CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-76523-7 - Cultural Processes: A Social Psychological Perspective
Edited by Angela K. Y. Leung, Chi-yue Chiu and Ying-yi Hong
Index
More information

INDEX

Abilene Paradox, 201–203
acculturation studies
  Asian students, 87–88
  Croatian immigrants, 87
  Polish immigrants, 87
action-outcome contingency, 34–35
adolescence, bicultural identity negotiation, 232 African Americans
  race-based rejection sensitivity, 221–222
  social categorization process, 180
afterlife, existential functions of culture, 99–100 agentic group, 255–256
American culture
  collective responsibility, 73–75
  dispositional attribution, 82–83
  group harmony study, 72–73
  individualistic vs. collectivistic values, 54–55
  knowledge estimation, 250–251
  NFCC, conflict resolution styles and, 84–85
  self-enhancement, 147
antecedent condition, 65
artistic creations, symbolic immortality, 106–107 Asian American culture
  delegated deterrence, 71–72
  fixed theory of race, 32
  group harmony study, 72–73
  model minority stereotype, 14
  NFCC, conflict resolution style and, 85–86
Asian culture
  collective responsibility context-specificity, 73–75
  NFCC, acculturation and, 87–88
Becker, Ernest, 98, 101, 103
behavior prediction, 55–57
Belgian chocolate initiative project, 263–264 bicultural identity construction identity threat, denial, 221
  race-based rejection sensitivity, 221–222
  socialization history, 219
  stereotype threat, 220–221
bicultural identity negotiation, 13–14, 213–214
  adolescence, 232
  adulthood, elderly, 232
  adulthood, young, 232
  alternation, 222–223
  bicultural competence, 227–228 childhood, 231–232
  communicative goals, 225–227
  cultural inauthenticity, 229 developmental perspectives, 230–233 identity ambivalence, 228 identity confusion, conflict, 228–229 integration, 223–224
  intergenerational, 232–233
  marginalization, alienation, 229–230 outcomes of, 227
  social policies, implications, 233–234 synergy, 224–225
biculturalism
  communication, directness, 252
  communication, persuasiveness, 251–252
  conflict resolution, 253
  creativity and, 268
  intercultural communication, 254
  knowledge estimation, 251
  objectively shared values, 44
Buddhism, dialectical thinking, 167

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-76523-7 - Cultural Processes: A Social Psychological Perspective
Edited by Angela K. Y. Leung, Chi-yue Chiu and Ying-yi Hong
Index
More information

