

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76475-9 - Capital Accumulation and Economic Growth in a Small Open Economy

Stephen J. Turnovsky

Index

More information

Index

- accumulation of capital 14, 15, 17
 - economic growth and 2, 3, 4
 - foreign aid model 166, 167, 198
 - non-scale growth models 136, 140
 - two-sector growth models 108, 118–24
- Acemoglu, D. 221
- adjustment
 - costs
 - endogenous growth models 21
 - non-scale growth models 136
 - open economy model 15
 - public and private capital 92
 - two-sector growth models 108
 - speed of 65
 - transitional dynamics and long-run
 - adjustments 71–4
- aid see foreign aid
- AK model 4, 15, 19, 40, 47, 85, 134
 - small open economy fixed-employment AK
 - model 48–9, 61
 - technology 141
- Arrow, K. J. 85
- Aschauer, D. A. 85, 86
- asset dynamics in two-sector growth models
 - 118–24
- balanced growth 14, 65
 - non-scale growth models 133, 134
- Balassa, B. 105
- Bardhan, P. K. 66
- Barro, R. J. 30, 41, 87, 99, 101
- basic growth model 39–41, 61–2
 - central planning see centrally planned
 - economy
 - compared with closed endogenous labor
 - supply model 50, 61
 - compared with small open economy fixed-
 - employment AK model 48–9, 61
- decentralized economy see decentralization
- equilibrium 24–6
 - taxes and growth 26–7
 - taxes and welfare 27–8
 - wasted tax revenues 28–30
- general production function 35–6
- general utility specification 36–8
- optimal fiscal policy 33–5, 40, 57–60
- optimal government expenditure 50
- productive government expenditure 29, 42,
 - 85
- Barro model 30–3, 41
 - optimal fiscal policy 33–5, 40
- small open economy model see open
 - economy model
- Baxter, M. 86
- Bhagwati, J. N. 162
- Brock, P. L. 106
- budget constraints 67
- Burmeister, E. 2
- Burnside, C. 163, 217
- business cycles 86
- capital
 - accumulation 14, 15, 17
 - economic growth and 2, 3, 4
 - foreign aid model 166, 167, 198
 - non-scale growth models 136, 140
 - two-sector growth models 108, 118–24
 - depreciation 88
 - endogenous growth models 20, 21
 - installation costs 88
 - markets
 - non-scale growth models 139

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76475-9 - Capital Accumulation and Economic Growth in a Small Open Economy

