

CONTENTS

| Texts and Acknowledgments | page xi |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| Introduction | 1 |
| 1 Enlightenment's Shadows | 1 |
| 2 Enlightenment and Counter-Enlightenment in the Work of Adam Smith | 7 |
| 3 Philosophy, Rhetoric, and Enlightenment | 21 |
| 4 Reading Smith: Interpretive Assumptions | 26 |
| 5 The Unity of Smith's Thought, and the Projected Corpus | 29 |
| 1 Rhetoric, Method, and System in The Theory of Moral Sentiments | 40 |
| 1 The Starting Point of Ethical Inquiry | 44 |
| 2 Rhetoric, the Protreptic "We," and the Dangers of Theory | 48 |
| 3 Rhetoric, Examples, and Narrative | 59 |
| 4 Criticism, Grammar, and the Theater | 63 |
| 5 Method, System, and Conversation | 70 |
| 2 Sympathy and Selfishness, Imagination and Self | 76 |
| 1 Preliminary Orientation: Selfishness, Conflict, and Sympathy | 78 |

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-62127-4 - Adam Smith and the Virtues of Enlightenment

Charles L. Griswold

Table of Contents

More information

viii

CONTENTS

| | | |
|---|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 2 | Sympathy, Separateness, Self-Love, and Spectatorial Imagination | 83 |
| 3 | Digression: Sympathy, Authenticity, and Social Fragmentation | 96 |
| 4 | From Love to Death: Sympathy's Reach and the Ideal Unity | 99 |
| 5 | Spectatorship, Mirroring, and Duality of Self | 104 |
| 6 | The Pathos of Solitude and the Beauty of Sympathy | 109 |
| 3 | The Passions, Pleasure, and the Impartial Spectator | 113 |
| 1 | The Passions, Imagination, and the Corruption of Pleasure | 114 |
| 2 | The Impartial Spectator and the Love of Virtue | 129 |
| 4 | Philosophy and Skepticism | 147 |
| 1 | Love and Philosophy in the Theatrum Mundi | 148 |
| 2 | Smith and Skepticism | 155 |
| 3 | Rhetoric and the Separation of Theory and Practice | 173 |
| 5 | The Theory of Virtue | 179 |
| 1 | Virtuous Emotions | 181 |
| 2 | Judgment, Rules, and Moral Criticism | 185 |
| 3 | Excellences of Character: Self-Command, Prudence, and Benevolence | 202 |
| 4 | Moral Education | 210 |
| 5 | Virtue, the Pursuit of Happiness, and the Tranquillity of the Stoic Sage | 217 |
| 6 | Justice | 228 |
| 1 | Noble Resentment and Commutative Justice | 231 |
| 2 | The "Irregularity" of the Moral Sentiments, and Moral Luck | 240 |
| 3 | Justice and Philosophy | 244 |
| 4 | Distributive Justice | 249 |
| 5 | Natural Jurisprudence: Unfinished Business | 256 |
| 7 | The Moral Sentiments and The Wealth of Nations | 259 |
| 1 | The "Corruption" of the Moral Sentiments and the "Deception" of the Imagination | 262 |
| 2 | Religion and the Virtues of Liberty | 266 |

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-62127-4 - Adam Smith and the Virtues of Enlightenment

Charles L. Griswold

Table of Contents

More information

| CONTENTS | ix |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 3 Moral Capital, Corruption, and Commerce | 292 |
| 4 Imperfection and Utopianism in Politics and Political Philosophy | 301 |
| 8 Philosophy, Imagination, and the Fragility of Beauty: On Reconciliation with Nature | 311 |
| 1 The Nature of Nature | 311 |
| 2 Living in Accordance with Nature: Smith's Critique of Stoicism | 317 |
| 3 Natural Conflict and Humanizing Intervention | 324 |
| 4 Smith's Anti-Platonic Aesthetics: Harmony, Beauty, Purposiveness | 330 |
| 5 Imagination, Poiesis , and Self-Empowerment | 336 |
| 6 Philosophy and the Elusive Tranquillity of Reconciliation | 344 |
| 7 Convention and History | 349 |
| Epilogue | 355 |
| Bibliography | 377 |
| Index | 401 |