causality, 68
children
  bicultural identity negotiation, 231–232 biculturalism, creativity and, 234 internalization, culture of, 53 symbolic immortality projects, 101 Chinese American culture biological theory of race, 32
  cultural hybridization, 225
  knowledge estimation, 251
  racial essentialism, 218 Chinese culture
  collective responsibility, 5–6, 73–75
  collectivism, 190–192
  conflict resolution strategies, empirical studies, 192–197
  delegated deterrence, 70–71
  interpersonal relationship, harmony and, 189–192
  knowledge estimation, 250–251
  NFCC, cultural identification and, 90–91
collective identity
  collective self and, 117–119
  cultural knowledge and, 120–122
collective responsibility
  American culture, 73–75
  Asian culture, 5–6, 73–75
  context-specificity, 73–75 culture study implications, 75–76
  delegated deterrence, 70–72
  functions of, 70
  group harmony, 72–73
  norms, social regulatory functions, 68–70 collective self, 112, 116
  cultural self and, 117–119
  salience, of culture, 50
collective self-perceptions, SWB and, 159–161
collectivism vs. individualism
  conflict resolution styles, 190–192
  culture characterization, 53–55
common sense psychology, 26 communication
  cultural processes, role of, 243–244 directness, bicultural individuals, 252 intercultural competence model, 246–247 obstacles, person-level, 245 persuasiveness, bicultural individuals, 251–252 styles, cultural differences, 245–246 conflict avoidance, Chinese contexts
  Abilene Paradox, 201–203
  collectivism and, 190–192
  downstream relationship consequences, 197–199 interpersonal relationships, harmony and, 192–197 practical implications, 205–206
  relationship concerns, empirical studies, 192–197 relationship overestimation costs, 200–201 theoretical contributions, 203–205
conflict resolution strategies assertiveness, perception of, 195–197
  bicultural individuals, 253 Concern for Relationship, 196–197 dual-concern model, 190
  Eastern vs. Western cultures, 83–84
  NFCC and, 84–86
  Perceived Relationship Costs, 195–196
  relationship concerns, empirical studies, 192–197
Confucius, collective responsibility, 5–6 consequent condition, 65
constraint malleability, 34–35 creative cognition approach, 264–266 creativity
  biculturalism, 268
  culture and, 266
  definition, 264–265
  system theory of, 290
creativity, multicultural experiences and, 264, 266–268 benefits, boundaries of, 274
  high time pressure environment, 278–279
  indirect evidence, 268–269
  management, education implications, 280–281
  mortality salient environment, 279–280
  performance, 269–271
  person perspective, 274–277
  supporting processes, 271–274 creativity, workforce diversity and, 302–304
  creativity, facets of, 290
  diversity management capability, 299–302
  individual creativity engagement, 291
  individual creativity output, 290, 292–293
  individual's adaptability to diversity, 294–295
  multilevel model, 287–288
  social cognitive process, 291–292
  status implication, 295–298
  strategic staffing, 298–299

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-76523-7 - Cultural Processes: A Social Psychological Perspective
Edited by Angela K. Y. Leung, Chi-yue Chiu and Ying-yi Hong
Index
More information

work team creative activities, 291
work team creativity output, 291, 293
Creolization, 225
Croatian immigrants, acculturation studies, 87 cultural assimilation, NFCC and, 86–88 cultural icons, symbolic immortality, 103–104 cultural identity
collective identity and, 117–119
epistemic need, transcultural contexts, 88–91
internalization, culture of, 124–125
personalization, 125–127
social identity and, 50, 57–58, 88–89 cultural knowledge, 114–115, 129–130 activation, 12–13
collective identity and, 120–122
cultural self vs., 113–114
identity affirmation, 127–128
memory, application and, 16
self and, 119–120
cultural psychology
lay theories, future of, 36–37
lay theories, transition, 28–31 cultural self, 116–117, 129–130 choice, constraints and, 128–129
collective self and, 117–119
cultural knowledge vs., 113–114
individual, 10–11
knowledge tradition, 116–117
study of, 112–113
cultural sharedness, 8, 41–42
culture
collective responsibility, 5–6 continuity, 8
creativity and, 266
definition, 4–7
epistemic security, 8
existential security, 8–9
foreign invasion and, 7
functions of, 7–9
infectious diseases, 7
internalization of, 124–125
knowledge tradition, 4
lay theories, 4–5
natural disasters and, 7
residence of, 9–12
self-definitional need, 9–12
sharedness, 8, 41–42
social control mechanisms, 6–7 social coordination functions, 15–16 society, individual and, 13–14, 16 system view of, 4
values, 4–5
culture characterization
collectivism vs. individualism, 53–55
intersubjective consensus approach, 54–55
objectively shared values, 53–54

death
artistic creations and, 106–107
cultural icons and, 103–104 perception of, 25–26
transcendence of, 98–99
delegated deterrence, collective responsibility, 70–72 demographic diversity, workforce, 289
The Denial of Death (Becker), 98
dialectical self
philosophical beliefs and, 167
positive self-regard, East Asian cultures, 142–143 diffuse status characteristics, 296–297 discrimination
model minority stereotype, 14
stereotypes, prejudice and, 219–220
dispositional attribution
Americans vs. Chinese, 82–83 person perception, 82–83
diversity
homogeneous vs. heterogeneous work teams, 182–183
social categorization process, 179–181
types of, 178–179
work teams, 172
diversity, workforce
definition, 289
demographic diversity, 289
knowledge and skill diversity, 289–290
diversity management capability, 299
commitment building practices, 300–301 diversity assimilating practices, 300 status neutralizing practices, 301–302 diversity-creativity link
creativity, social cognitive process, 291–292
diversity management capability, 299, 302
individual creativity output, 292–293
individual's adaptability to diversity, 294–295
status implication, workforce diversity, 295–298

