Index

Note. Page numbers followed by f indicate figures; page numbers followed by t indicate tables.

Abdication, in maltreatment, 222f Abuse See Child abuse and neglect Acceptance variable, in parent-child synchrony, 43, 49, 50t Adaptation
defining characteristic of, 369
to environment, 245–247
evolution and, 378–379
to life changes, 355
during maturation See Dynamic-maturational model of attachment process of, 379–381
protective value of See Protection security and, 381–383 Adolescents, attachment in ambivalent, longitudinal study of, 277–299 developmental changes in, 349–351, 352f
of dismissing/preoccupied, peer interactions in, 309–324 dynamic-maturational attachment model for, 380 representation of, intergenerational and intercultural issues in, 325–342 Russian, 374
substrategies of, 351, 352f
Adoption, after institutionalization in Poland attachment patterns in adaptation in, 240–241
method of study, 150
results of study, 162–166, 164f, 165t, 168–170
attitudes on, 143
statistics on, 143
in Romania, 171–189
attachment patterns in, 176–179, 182–184, 240–241
behavior problems in, 186
case studies of, 173–184
changes over several years post-adoption, 179–182 family setting and, 186–188
pre-adoption histories and, 172, 173, 179, 185–186
Adult Attachment Interview
of adolescent-mother pairs, 325–342
vs. Strange Situation, 326 Affect
false positive, in parenting, 217–218 flatness of in depression, 199
in Finnish culture, 373
manipulation of, in ambivalent attachment, 299–295 overbright, post-adoption, 183

417
African-American culture, attachment and, 214–233 changes from infancy to adolescence, 277–299 Age
of child, parent-child synchrony and, 44, 45t, 57
of parents
behavioral problems and, 79
parent-child synchrony and, 45t Aggressive behavior
in danger, 236
in depression, 211–212
in four-year-old Swedish children, 83, 88t, 90t
in institutionalized Polish children, 156, 157t, 158, 166–167
post-adoption, 182
Ainsworth, M.D.S.
attachment measures and patterns of, 1, 19 See also Strange Situation
in Egyptian children, 98–99
in Finnish twins, 131–140
maternal sensitivity scale of, 120–121
in four-year-old behavior problem study, 81–82 Ambivalent attachment classification change and continuity from infancy to adolescence, 277–299 affect manipulation in, 292–295
case studies in, 280–291
insecurity in, 292
method of study, 279–280
parenting inconsistencies in, 295–297 protective factors of, 297–299 risks of, 297–299
in four-year-old children, 93
in institutionalized Polish children, 158 Anger
in ambivalent attachment, 292–295
in preoccupied persons, 302
Anglo-centricism, in attachment theory, 3 Anxiety
in ambivalent attachment, 298
evolution, 378–379
Anxious-ambivalent attachment classification, in depression, 200, 207t
Anxious-resistant attachment classification, in depression, 202, 209t, 207t
Appalachian Mountain culture, attachment and, 214–233 Appearance, vs. reality, differentiation of, 351
Arab culture, attachment and, 97–114, 376–377
Attachment
definition of, 13
internal representation of, 300–302
phases of, 147–148
in institutionalized Polish children, 151–152
Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder, post-adoption, 175, 186
Auditory perception disturbances, in institutionalized Polish children, 149, 160f
Autism, in institutionalized Polish children, 159, 165 Autonomy
in attachment
in adolescents, 301–302, 307, 311, 312, 313t, 314, 315t, 316t, 317
in adults, 326
for exploration, 14
Avoidant (type A) attachment, 19–21, 29t
as cognitive pattern, 345
contexts producing, 236–241
in danger, 246–247
in day care, maturational changes, 260–261, 260f, 265, 266f, 273–274
in depression, 202, 203t, 204–208, 205f, 207t, 211–212, 254–255
description of, 252, 302
in dynamic-maturational model of attachment
adaptability and, 381–383
in adolescents, 351, 352f
culture aspects of, 365–366
evidence for, 353–355
evolution and, 378–379
in preschoolers, 349, 350f
in psychopathology, 367
self-protective value of, 369–379
Index

significance of, 368
  in socialist cultures, 365–366
  in Egyptian children, 99, 107–110, 108t, 109f, 110t, 376
  in Finnish twins, 131–132, 132t–138t,
  in four-year-old children, 93
  in infants, 344–345, 344f
  information distortion in, 345
  in institutionalized Polish children, 149, 158, 159
  in Italian culture, 375–376
  reversal to type C, 351
  in socialists, 69–70, 69f, 70f
  in Swedish four-year-olds, 84, 85t

