There is no greater skill for a law student than constructing a logical and compelling argument. The Art of Argument: A Guide to Mooting guides the reader through the process of developing, presenting and defending a convincing argument in an international moot- ing competition – a setting where students from around the world come together to argue a hypothetical case and hone their skills as advocates.

The book explains the secrets of success in mooting, in a simple, step-by-step style. It describes:

- what to do when you first get the moot problem
- how to begin researching the subject matter
- how to build an argument
- how to present written and oral submissions
- the value of practice moots
- how to handle yourself at the competition.

This book is primarily aimed at students who are preparing to participate in an international mooting competition. However, other students will find the techniques applicable in all areas of their study and exam preparation, and coaches of moot teams will find it an invaluable source of hints, tips and useful advice.

Christopher Kee is a lecturer in law at Deakin University, with a private practice in the field of arbitration. He has an extra-ordinary record of success as a participant and coach in domestic and international moot teams.
The Art of Argument
A Guide to Mooting

Christopher Kee
Contents

Preface xi
Acknowledgments xv

Part 1: Making the most of a moot

1 Introduction 3
   What is mooting? 3
   Why join a moot team? 4
      Job opportunities 4
      Team work 4
      Intensive training 5
      International travel 5
      New perspectives 5
   How to use this book 6

2 You’ve made the team – what next? 7
   Before you begin 7
      Timing and commitment 7
      What about money? 8
   The moot problem 10
      Read the problem 10
      Read the rules of the competition 10
   Asking for help 11
   Setting deadlines 12

3 Being part of a team 13
   The keys to a successful team 13
      Attitude 13
      Identify strengths and weaknesses in the team 13
Contents

Dealing with a crisis of confidence 14
Maintaining trust 15
Do you need to be friends? 16

4 Building an argument 18
The basic steps 18
Step 1 – Read the facts and decide instinctively who should win 18
Step 2 – Identify who you are representing 19
Step 3 – Compile a list of arguments 20
Step 4 – Imagine you represent the other side 20
Step 5 – Repeat steps 3 and 4 at least five times 21

5 Written documents 23
Memoranda and memorials 23
The tips and tricks of writing 24
Knowing your purpose and your audience 24
Setting up your document 26
Referencing 29
Writing style 34
Presenting information to the team scribes 35
Structuring your document 36
Basic rules of writing 39
Editing 44
The second document 46
Preparing a genuine response 46
The outline of submissions 49
The casebook 50

6 Oral submissions 52
How to structure an oral submission 54
Making a start 54
Dealing with the expectations of moot masters 55
Creating a persuasive case 56
Handling questions 60
Responding to a submission 69
Presenting an oral submission 71
Preparation 72
Physical appearance 72
Contents

Time keeping 73
Opening formalities 74
Using case materials 77
Voice and delivery 79
Body language 82
Speaking from notes 83
Building rapport with the moot master 87
Know how the moot is to be run 89
Dealing with mistakes 92
Continue the team work 92

7 Practice moots 94
When to start doing practice moots 94
Who can be a practice moot master? 95
Variety is key 95
Using experienced moot masters 96
Making the most of practice moots 97
Record the moot 98
Inter-varsity practice moots 98

8 The competition itself 100
Getting there 100
During the competition 102
What to do when you are not mooting 104

9 After it's all over 106
Make the most of your opportunities 106
Help subsequent teams 107

Part 2: References and resources

Competition specific/mooting skills 111
Legal writing and research 112
International commercial arbitration 113
International Court of Justice 115
International commercial law 115
Intellectual property 119
International law (general) 121
Humanitarian law/armed intervention 122
Environmental law 123
Maritime law 124
Contents

Part 3: International moots

Willem C Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot 129
Willem C Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot (East) 132
Philip C Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition 134
Annual International Inter-university Intellectual Property Moot at Oxford 136
International Maritime Moot 139
The Telders International Law Moot Court Competition 141
Jean Pictet Competition 142
ELSA Moot Court Competition EMC2 144
Manfred Lachs Space Law Moot Court Competition 144

Index 146
Every book has a purpose and this one is no different. This book is primarily aimed at students who are interested in participating in an international mooting competition. However, many of the strategies outlined in the book apply also to domestic moots, as well as to general preparation for exams and assignments. Many coaches of moot teams will find the tips suggested in this book to be extremely helpful in achieving success for their team.

The book is based on the fundamental premise that mooting, and in particular mooting at international competitions, should be fun. The fact that you are participating in a competition is simply the framework that will enable you to have fun. Winning the competition should not be your ultimate goal. Winning is certainly a worthy goal and achievement. However, the knowledge and experience you acquire along the way, and the lifelong friends you will make, are ultimately worth more than your name on a trophy.

In 1999 I was part of the Deakin University team that participated in and won the oral hearings of the Willem C Vis International Arbitration Moot held in Vienna, Austria. I have also coached teams to success in other moot competitions. At the inaugural Madhav Rao Scindia International Moot Court Competition, hosted by the University of Delhi, my students won three of the four prizes on offer, including winning the moot itself. In addition, my students have won numerous individual awards. So when you read this book be assured that it is written from experience. I understand intimately the process you are about to embark upon. I have been through the emotional highs and lows, and I know how to win.

This book is written in a style that is designed to speak to you. It is both informal and informative. It is not a stuffy legal text that spouts rules of law that you must obey. On the contrary, this book encourages you to be creative, and to think about issues in new ways. It is a “how to” book that concentrates on practical aspects of mooting to assist you through the process; its focus is not the law that may sometimes weigh heavily on your shoulders.

I want to share my secrets of success because I do not believe they should be secrets. Mooting is a very worthwhile educative tool. Through the process of mooting you learn how to construct analytical arguments, to present your point logically and soundly, and to consider and address the queries and concerns of your opponent and the moot master. For a law student there is no greater skill than constructing a logical and compelling argument. High-level international moot competitions are probably the closest you will get to a real legal case, while you are still a student. By this I mean a case that you are responsible for: a case where you are the advocate, and where your client’s future depends on your ability to argue.

International moots serve an even greater purpose. By their very nature, international moot competitions are examples of disputes that are solved in a peaceful and non-violent manner. At a time in history we may come to remember for its acts of horrific violence and its “war on terror”, it is comforting to know that some disputes can still be resolved amicably and reasonably. With all this in mind, I wish you good luck as you embark upon your journey. I know that you will find this book useful, and I ask that you never forget the most important piece of advice I can give you – have fun!
Acknowledgments

There are many people who deserve recognition and thanks, because without their assistance this book would not have been written: Jill Henry at Cambridge University Press, who patiently guided me through this process; Catherine Ng, who provided nearly all the references and annotations relating to intellectual property; Professor Eric Bergsten, Louise Barrington and Michael Peil, who are directors of the Vis Moot, Vis Moot (East) and Jessup Moot respectively; my moot teams, who perhaps without realising it, identified many of the areas I have written on; and my colleagues at Keelins and Deakin who manage to put up with me. Particular thanks must be given to my parents, Kevin and Patricia Kee, and my brother Michael Kee. My family has been a great source of support and inspiration, not to mention proofreaders. The last thank you is the most important. Professor Jeff Waincymer was my coach when I participated in the Vis Moot. It was he who taught me the secrets of success. I attribute many of the things I have achieved in my professional career to my participation in the moot. I will be forever grateful for all that he taught me.

Christopher Kee
Lecturer, School of Law, Deakin University