

Index

- actions (Activity Theory framework), 130, 131
- activity systems, 215, 405
- Activity Theory, 58, 130–1, 135, 136, 213–17, 408
- Adler, P., 57n1
- After School Online (ASO) seminars, 410, 413, 415, 423–4
- Anderson, B.R., 100
- anthropologists, and culture, 192–3
- Aplin, J.C., 164
- apprenticeship, 158, 168, 258, 259, 260
- argumentation, in knowledge construction, 259–60
- artifacts, 134; cultural, 139, 405; in KBC classroom, 235–6; learning, 144; in STEP, 257; in STEP pbl, 277–8;
student, 220; workplace, 140
- assessment, in MOOSE Crossing, 244–5, 251–2, 253
- asynchronicity, 273n1, 389
- authenticity: of activities in KBC classrooms, 212; of instruction, 271, 272, 274, 275; of learning, 270–1
- autonomy: culture of, 137; in Math
Forum, 183; and online teaching, 78;
of teachers, 78
- backward design, 278, 282, 290
- Bakardjieva, M., 111
- Ball, D., 276, 287
- Barab, S.A., 4, 7, 54, 66, 84, 105–6, 212
- Barrows, H., 265
- Barth, F., 189
- Bauer, M., 358
- Baumard, P., 172
- Becker, H., 126
- behaviors: community-like, 365–6;
discourse, 356–7, 361–2;
knowledge-sharing, 159–60;
risk-taking, 101, 115; subversive, 95
- Bellah, R., 7
- Benedikt, M., 53, 77
- Bereiter, C., 211, 212, 213, 216–17, 222
- Berne, J., 125, 128n4
- betweenness centralities, 304–5
- Bionet, 95, 106, 113, 114
- blockmodeling, 307–8, 329
- Blumenfeld, P.C., 126
- Bohannan, P., 81
- boundaries: group identity and, 380;
hierarchical, 25; in networked societies, 299; overlapping, 190, 191, 192, 193, 258
- boundary constructs, 258
- bounded groups, 81–2, 110–11, 112, 113
- Bourdieu, P., 192
- bridging instruction, 278, 282
- Bridging Instruction in Mathematics, 278, 289–92
- Bridging Research and Practice
(BRAP), 186, 201–2, 205
- Brint, S., 97, 109
- Brown, A.L., 30

- Brown, J.S., 139, 165; The Social Life of Information, 120
- Bruckman, A.S., 365n23
- Bruner, J.S., 163
- Bucholtz, M., 379
- Bugscope, 35
- Burney, D., 135
- Burton, C.L., 172
- business: consultants, 158–9; online environments for, 139, 158–9
- Campione, J.C., 30
- capacity-building, 133–4
- case studies, 378, 385
- causal determinacy, 350
- Chao, C.A., 158, 160, 164, 167, 168, 173
- chat groups, 53
- Cherny, Lynn, 343, 369
- classroom discourse: educational reforms and, 257; interaction analysis and, 266
- classroom practices: differences in, 126; and identity, 70, 125
- classrooms: Activity Theory in, 215–16; as communities, 212; conflict control in, 274–5; culture of, 233; face-to-face discourse in, 220; ILF, 71–3, 75; KBC and, 211–12, 213, 216–17; Knowledge Forum, 217–32, 232; learning in, 214; location-specific vs. online, 300; PBL activities in, 288–9; traditional, 22; videotaping of, 64, 67, 71, 105, 106, 107, 201; virtual, 105; visiting, 71–3, 74, 381
- cliques, 142
- coaching, 136, 141, 157, 222, 223
- Cochran-Smith, M., 128n4
- co-design process, 57, 169, 170, 171–2, 173
- Cognitively Guided Instruction project (Carpenter et al.), 288
- Cohen, A., 189
- Cole, M., 169
- collaboration vs. individual work, 159–60, 285
- collaborative learning, 3, 257, 277
- collaborative technology, 156–7, 160
- collaboratories, 300; ILF, 60–1, 75–6, 81, 85
- collegiality: among scholars, 312, 314, 317t, 328; among teachers, 109, 417–22
- communication: media characteristics, 301–2; models of, 235; online vs. face-to-face. See online vs. face-to-face communication; symbolic, 190; time and place of, 310. See also conversation; discussions; email; Internet
- communities of practice (CoPs), 21, 104, 147, 408; analysis of activities, 142; boundaries, 129–30; of business consultants, 158–9; of butchers, 28–9, 161; case studies of, 378; change over time in, 80; characteristics, 54; communities of purpose vs., 140, 145; cultural artifacts within, 139–40; of defense lawyers, 155–7; defined, 54, 55; designed vs. emergent, 63–6; designed vs. evolved, 163; design theory for, 378; dysfunctional, 136–8, 147; of engineers, 157–8, 166–7; established vs. designed structures, 157–8; evolutionary pattern, 164; federal funding, 168; functions, 126; group identity and, 380; healthy, 161, 164; hierarchies and, 136–7, 140, 142 (see also hierarchies); influence from policies, 136–7; Internet and, 127–8; interventionist strategies in, 110, 128, 147; KBCs as, 211; knowledge construction and, 379; leadership of, 143–4; and learning in organizations, 154; linguistic studies, 379; literature on, 122–3, 378; in local education systems, 122; LPP in, 154, 164; Math Forum as, 200; mature, 163; of meat cutters, 28–9, 161; meeting places, 144–5; membership, 122, 140, 141; mid-level social theory vs. micro learning theory, 162, 166–7; minimalist design, 63, 172; motivated members vs. unwilling subjects, 162, 167–8; new, 157–8, 161; newcomers to, 122; online vs.

