

CONTENTS

Preface	xi
1 Introduction: The Costs of Corruption	1
Part I Corruption as an Economic Problem	7
2 The Economic Impact of Corruption	9
Payments that Equate Supply and Demand	10
Bribes as Incentive Payments for Bureaucrats	15
Bribes to Reduce Costs	18
Organized Crime and Corruption	23
Conclusions	25
3 Corruption of High-Level Officials	27
Payments to Obtain Major Contracts and Concessions	27
Privatization	35
Conclusions	38
4 Reducing Incentives and Increasing Costs	39
Program Elimination	39
Establishing a Credible Privatization Process	42
Reform of Public Programs	44
Competitive Pressures in Administration	49
The Deterrent Effect of Anticorruption Laws	52
Procurement Reform	59
Conclusions	68
	vii

Contents	viii
5 Reform of the Civil Service	69
Pay Reform	71
Conflicts of Interest	75
Carrots and Sticks	78
Corruption in Hierarchies	82
The Rediscovery of Contract	84
Conclusions	87
Part II Corruption as a Cultural Problem	89
6 Bribes, Patronage, and Gift Giving	91
Bribes, Gifts, Prices, and Tips	92
The Similarity of Bribes and Gifts	96
Patronage, Gift Giving, and Economic Development	104
Conclusions	110
Part III Corruption as a Political Problem	111
7 Corruption and Politics	113
Kleptocracy	114
Bilateral Monopolies and Mafia-Dominated States	121
Competitive Bribery	124
Conclusions	125
8 Democracy and Corruption: Incentives and Reforms	127
Electoral Systems	127
Buying Political Influence and Buying Votes	132
Conclusions	142
9 Controlling Political Power	143
Checks and Balances in the Legislative Process	144
Accountable Implementation	146
Federalism: Exit and Voice	149
Independent Judicial and Prosecutorial Institutions	151
Openness and Accountability	162
Conclusions	174
Part IV Achieving Reform	175
10 The Role of the International Community	177
Controlling Corruption in Development Projects	179

Contents	ix
Supporting Reform	182
Limiting Corruption in International Business	185
Controlling Money Laundering and International Criminal Enterprise	190
New International Institutions	193
Conclusions: Policy Fads and Policy Reforms	196
11 Domestic Conditions for Reform	198
Political Structure and Reform	199
Scandal and Crisis as Catalysts	209
Natural Resource Wealth and Foreign Aid	213
Demands for Reform	215
Sustaining Reform	219
Conclusions	222
12 Conclusions	225
References	230
Name Index	253
Subject Index	259