

---

Index

- accords of association/cooperation, see Franco-Senegalese accords of association
- Africanization, see Senegalization
- Afrique Occidentale Française, see AOF
- agricultural policy: calls for reform of groundnut economy, 86–8; groundnut program, 106–13; public investment in (1960s), 97; see also colonial economy
- agriculture, see agro-industry; food crop production; groundnut economy
- agro-industry, 112, 174, 175; see also cotton
- Anglo-French Free Trade Convention of 1898, 34n3
- Animation Rurale*, 88, 91–4, 102, 104, 106
- AOF (Afrique Occidentale Française), 39–40; balkanization of, 85, 114, 133–4; commodity price supports, 34, 53, 57–8; control over import-export trade, 44–6; as market for French goods, 35, 52–4, 55–6, 69–77; postwar public investment in, see FIDES; postwar “reintegration” of colonial economy, 52–5; trade deficit/declining terms of trade, 55–8; trade liberalization (1950s), 59–61; World War II economic dirigisme, 50–1; see also colonial administration; colonial industry; colonial markets, groundnut production
- Apollo-TM et Cie, 217, 243–4, 246
- artisanal activities, state support for, 188; tailors, 156–7
- assistance technique* (French technical assistance), 168, 170, 177, 178; and “parallel administration,” 99–101
- Ba, Babacar (Minister of Finance), 181, 191, 195–6
- balance of payments, 57–8, 116n67, 172–3, 177
- banking sector/banks: commercial banks, 175–7, 184, 190; criticisms/reforms of credit policies, 169, 176, 189, 190; expanded state role, 175–6; lending institutions for local private sector, 188–91; liberal lending (1970s), 190, 195; political machine and, 181, 190, 195; see also BCEAO; BNDS
- Banque Centrale des Etats de l’Afrique de l’Ouest, see BCEAO
- Banque du Commerce Sénégalais (BCS), 246
- Banque Nationale du Développement du Sénégal, see BNDS
- basic textile industry, see textile industry (Dakar)
- Bates, Robert, 2, 6, 19, 27–8
- BCEAO (central bank), 176, 187, 189, 190; and deficit spending, 130; objectives re-defined (1973/4), 176; rediscount mechanism, 176, 189
- Bloc Démocratique Sénégalais (BDS), 82–7
- Bloc des Masses Sénégalaises (BMS), 94n25
- Bloc Populaire Sénégalais (BPS), 85
- BNDS (national development bank), 115n63, 156, 175, 181, 189, 190, 195, 227, 245
- bourgeoisie(s); Senegalese business class as a, 185–7; African ruling classes as, 20–3, 254
- Brazzaville Conference of 1944, 52n53
- Brenner, Robert, 261–2, 272
- budgetary deficit of Senegalese government, 92, 130, 172, 209
- business class (Senegalese), see indigenous business class
- Caisse Centrale de la Coopération Economique (CCCE), 154n54, 174n20, 176n26, 189; during colonial period, 67
- capital, 1; local private (in Senegal), see indigenous business class; and postcolonial African state, 7, 20–3, 25; question of hegemony in Africa, 15, 258; question of local versus foreign, 21–3; question of peasants’ subordination to, 109–10, 205; and “relative autonomy” of African state, 8–9; weakness of (in Senegal), 10–11, 258–9; see also foreign capital; merchant capital
- capital deepening, 121; limits of, in textile industry, 132, 135–6, 163
- capitalist development, 1–3, 253–4; ambivalence of Senegal’s rulers, 10–11, 24, 257; in Brazil, 268–9; and decay of African

- state, 271–2; and decolonization of AOF, 133–6; in Europe, 267–9; and interests of African rulers, 20–3; in Latin America, 267–8; and merchant capital, 10–11, 31, 46–7, 78, 205; paradox in post-colonial Africa, 3–4, 8–9, 23; political contingencies, 8, 9, 15, 16, 23–30, 259, 268–9; and “primitive accumulation,” 261, 271; question of inevitability, 1–3, 7, 25, 264; states as agents of, 253–64, 267–9
- capitalist states, 253–4; autonomy of, 263–4; character of, 254–64; historical specificity of, 254, 263; peripheral, 1–3, 20, 254; see also state
- CCV (Cotonnière de Cap Vert), 72–3, 75, 76, 140–1, 153–4, 161, 222n41, 230, 242, 246
- CEAO (Communauté Economique de l’Afrique de l’Ouest), 242; see also regional markets central bank, see BCEAO
- CFAO (Compagnie Française de l’Afrique de l’Ouest), 44–46, 135; and Dakar textile industry, 72, 76, 139, 140, 153, 219–20; and trading consortia, 128
- CFDT (Compagnie Française pour le Développement des Fibres Textiles), 112n57, 158n70, 175; see also cotton
- CHAIDIS (Senegalese-owned commercial company), 184
- Chamber of Commerce (Dakar): allocation of import quotas, 51, 64, 124; control over, 64, 124; Senegalization of, 167, 168, 181, 184
- Chambre Syndicale du Patronat Sénégalais, 167
- CITEC (textile trading arm of Boussac), 139–40, 145n38, 219–21; retail outlets of, 139n23
- CITEX (garment-making firm), 155–6
- civil servants: and 1968–70 political crisis, 167, 171; number, share of state budget, 97; as a political class, 79, 97; and politics (1950s), 84–5; see also government administration
- clans (political factions), 96; see also patron-client networks in Senegal
- class character: of African ruling strata, 20–3, 254, 267; of capitalist states, 253–70; of political classes, 26; of Senegal’s business stratum, 185–7; of Senegal’s ruling coalition, 24, 166; of the state, 253, 266
- clientelism, see patron-client networks; patronage politics
- clothing: and artisanal tailors, 156–7; importation of, 63, 146, 218; local manufacture of, 155–8, 162, 226–7, 230; see also friperie; SOTEXKA project
- CNF (Compagnie Niger-France), 44–6, 135; and Dakar textile industry, 72, 76, 139, 140, 153, 219–20; formation by the UAC, 37n15; NOSOCO, 220
- coalition building: and commercial rents, 27–9; and ruling coalitions, 26–7; the state as a resource, 16–19; see also ruling coalition in Senegal
- COFEGES (Confédération des Groupements Economiques du Sénégal), 186
- Collin, Jean, 172–3, 180–1, 183, 248
- colonial administration: and agricultural “cooperatives” (SIP), 42–3, 46; alliance with marabouts, 40–3; efforts to promote private industry, 67, 70; and Icotaf, 72; indirect rule, 43; and maisons de commerce/merchant capital, 31, 42, 43, 44–5, 46, 63, 64, 259; narrow economic goals, 39, 42; Portères mission, 86–7; and postwar AOF trade deficit, 57–8; wartime dirigisme, 51; see also colonial rule
- colonial industry, 50, 51, 65–77, 68t; in AOF before 1945, 47–9; and competition from metropolitan industry, 47, 48, 66–7, 70; French debates over, 37–8; high costs, 57, 66–7, 68; Melia ruling of 1950, 66n89; state support for postwar investment, 53, 67
- colonial markets: expansion of, 35; France’s share of AOF market, 34, 55–6, 60; for French industry, 33–4; ISI as a market-control strategy, 67–9, 76; liberalization of import regime (1950s), 59–61; maisons de commerce and, 44–7; and price supports for export commodities, 34, 53, 57–8; problem of absorptive capacity, 37, 53, 57; structural imbalances, 57–8, 78; textile imports, 36t, 71t, 131; see économie de traite; pacte colonial
- colonial rule: AOF territorial assemblies, 83n5, 84, 89; “assimilation” ideal, 81, 82, 84; decolonization process, 80–90; enfranchisement of rural population, 82; indirect rule, 40–3; Loi Cadre, 85; 1958 referendum, 88–9; and rights of citizens of Quatre Communes, 81–2; three legacies, 9–11; see also AOF; colonial administration
- colonial trading companies, see maisons de commerce
- commercial capital, see merchant capital
- Communauté Economique de l’Afrique de l’Ouest, see CEAO
- Compagnie Française de l’Afrique de l’Ouest, see CFAO
- Compagnie Niger-France, see CNF
- Compagnie Sénégalaise du Sud-Est, see CSSE
- Confédération des Groupements Economiques du Sénégal, see COFEGES
- Confédération Nationale des Travailleurs Sénégalais (CNTS), see labor unions
- confréries, see Islamic confréries