Behavior

maternal See Dispositional representations
  with peers See Peers, behavior with problems with
  in institutionalized Polish children, 149, 239–240
  after adoption, 165
  in brain-damaged children, 168
  frequency of, 159–161, 160f
  after separation, 156, 158
  during separation, 156, 157t types of, 149, 152, 153f, 154 post-adoption, in Romanian children, 180–182, 186
  in Swedish four-year-olds, 75–96 context and, 76–78, 82–83
  culture and, 76–78
  day care and, 77, 82–83
  maternal sensitivity and, 75–76, 81–82, 85–87, 85t, 88t, 89, 90–92t, 93–94
  method of study, 79–84
  predictive factors in, 86–87, 88t, 89–91, 90–92t
  results of study, 84–91, 85t–88t, 90–92t
  sociodemographic variables and,
  76–77, 82, 88t, 94–95

Belsky theory, of attachment, 2

Berlin Longitudinal Study of Infants’ Adaptation to Novel Situations, attachment changes and,
  251–276

Bielefeld longitudinal study, of adolescent-mother attachment, 325–328, 339–342, 340f, 341f

Bowlby, J., attachment theory of, 1, 13 intergenerational aspects of, 325, 337 Bronfenbrenner model, of attachment, 2

Caregiver Sensitivity variable, in parent-child synchrony, 43, 50t

Caregiving
  in depression, measures of, 199
  as parental role, 14
  Caregiving attachment classification,
  post-adoption, 182–184

CARE-Index
  comparison with other instruments, 363
  in dispositional representation study, 224, 226–232, 226t, 227t
  in parent-child synchrony study, 42–43

Central nervous system disorders, in institutionalized Polish children, attachment patterns
  in, 146

Cheerfulness, maternal sensitivity and,
  263, 263t, 264–265, 264t, 267, 268f

Cheerful-with-Mother dimension, in parental-toddler play
  interaction, 25, 26t

Child abuse and neglect adaptation to, 237–239, 245
  attachment patterns in, 353, 354
  dismissing/preoccupied attachment in, 314, 316t, 320
  dispositional representations and, 214–233
  in Romanian orphans, 172, 173, 179, 185–186

Coercive (type C) attachment
  as affective pattern, 345
  contexts producing, 241–244
  in danger, 235–236, 246–247
  in day care, maturational changes, 260–261, 260t, 265, 266f, 273–274
  in depression, 201–202, 203t, 204–209, 205f, 207t, 211–212
  description of, 252, 278–279
Index

Coercive (type C) attachment (continued)
- vs. developmental stage, 353
  - in dynamic-maturational model of attachment
    - psychopathology and, 367
    - self-protective value of, 370–379
  - in socialist cultures, 366–367
  - switching to, 382–383
- in Egyptian children, 98, 107–110, 108t, 109f, 110t, 113, 137–376
- in Finnish twins, 131–138, 132r–138t
- information distortion in, 345
- in institutionalized Polish children, 167
- in Italian culture, 375–376
- maturational changes and stability of
  - in day care, 260–261, 260t, 265, 266f, 273–274
  - in infancy through adolescence, 277–299
- reversal to type A, 351
  - in Russian culture, 374
- in socialist cultures, 69–71, 69f, 70f
- in Swedish culture, 373–374
- in Swedish four-year-olds, 84, 85t

Cognition, maternal See Dispositional representations

Cognitive performance
- in Egyptian children, 105
- in toddler-parental play interaction, 22–23, 31–34, 32t, 36–37