- face-to-face, 76–9 (see also online vs. face-to-face communication); participants' role in forming, 378; prescriptive vs. descriptive, 162–4; and professional development, 123, 125–8, 132–3, 138; ready-made vs. communities in the making, 162, 164; research on, 379–80; schools as, 29–30; self-organization, 110; social functions within, 77; social network analysis of, 379; social networks in, 141–3; social structures, 148; sustainability, 141; systemic online, 122; and systemic reform of schools, 126; Tapped In as, 121; TechNet as, 309; theory, and design of learning environments, 377; workplace examination and, 377. See also practice-based learning
- communities
- communities of purpose, 65–6, 76, 131, 140, 145
- community development, 113, 422–4; diversity vs. coherence in, 79
- community /-ies, 83, 210; as abstract concept, 355, 368; in Activity Theory framework, 130; aspirational use of term, 98, 100; books about, 55–6; bottom-up approach to design, 84–5; BRAP and, 202, 203; building, 234–5; characteristics of, 18; classrooms as, 212; co-evolutionary design, 84–5; concept of, 355, 368; consensus and, 97; cooperation and, 97; criteria for, 355–6, 379; definitions, 17–19, 181, 355–6; dimensions of, 97; diversity vs. coherence in, 59, 79, 80–1; dualities within, 56–7, 58–9, 82–3; in education research, 128; e-ILF as, 109; face-to-face, 53; formation within online forums, 4; group identity in, 108; health of, 18; individual roles within, 18–19; inside and outside interventions, 128; interaction protocols, 233; as intermediate level of social organization, 97; Internet, 190; knowledge-building. See knowledge-building communities; learning. See learning communities; learning embedded in, 17–19; meaning of, 3, 91, 96–8, 101; membership, 19–20, 38–9t; new, 213; notion of, 338–9; occupational, 145 (see also communities of purpose); online, 83; online vs. copresent, 56, 77; overlapping boundaries in, 190, 191; overuse of, 189; participation structures, 20, 38–9t; positive vs. negative connotations, 168; proto-, 213; of purpose. See communities of purpose; reproduction and growth mechanisms, 20, 38–9t; resistance to, 161–2, 167–8; sense of, 99, 233–4; social responsibility and, 26; sociological view of, 96–8; stakeholder groups as a, 130, 147; subjective component of, 355; successful, 18; symbolic boundaries of, 189; as symbolic construction, 190; task features, 20; as term, 91, 96–8, 100, 101, 189; traditional, 189; virtual. See virtual communities; web-supported, 83. See also groups; and names of individual communities
- community life: diversity vs. coherence in, 59; dualities within, 56–7, 58–9; ethnography and, 57
- Community of Teachers, 54–5
- competition, in workplace, 168
- computer conferencing, 230
- computer-mediated communication (CMC): asynchronous communication in, 389; CMDA research questions and, 346–7; as genre of human language, 383; interactional phenomena in, 361; professional development environments and, 345; range of, 300–1; samples, in CMDA, 353–4; semantic phenomena in, 360–1; social invisibility in, 347; for spatially dispersed scholars, 300; structural phenomena in, 358, 360, 361; synchronicity in, 389

- Computer-Mediated Discourse Analysis (CMDA), 12, 339, 341, 383; analytical methods, 357–63;
 approach, 342–4; assumptions underlying, 342–3; CMC samples and, 353–4; content analysis, 357, 385–7; contextual analysis, 383–5; data selection, 350–4; defining of key concepts, 354; face-to-face sample in, 353; findings of, 342; future directions, 370; interpretation of findings, 363–6; limitations of,
 368–9; linguistic perspective, 339–40, 366–8; methodological orientation, 342, 343;
 operationalization of key concepts, 354–7; participant behavior in, 354;
 quantity of data, 352–3; random sampling in, 350; researcher standards, 343–4; research questions, 346–50; sampling in, 350–4; teacher references to students, 399; as a term, 341; us/them language and, 399; of virtual community, 367t, 368
- conflict, 265, 267–8; in asynchronous discussions, 275; cognitive, 274, 275; in design goals, 275; in goals of pre-service teachers vs. those of staff, 263; on ILF vs. Linguist List, 357n19, 362; in knowledge construction, 259; over classroom control, 274–5; resolution, 275, 355, 356. See also resistance
- Connections*, 303
- constellation of practices, 121
- constructionism, 240–1, 253, 254
- constructivism, 240
- content analysis: classical, 369; in CMDA, 357; direct object phrases/clauses, 387, 396, 397;
 identity statements, 386; indirect object phrases/clauses, 397;
 in-group vs. out-group references,
 386–7, 394–7, 401; I/you pronouns, 398; noun-verb phrases, 386; object clauses, 386, 397–8; parallel sentence statements, 396, 397; pronoun use, 385–6, 393–4, 398; quantitative, 369;
 semantic analysis, 358, 360–1, 384t,
 385, 394–8; structural analysis, 358, 360, 361, 384t, 385, 393–4; syntactic phenomena, 358, 360, 384t, 385;
 teacher references to students,
 397–8; us/them language, 379–80,
 398; we/they pronouns, 380, 398, 400
- contextual analysis, 383–5, 387–90, 391t
- Contu, A., 167, 168
- conversation, 272–3; analysis, 358;
 collaborative vs. authoritarian, 274;
 dominance in, 275; gender differences in, 264. See also communication; discussions
- Cook, S., 165
- Cosier, R.A., 164
- Co-Vis, 30
- credentialing requirements, 261
- critical dialogue, 69–70, 74–5, 80–1, 82, 107, 109, 356
- cultural models, 408
- cultural tools, 405, 409. See also artifacts
- culture: Activity Theory and, 215;
 anthropologists and, 192–3; of BRAP, 203; of classrooms, 233; defined, 181, 192; implications of term, 192; of Math Forum, 181–2, 183, 186–7, 191–6, 205; newcomers to, 192; overlapping boundaries of, 192, 193; technology in development of, 193; of virtual communities, 356
- curricular organization, and learning
 communities, 100–1
- customer relations management
 packages, 37
- Darwinian work environments, 158, 168
- data, quantity of, 352–3
- data samples: of convenience, 351;
 division into subsamples, 354;
 motivated, 350–1; number of, 353; selection, 350–4, 363, 364
- data sampling: random, 350; temporal, 351–2
- Davis, J.H., 102

