Contents

"List of Figures" page ix

Acknowledgments xi

Glossary and Abbreviations xiii

Introduction 1

The Nazi Economic Recovery: A Brief Overview 10

Organizing Concepts and Chapter Overviews 17

1 National Socialism and the Market 22

The Nazi Marketplace 24

Visions of Consumption 34

Legislating Commercial Morality 42

Brand Names and the Quality Ethos 53

2 Commerce for the Community: Advertising, Marketing, and Public Relations in Hitler’s Germany 63

Advertising as Business Practice and Ideological Showpiece 64

Beyond the Ad: Marketing, Public Relations, and the Pragmatics of Selling 75

Private Satisfaction, Public Good, and Profit: Opportunities and Tensions in the Racial State 93

A Case Study in Ideological Marketing: Ludwig Roselius and Kaffee HAG 104

3 Rotary Clubs, Consumption, and the Nazis’ Achievement Community 118

Rotary in the Third Reich 120

Rotary and the Nazi Leistungsgemeinschaft 126

Rotarians, Marketing, and Mass Consumption 133

Confronting the United States 141
Contents

4 Finding the “Voice of the Consumer”: The Society for Consumer Research in the 1930s
   William Vershofen and the Origins of German Consumer Research 153
   The Founding of the Society for Consumer Research 155
   Smoking, Fashion, and Gender 165
   The Consumer, the Human Being, and Psychological Motivation 171
   The GfK and the United States 178

5 World War II and the Virtuous Marketplace 191
   Consumption During the War 192
   Competition and Marketing in Wartime Germany 197
   Market Research During the War 210
   The GfK and Nazi Imperialism 219
   Conclusion 231

Archival Sources and Bibliography 245
Index 265