Coherence variable, in parent-child synchrony, 43, 49, 50t

Communication
- in dismissing/preoccupied adolescents, 302–303, 313t, 317
- in Egyptian families, 100–101
- multistep, sensitivity as, 115–116
- post-adoption, 180, 181
- of twins, 125–126

Communism See Socialist societies

Compliance-with-Mother dimension, in parental-toddler play interaction, 26t, 27

Compulsively caregiving attachment classification
- in depression, 211–212
- post-adoption, 182–184

Concentration, problems with, in four-year-old Swedish children, 83, 88t, 90t

Confirmation maternal behavior, vs. family setting, in socialist cultures, 71, 72t

Conformist reasoning, in parental behavior, 222t

Conscious thought, in danger, 380

Context, effects on attachment, 7–9
- adaptation, 245, 246–247
- adolescence as See Adolescents
- adoption from orphanages See Adoption
- attachment figure and, 245
- child abuse and neglect See Child abuse and neglect
- danger See Danger
  - day care See Day care
- depression See Depression
- dispositional parental representations, 214–233
- institutional situations See Institutionalization
- maladaptation, 245–246
- during maturation, 346–347
- overview of, 234–248
- producing type A/C strategy, 244–245
- producing type A strategy, 236–241
- producing type C strategy, 241–244
- sensitivity and, 118–119
- twins, 125–140, 242–243

Control, locus of, in attachment, in adolescents, 309–310, 312t, 314, 315t

Creative extension maternal behavior, vs. family setting, in socialist cultures, 71, 72t

Crittenden, P., Preschool Assessment of Attachment See Preschool Assessment of Attachment

Culture, attachment and, 3–6
- Appalachian Mountain, 214–233
- coping strategies, 377–378
- definition of, 371
Index

dispositional representations and, 219, 224, 232–233
East German, 61–74, 366–367
Egyptian, 97–114, 376–377
Finnish, 125–140, 372–375
German, 13–37, 251–276, 325–328, 339–342, 340f, 341f Guatemalan, 15
individual personalities, 377–378
Italian, 58–60, 375–377
Latter Day Saints, 198, 209–210
Mormons, 198, 209–210
parental role influences of, 14–15
Polish, 141–170
Portuguese, 325–342
Romanian, 171–189, 354
self-protective strategies in, 371–379
Swedish, 75–96, 372–375
Turkish, 15
western United States, 190–213

Day care
adaptation to, 243–244
attachment stability and changes related to, 251–276
age of entry and, 269–271
attachment classifications, 252–254, 259–262, 260t, 262t contexts and, 255–256
development and, 252–254
familiarization methods and timing, 258–259, 260–271 maternal sensitivity and, 262–269, 263t, 264t, 265f, 266f
method of study, 256–259
parenting quality and, 254–255
results of study, 259–271
behavior problems related to, in four-year-olds, 77–78, 82–83, 89, 90t, 91, 92t, 95–96
in Finland, 128
parent-child synchrony of interaction and See under Synchrony, parent-child
in socialist cultures
intrafamilial caregivers in, 68–69
multiple caregivers in, 63 promotion of, 64–65
Decentered attention, in Egyptian families, 101, 107t

individual personality differences in, 377–378
in neglect, 237–239
in physical abuse, 237–239
conscious thought in, 380
description of, 235–236
evolution and, 378–379
memory of, 215
from parents, 346
from protective figures, 217
reflective thought in, 380
regional differences in, 380–381
to toddlers, 346
unpredictability of, adaptation to, 246 Darkness, seasonal, attachment effects of, 372–373
in twins, 129, 133, 155, 135t, 136t, 139, 237