- DelMarcelle, J., 276
 Derry, S.J., 275–6
 design: cautions regarding, 162–8;
 co-evolutionary, 84–5; of CoPs, 162–75, 378; decisions, 73, 76–7; of e-forums, 100; emphasis on knowledge vs. knowing, 165;
 evaluation of, 172–3; and healthy vs.
 unhealthy CoPs, 164; identity formation and, 172; intention and, 170; and local/global duality, 73;
 minimalist, 63, 172; over-design vs.
 minimalism, 63–4, 65, 171; for professional development, 127, 256;
 recognition of social structures, 169–70; self-organizing approach to, 85; subverted, 95; supports for knowledge building, 230–2; theory, 378
 Dewey, J., 77, 80, 243–4
 dialogue: critical, 69–70, 74–5; question and answer form of, 114–15;
 reflective, 112
 DiMauro, V., 111, 112–13, 114 discourse: behaviors, 356–7, 361–2; in online interaction, 339; patterns in, 342; speaker choices in, 342–3;
 technology and, 343
 discussions, 265–6, 267–72. See also communication; conversation diversity: of CoP membership, 140;
 within ILF, 80–1, 82; on The Math Forum, 199
 division of labor: within Activity
 Theory framework, 130, 132, 133, 136, 220–4, 232–3; in professional development, 141
 dramatic pentad, 406, 408
 dualities: within communities, 56–7, 58–9, 82–3, 171; designed/emergent,
 59, 63–6; diversity/coherence, 79–82; local/global, 70–3, 84;
 online/face-to-face, 76–9;
 participation/reification, 59, 66–70;
 of technology, 148
 Dubin, R., 163, 166
 Dueber, B., 66, 84
 Duffy, T., 4, 7, 54, 105–6, 212
 Duguid, P., 139; The Social Life of Information, 120
 e-forums, 91; community building in, 112; community formation within,
 4; design of, 100; establishing, 4;
 groups forming around, 95–6; lively, 113–15; modes of social interaction on, 95–6; professional, autonomous organization in, 106; reflective dialogue in, 112; social relationships on, 100; socio-technically designed, 94–5; subversion of, 95; trust development in, 103, 112, 113. See also names of individual forums
 e-ILF, 64–5, 75, 83, 92. See also Inquiry Learning Forum (ILF)
 e-learning systems, 138–9
 Ellery, S., 30
 Elmore, R.F., 129–30, 135, 137, 146–7
 email, 300, 307, 330; scholars and, 312, 313, 316–17t, 318, 319, 328; in social relations, 304
 emergent topics, 65
 engagement (mode of learning), 171
 Engeström, Y., 56, 58, 171, 214–15 engineers, 157–8, 166–7
 epistemology: of possession vs.
 practice, 164–5; technology and, 76
 Erickson, B.H., 305
 ethnography, 57, 369, 385
 evaluation, of design, 172–3 expertise, identity constructed on, 417 e-zines, 93
 face-to-face communication, 307, 330;
 and CMDA research questions, 353;
 email and, 300
 face-to-face vs. online communication, 70, 83–4, 101–2, 210–11, 235, 368; in Knowledge Forum classrooms, 218; on Math Forum, 204; and need for support, 78–9; and technical difficulties, 78; trust in, 78, 102–3 Feenberg, A., 111 figured worlds, 406, 408
 Fishman, B., 70
 flame wars, 4

Cambridge University Press

0521520819 - Designing for Virtual Communities in the Service of Learning

Edited by Sasha A. Barab, Rob Kling and James H. Gray

Index

More information

442

Index

- Fosnot, C.T., 226–7
 fragmentation: ideational, 276, 287;
 within ILF, 75, 76, 82
 Friedkin, N., 306
 friendships: among scholars, 312, 314,
 315t, 318, 319, 329; email, 307
 Fulton, K., 101, 102
- Gagne, R., 163
 Gal, S., 111, 112–13, 114
 games, online, 83, 94
 Gardner, J., 79
 Gaver, W.W., 170
 gender differences: among participants in MOOSE Crossing, 247–8, 254; in conversational style, 264; in ILF participation, 387–8
 genres: CMC as, 383; of learning, 163;
 notion of, 338–9
The Geometer's SketchPad, 188, 197
Geometry Forum, 188, 197
 Global Educator Network, 32
 GLOBE program, 30
 Glogoff, S. *Through Our Parents' Eyes:
 Tucson's Diverse Community*, 99–100
 Gomez, L., 70
 Grabowski, M., 103
 graduate education, task-, practice-, and knowledge-based communities
 in, 42
 Granovetter, M., 306
 Graves, L. N., 100, 101, 109–10, 112, 113
 Grossman, P., 131
 grounded reform, 84
 grounded theory, 358, 406 group identity, 18, 400; boundaries and, 380; in community, 108; CoPs and, 380; in ILF, 382; and mutual confidence, 108–9; and trust, 109 group information processing, in knowledge construction, 260 groups: bounded, 81–2, 110–11, 112, 113; chat, 53; divisions within,
 194n4; forming around e-forums,
 95–6; in-group vs. out-group references, 386–7, 394–7, 401; IT-led, 115; IT-supported, 115–16; member status in, 264; online vs. face-to-face, 101–2; representation in, 194n4; risks in participation in, 102; social networks vs., 302; stakeholder, 130, 137, 147. See also community /-ies;
 newsgroups; small groups
 Gunawardena, C.N., 379
- Hakken, D., 77
 Haney, D., 159, 160, 161, 163, 164, 168
 Hara, N., 104, 155, 160, 161, 168
 Hartle, James, 318
 Hartman, M., 80
 Hawking, S., 318
 Haythornthwaite, C., 100, 103–4
 Henriksson, K., 168
 Herring, S., 80, 343, 379–80, 383
 Hewitt, J., 34
 hierarchy, 25, 76, 100, 299, 300, 301, 356, 365
 Hmelo-Silver, C., 275–6
- identification, 73–6, 201, 202, 417
 identity: classroom practice and, 70, 125; constructed on expertise, 398–9;
 contrasting, 398–9; formation, 154, 161, 172, 201, 202; group. See group identity; infrastructure design and, 140; linking, 399; and online vs.
 face-to-face communication, 77;
 statements, 386; through
 participation, 66, 69–70;
 transformation within practice, 41;
 us/them language and, 399
- iEARN, 24, 31
 improvement: instructional, 122, 129, 130, 132, 133, 135, 147; systemic, 129,
 134, 137, 138–46, 147. See also reform information diffusion, centrality in, 305
 in-group vs. out-group references, 386–7, 394–7, 401
 inquiry, meaning of, 68–9
 inquiry-based teaching, 68, 84, 91, 105, 381
 Inquiry Learning Forum (ILF), 31, 56, 59–63, 91–2, 104, 145, 345, 380–1;
 activity on, 106–9; assumptions underlying, 111–12; asynchronous communication in, 389; bounded