- Conseil Economique et Social, 101 constitutional crisis of 1962, 93–4, 101 constitutional reforms, 170, 172, 178 contraband trade, see parallel markets cooperatives, rural, 28; as building blocs of political machine, 80; calls for redynamization of, 88, 91, 92; colonial version (SIP), 42–3, 88, 91, 259; control by rural notables, 107, 108–9; expansion of (1960s), 106–8; and malaise paysan, 198; as mechanisms of surplus extraction, 107; and OCA, 92; and ONCAD's collapse, 205; and patronage politics, 108; peasant debts to, 110, 169, 171, 199, 204, 205; proposed role in rural distribution, 92; Senegalese businessmen's critique of, 185; see also Animation Rurale, SIP corporatist structures: and local private sector, 172, 183–5, 195; students, 171; unions, 94, 171, 237, 238n94; and UPS, 95n29, 98; weakening of (1980s), 209–10, 237
 Côte d'Ivoire, 138, 147n43, 229; ivoirisation, 261; textile exports, 153–4; textile industry, 48n41, 135–6
 Cottonnière de Cap Vert, see CCV cotton: cultivation, 53, 112; and development plans, 136, 232; price paid by local industry, 158; price subsidy, 240; textile industry's consumption of, 161, 242; world prices, 240; see also CFDT; SODEFITEX credit (bank credit): expansion (1970s), 176; to foreign investors, 115, 175n26; discount policies, 176; local entrepreneurs' access to, 48, 167, 169, 183, 187–91; see also banking sector/banks; foreign borrowing
 CSSE (Senegalese-owned commercial company), 183
 Dakar-Marine (naval tanker repair station), 174 debt crisis, see foreign borrowing; macroeconomy; Structural Adjustment program(s) decolonization, 1, 4, 8; and conditions for capitalist development, 25; insecurity of African elite, 16; question of capital's hegemony, 15; to transcend limits of indirect rule, 79, 165 decolonization of Senegal, 11, 24; enfranchisement of rural population, 82; and interests/needs of capital, 133–4; Loi Cadre, 85; 1958 referendum, 88–9; political process of, 80–90; Senghoriste parties versus nationalists/leftists, 80, 84–5, 88–9; see also electoral politics; Franco-Senegalese accords of association; Mali Federation deficit spending: see budgetary deficit of Senegalese government Development Plans, 118, 137; First, 54, 137, 172; Second, 112, 173; Third, 173; Fourth, 174; Fifth, 232, 233; Sixth, 232–3 development theories: and debates over African capitalism, 20–3; dependency, 1, 7, 15, 21, 23; dependent development, 1, 2, 23, 254; modernization, 18n13, 96, 103; and state autonomy/capacity, 253–64, 267–9
 Dia, Mamadou, 82, 90, 91–4, 102, 104, 126, 166, 260; downfall of, 93–5
 Diagne, Blaise, 81–2
 Diouf, Abdou, 11; as “young technocrat,” 179; becomes prime minister, 179; becomes president, 210; as president, 210–11, 247–50
 Dollfus Mieg Corporation (DMC), 72n101, 154, 246 droughts, see environmental conditions economic crisis, 2, 6; in Senegal, 4, 208–10, 247–51, 255, 257
économie de traite (la traite), 31–2, 39–47, 63–4, 90; criticism of, 122, 125; declining profitability, 109n52, 146, 205; disorganization of (World War II), 62; end of, 204–6; and postcolonial state, 78, 90, 91; post-war reorganization, 62–4 educational policy: calls for reform, 167, 171; see also students electoral politics: “conservatives versus progressives” (1950s), 84, 85, 88; de facto one-party state, 94; electoral fraud, 94, 210, 248; extension of voting rights (1946–56), 80, 82; fusion of “moderate parties” (c. 1958), 85–6; leftist opposition (1950s), 80, 84–5, 88–9; liberalizations (1976, 1981), 210, 248; as mechanism regulating access to office, 95–6; 1963 national elections, 94, 101; 1983 elections, 248; and Senegalese deputies to French Assembly, 81, 82, 83; and the SIP, 87n13; weight of rural vote, 82–3, 89, 98–9, 102, 170 environmental conditions: dust bowl conditions, 86–7; Sahelian drought, 9, 172, 197, 207, 222; soil depletion, 41–2, 86–7, 250
 Ets. Schaeffer et Cie., 37, 71–2, 76n115, 134–5, 140, 142, 238; see also Schaeffer Engineering export-platform, see Zone Franche Industrielle de Dakar exports, see agro-industry; extractive industries; groundnut exports; regional markets; textile industry: exports extractive industries, 209; iron ore, 174; phosphates, 174
 Fédération des Groupements Economiques Africain (FGEA), 167–8
 FIDES (Fonds d'Investissement pour le Développement Economique et Social), 54–5, 58, 64, 65, 104n46, 173