Danger
attachment patterns in, 9, 119, 368–371, 382–383
in changing situations, 356
in complex situations, 356
cultural variation in, 365–368, 371–379
dispositional representations and See Dispositional representations
in Egyptian children, 97–114
cultural aspects of, 98–101
demographics and, 99–100 family context and, 100–101 gender differences in, 101–102, 108–109, 108t, 109f, 112–113 intellectual functioning and, 105 maternal behavior and, 101–102
maternal teaching style and, 104–108, 106t–108t
method of study, 102–105
play patterns and, 110–111
results of study, 106–111, 106t–108t, 109f, 110t Defended strategy
in depression, 201–202, 203t, 204, 207t, 211–212
description of, 253
post-adoption, 183, 184
Depression, attachment and, 190–213, 207–208, 244, 254–255
bipolar, 194–195
chronicity/severity of depression, 194, 202, 203t, 204–205, 205f, 208–209
cultural context of, 198, 209–210
due to dark winters, 129, 133, 135, 155t, 156t, 139 design of study, 196
ever, 195–195
future directions, 210–213
intermittent, 195, 204, 205, 205f, 206f literature review of, 193–195
maladaptation to, 246
maternal behavioral competence, 205–209, 206f, 207t measures for, 198–202
method of study, 196–202
recruitment for study, 196–198
results of study, 202–207
theoretical perspectives of, 191–193
Desires, vs. needs, sensitivity to, 119
Destructive behavior, post-adoption, 182 Development See also Maturation attachment pattern changes with, 6–7 sensitivity changes with, 121–122
of twins, attachment effects of, 125–127
Disengagement, in depression, 199
Dismissing adults, 326
Dismissing/preoccupied adolescents, peer interactions in, 300–324
communication patterns and, 302–303
internal representational models and, 300–302
locus of control and, 309–310, 312t, 314, 315t
method of study, 305–310
results of study, 311–317, 311t, 312t, 315t, 316t
risk factors and, 314, 316t, 317
self-esteem and, 303, 309, 314, 315t, 318
Disorganized-disoriented attachment
in child abuse and neglect, 238
in day care, maturational changes, 260–261, 260t, 264, 265f, 266f
in depression, 200, 202, 203t, 204–206, 205f, 207t, 208
description of, 252
Disoriented/disorganized adults, 326 Dispositional representations, 214–233 conflict in, 217–218
cultural context of, 219, 224, 232–233
in danger, 217–218
in danger, 225, 226t
congruity in, 230
integrated, 216–217, 225–226, 226t intervention effects, 223, 228–229
in maltreatment group, 217–218, 224–226, 226t
memory types and, 214–217, 220–223, 222t, 231–232
method of study, 219–223, 222t
of parenting, 214–233
procedural, 224
results of study, 224–228, 225t–229t
self-protective, 217–218
semantic, 225, 226t
variables in, 226–228, 227t–229t Dyad
parent-child
sensitivity in, 116
synchrony of, 44
in twin context, 126
substitute mother-child See Substitute mothers Dynamic-maturational model of
attachment, 349–383
adaptation and, 378–383
for adolescents and adults, 349–352, 352f avoidant pattern
adaptability and, 381–383
in adolescents, 351, 352f
culture aspects of, 365–366
Index

evidence for, 353–355
 evolution and, 378–379
 in infants, 344–345, 344f
 in preschoolers, 349, 350f
 in psychopathology, 367
 self-protective value of, 369–379
 significance of, 368
 in socialist cultures, 365–366
 classification procedure comparisons, 358–359, 360t–362t, 363–365 coercive pattern
 psychopathology and, 367
 self-protective value of, 370–379
 in socialist cultures, 366–367
 switching to, 382–383
 cultural variation and, 365–368
 discontinuity and
 developmental, 348–355, 350f, 352f situational, 355–356
 empirical evidence for, 353–355
 evolution and, 378–379
 individual personality and, 377–378
 for infants, 343–348, 344f life changes and, 355
 for preschoolers, 349, 350f
 psychopathology and, 367–368
 secure pattern
 adaptability of, 381–383
 classification issues and, 358–363, 360t–362t
 cultural variation in, 365–368, 371–379
 normacy definition, 365–368
 self-protective value of, 368–379
 in socialist cultures, 366–367
 statistics on, 358–365, 360t–362t self-protective strategies and, 368–379
 attachment patterns, 368–371
 cultural variations, 371–379
 for socialist cultures, 366–367 transgenerational transmission and, 352–353 unpredictability and, 355