Stephen J. Turnovsky

Index

More information

236

Index

- capital (cont.)
 - upward sloping supply curve of debt see upward sloping supply curve of debt
 - price of 140
 - productivity 19
 - public and private capital 85–6, 102
 - analytical framework 86–90
 - dynamics of production 91–4
 - equilibrium dynamics 94–5
 - equilibrium growth 90–1
 - optimal fiscal policy 99–102
 - steady-state fiscal effects 95–6
 - transitional dynamics 98
 - taxation on capital income 54–5, 77, 82, 96, 98, 100, 102
 - two-sector growth models 107
 - asset dynamics 118–24
 - price dynamics 113–18
 - static allocation conditions 112–13
- centrally planned economy 41–5
 - equilibrium 45, 79, 80
 - replication of first-best optimum steady state 80–2
 - replication of first-best optimum transition path 82–4
 - transitional dynamics 78–80
- Chatterjee, S. 86
- Chung, K. 66
- Cobb–Douglas production function 42, 87, 134
- compound interest 1
- congestion 87, 101
 - tax policy and 31, 34
- consumption 38
 - endogenous growth models 20
 - foreign aid model 166
 - non-scale growth models 136, 139, 144
 - open economy model 14, 16, 17, 25
 - small open economy fixed-employment AK model 48
 - taxation 29
 - taxation on 57
 - two-sector growth models 111, 128
- convergence
 - convergence hypothesis 3
 - speed of 65
- corruption 221
- debt
 - foreign aid model 166
 - non-scale growth models 142, 148, 152, 168, 169
 - taxation 82, 84, 152
 - upward sloping supply curve see upward sloping supply curve of debt
- decentralization 33, 50–2, 62
 - fiscal shocks 54
 - increase in government expenditure 55
 - tax on capital income 54–5
 - tax on interest income 56–7
 - tax on wages and consumption 57
- macroeconomic equilibrium 52–4
- public and private capital 85–6, 102
 - analytical framework 86–90
 - dynamics of production 91–4
 - equilibrium dynamics 94–5
 - equilibrium growth 90–1
 - optimal fiscal policy 99–102
 - steady-state fiscal effects 95–6
 - transitional dynamics 98
- replication of first-best optimum steady state 80–2
- replication of first-best optimum transition path 82–4
- demographics see population growth
- dependent economy model 105–7
- depreciation of capital 88
- Devarajan, S. 86
- developing countries 66, 77, 84
 - aid programs see foreign aid
- development aid see foreign aid
- distribution of income 3
- disturbances see shocks
- Dobell, A. R. 2
- Dollar, D. 163, 217
- Domar, E. 4
- Dutch disease 104
- dynamics
 - asset dynamics in two-sector growth models 118–24
 - dependent economy model 106
 - equilibrium dynamics 94–5, 172–3
 - foreign aid model 172–3, 200–3
 - permanent increase in flow of foreign aid 203–4
 - non-scale growth models 138
 - accumulation of foreign debt 142
 - capital and the price of capital 140
 - consumption dynamics 139
 - price dynamics in two-sector growth models 113–18
 - of production 91–4
 - transitional see transitional dynamics

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76475-9 - Capital Accumulation and Economic Growth in a Small Open Economy

Stephen J. Turnovsky

Index

More informationIndex

237

- Eaton, J. 66
- economic growth 1
 - scope of lectures 5–9
 - theories and models 1–5
 - see also* individual models
- economic planning see centrally planned economy
- economic policies
 - economic growth and 2
 - see also* fiscal policy
- elastic labor supply 154
 - macroeconomic equilibrium 155
- elasticity of substitution in production versus flexibility in labor supply 208–11
- elites 221
- endogenous growth models 2, 4, 18–19, 39, 61, 103, 133
 - dependent economy model 105–7
 - inelastic labor supply 19–24, 67
 - transitional dynamics and see transitional dynamics
 - two-sector 105
- endogenous labor supply 39–41, 50, 61
- equilibrium
 - balanced growth 133, 134
 - centrally planned economy 45, 79, 80
 - decentralized economy 52–4
 - disturbances see shocks
 - dynamics 94–5
 - equilibrium growth 3, 15, 20, 35, 46
 - public and private capital 90–1
 - foreign aid model
 - derivation of equilibrium relationships 222–4
 - equilibrium dynamics 172–3
 - macroeconomic equilibrium 169–70, 198–200
 - steady-state equilibrium 171–2, 224–5
 - non-scale growth models 141, 142, 146, 155
 - open economy model 24–6
 - taxes and growth 26–7
 - taxes and welfare 27–8
 - wasted tax revenues 28–30
 - public and private capital 89, 94–5
 - transitional dynamics and 70, 71–4
 - two-sector growth models 111
 - asset dynamics 118–24
 - price dynamics 113–18
 - static allocation conditions 112–13
 - see also* steady state
- European Union (EU)
 - aid programs 161, 179, 192
 - expansion 161
- exogenous growth models 2, 133
- fiscal effects
 - foreign aid 217–20
 - growth-maximizing fiscal response 175–6
 - welfare-maximizing fiscal response 176
 - steady state 95–6
- fiscal policy 40
 - optimal 33–5, 40, 57–60, 99–102
- fiscal shocks 54
 - foreign aid model 173–5
 - increase in government expenditure 55
 - tax on capital income 54–5
 - tax on interest income 56–7
 - tax on wages and consumption 57
- Fischer, S. 106
- Fisher, W. H. 86
- foreign aid 161–5, 195, 221–2
 - analytical framework 165
 - equilibrium dynamics 172–3
 - macroeconomic equilibrium 169–70
 - private sector 165–7
 - public capital, fiscal transfers and national debt 167
 - steady-state equilibrium 171–2, 224–5
 - dynamic effects 200–3
 - permanent increase in flow of foreign aid 203–4
 - generalization of model 196–8
 - government fiscal balance and 217–20
 - long-run effects of transfers and fiscal shocks 173–5
 - macroeconomic equilibrium 169–70, 198–200
 - derivation 222–4
 - numerical analysis of transitional paths 177–9
 - domestic co-financing and welfare gains 182–4
 - permanent shocks 179–82
 - sensitivity analysis 184–6
 - optimal responses 175
 - growth-maximizing fiscal response 175–6
 - welfare-maximizing fiscal response 176
 - sensitivity analysis 184–6, 208
 - elasticity of substitution in production versus flexibility in labor supply 208–11
 - generalizations of production function 213
 - transitional dynamics 214–17
 - welfare comparisons 211–13

