More information
I'd like to thank everyone whose hard work, fresh ideas, helpful comments and criticisms have enhanced this book immensely:

The following teachers reported on their experiences of using the first edition:

Dolly Irani in France   Chrysovali Georgoulou & Fotini Petrou in Greece   Andrea Marschalek in Hungary   Bernardo Santoro Moreno in Spain   Anna Kibort in Poland   Peter Tomkin in the UK

Alison McCabe advised me on the Reading paper of the CAE exam.

The following teachers reported on the new material as it was being written:

Christa Kochuyt Temple in Belgium   Katherine Spence in France   Philip Devlin, Ines Lause & Caroline Mears in Germany   Andrea Marschalek in Hungary   David Massey & Mary Nava in Italy   Karina Schymik & Tadeusz Z. Wolanski in Poland   Teresa Corchado in Spain   Sue Gosling, Nick Kenny, Patricia O’Sullivan, Peter Watkins & Martin Wilson in the UK

Liz Sharman set the ball rolling. Charlotte Adams took over and continued to give her encouragement and support, with help from Niki Browne.

Alison Silver edited the book and guided the project efficiently through to publication. I’m very grateful for her insights and meticulous attention to detail. It was, as ever, a pleasure to work with her.

Hilary Fletcher researched the photographs.

Michelle Uniacke Gibson was responsible for text permission.

Celia Witchard did the illustrations.

Ruth Carim was the proofreader.

Paul Wilson of Sage Associates designed the book with the help of Gecko Limited.

Susie Fairfax organised the Interviews and asked all the right questions.

James Richardson produced the recordings. Andy Taylor was the engineer at Studio AVP.

Sue Gosling wrote the Model versions for the Teacher’s Book.

The author and publishers are grateful to The Guardian for permission to reproduce the article on page 141. We have been unable to trace the copyright owner of the image on page 141 and would be grateful for any information to enable us to do so.

From the first edition

First of all, I’d like to say how grateful I am to:

Jeanne McCarten for her inexhaustible patience, support and encouragement throughout my work on this book, Alison Silver for her friendly editorial expertise, Peter Ducker for the design of the book, and Peter Taylor and Studio AVP for producing the recordings.

Thanks very much also to the following teachers who used the pilot edition with their classes and contributed detailed comments on it and who evaluated and reported on subsequent revised units. Without their help, this book could not have been written:

Pat Biagi, Christ Church College ELTU, Canterbury   Jenny Bradshaw   Sylvie Dawid, Beverly Langsch and Monty Sufcin, Migras Club School, Berne   George Drivas, Morakis School, Athens   Tim Eyres, Godmer House, Oxford   David Gray, Amanda Hammersley, British School of Monza, Italy   Chris Higgins and staff, Teach in Language and Training Workshop, Rome   Tom Hinton, Roger Hunt, International House, Madrid   Ruth Jimack   Christine Margittai, Laura Matthews, Newnham Language Centre, Cambridge   Joy Morris and staff, British Institute, Barcelona   Jill Mountain and staff, British Institute, Rome   Julia Napier, Patricia Pringle, Université Ill. Lyon   Lesley Porte and Diann Gruber, ESIEE, Paris   Rachelle Porteous, London School of English   Tom Sagar and colleagues, Collège Rousseau, Geneva   Katy Shaw and colleagues, Eurocentre, Lee Green   Elizabeth Sim and staff, Eurocentre, Cambridge   Lynda Taylor   Kit Woods

Finally, thanks to Sue, Zoë and Thomas for everything.