Eagerness-with-Father dimension, in parental-toddler play interaction, 25, 26f, 28, 28t

East German culture, attachment and,
 61–74, 366–367

Eating disturbances
 in institutionalized children, in Poland, 149, 156, 157t, 158, 159, 160f, 165
 post-adoption, 175, 180

Education
 of child, as parental role
 in Egyptian culture, 101–102, 104–108, 106f–108t
 in German culture, 15–16, 21
 of parent
 parental-toddler play interaction and, 29, 30t, 31, 32t
 parent-child synchrony and, 44, 46t, 57
 Educational Orientation dimension, in parental-toddler play interaction, 24–25, 25t, 29–36, 30t, 32t, 33t
 Egoistic reasoning, in parental behavior, 222t Egyptian culture, attachment and,
 97–114, 376–377
 Emotional balance, maternal sensitivity and, 263, 265t, 264, 264t, 267, 268f, 269
 Emotional disturbances
 in depression, 191
 in institutionalized Polish children, 149, 156, 157t, 158, 160f, 161, 165
 post-adoption, 180

Empathy, paternal, in toddler play interaction, 19, 30t

Enculturation, parental role in, 14–15

Enmeshed adults, 326

Environment See Context

Ethnicity See Culture

Evolution, attachment role in, 378–379

Exploration
 vs. attachment, 277
 inhibition of, in ambivalent attachment, 278
Index

maternal sensitivity and
in East German culture, 61–74
in Russian culture, 61–74
second year stability and change, 251–276
in twins See Twins
Insecure-ambivalent attachment classification, in institutionalized Polish children, 148–149, 158, 159t, 166–167 Insecure attachment, 19–21, 20t See also Avoidant (type A) attachment;
Coercive (type C) attachment;
Disorganized-disoriented attachment
in day care, maturational changes, 262t
in depression, 200–202, 206–207, 207t
in four-year-old children, 93
in institutionalized Polish children, 158, 166, 167
Insecure-avoidant attachment
classification, in institutionalized Polish children, 159, 159t Insecure-incoherent attachment representation, in adolescent-mother pairs, 330t, 331, 334t, 335t, 340, 341, 341f Insecure-repressive attachment representation, in adolescent-mother pairs, 330t, 331–332, 332f, 334t, 335t, 340, 341f, 342 Institutionalization See also Day care adaptation to, 237–239, 245 in Poland, attachment effects of, 141–170 background studies on, 141–142
culture and, 142–143
followup after adoption, 150, 240–241
method of study, 146–151
observation in, 147–151
procedure for, 146
results of study, 151–166
behavioral disturbances, 159–161, 160f, 165, 168 behavioral patterns, 152, 153f, 154, 154f behavior during separation, 156, 157t
vs. developmental phase, 151–152 patterns of attachment, 158–159, 159t post-adoption, 162–166, 164f, 165t, 168–169 psychomotor development, 149, 156, 160f, 161–162, 163t, 165–167 reactions to strangers, 154–156, 155f, 155t reunion after long separation, 156, 158 reunion after short separation, 156 sample population in, 146 study setting, 143–145
in Romania, attachment effects of, followup after adoption, 240–241
case studies of, 171–189
Integrative reasoning, in parental behavior, 292t
Intensity of Involvement variable, in parent-child synchrony, 43, 49, 50t Interaction
with parents, role influences in See Roles, parental synchrony in See Synchrony, parent-child Interational Dimensions Coding System, in adolescent peer behavior evaluation, 310 Intergenerational transfer, of attachment, 351–353 See also Dynamic-maturational model of attachment in adolescent-mother pairs, 325–342 background of, 325–327
discussion of, 336–339, 341–342
method of study, 328–330, 330t, 339–340
mismatch of, 337–338
results of study, 330–336, 332f, 333f, 334t, 336f, 340–341, 340f, 341f
Index

Internalization, of problems, in four-year-old Swedish children, 83, 88t, 90t

Introduction maternal behavior, vs. family setting, in socialist cultures, 71, 72t