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-76523-7 - Cultural Processes: A Social Psychological Perspective
Edited by Angela K. Y. Leung, Chi-yue Chiu and Ying-yi Hong
Index
More information

diversity-creativity link (cont.)
strategic staffing, creativity and, 298–299 team creativity output, 293 dynamic social impact theory, 243

East Asian cultures
affect valuation, 165–167
collective self-perceptions, SWB and, 159–161
dialectical self, 142–143
goal attainment, 161–162
harmony, 145–146
modesty, 143–144
philosophical beliefs, SWB and, 167–168
prevention focus, 145
self-consistency, SWB and, 163
self-enhancement behaviors, well-being and, 147–149 self-enhancement expressions, 141–142 self-enhancement motive, absence of, 141
self-improvement, 144–145
self-improvement, self-criticism, modesty and, 164–165
self-perceptions, SWB and, 157–158
SWB, 155, 156
emancipated representations, 126
entity theory
lay theory of intelligence, 27–28
moral beliefs, 29–30
personality, 28–29
epistemic need
cognitive closure, 81–82
cultural identification, effects of, 88–91
culture and, 82–86
NFCC, cultural assimilation and, 86–88
NFCC, cultural norms and, 91–92
epistemic security, 8, 82
essentialized group, 255–256
European American culture
affect valuation, 166
delegated deterrence, 71–72
goal attainment, 161–162
group harmony study, 72–73
NFCC, conflict resolution style and, 85–86
philosophical beliefs, SWB and, 167–168
prevention focus, 145
self-consistency, SWB and, 163
self-enhancement, 141, 147–149
self-perception, SWB and, 157–158
SWB, 155–156
existential functions, culture
artistic creations, 106–107
cultural icons, 103–104
immortality, fountain of, 98–99
legacy, 104–105
literal immortality, 99–100
materialism, 105–106
mortality, dread of, 96–98
symbolic immortality, 100–103
existential security, 8–9
exploratory processes, creative cognition approach, 265

fate, negotiable
definition, 33–35
institutions, role of, 35–36
lay theories, 13
folk theories, 26, 36
foreseeability, personal responsibility, 68 French riots, 2005, 213

gender, objective, intersubjective values, 48 generative processes, creative cognition approach, 265 globalization
cultural effects, 17
objectively shared values, 44
goal attainment, SWB and, 161–162
group harmony
collective responsibility, 72–73
interpersonal condition and, 72–73

harmony
East Asian cultures, 145–146
group, 72–73
relationship, SWB and, 158–159
harmony, Chinese contexts interpersonal relationships, 189–192 relationship concerns, conflict management, 192–197 hegemonic representations, 126
heterogeneous work teams
diversity, 178–179, 182–183
informational integration process, 181–182
social categorization process, 179–181
team mental model, 177–178
Hispanic culture, identification, 101
Hong Kong Chinese culture
dispositional attribution, 82–83
individualistic vs. collectivistic values, 54–55
knowledge estimation, 250–251

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-76523-7 - Cultural Processes: A Social Psychological Perspective
Edited by Angela K. Y. Leung, Chi-yue Chiu and Ying-yi Hong
Index
More information

