 87
- Hirschman, A. O., 250, 435n106
- Hölderlin, F., 3, 143
- Hölzle, E., 115–6
- Hoffmeister, J., 193
- homo religiosus*, 69–76 passim, 375n8; among Alexandrians, 13–16; among German Protestants, 11–12, 21, 26, 33; and self-realizing teleology, 44, 51, 173; and zoon politikon, 144, 186, 229, 241; in commercial society, 156
- homotosis* (assimilation to God), 306n69, n70, 307–8n75, 308–9n82, 309–10n87, 312n129, 313n142, 323n31, 326n71, 333–34n205. See also assimilation to God; drawing near to God; self-realizing teleology
- Hotman, F., 118
- Hume, D., 186–7, 249
- Hyppolite, J., 193
- idealism as distinguished from romanticism, 226, 260, 283, 309n87, 422n180, n195, 433n70
- imagination: and discipline of culture, 436n146; and division of labor, 256, 259; and false wisdom, 243; and luxury,

- imagination (cont.)
 248–51; and need for redirection, 249; in Garve, 188–9; in Hegel, 268; in Rousseau, 427n84, 429n147; in
 Schelling, 265–7; in Schiller, 256–9,
 268, 433n64
 “in-betweenness” (metaxy), 260, 433n71,
 446n107. See also indifference incentives for action: in Bengel, 99ff; in covenant theology, 93; 101; in evolutionary eschatology, 40, 43–4, 47,
 52; in Hegel, 287; in Kant, 166–71,
 393n317; in Lessing, 377–8n38; in Spener, 339n312
 indifference, 229, 248–52, 259–64,
 276–7, 406n66, 431–2n43, 434n97,
 437–8n178; and Bestimmung, 267; and
Bildung, 272; and division of labor, 274ff; and indirection, 259ff; and middle state, 261; and reflective moment, 261, 268–70; in Schiller and Schelling, 265ff
 indirection, 254–9, 349n121, 423n202, 431n43, 433n79, 437n173; in covenant theology, 93; in Lessing, 260, 433n73;
 in Schiller, 257–63
 inside out, religious movement from, 66,
 68, 93, 103, 146, 156, 163, 268, 271,
 272, 306n70, 333n198, 377n35,
 388n222, 421n169
 Irenaeus, 103, 305n67, 346n87, 347n89,
 392n290
 Jaeger, J. W., 85–9, 95
 James, Book of, 97–9, 353n170
 Joachim(ism), 33–8, 44–57, 63, 74–5,
 78, 82, 90, 95, 97, 103, 280, 305n67,
 316n198, 317–18n2, 319n24, 323n30, 325n47, 431n41; and assimilationism, 328n117; and Christian eschatology, 45–57, 320n32, 325n52; as scholarly rather than mystical exegete, 44, 53ff, 324n42, 329n132, n136, 354n194; in