Italian culture, attachment and, 38–60, 375–377

Kindergarten, teaching role of, in German culture, 15

Latter Day Saints, attachment and, in depression, 198, 209–210

Learning See Education

Leniency, in parental-toddler play interaction, 23–24, 23t, 27, 29–36, 30t, 32t, 33t

Locus of control, in attachment, in adolescents, 309–310, 312t, 314, 315t

Longitudinal studies See also Maturation of maternal sensitivity, vs. behavior problems, 75–96 of parental roles, 36

Main and Goldwyn adult attachment scoring system, in adolescent-mother pairs, 326, 336–337

locus of control and, 309–310, 312t, 314, 315t

method of study, 305–310 results of study, 311–317, 311t, 312, 315t, 316t risk factors and, 314, 316t, 317 self-esteem and, 303, 309, 314, 315t, 318

Maladaptation, to environment, 245–246

Maltreatment See Child abuse and neglect

Manipulative disturbances, in institutionalized Polish children, 149, 159–160, 160f, 165

Maternal Emotion Scales, in interaction evaluation, 258, 263, 263t, 264t

Maternal sensitivity ambivalent attachment and, changes from infancy to adolescence, 295–297 attachment quality and, 75–76 coder variation in, 121 in day care, maturational changes in, 262–269, 263t, 264t, 265f, 266f, 268f, 272–273 definition of, 117, 119–120 in depression, 192, 199 developmental issues in, 121–122 dispositional representations and, 220, 228, 290–398, 299 in Egyptian culture, in children aged 5 to 8, 97–114 failure of, adaption to, 236–237 vs. fit of child to context, 118–119 in German culture, in parent-toddler play, 13–37 goals of, 117–118 as intrapersonal vs. dyadic construct, 116 in Italian culture, in parent-child interaction, 38–60 later outcomes and, 76 measurement instruments for, 120–121 as multitcriterion construct, 116–117 as multistep communicative process, 115–116
Index

to needs vs. desires, 119
vs. paternal empathy, 19, 30t predictive value of, for quality of attachment, 254–256 procedural memory and, 220
as role-defined construct, 117–118 in socialist societies, in different care settings, 61–74 in Swedish culture, in behavioral problems in four-year-olds, 75–96 theoretical considerations, 115–122, 191–192
to unique signals, 116–117 Maternity leave
in Finland, 128
in socialist cultures, 64–65
Maturation
attachment and, 6–7
in adolescents, 300–324, 325–342
in adulthood, 325–342
ambivalent, 277–299
dynamic-maturational approach to See Dynamic-maturational model of attachment parental role changes with, 13–14
in second year, 251–276
sensitivity changes with, 121–122
discontinuities in, 348–356, 350f, 352f Memory, dispositional representation and, 214–216
cultural context of, 219, 232–233
episodic, 215–216, 218, 225, 232, 233
imaged, 215, 216, 218, 220–221, 225, 232, 233
in maltreatment group, 224–226, 226t
method of study, 219–223, 222t
procedural, 214, 216–218, 220, 224, 292
relations among, 231–232
results of study, 224–228, 226t–229t
in self-protection, 217–218 semantic, 215, 216, 218, 221–222, 222t, 225, 226t, 230–232, 233 working, 216–217, 222–223
Meta-monitoring, in adolescents, 321–322
Mormons, attachment and, in depression, 198, 209–210
Multicriterion construct, sensitivity as, 116–117
Nationalization, of family life, in socialist cultures, 63–64
Needs, vs. desires, sensitivity to, 119
Negative social behavior, in four-year-old Swedish children, 88t, 90t Neglect See Child abuse and neglect Newberger Parenteral Reasoning Scale, in maltreatment, 222, 222t, 226t–228t, 227
Noise, fear of, post-adoption, 175
Nonsupportive attachment, in adolescent-mother pairs, 330t, 331–332, 338, 341, 342f Orphanages
in Poland See Institutionalization, in Poland
in Romania See Institutionalization, in Romania Parenteral Reasoning Scale, in maltreatment, 222, 222t, 226t, 227, 227t, 228t Parents, roles of See Roles, parental Parity, in four-year-old behavior problem study, 89, 90t, 92t Peers
adopted child rejection by, 181
attachment strategies learned from, 346 behavior with
in child abuse and neglect, 239
in dismissing/preoccupied adolescents, 300–324 Adult Attachment Interview
communication patterns and, 302–303
internal representational models and, 300–302
method of study, 305–310
results of study, 311–317, 311t, 312t, 315t, 316t
risk factors and, 314, 316t, 317
Peers (continued)

