

Cambridge University Press

0521389127 - Hegel: Religion, Economics, and the Politics of Spirit, 1770-1807 - Laurence Dickey

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

Preface	page vii
Acknowledgments	xv
Introduction: Hegel in a Protestant cultural context	1
Part I. Hegel's Württemberg: "Civil Millenarianism" and the two faces of Protestant civil piety	33
1 The religious culture of Old-Württemberg:
I. Christian eschatology and "down-to-earth" Pietism	40
2 The religious culture of Old-Württemberg:
II. J. A. Bengel and the theology of the divine economy	77
3 The political culture of Old-Württemberg:
The Alte Recht tradition	113
Part II. Württemberg's Hegel: Applied theology and social analysis	139
4 The writings of the 1790s: The "old man" and the "young Hegel"	143
Part III. Toward the Phenomenology : Sittlichkeit becomes a problem in social and political theory	181
5 Hegel discovers the economy	186
6 Sittlichkeit reconsidered: I. The essay on Natural Law	205
7 Sittlichkeit reconsidered: II. The essay on Ethical Life	231
8 Hegel's conception of the division of labor	253
Epilogue. Bildung and politics: The "first class," Christian pride, and "absolute spirit"	278
Abbreviations	294
Notes	297
Index	449