- groups in, 81–2, 110–11, 112; buffer size, 389; building community within, 110; case characterizations, 385, 390, 392–3; classrooms, 71–3, 75, 381; classroom visiting, 71–3, 74, 381; Collaboratory, 60–1, 75–6, 81, 85; as community, 109; conflict on, 357n19, 362; content analysis, 393–8; contextual analysis, 387–90, 391t; context variables in, 384–5, 390, 391t; Contrasting Cases, 73; contrasting identity in, 398–9; Contributing Members, 69–70; convenience sampling for participants, 80; critical dialogue in, 80–1, 82; data sampling in, 352; designed/emergent duality, 63–6; difficulties with, 77–8; discussion on, 106–7; diversity/coherence duality, 79–82; diversity in, 80–1, 82; as drop-in center, 109; dualities within, 82–3; e-ILF. See e-ILF; financial site vs., 108; fragmentation within, 75, 76, 82; gender differences in participation, 387–8; global reform agenda, 66, 71, 73; group identity in, 382; hierarchy on, 365; identification/negotiability in, 73–6; identity statement codes, 386; in-group vs. out-group references, 386–7, 401; Inquiry Circles, 61, 67, 76, 85; Inquiry Lab, 62; inter-rater reliability, 387; Introduce Yourself forum. See Introduce Yourself forum; lesson plan service, 105; levels of engagement on, 107–8; Library, 62–3; Linguist List cf., 349t, 362–3, 366; linking identity in, 399; local/global duality in, 70–3, 84; Lounge, 62, 68, 85, 105, 106, 107–8, 381; medium variables in, 363, 383–4, 388–90; membership, 67, 74, 106–7; message volume, 362; My Desk, 63; new members, 75, 81; noun-verb phrases, 386; number of subscribers, 362; Office, 62; online/face-to-face duality, 76–9; “owners” of, 365; participant demographics, 387–8; participation in, 106, 380–1, 385, 390, 391t, 393; participation/reification duality in, 31, 67–70; politeness in, 400; pre-service teachers in, 8, 56, 59, 71, 106, 107, 354, 362, 383, 390, 392; professional vulnerability on, 115; pronoun use, 385–6; real-life identities in, 390; reform and, 84, 85; rural schools and, 79; Science Misconceptions forum. See Science Misconceptions forum; screening of potential participants, 106; sociability in, 381–2; staff-room talk on, 108; substantive issues on, 107–8; teacher references to students, 397–8; teachers’ immediate needs and, 70–1; Useless Math forum. See Useless Math forum; as virtual community, 345, 364–5; website, 64, 83; women teachers and, 80, 81. See also e-ILF
- intentionality, 167, 170, 171; in task-vs. knowledge-based communities, 34
- interaction analysis, of classroom discourse, 266
- interactions: among diverse viewpoints, 288; community protocols, 233; discourse in, 339; in Internet communities, 190; in knowledge construction, 259; in networked societies, 299; practice and, 194; social network analysis of, 301
- International Education and Resources Network (iEARN). See iEARN
- Internet: as “chunky” environment, 95; and CoPs, 127–8; as level playing field, 92; leveraging, and enlarging colleague matrix, 79; in Math Forum, 193; professional development and, 127; social spaces opened up by, 183; socio-technical model of, 93–6; standard model of, 92–3; and time and place of communication, 310