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76475-9 - Capital Accumulation and Economic Growth in a Small Open Economy

Stephen J. Turnovsky

Index

More information

238

Index

- foreign aid (cont.)
 - temporary transfers 186
 - permanent effects of temporary transfer shock 194–5
 - pure transfers 189–90
 - tied transfers 190–3
- tied 162, 163, 164, 190–3, 203–6, 218, 220
- transitional dynamics
 - sensitivity analysis 214–17
 - tied aid 204–6
 - untied aid 206–8
- foreign price shocks in two-sector growth models 127–8
- Frenkel, J. A. 106
- Futagami, K. 86
- Gang, I. N. 163
- Gersovitz, M. 66
- Glomm, G. 86, 101
- government
 - capital 99
 - endogenous growth models 23
 - foreign aid and
 - co-financing of aid programs 182–4
 - consequences for government fiscal balance 217–20
 - increase in government expenditure 55
 - investment 85, 102
 - non-scale growth models 143, 146
 - open economy model 18
 - optimal fiscal policy 33–5, 40, 57–60
 - optimal government expenditure 50, 99
 - productive expenditure 29, 42, 85
 - Barro model 30–3, 41
 - optimal fiscal policy 33–5, 40
 - public and private capital 85–6, 102
 - analytical framework 86–90
 - dynamics of production 91–4
 - equilibrium dynamics 94–5
 - equilibrium growth 90–1
 - optimal fiscal policy 99–102
 - steady-state fiscal effects 95–6
 - transitional dynamics 98
 - see also* taxation
- growth see economic growth
- Harrod, R. F. 4
- Harrod-Domar model 20
- Hoshino, E. 163
- human capital 4
- inelastic labor supply 19–24, 67
- infrastructure investment 161–2, 174
- innovation 3
- installation costs 88
- interest 66, 74, 77
 - compound 1
 - foreign aid model 166
 - foreign price shocks in two-sector growth models and 127–8
 - non-scale growth models 141, 146, 148
 - taxation on interest income 56–7, 96, 98, 102
- interest groups 221
- international linkages 3
- investment 16
 - dependent economy model 106
 - economic growth and 4
 - government 85, 102
 - infrastructure investment 161–2, 174
 - return on 17
 - Tobin q theory 17, 47
- Jones, C. I. 5
- Jones, L. E. 26
- Khan, H. A. 163
- King, R. G. 86
- knowledge 2, 4
- Kurz, M. 85
- labor supply
 - endogenous 39–41, 50, 61
 - exogenous growth models 133
 - foreign aid model 208–11
 - inelastic 19–24, 67
 - non-scale growth models 136, 154
 - macroeconomic equilibrium 155
- Laursen-Metzler effect 36
- Lee, Y. 85
- long-run growth theory 1
- Lucas, R. E. 4, 105
- Manuelli, R. 26
- Morita, Y. 86
- natural resources 104
- non-scale growth models 133, 156
 - aggregate dynamics 138
 - accumulation of foreign debt 142
 - capital and the price of capital 140
 - consumption dynamics 139

