Contents

List of contributors viii
1 Introduction Luke Gormally 1
2 Difficult choices in treating and feeding the debilitated elderly Michael Horan 11
3 The American debate about artificial nutrition and hydration Joseph Boyle 28
4 Reflections on Horan and Boyle Luke Gormally 47
5 The Living Will: the ethical framework of a recent Report Luke Gormally 53
6 Some reflections on euthanasia in The Netherlands John Keown 70
7 Is there a policy for the elderly needing long-term care? Graham Mulley 101
8 Is it possible to provide good quality long-term care without unfair discrimination? Robert Stout 114
9 The prospects for long-term care: current policy and realistic alternatives David J Hunter 123
10 What is required for good quality in long-term care of the elderly? Marion Hildick-Smith 140
11 Should age make a difference in health care entitlement? Joseph Boyle 147
12 Economic devices and ethical pitfalls: quality of life, the distribution of resources and the needs of the elderly Michael Banner 158
14 Economics, justice and the value of life: concluding remarks John Finnis 189

Index 199