NFCC, conflict resolution style and, 84–85, 86
self-enhancement, 147

icons, symbolic immortality, 103–104 ideas, culture and collective utility principle, 10 communication, transformation and, 10 individual cultural self, 10–11
linguistic codability, 9–10
public representations, 9 identity affirmation, cultural knowledge in, 127–128 identity ambivalence, biculturalism, 228 identity confusion, multiculturalism, 228–229 identity threat, stereotypes and, 221 immortality
culture identification, 101
fountain of, 98–99
literal, 99–100
symbolic, 100–103
implicit theories, 26
incremental theory
lay theory of intelligence, 27–28
moral beliefs, 29–30
personality, 28–29
independent self-construal
culture, self and, 112–113
SWB, 155–156, 162–163
individual creativity engagement, 291
individual creativity output, 290, 292–293
individual cultural self, 10–11
individualism vs. collectivism
conflict resolution styles, 190–192
culture characterization, 53–55
infectious diseases, culture and, 7 ingroup identification, 88–89
intelligence
lay beliefs, 26
lay theory research, 27–28
intentionality, personal responsibility, 68
intercultural communication
knowledge estimation, 247–249, 250–251
model of, 246–247
multicultural experiences and, 258 person-level obstacles, 243–244 style, cultural differences in, 245–246 interdependent self-construal affect valuation and, 165–166
culture, self and, 112–113
intergroup dynamics, 46–47
internalization
basic human needs values, 52
culture, 51–52, 124–125
socialization values, 52–53
International Congress of Psychology, xiii interpersonal relationships, conflict, Chinese culture Abilene Paradox, 201–203
conflict avoidance, consequences, 197–199
conflict management strategy, 192–197
harmony, 189–192
overestimation, costs of, 200–201
practical implications, 205–206
theoretical contributions, 203–205
intersubjective consensus approach
behavior prediction, 55–57
conventional approach and, 45–47
cultural identification, 57–58
cultural values, 45
culture characterization, 54–55
internalization, of culture, 51–52 meaning negotiation process, 59–60
multiple cultures, 58–59
objective values and, 47–48
representativeness, sample, 48–50
salience, culture, 50
utility, 53
value types, 52–53
Italian culture, mortality, 101

James, William, 97, 99
justice behaviors, 83–84
justification, personal responsibility, 68

knowledge, skill diversity, 289–290
knowledge estimation
biculturalism, 251
intercultural communication, 247–249, 250–251
knowledge tradition
collective identity, 121–122
collective vs. cultural identity, 117–119
cultural self and, 116–117
culture, definition, 4
identity affirmation, 127–128
meaning, sharing process, 114–115 Korean American culture
cultural hybridization, 225
fixed theory of race, 32

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-76523-7 - Cultural Processes: A Social Psychological Perspective
Edited by Angela K. Y. Leung, Chi-yue Chiu and Ying-yi Hong
Index
More information

Korean culture
  communication styles, 246
  self-consistency, SWB and, 163

lay beliefs
  death, 25–26
  intelligence, 26
lay epistemic theory, 81–82
lay theories
  cultural psychology, future of, 36–37 cultural psychology, transition, 28–31
  culture and, 4–5
  definition, 26–27
  initial research, 27–28
  moral beliefs, 29–30, 33–36
  negotiable fate, 13
  race, 31–33
lay theory of intelligence, 27–28
legacy, symbolic immortality, 104–105 Legalist principle, 5
linguistic codability, 9–10
linguistic relativity hypothesis, 9–10
literal immortality, 99–100