- self-esteem and, 303, 309, 314, 315t, 318
- in institutionalized Polish children, 154, 154f
- parent-child synchrony and, 52, 53t, 54t, 55, 56t, 58–60

Persistence-with-parents dimension, in parental-toddler play interaction, 26t, 27, 28, 28t

Play
- in attachment evaluation, 103–105
- dispositional representations in, 220, 224, 230
- disturbances of
  - in institutionalized Polish children, 144, 149, 157t, 158, 160, 160f, 165
  - post-adoption, 178
  - in Egyptian children, 110–111
  - with parents, role influences in See Roles, parental
  - with toddlers, parental role influences on, in German culture, 13–37

Playfulness dimension, in parental-toddler play interaction, 24, 24t, 29–36, 30t, 32t, 33t

Polish culture, attachment and, 141–170, 239–241

Portuguese culture, attachment and, 325–342

Postpartum depression See Depression

Poverty, dispositional representations in, 214–233

Preference, parental, of twins, 126, 127, 135–136, 137t, 139

Prematurity, attachment and, 133, 134t, 139

Preoccupied adults, 326

Preschool Assessment of Attachment
- for child abuse and neglect, 238–239
- for children with depressed mothers, 190, 200–207, 211–213
- classifications of, 221, 252–254
- comparison with other attachment instruments, 253–254, 259–261, 260t, 264–265, 264t, 265f, 266f, 267, 269, 271–274, 359, 360t-362t, 363

in day-care experience, maturational changes, 253–255, 258–270, 260t, 262t-264t, 265f, 266f
- description of, 252–254
  - for Egyptian children, 103–105
  - for Finnish twins, 131–140
  - for maltreated children, 221, 223

Preschool Behavior Questionnaire, for four-year-old behavior problem study, 83

Privacy, of family life, 64

Procedural memory, dispositional representation and, 214, 216–218, 220, 224, 232

Protection
- attachment strategies for, 379–381
  - adaptability of, 381–383
  - ambivalent, 297–299
  - avoidant, 369–379
  - coercive, 370–379
  - cultural variation in, 371–379
  - secure, 368–379
- against danger See Danger
- dispositional representations for, 217–218
  - needs vs. desires for, 119

Psychomotor disturbances, in institutionalized Polish children, 149, 156, 160f, 161–162, 163t, 165–167

Psychopathology, attachment and, 7–8, 367–368

Quality of attachment
- definition of, 2
- measurement of, in institutionalized Polish children, 148–149

Random events, attachment pattern effects of, 355

Raven Progressive Matrices, for Egyptian children, 103–105

Reality vs. appearance, differentiation of, 351

Reflective-secure attachment
- representation, in adolescent-mother pairs, 330t, 331–333, 332f, 334t, 335t, 336, 338, 340, 341, 341f

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Index</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Attachment relationships: maturation, culture, and context</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Edited by Patricia McKinsey Crittenden and Angelika Hartl Claussen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>More information</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Index

Reflective thought, in danger, 380
Regensburg longitudinal study of adolescent-mother attachment, 325–328, 339–342, 340f, 341f
Response, in sensitivity, 115–116, 121
Restrictive maternal behavior vs. family setting, in socialist cultures, 71, 72t Richness of Perception variable, in parent-child synchrony, 43, 49, 50f

Running Horse Game Test, in attachment evaluation, 105–105, 106t, 107, 107t
Russian culture, attachment and, 61–74, 366–367, 372–375