- Internet communities, 190; defined by social networks, 378. See also community / -ies; virtual communities
- InternetInquiry, 404, 410, 420–2, 425, 431–2
- Internet Relay Chat, 91, 341
- interpretation of research findings: broadest level, 364, 366; close-to-the data, 363, 364; limitations of textual evidence, 364; multiple levels, 363–4; research questions and, 363–4; variables and, 363
- intranet systems, 142
- Introduce Yourself forum, 383, 385, 387–8, 390, 392, 393–4, 395, 396, 399
- invisible colleges, 309–10
- IT-led group development, 115
- IT-supported group development, 115–16
- Jarvenpaa, S.L., 103
- Jason Project, 26, 30
- Journal of Social Structures*, 303
- Kazmer, M.M., 100
- Kellogg, K., 101
- Kendall, Lori, 343
- Kim, A.J., 84
- Kirkpatrick, D., 166
- Kling, R., xxi–xxv, 58
- Knobel, M., 78
- knowledge, 213–14; building, 133–4, 224–30, 230–2, 232; commoditization of, 212; communal, 219–20, 232; domain, 265; as knowledge-in-action, 29; as knowledge-in-use, 26; overlapping boundaries of, 258; participative, 28; reified, 28
- knowledge-based learning communities, 21, 32–4, 38–9t, 40f; designing technical environments for, 34–7; focus of, 41; Pepperdine University, Masters in Educational Technology Program and, 43–4; practice-based vs., 40–1
- knowledge-building communities (KBCs), 211–13, 256, 288, 289; argumentation perspective, 259–60; classroom-based, 211–12, 213, 216–17; framework, 257–61; group information processing, 260; learner discourse on, 211–12, 213, 216–17, 218; sociocognitive perspective, 259; sociocultural/situative perspective, 258–9
- Knowledge Forum, 10, 34, 212, 213, 234, 236; Activity System framework, 217–32; subject-community-division of labor, 220–4, 232–3; subject-community-object, 218–20, 232; subject-community-rules, 224–30, 233; subject-community-tools, 230–2, 233–4
- knowledge-management software, 36, 44–5, 139
- knowledge of possession vs. knowing in practice, 162, 164–6
- knowledge-sharing behavior, 159–60
- Koedinger, K.R., 292
- Kofman, F., 41
- LabNet, 31, 112–13, 113
- language: as doing, on Internet, 339; group- vs. self-focused, 383; interactional level, 341; meaning level, 341; multilayered nature of, 385; nonstandard, 341; social level, 341; structural phenomena, 341
- Lankshear, C., 78
- Lave, J., 7, 28–9, 54, 66, 154, 158, 160–1, 162–3, 169, 212
- leadership, 143–4, 147
- learners: as co-designers, 170; learning how to be, 30. See also students; teachers
- learning, 214; activity and, 214; assessment of, 253; authentic, 270–1; in classrooms, 214; collaborative, 277; commoditization of, 212; connections in, 53; in context of

- professional practice, 120; context of work, 138; as embedded in community, 17–19; as embedded in social activity, 21; as identity transformation, 19; as improving understanding, 229–30; as individual accomplishment, 17; infrastructures for, 171; inquiry-based, 68; modes for, 171; organizational. See organizational learning; as participation in communal practices, 234; physically dispersed, 300; professional. See professional learning; self-directed, 243; self-motivated, 248, 252, 254; as social activity, 138; as social construction, 17; sociocultural approach to, 405–9; sociocultural perspectives, 210; teacher-centered vs. student-centered, 300; training vs., 138
- Learning Circles, 24–5
- learning communities, 19, 91, 100–2; face-to-face, 101; knowledge-based. See knowledge-based learning communities; practice-based. See practice-based learning communities; product-based, 22t; research on, 256–7; risk-taking behavior and, 101; in school setting, 21, 23; social relationships and, 101; task-based. See task-based learning communities
- learning organizations, 20; and learning as social activity, 46; task-, practice-, and knowledge-based communities in, 40f; technical designs for, 37, 40–2; technical support for, 44–5; workplace culture and, 41–2
- Lee, H.S., 80
- legitimate peripheral participation (LPP), in CoPs, 154, 158–9, 161, 164
- Leidner, D.E., 103
- Leont'ev, A.N., 210
- lesson research/study, Japanese method of, 29
- Li, S., 172
- linguistic discourse analysis, 342, 357
- linguistic perspectives, 339–40, 366–8, 379
- Linguist List, 345; conflict on, 357n19, 362; ILF cf., 349t, 362–3, 366; message volume on, 362; number of subscribers, 362; offline community, 365; “owners” of, 365; posting behaviors, 362; as virtual community, 345–6, 364–5
- listservs, 306, 365
- Little, J.W., 129
- Liu, G.Z., 369
- Lortie, D.C., 128n4
- Luria, A.R., 210
- lurking, 4, 107, 366n25
- Lytle, S.L., 128n4
- Mann-Whitney Test, 246, 248
- Martinson, A., 80
- The Math Forum, 9–10, 31, 181; Ask Dr. Math, 182, 184, 186n2, 195; assumptions underlying, 191; autonomy in, 183; BRAP project. See Bridging Research and Practice (BRAP); as community, 188, 189–92, 197, 204, 205; as content site, 182; as CoP, 200; cross-age tutoring, 184; culture of, 181–2, 183, 186–7, 191–6, 205; differences within, 191; diversity on, 199; egalitarianism of, 197; engagement in, 183; face-to-face workshops, 204; group vs. individual understanding in, 194; habitus of, 197–8; history of, 197–200; interactive resources of, 182–3; interactivity of site, 182, 185; learner identities in, 187–8; limitations on, 199; mathematics content, 185; mentors in, 184, 185, 186n2, 195, 196; norms for interacting, 184; NSF and, 195, 198, 200; participant collaboration, 185, 187, 200–1, 204; participants, 182, 183, 184, 185, 188–9, 190–1, 193–4, 194–5, 203; Problems of the Week