Aufklärung 17, 25; in Old-
 Württemberg, 61–5; literature on,
 327n102; political aspects of, 35, 58, 330n156, 335n227, n241; relation of,
 to Augustine, 34, 52–3; relation of, to Lessing, 309n83, 323n31; relation of, to Pelagius, 55; social and political forms of, 331n178, 335n234. See also Reeves,
 M.
 Kant, I, 4–6, 15–6, 24, 157–79, 182, 188, 207–10, 237, 251–2, 257; and accommodationism, 305–6n67, 391n275, 395n341; and approximationism, 169–70; and assimilationism, 391n265, 395n332;
 and covenant theology, 390n251, n257;
 and evolutionary eschatology, 169–70;
 and Kingdom of God, 168–70; and perfectionism, 165ff, 170; and philosophical millenarianism, 169–70,
 305–6n67, 391n270, 393n317,
 404n37, 431n41; and Pietism, 165,
 175, 390n250; and praxis pietatis,
 394n324; and recollectivization, 169, 393n307; and synergism, 166; and teleology, 172, 379n63; works of:
Critique of Judgement, 172, 251; *Religion
 Within the Limits of Reason Alone*, 159,
 165–71, 175
 Kantianism, 6, 157–8, 165, 174ff,
 385n156, 390n248; of letter and spirit,
 158, 160, 168, 175
 Kaplan, S., 196
 Karl Alexander, Duke of Württemberg,
 35, 113, 116–21
 Karl Eugen, Duke of Württemberg, 113,
 118, 123–7, 132ff, 201
 Kaufmann, W., 151
 Keohane, N., 198
 Kingdom of God, 13, 43, 339n312; and
 Christian eschatology, 13, 16, 41, 94, 145–6, 159; and praxis pietatis, 89; and recollectivization, 103, 162; and Sittlichkeit, 376n22; and Volksreligion,
 161–4; in Hegel, 148, 158–64,
 173–4, 289–90; in Kant, 168–70; in Lessing, 159; in Spener, 339n312;
 Nygren on, 323n34
 Knox, J., 59, 331n172
 Kraus, C. J., 196
 Kroner, R., 150
 Ladner, G., 12–13, 62, 305n59, 306n69, n70, 307n71, n75, 308n76, n81,
 309n87, 313n141, 343n48
 Lamont, W., 331n171
Landschaft, 114–28, 131, 364n11, n12
 law-abidingness: concept of, among Hegel,
 Kant, and Lessing, 389n242, 427n102;
 in Hegel, 164, 172, 176, 182–8,
 244–5, 247; in Kant, 167–9; in Lessing, 188–90. See also bourgeois laying hold on life, 210, 239, 275, 405n63, 407n63
 leaps in nature, 156, 211, 217, 301n28, 384n139, 404n34, 436n139; and enthusiasm, 261–2; and indirection,
 431n43; opposed by Hegel, 211, 217,
 264; opposed by Rousseau, 416n41;