- financial institutions, see banking sector/banks; names of institutions
- fiscal receipts, 130, 231; and circuit of merchant capital, 130, 231, 256; see also import tax revenues
- flour-milling monopoly (Grands Moulins de Dakar), 66n89, 249
- Fonds d'Investissement pour le Développement Economique et Social, see FIDES
- food crop production, 87, 112, 198; and farmers' relation to capital, 109; and malaise paysan, 198, 199, 201
- foreign aid, 130, 170n10, 173, 174; declining levels of French, 170; French military aid, 101; French "technical assistance," 99–101; see also foreign borrowing
- foreign borrowing, 130, 173–7, 179, 208, 222, 233n81; on commercial markets, 173–4; external debt, 177, 209, 243; and patronage resources, 173; from World Bank group, 173
- foreign business interests (postcolonial Senegal): employers' associations, 100; policy-making influence, 100–1, 117–8, 124; political worries, 93, 101; response to import fraud/contraband, 233, 236–7
- foreign capital, 8, 21–3, 173–4; divestments, 175, 243–4, 246–7; investment guarantees, 115; and local private sector, 168, 184, 185, 256; political vulnerabilities of, 133–6; in postcolonial Senegalese industry, 113–22, 133; profit repatriation, 168; and rentierism, 131–2, 136, 256, 263; and subsidized credit, 115, 175n26; see also capital
- foreign debt, 177, 209, 234, 243; see also foreign borrowing
- Franc zone, see Zone Franc
- Franco-Senegalese accords of association, 90, 114, 134, 163, 168; and Senghor regime, 93–4
- French advisors, see assistance technique; Collin, Jean
- French industry: AOF subsidiaries of, 50; competition with colonial industry, 47, 48, 66; debate over colonial industrialization, 37–8; need for colonial markets, 31–8, 52–4; postwar interest in ISI, 66–7; uncompetitiveness of, 55–6; see French textile industry
- French military presence, 101
- French textile industry, 34–8, 52–4, 60, 61, 71t; and AOF trade liberalization (1950s), 60–1, 61t; and colonial cotton production, 53; and Dakar textile industry, 69; exports of, 36t; producers' association (SGICF), 35, 38
- French trading houses, see maisons de commerce
- French West Africa, see AOF
- friperie* (imported used clothes), 216–8, 243–4; distribution networks, 234–5; effects on garment industry, 226–7; importers of, 217, 244, 246; as a political issue, 234–5
- Gambia, 225–6; Gambian import taxes, 212–3; see also parallel markets
- garment-making firms, see textile industry: secondary segment
- GES (Groupements Economiques du Sénégal), 184–5, 191, 195, 196
- Ghana, 25, 260
- government administration: attempts of Dia to centralize control (1960–2), 93; centralization of presidential control (1963–8), 94, 170; decentralization of power (1970s), 172, 178, 179, 180–2; Diouf's attempts to recentralize control (1980s), 210–11, 248–9; extension into rural areas, 106–7; French advisors in, 99–100, 178; loss of coherence/centralized control, 97, 166, 180–2, 208; meshing with UPS structures, 95; paralysis of (1980s), 211; versus UPS politicians (1960–2), 90–1, 93, 94n22; "young technocrats" in, 179; see also ministry(ies); state apparatus
- government expenditure: on civil servants, 97; exhaustion of internal resources, 172; expansion of budget, 97, 173; and foreign borrowing, 172–7; and "structural adjustment," 248; urban/rural allocation (1960s), 97, 98t; see also public investment
- Government of Senegal: constitution, 90; constitutional crisis (1962), 93–4; constitutional reforms, 94, 172, 178; de facto one-party state, 94; planning commissions (1958–60), 86, 87–8; transfer of power to, 86, 90; see also government administration; ruling coalition in Senegal; Senghor regime; state in Senegal
- Great Depression, 32, 33, 42, 45
- gross domestic product, 105t, 106, 107t
- groundnut exports: export tax, 123; foreign exchange earnings, 106; quantities, 40, 49t; see also groundnut production
- groundnut marketing: as focus of political conflict, 90; interest of indigenous business class in, 105–6, 126; licensing Senegalese traders in (1960s), 129; marketing boards, see OCA, ONCAD; nationalization of, 91, 92, 122–3; parallel markets in, 202–3, 213; state's interest in controlling, 105–6, 126, 259; state monopoly criticized by local businessmen, 168, 169, 183, 185; state monopoly erodes, 198, 199, 202, 204–5, 257; and textile trade/industry, 146, 163; see also économie de traite; groundnut prices
- groundnut prices: and AOF export processing industry, 48; collapse of (1930s), 42; colo-