- The Math Forum (cont.)
 (PoWs), 182, 184, 186, 188, 194, 195, 201; problem solving in, 196; reciprocity in, 197, 205; reform pedagogy and, 200; reification on, 200; resources, 185, 186n2, 204, 205; scaling of services, 199, 200, 201, 202; service offices, 184–5; services, 182; site design, 185, 187; social interaction on, 198, 199–200; staff members, 194, 195, 197, 203; student participants, 204; student resources, 186n2; subgroups in, 191; sustainability and, 199, 200, 201, 202; teacher participants, 185–7; teacher resources, 186; Teacher2Teacher, 182; training, 185; and Urban Systemic Initiative, 195, 198; utopianism of, 197; volunteers in, 184, 185, 194, 195, 196, 204
- Mayer, R.C., 102
- McDonald, S., 80
- McLaughlin, M.W., 126–7, 128n4, 129, 132
- McLuhan, M., 307
- mediational means, 405, 409
- membership: of communities, 19–20, 38–9t; of CoPs, 122, 140, 141; leadership and, 143. See also under names of communities
- mentoring, 136, 141, 226–7, 274, 275; in knowledge construction, 259, 260, 288. See also under names of communities
- Mitra, D., 126–7
- MOOSE Crossing, 239; achievement levels on, 244, 245–6, 251; activity levels on, 245–6; after-school programs, 241–2; assessment on, 244–5, 251–2, 253; gender differences among participants, 247–8, 254; merit badges used on, 251–4; multitasking on, 244; participants, 241; portfolio assessment on, 244–5, 251–2; programming achievement in, 244–6, 246–7, 249t, 250; research on, 240–1; scripting abilities on, 244–5; sponsors on, 251–2; time on task, 247–8; voluntary participation in, 244
- multi-user virtual environments (MUVES), 404, 410
- Nathan, M.J., 290, 292
- National Science Foundation (NSF), 188, 198
- negotiation, 275; in knowledge construction, 258, 259, 260
- netiquette, 356
- networking technology, 30, 46
- Network Learning Services, 24
- networks: betweenness centrality, 304–5; centrality, 304–5, 311–12; core vs. peripheral clusters in, 302; degree centrality, 304; density, 305–6, 308, 311; diversity, 303–4; heterogeneity, 303–4, 311; personal, 302; of practice, 121; range, 303–4; scholarly, 299–301, 309–10; size, 303–4, 311; sparsely knit, 305–6; tie strength in, 306–7. See also social networks
- newsgroups, 44, 95, 306. See also groups
- Nickerson, R.S., 165
- Nonaka, I., 172
- Nonnecke, B., 107
- objects (Activity Theory framework), 130, 131, 133, 136, 218–20, 232
- online vs. face-to-face communication. See face-to-face vs. online communication
- organizational learning, 41
- Orlikowski, W.J., 148
- Orr, J.E., 162
- outcomes (Activity Theory framework), 130, 132, 133, 215–16
- out-group vs. in-group references, 386–7, 394–7, 401
- Paolillo, J., 353–4
- Papert, S., 240
- participant demographics, 363, 383, 384–5, 387–8

- participation, 242–3; in CMDA, 341, 358; in communities, 66; core, in virtual communities, 356; and formation of CoPs, 378; gender and, 247–8, 254; in ILF, 380–1; lack of choice in, 30; levels in discussion groups, 107; motivation for, 203; in practice-based learning communities, 26; in professional development, 345; professional development and, 125–6; site culture and community, and, 203; in task-based learning communities, 26; in virtual communities, 356; voluntary, 26. See also participants and participation under names of communities
- partitioning (blockmodeling), 307, 320
- Pea, R., 70
- Piaget, J., 240
- portfolio assessment, 244–5
- possession vs. practice, 164–6
- Poster, M., 193
- power: differences, 194n4; relations, 243
- practice: informal learning opportunities within, 138; possession vs., 164–6; and professional development, 124, 132; social interaction and, 194; training and, 120
- practice-based learning communities, 20–1, 26–9, 38–9t, 40f; designing technical environments for, 30–2; focus of, 41; GSEP at Pepperdine University, 43; knowledge-based vs., 37, 40–1. See also communities of practice (CoPs)
- Preece, J., 77, 98–9, 107, 380
- pre-service teachers, 107; beliefs of, 287–8; in Community of Teachers, 54; goals of, 263; in ILF, 8, 56, 59, 71, 106, 107, 354, 362, 383, 390, 392; status of, 276; STEP and, 11; in Tapped In, 412
- Price, D.d.S., 309
- problem-based learning (PBL), 265, 266, 268, 277; online notebooks in, 282, 283f; whiteboards in, 265, 282, 284f, 285. See also STEP pbl
- professional development, 123–5; activity structures of projects, 131–2; and CoPs, 123, 125–8, 132–3, 138; design for, 127, 173–5; division of labor in, 141; and education of children, 146; as experimentation, 147; in local context of practice, 121–2; misalignment of projects, 132; participation in, 345; participation in CoPs and, 125–6; practice and, 124, 132; resistance in, 275; school-based, 124–5; served by CoPs, 122; socio-technical systems for, 256
- publication, in KBC, 221, 222, 223, 233
- public defenders, 104
- questions, research: characteristics of, 346–7; closed, 348; data samples and, 348–50, 350; interpretation of findings and, 363–4; open-ended, 347, 348; phenomena of relevance, 350; variables and, 350
- rapid prototyping, 172
- real-world experience, 265, 268, 271
- reform, 235, 257; classroom discourse and, 257; and CoPs, 126–7; curricular, 134; first principles of, 135–6; grounded, 84; ILF and, 66, 71, 73, 84, 85; instructional, 126, 127, 128, 133, 138, 188, 200; in mathematics, 198; school, 139, 145; systemic, 125, 126, 135, 175; teachers' immediate needs and, 84; theory-based, 135. See also improvement
- reification, 66–7; on Math Forum, 200
- relations: email and, 304; hierarchical, 300 (see also hierarchy); power, 243
- relationships: attitudes and, 307; on e-forums, 100; informal, 307; learning communities and, 101; multivalent, 101; scholarly, 314–18
- Rennebohm-Franz, K., 35–6
- Renninger, K.A., 187, 189, 191, 201