- opposed by Schiller, 260, 264, 433n64, n71
- Lebens-Reformation*, 126, 161, 356n220; and Second Reformation, 338n287; in Bengel, 342n28, 356n220; in Hegel, 146, 377n36; in Lessing, 377n36; in Troeltsch, 319n26
- Lessing, G., 15, 16, 32, 160, 164, 182, 194, 329n144, 405n50; and Alexandrians, 307n71; and eschatology, 305n67, 377n38; and Joachim, 309n83, 377n38; debt of, to Spener, 74; on divine economy, 74, 284; on indirection, 433n73; on law-abidingness, 188–90, 389n242; on letter and spirit, 385n165; on striving, 389n241, 394n327; relation of, to Hegel, 159, 190, 284; relation of, to Kant, 167–70; relation of, to Scots, 190ff
- Liebel, H., 202
- Liebing, H., 87
- Locke, J., 140, 192
- Löwith, K., 53, 301n1, 328n112, 378n44, 384n144, 396n348, 400n22, 405n56
- Lovejoy, A. O., 172, 250, 288, 328n114, 396n346
- Lukács, G., 151, 154ff, 193, 383n127
- Luther, M., 36, 62, 98, 148–9
- luxury, 178, 186–91 passim, 203, 229, 403n21, n22, 406n68, 412n159; among moderate Calvinists, 251; and bad infinity, 248; and civic humanism, 227–8; in Clement, 188–91; in Ferguson, 218–20, 428n139; in Garve, 428n138; in Hegel, 178, 204, 218, 243ff, 248ff; in Hume, 186–7, 249; in Kant, 251–2; in Montesquieu, 419n129; in Rousseau, 221, 229, 243, 246, 429n147; in Saint-Lambert, 221; in Smith, 221; in Steuart, 199ff, 204, 248, 412n149; literature on, 401n5; social and economic aspects of, 187. See also civilization; wisdom
- McGiffert, M., 92, 93, 100
- MacIntyre, A., 141, 373n8, 378n44
- Mandeville, B., 215, 238
- Markus, R., 46
- Melanchthon, P., 23, 308n82
- Merk, W., 202
- metaxy*. See “in-betweenness”
- middle state, 261, 434n84. See also “in-betweenness; indifference; Schiller
- Miller, P., 101, 289, 310n104, 316n204, 319n24, 321n3, 333n198, 356n213
- Mommsen, T., 47
- Montesquieu, Baron de, 214–21, 239–40
- moral formalism, Hegel’s criticism of, 207–12 passim, 232, 273
- Mornay, 102–12 passim, 125, 198, 359n256. See also resistance theory
- Mosaic covenant, 102–12 passim, 360n260, 361n285, 362n289; antiroyalist aspect of, 108ff. See also Davidic covenant; Old Testament; resistance theory
- Moser, J. J., 3, 8, 38, 113–37 passim, 143, 201–4, 368n87; and ancient constitution, 128–30; and Bengel, 119, 128, 130–1; and Polizeistaat, 201–4; and Steuart, 201ff; on bureaucracy, 201–3; on civil vs. moral personality, 129, 136
- Nohl, H., 150–1, 161
- Nygren, A., 312n129, 323n34
- objective experience, 193, 214, 236; and division of labor, 253; and first class, 281ff; and Hegel, 184–5, 212–13, 234–5, 290; and Sittlichkeit, 145, 184, 206, 213, 242, 253, 264; and subjectivity and objectivity, 245–6; as political moment, 231; as social moment, 242ff, 246ff, 253, 272, 274; as sphere of action, xii, 214ff, 235; transition from social to political moment of, 253–4, 264ff, 269, 271–2, 279ff. See also bourgeois; Sittlichkeit
- old man, 1–5 passim; as concept, 143–50. See also young Hegel
- Old Testament, 51, 53–5, 96, 286ff, 352n148, 358n236, 359n245, 443n70; and covenant theology, 96–112 passim, 352n147, n148 and resistance theory, 108–12
- Old-Württemberg, vii–xiii, 1–150 passim; and eschatology, 35ff, 61–4, 78; and Reformation, 34–6; as religiocultural context, 1–12, 32–3; dukes of, absolutizing and catholicizing tendencies among, 1, 37, 105, 111, 113–24 pass, 134, 201; Estates of, 111–27 passim; political history of, 34–7, 113ff; resistance to dukes of, 7–11, 34–5, 113ff. See also Alte Recht; Good Old Law; Pietism
- Origen, 13–4, 308n77, n79. See also Alexandrian Fathers
- orthodox Lutheranism: in eighteenth century, 9–36 passim; in relation to