- nial supports for, 34, 53, 57–8, 89; declining terms of trade (1950s), 55; Korean War boom, 59, 63n85; withdrawal of French supports, 110, 170–1, 199
- groundnut prices: producer prices, 199, 200t; colonial supports for, 62, 111; and electoral politics (1950s), 83, 88; falling, 110–11, 197; increases, 171, 199, 204; set by OCA, 123; withdrawal of French price supports, 110, 199
- groundnut processing industry, 65, 113, 118t, 119; colonial quotas, 49, 50–1; in France, 47; Lesieur, 51n48; nationalization of, 175; pre-World War II, 48–9; and purchases from cooperatives (post-1980), 205
- groundnut production, 200t; disinvestment from, 197–8; establishment of, 40–7; and farmers' monetary income, 111; and fertilizer use, 41, 110, 111–12, 197–8, 250, 257; productivity problem, 42–3, 46, 86–7, 106, 110–11, 199, 205, 250; question of sustainability (1950s), 78, 86–7; techniques, 41–2, 86–7, 106, 110; see also malaise paysan; navetanes
- groundnut program, 106–13; peasants' boycott of, 198
- Groupements Economiques du Sénégal, see GES
- Guèye, Lamine (deputy to French Assembly), 82, 84, 85
- guinée cloth, 33n2; Sotiba's, 74–7, 152–3; see also Pondichéry
- hommes d'affaires sénégalais*, 191–2; see also indigenous business class; rentier class
- Hyden, Goran, 6, 264–5, 266, 267
- Icotaf (Industrie Cotonnière Africaine), 72, 75–6, 135, 140–2, 145n38, 149–54, 159–62, 220; in crisis, 222–5, 228–9, 238–42; sales revenues, 225t; transfer of ownership, 243–5
- IMF (International Monetary Fund), 209, 210, 249
- import licenses/quotas: allocation of, 44–7, 64, 124, 144, 181, 192, 194; allocation to Senegalese businessmen, 194, 219; and colonial wartime dirigisme, 51; control of by maisons de commerce, 45, 64, 114, 124; enforcement problem, 231, 236; and friperie quota, 218, 244; import fraud, 215, 218, 219; in the 1950s, 59–60, 64; as patronage resources, 191; and promotion of industry, 114–16, 143–5; suppression of (post-1986), 250; for textile goods, 143–5, 236
- import quotas, see import licenses/quotas
- import-substitution industrialization (ISI), xii; Dakar textile industry as case of, 5, 132; government's commitment to (1970s), 231–3; and nationalist demands, 132–3; promotion of, in Senegal, 11–12, 65–77, 113–22, 231; relative success (1960s), 118, 118t, 162; reversal of, 247; as strategy for market control, 67–9, 70, 76, 113
- import tax revenues, 116, 119, 130, 231–2; and breakdown of import controls, 231–2; and “financial autonomy” of AOF, 39; see also fiscal receipts
- import taxes/duties: in AOF, 56, 59, 60; and competition between French and colonial industries, 47, 66, 70; enforcement problem, 231; import fraud, 215; and post-colonial ISI, 114, 115–16; reforms of late-1980s, 250; on textiles, 142–6, 143t, 144t, 158, 160, 162; used to promote colonial industry, 67, 70, 75n111
- indigenous business class, 79, 105–6, 130; and basic textile industry: transfer of ownership, 243–6; businessmen's associations, 167, 168, 172, 183, 184; confined to commercial sector, 129; co-optation of, 163, 169, 183–7, 256, 260; and corporatist structures of state, 172, 183–5; and credit squeeze (1980s), 249; criticism of Senghor regime and foreign capital, 168, 169; development structured by state, 79, 126, 163, 183, 186, 195; divisions within, 186, 196–7; government channels credit to, 187–91; government promotion of (1970s), 186–97; hommes d'affaires sénégalais, 191–7, 217; Mouride marabouts as members of, 203; and nationalization of groundnut trade, 126, 168, 169, 183; political mobilization (1968–70), 167–9; question of class character, 185–6; real estate investments, 190–1, 249; rise of rentier class, 187–97; state agents as gatekeepers, 127, 192; and state contracts, 188, 189, 227–8; state creates “space” in commerce for, 122–30, 191–7, 219; weakness of (colonial period), 10, 47, 48; see also rentier class; Senegalese traders
- indirect rule, 18, 28–9, 43, 78; and Senghor regime, 104, 113, 126
- industrial policy, 113–22, 132–3; export platform, 174–5, 177; export subsidy, 224, 242; protectionism, 115–16, 144; “selective approach” to, 232; see also import licenses/quotas; import taxes/duties; textile industry
- Industrie Cotonnière Africaine, see Icotaf
- Industrie Sénégalaise de Linge de Maison, see ISLIMA
- industry (Senegal), see extractive industry; groundnut processing industry; manufacturing industry; textile industry
- institutions: as actors, 1, 3, 7, 252–3
- International Monetary Fund, see IMF