Safety needs vs. desires for, 119 threats to See Child abuse and neglect; Danger
Seasonal affective disorder, attachment effects of, in twins, 129, 133, 135, 135t, 196t, 199
Secure-positive attachment representation, in adolescent-mother pairs, 330t, 331–333, 332f, 334t, 335t, 341f
Secure-reflective attachment representation, in adolescent-mother pairs, 330t, 331–333, 332f, 334t, 335f, 336, 338, 340, 341, 341f
Self-esteem, in dismissing/preoccupied adolescents, peer interactions and, 303, 309, 314, 315t, 318
Semantic memory, dispositional representation and, 215, 216, 218, 221–222, 222t, 225, 226t, 230–232, 233
Sensitivity See Maternal sensitivity
Separation, in Strange Situation See Strange Situation
Sexuality, in adolescents, attachment patterns and, 350
Sibship, parent-child synchrony and, 45t
Index

attachment phase development and, 151–152 behavioral patterns with, 152, 153f, 154, 154f, 159–161, 160f, 168 psychomotor development and, 161–162, 163t separation from, behavior during and after, 156, 157t, 158 time spent with, 145
Suffering, attachment theory applied to, 10
Supportive attachment, in adolescent-mother pairs, 330t, 331–333, 336, 337, 341, 342f Survival, threats to See Child abuse and neglect; Danger
Swedish culture, attachment and, 75–96, 372–375
Synchrony, parent-child in day-care setting, 38–60
Italian culture effects on, 39
method of study, 40–44
population included in, 40–41 procedures for, 41–42
results of study, 44–57
behavior with peers, 52, 53t, 54t, 55, 56t, 58–60 child age, 44, 45t–46t, 57
demographic variable effects, 44, 45t–46t dyadic, 44, 47, 47t–48t, 57–58
parental representation, 47, 49–51, 50t, 51f, 57 reunion after day care, 55, 57, 57t, 58 statistical analysis for, 44 variables in, 42–44
dispositional representations and, 220

Teaching See Education
Threat, of danger See Danger Toddlers attachment in adolescence attachment and, 277–299 changes in, in German culture, 251–276 depression effects on See Depression
developmental changes in, 349, 350f
dispositional representations and, 214–233
in institutions See Institutionalization parental play interactions and, role influences on, in German culture, 13–37 parent synchrony effects on, in day-care setting, 38–60
in twins See Twins
danger to, 346
Toys
Egyptian children play with, 111
institutionalized Polish children play with, 144, 152, 153f play patterns with, post-adoption, 182–184
teaching, German emphasis on, 15 Turkish culture, attachment and, 15
Twins, attachment in, 125–140, 242–243 assessment of, 131–132
characteristics of, 125–127
communication with, 125–126
cumulative risk and, 136, 137t, 138, 138t dark winters and, 129, 133, 135, 135t, 136t, 139 developmental problems of, 125–127
in Finnish culture, 127–130
gender differences in, 132–138, 133t independence and, 127–128, 138, 237
method of study, 130–132
parental preference in, 135–156, 137t, 159 prematurity and, 133, 134t, 139
vs. singletons, 132–133, 132t, 133t, 138–139
study results of, 132–138
Type A attachment See Avoidant (type A) attachment Type A/C attachment
in adolescents, 351
contexts producing, 244–245
Index

Type A/C attachment (continued)
in day care, maturational changes, 260t
in depression, 202
Type B attachment See Secure (type B) attachment Type C attachment See Coercive (type C) attachment Type D (disorganized-disoriented) attachment See Disorganized-disoriented attachment Unpredictability, attachment pattern effects of, 355
Visual perception disturbances, in institutionalized Polish children, 149, 159, 160t, 165

Vygotskijan framework, for mother-child communication, 63

Warmth, in depression, 199
Warsaw Medical Academy, Department of Social Pediatrics, children institutionalized in, 143–145 Withdrawal behavior, in four-year-old Swedish children, 88t, 90t Working memory, dispositional representation and, 216–217, 222–223
Working Model of the Child Interview (global features), in parent-child synchrony study, 43, 49, 50t