

Contents

General editors' preface	page ix
Preface	xiii
General introduction	I
by Robert B. Louden
1 Observations on the feeling of the beautiful and sublime (1764)	18
Translated by Paul Guyer
2 Essay on the maladies of the head (1764)	63
Translated by Holly Wilson
3 Review of Moscati's work Of the corporeal essential differences between the structure of animals and humans (1771)	78
Translated by Günter Zöller
4 Of the different races of human beings (1775)	82
Translated by Holly Wilson and Günter Zöller
5 Essays regarding the Philanthropinum (1776/1777)	98
Translated by Robert B. Louden
6 A note to physicians (1782)	105
Translated by Günter Zöller
7 Idea for a universal history with a cosmopolitan aim (1784)	107
Translated by Allen W. Wood
8 Review of J. G. Herder's Ideas for the philosophy of the history of humanity. Parts 1 and 2 (1785)	121
Translated by Allen W. Wood
9 Determination of the concept of a human race (1785)	143
Translated by Holly Wilson and Günter Zöller
10 Conjectural beginning of human history (1786)	160
Translated by Allen W. Wood

Contents

11	Some remarks on Ludwig Heinrich Jakob’s Examination of Mendelssohn’s Morning hours (1786) Translated by Günter Zöller	176
12	On the philosophers’ medicine of the body (1786) Translated by Mary Gregor	182
13	On the use of teleological principles in philosophy (1788) Translated by Günter Zöller	192
14	From Soemmerring’s On the organ of the soul (1796) Translated by Arnulf Zweig	219
15	Anthropology from a pragmatic point of view (1798) Translated by Robert B. Louden	227
16	Postscript to Christian Gottlieb Mielcke’s Lithuanian–German and German–Lithuanian dictionary (1800) Translated by Günter Zöller	430
17	Lectures on pedagogy (1803) Translated by Robert B. Louden	434
	Editorial notes	486
	Glossary	528
	Bibliography	565
	Index	584