- Investment Code, 114–15; colonial, 67; regime de faveur, 188; used to stabilize textile industry, 241
- iron ore, see extractive industries
- Islamic confréries: and colonial administration, 40–3; and colonial rural “cooperatives” (SIP), 43; and groundnut production/trade, 40–3, 55, 78, 87, 107–9; increasing autonomy from regime, 197, 201–4, 208; and Senghor regime, 79–95, 102–4, 201, 203; support for Diouf, 248; tensions within/between, 103–4, 210; see also Islamic leaders; Mouride confrérie; ruling coalition
- Islamic leaders: and Animation Rurale, 92–3, 102; business interests of, 203, 208, 214, 217; and 1962 constitutional crisis, 93; and the malaise paysan, 197, 199–204; and politics of decolonization, 81, 83, 88–9; and rural cooperatives, 43, 87, 107–8; and Senghor regime, 102–3, 107, 201, 203; see also ruling coalition in Senegal
- ISLIMA (Industrie Sénégalaise de Linge de Maison), 155, 228–9, 242
- Kay, G. B., 10, 31, 78
- Kenyan capitalism, 25, 271; debates over, 22–3
- labor: minimum wage, 158, 171; productivity, 67, 113; productivity in textile industry, 158–9; real wages, 170; see also labor unions
- labor unions: in AOF, 84; CNTS forms, 171; co-optation of leaders into UPS, 94–5; 1968/9 crisis and strikes, 167, 171; postwar political mobilization of, 84, 88, 89; in textile industry, 237–8; UNTS splits, 171; weakening of corporatist structures, 210, 238n94; wildcat strikes (textile industry), 223, 228, 237
- land reform issue, 87–8, 92, 104
- land tenure/use rights, 10, 28, 106, 107–8, 109–10; see also Loi sur le domaine national
- Lebanese immigration, 45n38, 59
- Lebanese investment (industry/services), 124; during colonial period, 65, 69; in garment manufacture, 155, 157, 226, 246; in SOSEFIL, 246n127
- Lebanese: political status of, 125, 183; political investments of, 125
- Lebanese traders: and charges of “unfair business practices,” 64, 147; competition from Senegalese traders (textiles), 219; in groundnut trade, 45, 47; as independent rural traders (postwar), 62, 123–5; as textile distributors, 73–6, 139, 220; as textile importers, 62–3, 64, 76, 146–7, 218–19
- Lebret, Père, 86, 87–8, 91, 92
- Leys, Colin, 21–2, 25
- libération des échanges* program (1950s), 59–61, 75
- local capital: see indigenous business class
- Loi Cadre of 1956, 85
- Loi sur le domaine national*, 107–8, 262
- MABOSE (knitting firm), 157–8, 227, 230
- machine politics, see patronage politics; political machine
- macroeconomy: balance of payments, 57–8, 116n67, 172–3, 177; deterioration of external accounts, 172, 209; external debt, 177, 209, 243; gross domestic product, 105t, 106, 107t; stagnation of growth, 170–1, 172, 250; “structural adjustment” attempts of 1980s, 248, 250–1
- maisons de commerce (European trading houses), 38, 39, 40, 44; collecting rents, 56–7, 114, 145–6, 208, 211; and colonial import/export trade, 40, 44–7, 51, 62, 64, 111; and creation of Dakar textile industry, 70, 75–6; as distributors for local industry, 138–40, 145–7, 218; as dominant importers, 124, 145–7, 218; erosion of monopolies, 191, 194, 208, 219–21; and ISI, 76, 114, 131–6; and local textile production, 140; as merchant capital, 10; monopolies of, attacked by local businessmen, 191, 193; monopoly positions of, 47, 51, 56–7, 127, 145–7, 194; and nationalization of groundnut trade, 122–3; postwar restructuring of, 61–5, 123; role in textile trade, 218–21; and trading consortia/SONADIS, 127–8; in wholesale distribution, 123–6; see also merchant capital
- malaise paysan*, 169, 180, 183, 185, 197–206
- Mali Federation, 90, 101–2, 163; collapse of, 90, 134
- Malian market, 144, 138, 152
- Manufactures de Rufisque, 73, 75, 76; absorbed by Icotaf, 140
- manufacturing industry (Senegal), 68t, 113, 118t; deindustrialization, 250; economies of scale in, 135, 159; growth rates (1959–70), 119t; high costs, 66–7, 68, 114; imported inputs, 120–1, 121t; integration of, 120–1; 1950s investment, 65–77; oligopolies/monopolies, 119–20; political vulnerabilities, 68, 77, 133–6, 163; profits, 120, 120t; tax contribution of, 119; see also colonial industry; textile industry
- marabouts, see Islamic confréries; Islamic leaders
- marketing board (groundnuts), see OCA, ONCAD
- markets: struggles for control over; local versus foreign interests, 191, 235; neocolonial interests lose out, 208; state versus