- orthodox Lutheranism (cont.)
 Augustinianism and Pelagianism, 19–34; in relation to Coccejianism, 350n131; in relation to synergism, 308n82; tendencies in, 11, 23, 25; theological anthropology of, 25ff; types of, 345n61
- overlay, religioeconomic, 207ff, 210, 231, 250, 253, 276, 280, 282, 401n29, 414n1, 429n145
- Ozment, S., 163, 310n101, 316n198, 318n6, 323n30, 333n199, 354n196, 388n232, 392n289
- Parsons, T., 39
- Pascal, R., 193
- patience, religiopedagogic aspect of, 100, 259ff, 291, 317n225, 329n144, 340n322. See also indirection; leaps in nature
- Paul (in Bible), 97, 110; and covenant theology, 353n170, 354n177, n189. See also Abraham; James, Book of
- Pelagianism, 17–32 passim, 71, 93, 126, 148, 163, 170, 174, 224, 226, 283, 287, 308n79, n82, 310n101, 312n129, 313n155, 314n62, 316n198, 318n6, 333n199, 350n123, 432n52
- Pelagius, 12–32 passim, 280, 313n142, 316n197; and contest with Augustine, 26ff; and egocentric religion, 19, 21, 25, 27; and theology of history, 28–9; as synergist, 28; on sin, 28–9; rehabilitated by Aufklärer, 21, 25, 27, 34. See also environmentalism
- Peuckert, W., 65
- Pfleiderer, O., 158, 167
- Philo, 13
- Pietism, German, 40–112 passim, 186; and Bengel, 77–112 passim; and federal theology, 87–9; and praxis pietatis, 11, 70–5, 90, 338n287, n290; and Second Reformation, 69–70; and Spener, 69–76 passim; as resource for Hegel and Kant, 165, 171; at Tübingen, 86–7; as distinct from separatism, 69–71; political aspect of, 38–9, 114ff; and relation to orthodox Lutheranism, 70–3, 351n135
- Plant, R., 193, 232, 266, 376n16, 379n63, 382n90, 408n88, 414n1
- Plato: and homoiosis, 13, 62, 147, 170, 333n205; on courage, 222
- Pocock, J., 45–6, 135, 186, 227ff, 319n21, 321n1, 325n55, 330n157, 366n46, 367n62, 369n92, 370n119, 374n16
- Polanyi K., 195, 417n67
- political economy: German views of Scottish versions of, 192–204; in Hegel, 213–16, 241, 244
- Polizeistaat*, 199–204, 406n70, 413n168, n185, 414n2
- praxis pietatis*, 7, 8, 62–3, 72–3, 75–86, passim, 90, 126, 131, 136, 140, 341n6; among down-to-earth pietists, 11, 94, 113; and federal theology, 86–9, 94; and Lebens-Reformation, 126; and sanctification, 338n287, 338n290, 353n175; and Second Reformation, 131, 136, 338, n287; in Andreae, 66–7; in Bengel, 96–102; in Hegel, 145, 153, 161; in Kant, 394n324; in Melancthon, 308n82; in Pelagius, 29–30; in Spener, 69, 338n293; Weber on, 338n287, n290
- pride: Augustine on, 32, 279, 439n8; in Hegel, 278ff, 430n174; in Kant, 394n323; in Tocqueville, 292–3; types of, 439n1
- progressive revelation, 100, 172, 189, 260, 348n105, 385n165, 393n315, n318
- Protestant civil piety, ix–x, 1, 5–12 passim, 33–9 passim, 298n15, 337n267, 369n95, 376n16; and Hegel, 8, 136, 141, 144, 153, 161–5, 171, 252, 373n6, 374n16, n17; and Second Reformation, 61; as religiocultural ideal in Old-Württemberg, x, 7–8, 118–19, 136, 140–1; as reconstituted by Hegel, xii, 135; two faces of, 123
- Protestantism. See Calvin, J.; orthodox Lutheranism; Pietism
- Raeff, M., 200–4, 413n164, n170
- recollectivization, religious, 96–112 passim, 227–8, 320n28, 331n175, 352n146, n147, 353n157, 356n220, 381n86, 393n307; and Lebens-Reformation, 126; and Second Reformation, 228; in Bengel, 96–8, 103, 111; in covenant theology, 101–2; in Hegel, 144, 152, 157, 160–2, 183–4; 246, 273–4; in Kant, 169; Pelagian aspect of, 126–7
- Reeves, M., 35, 37, 44–5, 56, 58–60, 317n2, 320n33, 327n103, 330n156
- reflective moment, religious, 259–63; and Bestimmung, 267; and indifference, 261–2; and liberal Protestantism, 434n92; and liberality in Ferguson and Schiller, 263; in Garve, 188–9, 404n33, 405n54; in Hegel, 268–70,