- resistance, 273; to developing socio-technical learning community, 262, 264–5; to online communities, 161–2, 167–8; in teacher professional development, 275. See also conflict
- Resnick, L.B., 165
- Resnick, M., 365n23
- Rheingold, Howard, 98
- Riel, M., 101, 102, 126
- risk: in online conversations, 115; in participation in groups, 102; trust and, 102
- risk-taking behavior, 101, 102, 115
- Roberts, K.H., 103
- Robins, J., 100
- Rogoff, B., 169, 214, 406n3, 407
- rules (Activity Theory framework), 130, 133, 224–30, 233
- Salomon, G., 165, 214
- Sanday, P., 170
- Scardamalia, M., 211, 212, 213, 216–17, 222
- Scheckler, R., 80
- scholarly networks, 299–301, 309–10
- scholars: acquaintances of, 314, 315t, 319; betweenness centrality of, 304–5, 311–12, 319; collaboration among, 318, 329; colleagues of, 312, 314, 315t, 319; degree centrality of, 304, 311; email and, 312, 313, 316–17t, 318, 319, 328; face-to-face meetings, 312–13, 316–17t, 318, 319, 328; friendships among, 312, 314, 315t, 318, 319, 329; in-degree centrality, 304, 311, 319; information flow among, 306; out-degree centrality, 304, 311, 318–19; resource flow among, 306; spatially dispersed, 300
- Schön, D.A., 66n3
- school districts, 127; CoP and professional development, 134–5; management of, 145, 146; multiplicity within, 145–6; professional development in, 134–5; staff support of teacher communities, 129–30
- schools: activity structures within, 131–2; administration, 145; as communities of practice, 29–30; learning communities in, 21, 23; professional development in, 124–5; relationships across departments, 125; rural, 79; staff support of teacher communities, 129–30; systemic reform, 126; violating CoP characteristics, 145
- Schoorman, F.D., 102
- Schwab's, 93–4
- Science Misconceptions forum, 383, 388, 392, 393–7, 398, 399
- Secondary Teacher Education Project (STEP), 11, 257; artifacts, 257; KWeb. See STEP KWeb; mentors in, 257; pbl system. See STEP pbl system; pre-service teachers and, 11; teams in, 257
- Second-Grade Mathematics project (Cobb et al.), 288
- self-motivated learning, 248, 252, 254
- self-organizing approach, to community design, 85
- Selwyn, N., 107, 108, 114, 115
- semantic analysis, 358, 360–1, 384t, 385
- semantic phenomena, in CMC, 360–1
- Senge, P., 41
- Sfard, A., 165
- Sherry, L., 112
- Shoemaker, S., 100
- Shumar, W., 187, 189, 191, 201
- Simon, R.L., 263
- small groups: instruction on STEP pbl, 277–8; process, 265; work, 159, 160
- Smylie, M.A., 126, 127, 132
- sociability, 77, 83; evaluation of, 380; in ILF, 381–2; usability vs., 64–5
- social groups. See groups
- social informatics, xxi
- social interaction. See interactions
- social networks, 299; analysis, 301–8, 379; computer networks and, 302; in CoPs, 141–3; defining Internet communities, 378; groups vs., 302; leadership and, 143. See also networks

- social organization(s): community as intermediate level of, 97; non-work forms of, 96; paradigm shift in, 299–300; work-oriented forms of, 96
- sociocultural theory, 405–6, 408–9
- socio-technical, as a term, 93
- socio-technical interaction networks (STINS), 57–8, 64, 83
- Songer, N.B., 80
- Spitzer, W., 113
- Spring, Joel, 243
- Squire, K., 66, 84
- Stake, R.E., 57
- stakeholder groups, 130, 137, 147
- status: among disciplines, 264; of group members, 264; pre-service students vs. tutor, 276
- Stein, M.K., 132, 133
- Steinkuehler, C.A., 275–6
- STEP KWeb, 277, 278, 285
- STEP pbl system, 276–85
- structural analysis, 358, 360, 361, 384t, 385
- structural phenomena, in CMC, 358, 360, 361
- students: in “boot camps,” 100, 103–4; dominant, 274; exchanges with teachers, 221–2, 225–6; guidelines for work in Knowledge Forum, 224–5; interviews with, 227–30; in KBC, 211–12, 221–3; in Math Forum, 186n2, 204; misconceptions of, 225–6, 229; ratings of STEP pbl, 285–7; risk-taking in groups, 102; scripting abilities of, 244–5; and self-directed learning, 243; teacher references to, 397–8, 399, 400; theories of, 225–6
- student-teacher exchanges, 221–2, 225–6
- synchronicity, 273n1, 363, 389
- syntactic phenomena, 358, 360
- Takeuchi, H., 172
- Talbert, J.E., 128n4, 129, 132
- talk. See conversation
- Tannen, D., 264
- Tapped In, 9, 31, 44, 120–1, 145, 147–8, 404, 407–8, 409, 410, 419–20, 422–4; After School Online (ASO) seminars, 410, 413, 415, 423–4; communities of purpose in, 76; as constellation of practices, 121; as CoP, 121; as crossroads, 121; Event Calendar, 413; group participation, 413; Help Desk, 413, 422–3, 425; interactions, 412–13; interview guide, 431–3; members, 121, 410–12; MOO technology, 408; as network of practice, 121; participation patterns, 411–12, 432; pre-service teachers in, 412; Reception Area, 413, 422; seminars, 413; staff, 412–13; study of, 409–10; “tapestry” graphical interface, 414f; technological features, 424–5
- task-based learning communities, 20, 21–3, 38–9t, 40f, 131n5; designing technical environments for, 23–6; focus of, 41; knowledge-based communities vs., 33–4; Pepperdine University GSEP and, 42–3
- teacher education: conflicts in goals, 263; ideational fragmentation in, 276, 287
- teachers: autonomy, and online teaching, 78; bounded groups of, 81–2; challenging discussions among, 256–7; characteristics of “great,” 104–5; collegiality among, 109; constraints upon, 84; critical dialogue between, 69–70, 74–5, 107; critical engagement among, 109; development of online discussion groups, 105–6; difficulties with e-ILF, 77–8; district staff support of, 129–30; exchanges with students, 221–2, 225–6; and ILF classrooms, 75; immediate needs vs. global reform agenda, 70–1, 84; isolation of, 122; in KBC, 221–4; maverick, 80; new, 141; online presence, 222–3, 233; outcomes in practice, 132; participation in design, 63–4; pre-service. See pre-service teachers;