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76475-9 - Capital Accumulation and Economic Growth in a Small Open Economy

Stephen J. Turnovsky

Index

More informationIndex

239

- elastic labor supply 154
 - macroeconomic equilibrium 155
- small open economy 136
- upward sloping supply curve of debt 144
 - macrodynamic equilibrium 146
 - transitional dynamics 149
- one-sector models 65–6, 134
 - comparison with basic model 84–5
 - public and private capital 85–6, 98, 102
 - analytical framework 86–90
 - dynamics of production 91–4
 - equilibrium dynamics 94–5
 - equilibrium growth 90–1
 - optimal fiscal policy 99–102
 - steady-state fiscal effects 95–6
 - upward sloping supply curve of debt 66–71, 82, 84
 - centrally planned economy 78–80
 - replication of first-best optimum steady state 80–2
 - replication of first-best optimum transition path 82–4
 - steady-state equilibrium and long-run adjustments 71–4
 - transitional dynamics 74–8
- open economy model 13–18
 - equilibrium 24–6
 - taxes and growth 26–7
 - taxes and welfare 27–8
 - wasted tax revenues 28–30
- non-scale growth models 136, 156
- public and private capital in 86, 103
- small open economy fixed-employment AK model 48–9
- optimality
 - foreign aid model 166, 175, 197
 - growth-maximizing fiscal response 175–6
 - welfare-maximizing fiscal response 176
 - non-scale growth models 146
 - optimal fiscal policy 33–5, 40, 57–60, 99–102
 - optimal government expenditure 50, 99
 - optimal taxation 34–5, 57–60, 80, 81, 82, 100, 101, 102
 - transitional dynamics 68
 - replication of first-best optimum steady state 80–2
 - replication of first-best optimum transition path 82–4
 - two-sector growth models 109, 110
 - planned economy see centrally planned economy
 - population growth 138
 - economic growth and 1, 2, 14
 - Prescott, E. C. 59
 - prices
 - foreign price shocks in two-sector growth models 127–8
 - increase in productivity and 125
 - price dynamics in two-sector growth models 113–18
 - price of capital in non-scale growth models 140
 - private sector in foreign aid model 165–7
 - production functions 35–6
 - Barro model 30–3, 41
 - Cobb-Douglas 42, 87, 134
 - decentralized economy 51
 - endogenous growth models 19
 - foreign aid model 196, 213
 - non-scale growth models 138
 - open economy model 14, 13
 - public and private capital 87
 - two-sector growth models 108
 - productive government expenditure 29, 42, 85
 - Barro model 30–3, 41
 - optimal fiscal policy 33–5, 40
 - productivity
 - capital 19
 - increase in 125–7, 131
 - public and private capital 85–6, 102
 - analytical framework 86–90
 - dynamics of production 91–4
 - equilibrium dynamics 94–5
 - equilibrium growth 90–1
 - optimal fiscal policy 99–102
 - steady-state fiscal effects 95–6
 - transitional dynamics 98
 - public goods 42, 86
 - Ramsey principle of optimal taxation 59
 - Ravikumar, B. 86, 101
 - rent-seeking 221
 - return on investment 17
 - Robinson, J. A. 221
 - Romer, P. M. 2, 4, 13
 - Sachs, J. 66
 - Sala-i-Martin, X. 30, 101
 - Samuelson, P. A. 105

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-76475-9 - Capital Accumulation and Economic Growth in a Small Open Economy