- 272, 280; in Schiller, 259–63, 265, 268, 434n83, n92, 435n106
- Reformation, 45–76 passim, 319n21, n24; and idea of First Reformation, 36; and idea of general reformation, 45, 59–60, 63–6, 235n233, 334n215; as eschatological event, 45; as ongoing in Old-Württemberg, 121–3, 126, 144–6, 320n28, 330n149; distinction between magisterial and radical, 58–60, 331n171, n175. See also Lebens-reformation; Second Reformation
- Reill, P., 303n30, 305n64, n67, 311n120, 314n171, 318n4, 372n162–3
- relative identity: and bad infinity, 272; and bourgeoisie, 244, 276; in Hegel, 243–5; in Rousseau, 243
- relative perfection in religion, 15–16, 280, 307n71, 439n12, 444n82
- Religionsreversalien* (1733), 118, 123
- religious renewal and distinction between reform and revival, 10–11, 85, 282, 305n59, 343n48, 433n70
- resistance theory, 102–12 passim, 117, 120, 122; and ancient constitution, 119; and covenant theology, 105ff; differences between covenantal and contractual versions of, 108ff; literature on, 357n229
- Rice, E., 71
- Ricoeur, P., viii, 139
- Riedel, M., 200–1, 233
- Ritter, J., 193
- Rosenkranz, K., 2, 192–3, 407n81
- Rosicrucians, 63–5
- Rousseau, J. J., 162, 167, 181, 218–25, 229, 237, 239, 243–6, 255, 284–9, 293, 407n81; works of: “Discourse on Political Economy,” 221; Emile, 243, 246, 293; First Discourse, 221–2; Second Discourse, 221; Social Contract, 223, 285
- Rürup, R., 7, 303n19
- sanctification, religious: and gradualism in Arndt and Andreae, 66; and homoiosis, 62; Barth on, 353n175; in Arndt, 62–3, 74, 333n199; in Bengel, 104, 353n175; in Book of James, 97ff; in Coccejus, 103; in covenant theology, 101–2; in federal theology, 94; in Pietism, 70; in Spener, 75, 340n323; Miller on, 333n198, 353n175; Troeltsch on, 319n24, 333n198, 443n69, 444n79
- Schelling, F., 3–6, 143, 158–9, 172, 182, 207–10, 214, 232, 265–7
- Schiller, F., 2, 15–16, 191–4, 215, 218, 223–4, 237–240, 244, 247–9, 254–63, 279; Aesthetic Education by, 191–2, 215, 223, 237, 247, 254, 256–7, 261, 263, 279; and Enlightenment, 256–7; and human dignity, 191, 257, 278; and indifference, 259–63; and indirection, 254–9; and nobility of soul, 224, 256–8, 261, 279; and reflection, 259–63; idea of liberality in, 434n83, n91, 435n109; idealism and realism in, 260–2; in relation to Ferguson, 191–2, 255, 263; in relation to Hegel, 183, 191
- Schumpeter, J., 214
- Scottish Enlightenment, x–xi; and origin of society, 238–9; and political economy, 135, 263; and sociological realism, 239–41, 253, 263; scholarship on, 193ff, 408n89; thinkers of, 135, 183–4, 188ff, 194ff, 233, 238–9, 253–4. See also Ferguson, A.; Hume, D.; Smith, A. Steuart, J.
- Second Reformation, 36, 60–76 passim, 104, 121–3, 125, 131, 136, 140, 228, 278, 332n182, n184, 336n257, 337n280, 341n14, 376n12; in Troeltsch, 319n25
- self-realizing teleology, 44, 47, 54, 62, 76, 102, 104, 127, 145–7, 157; and eschatology, 326n69; in Taylor’s and Findlay’s views of Hegel, 378n45; in Hegel, 380n70; in Kant, 166–9, 172–3, 251; in relation to liberal Protestantism, 438n186; in relation to voluntarism, 416n40, 438n186. See also eschatology; voluntarism
- Semi-Pelagian, 20, 26, 308n82, 313n141, 315n196
- separatism, 11, 22, 69–72, 82–7, 89, 94–5, 337n281, 343n43
- Sittlichkeit*, vii–xiii, 180–252 passim, 414n1; and bourgeoisie, 221–3, 234–5, 242, 244; and economics, 212ff; and social and political theory, 204, 207ff, 232, 240, 242ff; and Volksreligion, 162–5, 173; as applied theology, 205–6; as axis of Hegel’s thought, 183, 234; as prepolitical conception, 237, 239–40; natural, 234–52; organic and inorganic forms of, 213–17, 225–6, 232–5, 275; problem of, 237; rethought by Hegel, 205ff; subjective and objective aspects of, 246. See also bourgeois; objective experience
- Skinner, A., 198
- Skinner, Q., 60, 105–6, 198, 304n39,

