

Contents

Foreword: Legislatures in the Constitutional State by Amy Gutmann	page ix
Contributors	xv
New Ways of Looking at Old Institutions	1
Richard W. Bauman and Tsvi Kahana
PART ONE. LEGISLATURES AND DEMOCRATIC THEORY
1 Principles of Legislation	15
Jeremy Waldron
2 An Exact Epitome of the People	33
Russell Hardin
3 Political Accountability, Proxy Accountability, and the Democratic Legitimacy of Legislatures	45
Jane S. Schacter
4 Constitutionalism, Trade Legislation, and “Democracy”	76
Chantal Thomas
PART TWO. LEGISLATING AND DELIBERATING IN THE DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATURE
5 Legislative Judgment and the Enlarged Mentality: Taking Religious Perspectives	93
Jennifer Nedelsky
6 Should We Value Legislative Integrity?	125
Andrei Marmor
7 Nondelegation Principles	139
Cass R. Sunstein
8 Vox Populi: Populism, the Legislative Process, and the Canadian Constitution	155
Harry Arthurs

vi	Contents
PART THREE. CONSTITUTION MAKING BY LEGISLATURES: THE EXPLICIT VERSION
9	Legislatures as Constituent Assemblies 181 Jon Elster
10	Legislatures and the Phases and Components of Constitutionalism 198 Ruth Gavison
11	Legislatures and Constitutional Agnosticism 214 Patricia Hughes
12	Constitutional Amendments and the Constitutional Common Law 229 Adrian Vermeule
PART FOUR. CONSTITUTION MAKING BY LEGISLATURES: THE IMPLICIT VERSION
13	What Do Constitutions Do That Statutes Don't (Legally Speaking)? 273 Frank I. Michelman
14	Conditions for Framework Legislation 294 Elizabeth Garrett
15	Super-Statutes: The New American Constitutionalism 320 William N. Eskridge, Jr., and John Ferejohn
PART FIVE. CONSTITUTIONAL INTERPRETATION AND APPLICATION BY THE LEGISLATURE
16	Interpretation in Legislatures and Courts: Incentives and Institutional Design 355 Mark Tushnet
17	Constitutional Engagement "Outside the Courts" (and "Inside the Legislature"): Reflections on Professional Expertise and the Ability to Engage in Constitutional Interpretation 378 Sanford Levinson
18	Legislatures as Constitutional Interpretation: Another Dialogue 385 Andrée Lajoie, Cécile Bergada, and Éric Gélneau
19	The Constitution and Congressional Committees: 1971–2000 396 Keith E. Whittington, Neal Devins, and Hutch Hicken
PART SIX. IS LEGISLATIVE CONSTITUTIONALISM POSSIBLE?
20	Democratic Decision Making as the First Principle of Contemporary Constitutionalism 411 Jeremy Webber

Contents	vii
21 Legislative Constitutionalism in a System of Judicial Supremacy	431
Daniel A. Farber
22 Between Supremacy and Exclusivity	452
Owen Fiss
23 Legislatures as Rule-Followers	468
Frederick Schauer
24 Popular Revolution or Popular Constitutionalism? Reflections on the Constitutional Politics of Quebec Secession	480
Sujit Choudhry
PART SEVEN. THE LEGISLATURE IN DIALOGUE: DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL CONTEXTS
25 Disobeying Parliament? Privative Clauses and the Rule of Law	499
David Dyzenhaus
26 Look Who's Talking Now: Dialogue Theory and the Return to Democracy	519
Andrew Petter
27 An International Community of Legislatures?	532
Daphne Barak-Erez
28 Legislatures in Dialogue with One Another: Dissent, Decisions, and the Global Polity	547
Heather K. Gerken
Index	567