Stephen J. Turnovsky

Index

More information

240

Index

- scale effects 4, 19, 87, 133
- sensitivity analysis
 - foreign aid model 184–6, 208
 - elasticity of substitution in production versus flexibility in labor supply 208–11
 - generalizations of production function 213
 - transitional dynamics 214–17
 - welfare comparisons 211–13
- Shibata, A. 86
- shocks
 - fiscal shocks 54
 - foreign aid model 173–5
 - increase in government expenditure 55
 - tax on capital income 54–5
 - tax on interest income 56–7
 - tax on wages and consumption 57
- permanent shocks 179–82
- two-sector growth models
 - foreign price shocks 127–8
 - increase in productivity 125–7, 131
 - increase in rate of time preferences 125, 129–30
- Solow, R. M. 1, 2, 4
- steady state
 - fiscal effects 95–6
 - foreign aid model 171–2, 224–5
 - non-scale growth models 147
 - replication of first-best optimum steady state 80–2
 - replication of first-best optimum transition path 82–4
 - steady-state equilibrium and long-run adjustments 71–4
- substitution in foreign aid model 208–11
- Swan, T. W. 1, 2, 4
- Takayama, A. 104
- taxation 18, 40, 133
 - on capital income 54–5, 77, 82, 96, 98, 100, 102
 - on debt 82, 84, 152
 - foreign aid model 175–6
 - on interest income 56–7, 96, 98, 102
 - non-scale growth models 149, 152, 154
 - open economy model equilibrium and 26–7
 - wasted tax revenues 28–30
 - welfare and 27–8
 - optimal 34–5, 57–60, 80, 81, 82, 100, 101, 102
 - public and private capital and 86
 - on wages and consumption 57
- technology 3
 - AK model 141
 - economic growth and 2
 - non-scale growth models 134, 141
- terms of trade 104
- time preferences
 - two-sector growth models 125, 129–30
- Tobin q 17, 47
- trade
 - terms of 104
- training 2
- transfer problem 163, 168, 173–5, 179
 - temporary transfers 186
 - permanent effects of temporary transfer shock 194–5
 - pure transfers 189–90
 - tied transfers 190–3
- transitional dynamics 65–6, 74–8
 - centrally planned economy 78–80
 - comparison with basic model 84–5
 - foreign aid model
 - sensitivity analysis 214–17
 - tied aid 204–6
 - untied aid 206–8
 - non-scale growth models 134, 144, 149
 - public and private capital 85–6, 98, 102
 - analytical framework 86–90
 - dynamics of production 91–4
 - equilibrium dynamics 94–5
 - equilibrium growth 90–1
 - optimal fiscal policy 99–102
 - steady-state fiscal effects 95–6
 - replication of first-best optimum steady state 80–2
 - replication of first-best optimum transition path 82–4
 - steady-state equilibrium and long-run adjustments 71–4
 - two-sector growth models 128–31
 - upward sloping supply curve of debt see upward sloping supply curve of debt
- Turnovsky, S. J. 50, 58, 66, 86, 101, 106
- two-sector growth models 104–5, 107–11, 131–2
 - dependent economy model 105–7
 - determination of macroeconomic equilibrium 111
 - asset dynamics 118–24
 - price dynamics 113–18

static allocation conditions 112–13	steady-state equilibrium and long-run structural changes 124–5	adjustments 71–4
foreign price shocks 127–8	transitional dynamics 74–8
increase in productivity 125–7, 131	utility 36–8
increase in rate of time preferences 125, 129–30	foreign aid model 165
transitional dynamics 128–31	non-scale growth models 145
	Uzawa, H. 104
upward sloping supply curve of debt 66–71, 82, 84	wages
centrally planned economy 78–80	taxation on 57
non-scale growth models 144	wasted tax revenues 28–30
macrodynamic equilibrium 146	welfare
transitional dynamics 149	basic growth model 27–8
replication of first-best optimum steady state 80–2	foreign aid model 176, 182–4, 211–13
replication of first-best optimum transition path 82–4	Xie, D. 86
	Zou, H. 86