

Contents

Preface	vii
Introduction	1
1 Gricean pragmatics	5
1.1 Saying vs. implicating	5
1.2 Discourse and cooperation	10
1.3 Conversational implicatures	12
1.4 Generalised vs. particularised	16
1.5 Cancellability	18
1.6 Gricean reasoning and the pragmatics of what is said	21
2 The Standard Recipe for Q-implicatures	27
2.1 The Standard Recipe	27
2.2 Inference to the best explanation	33
2.3 Weak implicatures and competence	37
2.4 Relevance	42
2.5 Conclusion	48
3 Scalar implicatures	49
3.1 Horn scales and the generative view	50
3.2 Implicatures and downward entailing environments	54
3.3 Disjunction: exclusivity and ignorance	59
3.4 Conclusion	64
4 Psychological plausibility	67
4.1 Charges of psychological inadequacy	68
4.2 Logical complexity	70
4.3 Abduction	71
4.4 Incremental processing	72

4.5	The intentional stance	74
4.6	Alternatives	77
4.7	Conclusion	81
5	Nonce inferences or defaults?	83
5.1	True defaults	85
5.2	Strong defaultism	87
5.3	Weak defaultism	93
5.4	Contextualism	99
5.5	Conclusion	103
6	Intentions, alternatives, and free choice	105
6.1	Free choice	107
6.2	Problems with the Standard Recipe	110
6.3	Intentions first	112
6.4	Free choice explained	117
6.5	Comparing alternatives	121
6.6	Two flavours of Q-implicature	125
6.7	Conclusion	131
7	Embedded implicatures: the problems	133
7.1	The problems	135
7.2	Varieties of conventionalism	144
7.3	Against conventionalism	153
7.4	Conclusion	162
8	Embedded implicatures: a Gricean approach	165
8.1	Disjunction	166
8.2	Belief reports	168
8.3	Factives and other presupposition inducers	171
8.4	Indefinites	176
8.5	Contrastive construals and lexical pragmatics	181
8.6	Conclusion	189
	Afterword	193
	Notation and abbreviations	197
	References	199
	Index	209