- groundnut producers, 205; in textile trade, 218–21, 231, 235
- Melia Ruling of 1950, 66n89
- merchant capital, 10–11; and balkanization of AOF, 134; collapse of market structures forged by/for, 208; colonial political counterparts of, 43, 259; in colonial Senegal, 10–11, 31, 38, 46–7, 259; and Dakar textile industry, 32, 75–6, 131–2, 136, 256; and fiscal receipts of government, 130, 231; inability to enhance productivity, 46–7, 205, 257; relations with French groundnut industries, 47; and Senegal's postcolonial state/ regime, 11, 24, 32, 78, 130, 165–6, 205, 256, 257; see also maisons de commerce
- Migdal, Joel, 6, 264–6, 267
- migrant labor, see navetanes
- millet, see food crop production
- ministry(ies): Government of Senegal, 178–9; of commerce, 181, 192, 194, 195; of finance, 180–1, 193, 195
- Mouride confrérie: and Abdou Diouf, 248; and dispersion of power within regime, 204; and groundnut economy, 40–7; groundnut pioneering, 41, 86–7, 106; growing autonomy of, 201–4; and import trade, 212, 214–15, 234; marabouts as groundnut producers, 41, 87, 106, 108; marabout-disciple relations, 41, 87, 107–8; and parallel groundnut trade, 202; and Touba, 43, 202–3, 213; and urban parallel market/ Sandaga market, 214–15; urbanization of economic bases of, 203–4, 214, 234; see also groundnut production; Islamic confréries; Islamic leaders; ruling coalition in Senegal
- Mouridism, 41; urban “revival” of 1980s, 209–10
- navetanes* (migrant agricultural laborers), 41n30, 55
- neocolonialism: in Africa, 1–2, 4, 15, 21; and interests of capital, 20–4, 132–6, 252; Senegal's transition to, 4, 12; term, 15n5
- Newly Industrializing Countries (NICs), 252, 270
- OCA (Office de Commercialisation Agricole), 91, 123, 126, 129, 183
- Office de Commercialisation Agricole, see OCA
- Office National de Coopération et d'Assistance au Développement; see ONCAD
- ONCAD (Office National de Coopération et d'Assistance au Développement), 123n76, 129, 171, 180, 181, 199, 203, 208, 256; collapse of, 204–5; evasions of, 202; replaced by SONAR, 205
- pacte colonial*, 32–4, 37, 38, 39, 44, 47; denounced by Senghor, 66n89, 84; updated after World War II, 49–58
- parallel markets, 6; cost to government, 232; government response to, 203, 234; for groundnuts, 202–3, 205; link between groundnut and textile circuits, 213; Sandaga market, 214–15; Senegal-Gambia contraband circuit (textiles), 212–13; supplying low-cost goods, 235; and textile export subsidy, 242; in textile trade (contraband), 211–13, 221, 223, 228, 257
- Parti Africain de l'Indépendance (PAI), 88, 89, 94n25
- Parti du Regroupement Africain-Sénégal (PRA-Sénégal), 89, 94
- Parti Socialiste (PS), 210, 237, 248–9
- patron-client networks: in commercial circuits, 27–9; issue of “reciprocity,” 18n13; as political institutions, 17–18; and regime consolidation, 17–19; within ruling coalitions, 19; and state formation, 19–20; see also patronage politics
- patron-client networks in Senegal: in commercial sector, 79, 126, 195, 234; built within ruling party/state apparatus, 95–7, 172–3; cooperatives and communes as building blocs, 80, 97; and rural “brokered constituencies,” 98; and Diouf regime, 210–11, 248–9; see also patronage politics in Senegal; political machine
- patronage politics: and commercial rents, 27–9, 79, 257; material conditions for, 18, 26; as mechanism of co-optation/control, 19; as “mode of domination,” 18; narrowing scope of politics, 99; and politicized accumulation, 19; and regime consolidation, 17–9; rentierism as economic corollary, 260; in the United States, 18
- patronage politics in Senegal, 99; and the customs service, 249, 250–1; embedded in rural social relations, 43, 92, 98, 108; and foreign borrowing, 173, 177, 208–9; and fragmentation of state, 182, 208, 256; and groundnut marketing board, 123, 180, 181; and market controls, 79, 126; within ministries of commerce and finance, 180–1, 192, 193, 194, 195; political machine of 1950s, 80–6, 89; in Quatre Communes, 81; in reappropriation of state, 256; and regime consolidation (1960s), 79, 80, 83, 89, 95–9; and rentier class, 187, 208, 231, 247; and rural cooperatives, 43, 87, 108; and structural adjustment, 248–50; in textile trade, 212, 231, 234; and urban communes, 97, 180; see also Senghor regime
- peanuts, see groundnut production
- peasants/peasantries, 6, 10; debt trap, 45–6, 107; exploitation by merchant capital, 43,

- 44–7, 109–10, 259; issue of subordination to capital, 109–10, 205; malaise paysan, 169, 197–202; monetary incomes, 111, 197; social relations of production, 98, 108; see also cooperatives, rural; food crop production; groundnut production; Islamic confréries; land tenure/use rights
- “personal rule,” 20
- phosphates, see extractive industries
- political class, 16–17, 19, 79, 97; and expansion of state apparatus, 173; indeterminate class character, 26
- political machine: breakdown of (1968–70), 166–71, 178; high cost of co-opting urban groups, 98–9; Diouf’s attempts to master, 249; expansion (1970s), 172, 179; and indigenous business class, 163, 195, 208; loss of top-down control, 181–2, 208; and “national integration,” 96; ruling party as a, 91, 95–6; see also patron-client networks; patronage politics; Senghor regime
- political opposition: in 1950s, to Senghoriste agenda, 80, 84–5, 88–9; repression/co-optation of (1958–64), 89, 94; and 1968 crisis, 166–72; opposition parties, 90, 166, 210, 248
- politicized accumulation, 19, 20, 24; forms of, 27–8
- Pondichéry (as exporter of guinée cloth), 64n88, 74, 75
- Portères mission, 86–7, 111
- Poulantzas, Nicos, 133, 253–4
- protectionist trade policies (postcolonial), 113–18; and industrial profits, 120; rates of domestic market protection, 117t; and textile industry, 137, 142–6, 155, 157, 162; see also import licenses/quotas; import taxes/duties
- public investment: financed by foreign borrowing, 123, 130, 173–7; in grands projets (1970s), 173–5, 177, 187, 194, 208; share to rural areas (1960s), 97; in textile project (SOTEXKA), 233n81; see also FIDES
- Quatre Communes* (colonial municipal politics), 47, 81–2, 85–6, 99
- Rassemblement Démocratique Africain (RDA), 84
- regime consolidation, 7, 12, 16–20, 79–80, 130, 255–6, 266; and commercial rents, 27–9; and state control over markets, 79; and state spending, 97; see also Senghor regime
- regional markets: and balkanization of AOF, 114, 134–6, 138, 163; for textile goods, 138, 153–4, 225
- rent-seeking/rentierism: in commercial sectors, 28–9; as economic corollary of patronage politics, 17–18, 26, 260; loss of centralized control over, 208, 211, 231; and micro-economic rationality, 29, 262; as “primitive accumulation,” 261, 271; and productive investment, 29, 246, 247; in Senegalese commercial sector (1960s), 124, 127, 129; in Senegalese industry, 113–14, 116, 119–20, 147; in textile business, 145, 146, 231; in textile industry, 160, 163, 231, 243, 246, 247; and wealth accumulation in Africa, 260–1
- rentier class, 260, 262–3; competition within, 197, 249; economic bases, 249; impact on market organization, 194, 196, 208, 247; rise of, 187–97, 247
- rents, 27; commercial, 27–9, 191, 208, 211, 231; and contraband imports, 211–2; downward pressure on value, 196, 212; and import quotas, 191; and investment in industry, 113; non-competitive, 243; as patronage resources, 27–9, 191, 208, 211; regulatory devices as source of, 27–9
- “revolutions from above,” 269
- rice, 10, 87; calls for deregulation of rice trade, 167–8; licensed distributors of, 129; privatization of importation, 194
- ruling classes in Africa, 19; as composite formations, 26, 27, 266–7, 270–1; and forging ruling coalitions, 19; interests of, 20–5; and material bases of consensus, 27; question of class character, 20–3; see also ruling coalition in Senegal
- ruling coalition in Senegal, 11, 24, 29–30, 79, 90, 255, 259; and constitutional crisis of 1962, 93–4; factious character, 95; interests of, 24; issue of balance of power within, 103–4, 201–4; merchant capital and, 11, 24, 78, 104, 165–6, 205, 256, 257; political class/Islamic elite alliance, 24, 82–3, 86, 102–4, 197, 201–4; and possibilities for capitalist development, 30, 78, 259–61; and reappropriation of state, 166; reformist elements within, 85, 87–8, 90–1; tensions within, 90–1, 93; weakness as a “class,” 166
- rural cooperatives, see cooperatives, rural
- rural exodus, 199; and shifting bases of Mouride confrérie, 203–4, 214, 234
- rural surplus extraction: and capital, 109–10; colonial cooperatives (SIP) and, 43; cooperatives as mechanisms for, 107; erosion of state’s capacity for, 205, 208, 257; Islamic confréries and, 108; merchant capital and, 46–7, 109–10, 205, 257; and “squeezing the peasantry,” 111, 205, 257
- rural trade: “dual flux” of, 10, 45–7, 119; proposed state role in distribution, 92, 101, 126; and SONADIS, 128; trade circuits as conduits of state power, 105, 106, 126; see