- teachers (cont.)
 privacy of, 78; professional development of. See professional development; references to students, 397–8, 399, 400; reflective dialogue among, 112–13; risk-taking, 102, 115; sense of community among, 108; within task-based learning communities, 24; use of Math Forum, 185–7; videotaping of, 71, 105; women, 80, 81
- teaching: classroom practice, and identity, 70; culture of, 81, 257; inquiry-based, 68, 84, 91, 105; isolation of, 81; and the KBC, 213; privacy of, 125
- teaching assistants (TAs), 264, 265, 266, 275–6, 277, 285, 289
- teamwork: in STEP, 257, 276; trust in, 103, 235
- TechNet, 301, 308–10; blockmodeling of, 307–8, 320–1, 329; centrality, 318–20; collaborating relations in, 310, 313, 314, 318, 322–5, 329; communication, 318–20; as CoP, 309; density, 314, 329; discussions of research, 310, 314, 318–19; email contact within, 314, 318, 328, 329; face-to-face contact within, 314, 318, 319, 325–8, 329; frequency of communications within, 311; friendship networks within, 314; goals of, 308–9; membership, 309; range within, 312–14; reading others' work within, 310, 313, 314, 325, 329; scholarly relationships in, 314–18; as semi-visible college, 330–1; social closeness within, 311; strength of ties in, 319, 320
- technologies: artifact design and, 144–5; collaborative, 156–7, 160; and community evolution and reproduction, 141; and CoP boundaries, 145; and CoP characteristics, 147; and CoP cultural norms and values, 139–40; design for systemic improvement, 138–46; and differences between practices, 146; duality of, 148; epistemology and, 76; and instructional leadership, 143–4; networked vs. hub-and-spoke models, 141; and social networks, 142–3; support, 160; tool design and, 144–5
- tensions. See dualities
- Tönnies, F., 97
- tools, 134; in Activity Theory framework, 130, 131, 133, 135–6, 230–2, 233–4; design, and online technologies, 144–5; use of, 160. See also artifacts; cultural tools
- training, 138, 167; of business consultants, 158; and professional practice, 120. See also professional development
- Traweek, S., 6
- trust: “boot camps” and, 103–4; building, in e-forums, 112, 113; defined, 102; development of, 102; in face-to-face vs. online settings, 102–3; and group identity, 109; risk and, 102; in teamwork, 103, 234; and technical difficulties, 78; in workplace, 102, 168
- tutors, 266, 276, 285
- University of Wisconsin-Madison, Secondary Teacher Education Program, 256, 261, 262–4
- unwinding, 290
- Urban Systemic Initiative, 195, 198
- usability vs. sociability, 64–5
- Useless Math forum, 65, 383, 388, 392–3, 393–7, 398, 399
- Usenet newsgroups, 106, 113
- us/them language, 356, 379–80, 398, 399
- variables, 350; context, 384–5, 390, 391t; medium, 363, 383–4, 388–90; situational, 363
- videopapers, 201–2

Cambridge University Press

0521520819 - Designing for Virtual Communities in the Service of Learning

Edited by Sasha A. Barab, Rob Kling and James H. Gray

Index

More information

Index

451

- virtual communities, 24, 53, 91, 98–100, 99–100, 189, 210–11, 235; CMDA of concept of, 367t, 368; community-like behavior, 365–6; concept of, 344; conflict in, 356; core participants, 356; criteria for, 355–6; criticism in, 356; culture of, 356; definitions, 355–6; ethnographic approach, 369, 385; existence of, 344, 367–8; governance in, 356–7; hierarchy in, 356; norms and values in, 356; offline contact and, 365; online groups as, 344; as online social interaction, 98–9; operationalization of, 368; participation in, 356; qualitative vs. quantitative analysis, 369; reciprocity in, 356; ritual in, 356–7; roles in, 356; self-awareness in, 356; shared history in, 356; solidarity, 356; support, 356. See also community /-ies; Internet communities
- Virtual High School, 32
- virtual vs. face-to-face communication. See online vs. face-to-face communication
- voice, 262; in social groups, 194n4
- von Krough, C., 172
- Vygotsky, L.S., 210
- Wasson, C., 170
- websites: clubs, 94; conventions among, 93–4; financial services, 93–4; listservs vs., 365; newspaper, 93; sociality among, 94; socio-technically constructed, 94
- Wedding, K., 113
- Weick, K.E., 165
- Wellman, B., 355
- Wells, G., 215
- Wenger, E., 29; on change over time, 80; on CoPs, 54, 104, 162; on design, 163–4; on dualities, 8, 58, 59, 67, 70, 73–4, 76, 171; on formation of CoPs, 164; garden metaphors for CoPs, 29; on identity formation, 172; on infrastructures for learning, 171; on insurance claims processors, 377; on LPP, 158, 160–1, 164; on mature CoP, 163, 171; on meat cutters, 28–9; on minimalist design, 63; on modes for learning, 171; on reification, 66–7; on trajectories, 158
- Wertsch, J.V., 262
- Westheimer, J., 55, 79
- we/they language, 380, 398, 400
- whiteboards, in PBL, 265, 282, 284f, 285
- Willmont, H., 167, 168
- Wilson, S.M., 125, 128n4
- women teachers, 80, 81
- workplace: communities, newcomers to, 138; competition in, 168; identity formation and, 154; knowledge building in, 36; learning, 154; meeting outside, 144–5; trust in, 102, 168
- Yates, S., 343
- Yi, J.Q., 157–8, 161, 163, 164, 165, 166–7, 167–8