marginal man, 229–230
marginalization
  bicultural identity negotiation, 229–230
  cultural self and, 129
  multiple cultural groups, identification, 229–230
materialism
  culture, 16–17
  symbolic immortality, 105–106
mental models, 173–174
model minority stereotype, 14
modesty, East Asian cultures, 164–165 moral beliefs, lay theories, 29–30
mortality, dread of, 96–98
Multicultural Experience Survey, 273, 277 multicultural experiences benefits, 14–15, 16
  boundaries, 254
multicultural experiences, creativity and, 264, 266–268 creative benefits, boundaries, 274 creative benefits, research, 268–269 creative processes engagement, 271–274 creative productions and, causal effects, 269–271
  high time pressure environment, 278–279
  management, education implications, 280–281
  mortality salient environment, 279–280
  person perspective, 274–277
multicultural experiences, intercultural communication and, 258
  cognitive closure, 256–258
  communication, directness, 252
  communication, persuasiveness, 251–252
  conflict resolution, 253
  identification, boundaries and, 254–256
  knowledge estimation, 247–249, 250–251
  related theories, 249–250
multiple cultures, study of intersubjective representations, 58–59
  objectively shared values, 44

need for cognitive closure (NFCC) conflict resolution style, 84–86 creativity, multiculturalism and, 278–279 cultural assimilation and, 86–88
  dispositional attribution, 82–83
  epistemic need, 81–82
negotiable fate
  definition, 33–35
  institutions, role of, 35–36
  lay theories, 13
NEO-Five Factor Inventory (NEO-FFI), 277
NFCC. See need for cognitive closure
norms
  accessibility, 66
  applicability, 67
  availability, 66
  collective responsibility, 68–70
  culture and, 4–5
  epistemic security, 82
  personal responsibility, 68
  shared representations, 65–66 social regulatory functions, 67–68

objectively shared values
  behavior prediction, 55–57
  cultural expert expectations, 43–44
  cultural identification, 57–58
  cultural value studies, 43
  culture characterization, 53–54
  internalization of culture, 51–52
  intersubjective values and, 47–48 multiculturalism, 44
  multiple cultures, 58–59
  personal value system overlap, 42–43

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-76523-7 - Cultural Processes: A Social Psychological Perspective
Edited by Angela K. Y. Leung, Chi-yue Chiu and Ying-yi Hong
Index
More information

representativeness of sample, 44, 48–50
salience of culture, 50
symbolic representations, 44
value types, 52–53
optimal distinctiveness theory, 120–121
outgroup hostility, symbolic immortality, 102–103 overlap, personal value systems, 42–43 perceived other vs. self attitudes, 47 person perception, dispositional attributions, 82–83

personal responsibility
foreseeability, 68
intentionality, 68
justification, 68
norms, 68
personal value systems, cultural values and, 43 personality ratings, 47–48 planned behavior theory, 56
pluralistic ignorance, 12
polemical representations, 126
Polish immigrants, acculturation studies, 87 prejudice, stereotypes, discrimination and, 219–220 prevention focus, East Asian culture, 145 Prisoner's Dilemma game
norm representations, 67
unregulated selfish maximization, 6–7 private self, 112, 116
Protestant Relational Ideology, 252 public self, 112, 116

race
bicultural identities, 218
lay theories, 31–33
race-based rejection sensitivity, 221–222
racial essentialism, 218
reasoned action theory, 56
Regulatory Focus Questionnaire, 250–251 relational self, 116
relationship concerns, Chinese culture Abilene Paradox, 201–203
conflict avoidance, consequences, 197–199
conflict management strategy, 192–197
harmony, 189–192
overestimation, costs of, 200–201
practical implications, 205–206
theoretical contributions, 203–205
relationship harmony, SWB and, 158–159 religion, literal immortality, 99–100 renqing norm, 189–190
riots, France (2005), 213 Rorschach inkblots, 112