- also économie de traite*; groundnut marketing; merchant capital
 “ruralization of trade,” 205; process of, 197–206
- Sandaga market, 214–15, 227
- Schaeffer Engineering, 135, 141; see also Ets. Schaeffer et Cie.
- SCIMPEX (Syndicat des Commerçants Importateurs et Exportateurs), 100n38, 144n37
- SCOA (Société Commerciale Ouest Africaine), 44–6, 135; and Dakar textile industry, 76, 139n22, 139n23, 156; and La SIV (garment manufacture), 156; and trading consortia, 128
- SCT (Société Cottonnière Transocéanique), 77, 154, 216, 228, 246
- Senegal-Gambia contraband circuit, see parallel markets
- Senegalese traders, 125–6; in colonial groundnut trade, 45, 123, 125n81; commercial companies owned by, 168, 183, 184, 217, 246; in competition with Lebanese, 125, 183, 219; and fraudulent importation, 215; friperie importers, 217; interest in importation, 126, 127, 167, 169, 191; interest in postcolonial groundnut trade, 105–6, 185; licensing of traders, 127, 192–3; OCA-licensed groundnut traders, 129, 171; and rice trade, 129, 167–8; and Senegambia confederation, 226; and Senghor-Dia conflict, 126, 260; and Senghoriste parties of 1950s, 126; and SONADIS, 128; and trading consortia, 127–8; underselling old monopolies, 202, 235, 266; see also indigenous business class
- Senegalization, 99, 122, 168, 170; and Dakar Chamber of Commerce, 124n78, 167, 168, 184; “of the economy,” 194–5; of import trade, 192, 194; in private sector, 118n71, 121, 178n30; of public sector, 172, 178–9; of textile trade, 218–21; vulnerability of Lebanese, 125; of wholesale trade, 193
- Senegambia Confederation, 225–6
- Senghor, Léopold, 24, 80–90; personal power of, 170; see also Senghor regime
- Senghor regime, 12, 79–80; alliance with Islamic leaders, 102–4; forging of (1950s), 79–90; fusion of party and administration, 95; and growing autonomy of confréries, 201–4; response to malaise paysan, 201, 204; Senghor-Diouf transition, 210; and support of Senegalese traders, 126; temporary dislocation (1968–70), 166–71; weakening of, 205–6, 208–10; see also government administration; patronage politics in Senegal; political machine; ruling coalition in Senegal
- SGICF (producers’ association, French textile industry), 35, 38, 69
- SIMPAFRIQUE (Société d’Impression d’Afrique), 76; see also Sotiba-Simpafrique
- SIP (Sociétés Indigènes de Prévoyance), 42–3, 46, 87–8, 91, 106, 259
- SIV, La (garment-making firm), 156, 162, 226, 227–8
- Skocpol, Theda, 266
- SOBOCO/SOBOCO-MATICOSE (knitting firm), 157, 158n68
- SOCECI (Senegalese-owned trading firm), 183
- “socialist option” (1950s–1962), 88, 91–4, 185
- Sociétés Indigènes de Prévoyance; see SIP
- SODEFITEX (Société de Développement des Fibres Textiles), 175, 224, 230, 245
- SOFISEDIT (Société Financière Sénégalaise pour le Développement de l’Industrie et le Tourisme), 189–90, 196
- SONACOS (Société Nationale de Commercialisation des Oléagineux de Sénégal), 175
- SONADIS (Société Nationale de Distribution au Sénégal), 128–9, 183
- SONAGA (Société Nationale de Garantie), 189, 193
- SONAR (Société Nationale d’Approvisionnement Rurale), 205
- SONEPI (Société Nationale des Etudes et de Promotion Industrielle), 187–8, 189, 195, 226
- SOSEFIL (Société Sénégalaise de Filature), 154, 222n41, 246
- SOTEXKA project (Société Textile de Kaolack; integrated knitting/garment complex), 233n81
- Sotiba (Société de Teinture et Blanchissement Africaine), 73–6, 152; see also Sotiba Group, Sotiba-Simpafrique
- Sotiba Group, 243–6
- Sotiba-Simpafrique, 139–42, 152–4, 159–62, 220; and crisis in textile industry, 222–3, 225; merger, 140n25, 142n32; sales revenues, 225; and transfer of ownership, 243–6; see also Sotiba; SIMPAFRIQUE
- state, 14n1; as agent of capitalist development, 253–64, 267–9; autonomy of, 8, 9, 252–4, 263–4, 266; Bonapartist, 253, 255; capacity of, 1, 253–4, 265; developmentalist, 2, 3, 258; entrepreneurial, 1, 173–7, 258; “reappropriation” of, 16, 182; as a resource, 16–19; see also capitalist state
- state apparatus, 14n1; expansion of, 173–7; as infrastructure for political machine, 172, 173; and rise of rentier class, 187; transformed by regime consolidation, 16, 27, 182, 197; see also government administration
- state enterprises, 175–7, 179, 181, 209, 249, 256; privatization of, 243, 250

