

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76048-5 - The Concept of Non-International Armed Conflict in International Humanitarian Law

Anthony Cullen

Table of Contents

More information

Contents

Acknowledgements	page ix
Abbreviations	x
Introduction	1
PART I Origins of the non-international armed conflict concept and its development in international humanitarian law	5
1 The application of international humanitarian norms to internal conflict prior to the Geneva Conventions of 1949	7
1.1 The practice of recognition and the application of humanitarian norms in traditional international law	7
1.2 The non-application of the laws of war to situations of rebellion	8
1.3 The concept of insurgency	10
1.4 The recognition of belligerency and the application of international humanitarian norms in civil war	14
1.4.1 The practice of belligerent recognition	14
1.4.2 The legal personality of belligerents in civil war	18
1.4.3 Conditions determining belligerent recognition	19
1.4.4 Problems in the interpretation of belligerency	20
1.4.5 The substitution of 'armed conflict' for 'war'	21
1.4.6 The decline of belligerency as a doctrine of international law	22
1.5 Concluding observations	23

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76048-5 - The Concept of Non-International Armed Conflict in International Humanitarian Law

Anthony Cullen

Table of Contents

More information

vi	CONTENTS
2	Article 3 common to the four Geneva Conventions of 1949 and the threshold of non-international armed conflict in international humanitarian law	25
2.1	The drafting history of common Article 3	27
2.1.1	Interpretation of 'armed conflict not of an international character' at the Geneva Conference of 1949	29
2.1.2	Report of the Joint Committee to the Plenary Assembly of the Diplomatic Conference	42
2.1.3	Plenary debate on the application of the Conventions to armed conflicts not of an international character	44
2.1.4	Comments on the intended scope of common Article 3	49
2.2	The ICRC Commentary on common Article 3	51
2.3	State practice relating to the applicability of common Article 3	55
2.4	Concluding observations	59
3	Changes in the scope of non-international armed conflict resulting from the Additional Protocols of 1977	62
3.1	Additional Protocol I	63
3.1.1	The drafting history of Article 1(4)	66
3.1.2	The customary status of wars of national liberation	81
3.1.3	The applicability of Article 1(4)	83
3.2	Additional Protocol II	86
3.2.1	The drafting history of Additional Protocol II	88
3.2.2	The threshold for the application of Additional Protocol II	102
3.2.3	Applicability of Additional Protocol II	109
3.3	Concluding observations	113
	PART II The anatomy of non-international armed conflict in international humanitarian law	115
4	The threshold of non-international armed conflict	117
4.1	Tadić : a formula for the characterisation of armed conflict	117

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76048-5 - The Concept of Non-International Armed Conflict in International Humanitarian Law

Anthony Cullen

Table of Contents

More information

CONTENTS vii

4.1.1	Two aspects of non-international armed conflict determining the applicability of international humanitarian law: the organisation of insurgents and the intensity of hostilities	122
4.1.2	Application of the Tadić formula for the characterisation of armed conflict	133
4.2	The geographical scope of non-international armed conflict	140
4.3	The temporal scope of non-international armed conflict	142
4.4	The existence of armed conflict between non-state actors	146
4.5	The question of responsible command	148
4.5.1	Does the concept of non-international armed conflict presuppose the existence of responsible command?	148
4.5.2	The existence of responsible command as a condition for the characterisation of armed conflict: Prosecutor v. Hadžihasanović	150
4.5.3	Responsible command as a condition for the characterisation of non-international armed conflict in international humanitarian law	155
4.6	Concluding observations	157
5	The concept of non-international armed conflict in the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court	159
5.1	The question of subject-matter jurisdiction over war crimes in non-international armed conflicts prior to the Rome Conference	160
5.2	The question of subject-matter jurisdiction over war crimes in non-international armed conflicts at the Rome Conference	163
5.2.1	Report of the Preparatory Committee on the Establishment of an International Criminal Court	163
5.2.2	Views of delegations on inclusion of clauses relating to non-international armed conflict	165
5.2.3	Bridging the gap: proposals for a threshold for non-international armed conflict	167

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76048-5 - The Concept of Non-International Armed Conflict in International Humanitarian Law

Anthony Cullen

Table of Contents

More information

viii CONTENTS

5.3	Interpreting the threshold contained in Article 8(2)(f)	174
5.3.1	The meaning of the threshold intended by the Rome Conference	175
5.3.2	Textual interpretation of Article 8(2)(f)	177
5.3.3	The customary status of provisions relating to non-international armed conflict and the interpretation of the threshold contained in Article 8(2)(f)	183
5.4	Concluding observations	185
6	Conclusion	186
6.1	On the interpretation of non-international armed conflict	189
6.2	On the significance of the Tadić definition	190
6.3	The characterisation of non-international armed conflict and its effect on the legal status of parties	192
	Bibliography	194
	Index	212