sample, nonrepresentative, 49–50
sample, representative intersubjective consensus, 49–50
objectively shared values, 44, 49
Satisfaction With Life Scale (SWLS), 164
Schwartz Value Survey (SVS), 48, 52–53 science, development of, 3 security, epistemic, 8, 82 security, existential, 8–9 self
cultural knowledge and, 119–120
culture and, study of, 112–113
private, public, 112
self-categorization theory, 50
self-concept, parts of, 112
self-consistency, SWB and, 162–163
self-construal, independent
culture, self and, 112–113
SWB, 155–156, 162–163
self-construal, interdependent
affect valuation and, 165–166
culture, self and, 112–113
self-determination theory, 51–52, 125
self-enhancement
culture-characteristic behaviors, 147–148
dialectical self, 142–143
East Asian cultures, 141–142, 147–149
European American culture, 141, 147–149
expressions, cultural differences, 141–142
harmony, 145–146
Hong Kong vs. American students, 147
individualist vs. collectivist cultures, 147
modesty, 143–144
motive, 140, 141
prevention focus, 145
self-improvement
East Asian culture, 144–145
self-criticism, modesty and, 164–165 self-perceptions
collective, SWB and, 159–161
goal attainment and, 161–162
positive, 139–140
SWB and, 157–158
self-presentation, East Asian cultures, 13, 142 self-reports, cultural differences, 113
self-stereotyping, 120–122

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-0-521-76523-7 - Cultural Processes: A Social Psychological Perspective
Edited by Angela K. Y. Leung, Chi-yue Chiu and Ying-yi Hong
Index
More information

self-verification, status characteristics and, 297
sharedness
  culture, 8, 41–42
  symbolic representations, 44
  values, 42–44
social categorization process, 179–181
social identity
  cultural identity and, 50, 57–58, 88–89
  lay theories research, 30–31
  self-stereotyping, 120–122
  threat, denial and, 221
social representations, 126
social self, 50
status characteristics, 295–297, 298
stereotype threat, 220–221
stereotypes
  identity threat, 221
  model minority, 14
  prejudice, discrimination and, 219–220 subjective well-being (SWB)
  affect valuation, 165–167
  collective self-perceptions, 159–161 correlates, causes, 156–157 emotional support, perceived, 159
  goal attainment and, 161–162
  life satisfaction, perceived norms, 158 philosophical beliefs, 167–168 relationship harmony, 158–159 self-consistency, 162–163
  self-construals, means levels and, 163–164
  self-improvement, self-criticism, modesty and, 164–165
  self-perceptions and, 157–158 theoretical background, 155–156
sun-protective behaviors study, 56
SVS. See Schwartz Value Survey
SWB. See subjective well-being SWLS. See Satisfaction With Life Scale
symbolic immortality
  artistic creations, 106–107
  cultural icons, 103–104
  cultural values endorsement, 102
  culture identification, 101
  definition, 100–101
  legacy, 104–105
  materialism, 105–106
  outgroup hostility, 102–103
symbolic representations, 44
system theory of creativity, 290

Taoism, dialectical thinking, 167
team mental model, 172–173, 174–175
  accuracy, 176–177
  convergence, 176, 177
  diversity, 178–179
  heterogeneous work teams, 177–178
  mental models, 173–174
  multiple models, 175
  social categorization process, 179–181
Terror Management Theory (TMT), 98, 279
Thematic Apperception Test, 112
TMT. See Terror Management Theory transcultural epistemic need
  cultural identification, 88–91
  NFCC, cultural assimilation and, 86–88

Unusual Uses Test, 276–277

values
  consensual representations, 40–41 culture, definition of, 4–5 culture sharedness, 41–42
  intersubjective consensus approach, 45–47
  mortality and, 102
  objective sharedness, 42–44
  personal, 42–43
  self-endorsed vs. collective representations, 47

work team creative activities, 291
work team creativity output, 291, 293
workforce diversity
  definition, 289
  demographic diversity, 289
  knowledge and skill diversity, 289–290
  management, 286–287
workforce diversity, creativity and, 302–304
  creativity, facets of, 290
  creativity, social cognitive process, 291–292
  diversity management capability, 299–302
  individual creativity engagement, 291
  individual creativity output, 290, 292–293
  individual's adaptability to diversity, 294–295
  multilevel model, 287–288
  status implication, 295–298
  strategic staffing, 298–299
  work team creative activities, 291
  work team creativity output, 291, 293

yuan zuo, 70–71

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org