- state in Senegal: compromised character of, 258; entrepreneurialism of, 173–7, 206; lack of autonomy, 263; merchant capital and, 130, 165, 205, 231, 256, 257; re-appropriation of, 166, 182, 257; see also state apparatus; ruling coalition in Senegal
- state-society distinction, 3, 7, 265–6, 267
- Structural Adjustment program(s), 209, 210; and austerity programs, 171, 234–5; trade liberalization, 250
- STS (Société Textile Sénégalaise), 141–2, 153, 160–2, 222, 229–30, 241–2; transfer of ownership, 243–5
- students: and 1968/70 crisis, 167; co-optation of leaders, 171; and corporatist structures, 171; as “young technocrats,” 179
- sugar, see agro-industry
- surplus extraction; see rural surplus extraction
- Syndicat Général de l’Industrie Cotonnière Française, see SGICF
- tariff barriers/tariffs, see import taxes/duties
- textile imports, 142–7, 150t; AOF per capita consumption, 53n57; changing structure of control over, 218–21; fall in registered (mid-1970s), 221; France’s market share, 60, 61t, 70; high cost of French goods, 71t; leading category of AOF imports, 35–6, 36t, 60; from Pondichéry, 45, 64, 74; rise of independent importers, 62–3; see also friperie; maisons de commerce; parallel markets
- textile industry (Dakar), 131–2, 162–4, 207–8, 255–6; capital stock, 158–9; as case of ISI, xi–xiii, 5, 132; in competition with friperie, fraud, and contraband, 214–16, 218, 221–30, 257; costs of production, 73, 75, 137, 147, 158–60, 163; cotton fiber: consumption/prices, 158, 161, 240; decline of, 222–31, 238–42, 245; de-taxation of imported gray cloth, 241; divestment of French capital, 243–4, 246–7; domestic market coverage, 69, 164, 226; establishment (1950s), 69–77; excess capacity, 147, 159; expansion of, 147–58; government subsidies, 237–43; Icotaf’s contrat-programmes (bail-outs), 238–9; import protection, 137, 142–6, 235–6; imported inputs (gray cloth), 141, 161, 162, 229–30, 241; labor costs/productivity, 67, 158–9; labor unions in, 237–8; limited investment in, 132, 136, 163, 256; and logic of merchant capital, 32, 131–2, 136, 256; mergers, 76, 243–4; modernization projects, 238, 244–5; political vulnerabilities, 163; price wars waged against (1950s), 75–6; profits, 160; and role of maisons de commerce in production, 140; Sotiba Group, 243–4; transfer of ownership: basic textile industry, 243–50
- textile industry: distribution circuits, 76, 131, 139–40, 218–21; independent distributors, 70, 72, 73, 157; and Lebanese wholesalers, 220; price fixing/profit margins, 76, 139; Senegalization of, 193, 220
- textile industry: exports, 153–4, 223, 224–5, 242, 244, 229; and export subsidy, 224, 242; see also regional markets
- textile industry: household textile goods, 77, 154, 155t, 228; see also Icotaf, ISLIMA, SCT
- textile industry: integration, 132–7; issue of gray cloth production, 137, 141–2, 161–2, 229–30, 241; as “major axis” of development plans, 136–8, 232; obstacles to, 160–2; SOTEXKA project, 233n81; vertical disintegration, 229–30, 241–2
- textile industry: secondary segment (knitting/garments), 155–8, 162, 226–7, 230
- Tidjane confrérie, see Islamic confréries
- TMS (knitting firm), 157, 227, 230, 246
- trade liberalizations, 59–61, 250
- trade unions, see labor unions
- traders, see Lebanese traders, maisons de commerce, Senegalese traders
- trading consortia (1960s), 127–8
- traite, la*, see économie de traite
- Uganda, 25–6
- UNIGES (Union des Groupements Économiques du Sénégal), 168–9, 172, 183, 184–6, 187
- Union Française*, 83–5
- UNISYNDI (Union Intersyndicale d’Entreprises et d’Industries), 100n38
- United States: anticolonialism of, 51–2, 133; French criticize imperialism of, 52; and Marshall Plan, 53n59
- UNTS (National Federation of Trade Unions), 94, 167, 170, 171; see also labor unions
- UPS (Union Progressiste Sénégalaise), 24, 86; consolidation of, 91–9; and independence, 88–91; Lebanese businessmen and, 125; and 1968 crisis, 178; power struggles in, 89, 90, 93, 95, 102, 170, 178–80; “redynamization” of (1970s), 180; and trade unions, 94, 171; see also political machine
- urban communes: budgets of, 180; and patronage politics, 97, 180
- USB (Union Sénégalaise de Banque), 115n63, 176n26, 184
- valeurs mercuriales* (VMs), 116, 143, 145–6, 153, 159, 163, 235–6, 250
- wage policy, 170; falling real wages, 170; minimum wage increases (c. 1968), 171; wage compressions in textile industry, 221, 223

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-41078-6 - Merchant Capital and the Roots of State Power in Senegal 1930-1985

Catherine Boone

Index

More informationIndex

299

-
- World Bank, 115, 160, 250; and Diouf regime, 248–51; financing grands projets, 174; loans to Senegal, 173, 187, 189; see Structural Adjustment program(s)
- World War II: and AOF economy, 49–54, 58–9, 62; weakens French empire, 49
- Zaire, 255n6, 260n12, 271, 272
- Zone Franc*, 55n65, 56, 60, 116; CFA franc/currency convertibility, 48, 55n65, 114; exchange controls (1950s), 55, 59–61, 64; monetary guarantees, 114; trade imbalance (post-World War II), 57–8; Zone Franc accords, 133
- Zone Franche Industrielle de Dakar (ZFI)*, 174–5, 177