Contents

Introduction ix

1 The great mass extinctions 1
A challenge to scientists 1
The meaning of extinction 4
The great mass extinctions 5
The End-Cretaceous 6
Dinosaurs of Provence 10
A question of eggs 12
The plankton crash 13
The oracle of Gubbio 14
Competing theories 16

2 The impact hypothesis 19
The impact hypothesis 21
The precursors 23
The wind turns 25
Shocked quartz 27
A sprinkle of diamonds 31
The testimony of spinels 34

3 The controversy 37
The volcanic hypothesis 37
The Deccan Traps 40
Gradualism revisited 44

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org
Contents

Before a jury of peers 47
The shaping of a controversy 49
War of the worlds 52
The view from France 53
A change of mind 56
Towards better communication 58

4 In search of the crater 61
Down the K-T trail 62
A primer of impact craters 64
The crater takes shape 67
The list of candidates 69
Manson, the main suspect 73
The Russian candidate 74
Argon–argon alibis 77

5 The discovery of Chicxulub crater 79
The banks of Brazos River 79
The hills of Haiti 82
The Caribbean revisited 83
The tale of the lost crater 87
Ground zero: Chicxulub 90
The sacred wells 94
The summer of ’92 95
Mixed reactions 97
A new look at the cores 100
Tidal upheaval in Mexico 101
Structure of the crater 102
A question of size 106
Back in the field 107
An international consensus 109
Contents

6 Scenario of a catastrophe 111
   One hundred million megatons 111
   Hurricanes and tidal waves 112
   The big shake-up 115
   The ejecta plume 117
   The great fire 118
   An oblique impact 120
   Global wildfires 123
   Poisons and toxic waste 127
   Sulfur unleashed 129
   The big chill 131
   The greenhouse effect 134
   Selectivity of the extinctions 135
   The survivors 137

7 Impacts and other extinctions 141
   Towards a general theory of impacts 142
   Looking at the record 144
   The Cambrian explosion 145
   The end of the Ordovician 147
   The end of the Devonian 148
   The end of the Permian 152
   The end of the Triassic 156
   The end of the Jurassic 158
   Extinctions in the Mammal age 162
   Making sense of the record 164
   The volcanic alternative 167
   Looking for cycles 169

8 The impact hazard 173
   Hell in Siberia 173
| The historical record          | 176 |
| The mythical record           | 178 |
| The hominid record             | 180 |
| Close calls                    | 182 |
| Shoemaker–Levy 9               | 184 |
| The asteroids                  | 186 |
| Earth-crossing asteroids       | 188 |
| Watching the sky               | 190 |
| A sense of urgency             | 192 |
| The threat of comets           | 194 |
| Protecting the Earth           | 198 |
| Bibliography                   | 205 |
| Index                          | 213 |