Cambridge University Press
0521401925 - Humanism and Education in Medieval and Renaissance Italy: Tradition and Innovation in Latin Schools from the Twelfth to the Fifteenth Century - Robert Black
Table of Contents
More information

Contents

Acknowledgements  page viii
List of abbreviations  x
Editorial note regarding citations from manuscripts and publications  xiii
A note on chronological terminology  xv

Introduction  1

1 Italian Renaissance education: an historiographical perspective  12

2 The elementary school curriculum in medieval and Renaissance Italy: traditional methods and developing texts  34
   Doctores pueros  34
   Tabula, carta, salterium  36
   Ianua  44
   Ianua: its origins and early character  45
   Ianua's early prevalence in Italy  48
   Other early manuscripts of Ianua: the character and development of the text before the fifteenth century  50
   The later development of Ianua  55

3 The secondary grammar curriculum  64
   The ancient and medieval background  64
   The twelfth century and the invention of secondary grammar  69
   The thirteenth century and the emergence of a distinctive Italian approach  82
   The fourteenth century and the rise of the vernacular  96
   The fifteenth century: an era of failed reform  124
   Conclusion  171

4 Latin authors in medieval and Renaissance Italian schools: the story of a canon  173
   Major and minor authors  173
   The Dark Ages: decline and renaissance of the classics  174
   The tenth and eleventh centuries: the ascendant classics  179
   The twelfth century: the classical apogee  185

© Cambridge University Press  www.cambridge.org
Contents

5 Reading Latin authors in medieval and Renaissance Italian schools

Glossing between the lines: the struggling pupil

The role of the vernacular

Word order

Interlinear Latin synonyms

Grammatical analysis

Glossing in the margins: the triumph of philology over morality

Rhetorical figures

Grammar

Mnemonic verses

Geography

History

Mythology

Paraphrase

Authorities

Introductory philosophy

Introductory rhetorical analysis

Introductory and accompanying material

Probate icons, drawings and colophons

Accessus

Sententiae

Allegory

School glosses and learned commentaries: tradition and adaptation in reading Boethius's Consolation

6 Rhetoric and style in the school grammar syllabus

The secondary syllabus as an integrated curriculum

Grammar and rhetoric

Rhetoric and style in the Italian grammar syllabus before the Renaissance: the force of tradition

Rhetoric and style in the grammar curriculum during the fifteenth century: innovation triumphant
Contents

Conclusion 366
Appendix I BL Harley 2653: the earliest known manuscript of Ianua 369
Appendix II A handlist of manuscripts of Ianua 373
Appendix III Manuscripts of Tebaldo's Regula 379
Appendix IV Handlist of manuscripts of school authors produced in Italy and now found in Florentine libraries 386
Appendix V Theoretical grammar manuscripts in Florentine libraries examined and included or eliminated as Italian school grammars 426
Appendix VI Authorities cited explicitly in manuscripts of major school authors in Florentine libraries 428

Bibliography 435
Index of manuscripts 436
General index 466