Skinner (cont.)

- 305n51, n54, 330n156
 Small, A., 193, 197
 Smith, A., 183, 192–6, 221, 254; Wealth of Nations by, 192, 194, 196, 221
 Smith, A. J., 21
 Spener, P., 62, 69–76, 80–7, 92, 102, 164, 337n271–2, 339n312; and eschatology, 339n312; and perfectionism, 75; and praxis pietatis, 69, 87, 338n293; and sanctification, 75, 340n323, n327; and Second Reformation, 69; influence of, in Old-Württemberg, 80–7. See also Pietism
 Spindler, D., 83
Ständestaat, 114, 117, 121, 363n317, 367n61
 Stephen, L., 22
 Steuart, J., 183, 192–204, 215, 217, 236–8, 240, 248; Principles of Political Oeconomy by, 192, 194, 196
 Storr, G., 6, 157–8, 165, 171
 Studion, S., 61–68 passim
 Symbolic forms, 170–1, 395n335. See also incentives for action synergism, religious, 13–14, 18–29, 44, 55, 62, 71; among Alexandrians, 308n82, 313n141; among Aufklärer, 18; among sixteenth-century Protestants, 23, 314n166; and covenant theology, 316n204, 347n89; and federal theology, 88, 93; and self-realizing eschatology, 323n30; and tradition of Christian reform, 13, 314n161, 316n198; in Arndt, 333n200; in Bengel, 99; in Clement, 309n85; in Cocceus, 90; in Hegel, 282, 399n411; in Kant, 166, 171–2; in Pelagius, 27–9, 316n197
Tapferkeit. See courage
 Taylor, C., 152ff, 155, 156, 378n45
 teleology, 16, 49, 73–4, 146–9, 190, 378n44; and accommodationism, 383n127; and axiology, 43–4, 47, 52, 323n32; and eschatology, 47, 51, 149, 323n31, n34; and homoiosis, 14, 309n87; and redivinization, 326n71; and voluntarism, 229; in Clement, 146–7, 306n70, 309n87, 310n97; in covenant theology, 93, 102; in Hegel, 147–9, 156, 280, 282, 288; Lukács on, 383n127; Platonic versus Stoic aspect of, 309n87, 326n71, 441n37. See also assimilation to God; homoiosis; self-realizing teleology; voluntarism theocentric religion, 19, 21, 25, 27,

- 312n129; in Augustine, 19ff. See also egocentric religion theology of history: in Augustine, 50ff; in Bengel, 102ff; in Clement, 15; in Cocceus, 90ff; in Eusebius, 46–7; in Hegel, 280ff; in Jaeger, 86ff; in Joachim, 52ff; in Lessing, 190ff; in Pelagius, 28–9 Tocqueville, A. de, 33, 39, 292–3, 320n37 totality, idea of, 243–5, 426n68, n71, n72
 Troeltsch, E., 286
 Tübingen, University of, 6, 64, 86–8, 157–9; Stift of, 78, 84, 157
 Tübingen Treaty (1514), 115, 120, 122
 Tuveson, E., 44, 189, 310n104, 319n18, 323n30, 324n46, 325n52
 Veblen, T., 250
 Viner, J., 189
 Vocation. See calling
 Voegelin, E., 108–9, 291, 323n30, 325n60, 361n280, 399n425, 445n106
Volksreligion, ix, 140–5, 150–2, 157–79 passim; 382n90, 386n188, 387n204; and Jesus in Hegel, 171–5; and , recollectivization, 144, 152, 160–2; and religious reform, 161–4, 172; and Sittlichkeit, 162, 173, 381n84 voluntarism: and praxis pietatis, 200; and recollectivization, 101, 103, 111; and self-realizing teleology, 147, 229, 416n40; in Andreae, 68; in Bengel, 99, 104; in Clement, 147; in covenant theology, 93–4, 108, 356n208; in Garve, 189, 224–5; in Hegel, 147–8, 152, 273, 280–2, 287–91; in Kant, 166–8, 393n315; in Schiller, 259, 262, 431n26, 434n91; moment of, 288, 444n94
 Von Dobschütz, E., 40; on consequent eschatology, 321n6, 323n31
 Von Sybrik, H., 23
 Walker, M., 114, 201
 Wallace, W., vii
 Walsh, W., 159
 Walzer, M., 60, 101–4, 112, 337n261, 349n121, 352n147, n148, n154, 353n157, 368n88
 Weber, M., vii, 9, 128, 139, 149, 181, 229n18, n21, 305n63, 320n38, 373n8
 Wernle, P., 174–5
 White, H., 233, 423n9
 wisdom: and division of labor, 274; and indirection, 258; distinguished from

Cambridge University Press

0521389127 - Hegel: Religion, Economics, and the Politics of Spirit, 1770-1807 - Laurence Dickey

Index

More information

Index

459 cunning, 387n216; in Ferguson, 205; in Hegel, 236, 244–5, 275, 427n105; in Kant, 430n171; in Rousseau, 243, 247, 286; in Schiller, 256–8, 418n106. See also civilization; luxury

Yates, F., 63–6

young Hegel: as concept distinct from old man, 140–52 passim, 155, 183, 245; Lukács on, 151f; Taylor on, 152ff