acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, mortality rates, 2 acute illness, chronic illness compared, 2 adaptation (see also coping; metabolic control; psychopathology) developmental pathways, 232–58
denial and trivialization, 229–31, 239–44, 258
developmental task
postponement, 233–9, 264–5
disfunctional families, 247–51
overemphasizing development, 244–7, 257
overview, 232–3, 256–8
underemphasizing metabolic control, 244–7, 257
well-adapted families, 251–7 ambivalent coping, mothers, 102 anxiety disorders, coping effects, 22–3, 220, 222 asthma
coping strategies, 14
prevalence, 4–5
autonomy from parents, 154, 170, 180, 208, 211, 217, 265
B
body image
changes over time, 40, 75–6, 213, 264
in developmental model of coping, 40 diabetic adolescents, 72–6, 85, 264
family relationships
father relationships, 150–1
mother relationships, 76–83, 150–1
healthy adolescents, 71–2, 75–6 sexual experiences, 180–2, 184
bronchitis
coping strategies, 14
prevalence, 4–5
C Cancer
coping strategies, 13, 23
prevalence, 4–5
psychopathology, 23–4, 230
cardiovascular disease mortality rates, 2
prevalence, 4
care facilities
patient acceptance, 48–9
physician evaluations, 51–4
physician relationships, 49–50, 54, 217–18, 271–2
career choices, 189–202
career decisions, 199
discrimination, 192–6 education role, 54–62, 190–2, 267–8
Index

320  Index

career choices (continued)
  future concerns, 199–202
  illness-specific restrictions, 192–6 parents role, 171
  unemployment stress, 192
  case studies, coping study, 25–41
  approach, 29–38
    annual survey procedure, 34–5
    data collection, 37–8
    funnel principle, 38
    interviews, 37
    participant recruitment, 33–4
    project team cooperation, 36–7
    questionnaires, 37–8
    sample characteristics, 31–3
    sample maintenance, 35
    developmental model, 38–41, 264
    diabetes characteristics, 26–7
    diabetes impact, 27–8
    overview, 25
    preliminary model, 28–9 celiac disease, prevalence, 4 cerebral palsy
    coping strategies, 13
    prevalence, 4
  cheating on metabolic control, function, 272–3
  chronic illness (see also specific illnesses)
    epidemiology, 1–8
      acute illnesses compared, 2
      in adolescence, 2–6
      overview, 1
      psychological perspectives, 6–8
      statistical perspectives, 1–2, 9
    Health Belief Model, 261–3 mortality rates, 1–2
  phases
    diagnosis, 109–13, 270
    early years following manifestation, 113–17, 143, 270–1
    shared characteristics, 260–1 chronic sorrow, 117
  chronic worry, 92, 116, 131
  coping (see also stress) adaptation pathways toward development, 232–58
    developmental task
      postponement, 233–9, 264–5
    disfunctional families, 247–51
    overemphasizing development, 244–7, 257
    overview, 232–3, 256–8
    trivialization, 229–31, 239–44, 258 underemphasizing metabolic control, 244–7, 257
    well-adapted families, 251–7
  changes over time, 17, 30, 212–15
  cognitive strategies, 16
  current research, 9–12
  daily coping, 60, 92–4, 98–101, 137–8 denial, 229–31, 239–44, 258 depression effects, 22–3, 170, 220, 222, 224–5
  family role
    climate changes, 122–38
    changes over time, 30, 128–9
    communication changes, 132–7, 217
    continual stress effects, 137–8
    developmental delay, 217
    metabolic control, 27, 129–32
    organization around the illness, 18–19, 122–4, 143–4
    parental roles, 124–8, 265–6
    structured family dynamics, 129–32
  family coping
    changes over time, 30, 128–9
    communication role, 132–7, 217
    continual stress effects, 137–8
    coping styles, 103–6
    critical life events, 20, 86–90
    current research, 95–8
    diabetes impact, 27–8, 137–8
    disfunctional families, 247–51
    early years of illness, 113–17, 143
family dynamics, 118–21
illness-specific coping, 101–3, 105
initial diagnosis phase of illness, 109–13, 143
integration, 106–7, 217, 239–44 leisure activities, 126–8, 131
metabolic control influence, 27, 129–32
organization around the illness, 18–19, 122–4, 143–4
parental roles impact, 124–8, 139–42, 265–6 psychosomatic families, 121, 125
well-adapted families, 120, 251–7
father relationships
adolescent relationship, 126, 142–4, 149–51
body image, 150–1
desire to be with wife and child, 141–2 family exclusion, 140–1, 143
family responsibilities, 140, 217
illness-specific coping, 101–3
involvement, 145–7
overinvolvement, 147–9
parental roles, 139–42
wife’s overinvolvement effects, 140–3
work responsibilities, 122–3, 140, 142
individual coping
chronic sorrows, 117
daily stress, 92–4, 107–8
early years of illness, 113–17, 143
guilt feelings, 92
illness-specific coping, 101–3
parental roles impact, 124–8, 139–42, 265–6
parents as coping models, 266–7 sibling relationships, 151–65
in adolescence, 153–5, 160
age differences, 152–3
ambivalence, 152
birth order effects, 157–8
in chronically ill adolescents, 155–9
dethronement, 152, 156
in diabetic adolescents, 159–61
drug use influence, 154
gender differences, 152–3, 156–7
household duties, 155
illness-specific problems, 158
importance in the family unit, 152–3, 160
psychosocial adaptation, 157
as risk factor, 162–5
rivalry, 152, 156, 159, 161
social support, 159–61
study methods, 31, 35–6 support role, 18–20, 30, 95–8, 267
illness phases
diagnosis, 109–13, 270
Index

322  Index

Coping (continued)
  early years following manifestation, 113–17, 143, 270–1
  illness-specific strategies, 12, 21–2, 92–3, 98–103
  influencing factors
    adolescence, 216–17
    critical life events, 20, 86–90
    depression, 22–3, 170, 220, 222, 224–5 developmental factors, 15–17, 38–41, 208–9 friendships, 16, 19, 39, 153, 166–71, 175–6 gender, 17, 107–8
    illness duration, 15, 45, 99, 101, 107, 271 illness severity, 14–15 illness type, 12–13
    normative stressors, 20, 85–8 personality, 13, 18
    physicians, 217–18
    recreational activities, 131 romantic relationships, 39, 179, 269 self-concept, 18, 30, 63, 65
    social support, 17–20, 30, 39, 166–71, 175, 179, 269
    longitudinal study, 25–41
    approach, 29–38
      annual survey procedure, 34–5
      data collection, 37–8
      participant recruitment, 33–4
      project team cooperation, 36–7
      sample characteristics, 31–3
      sample maintenance, 35
    developmental model, 38–41, 264
    diabetes characteristics, 26–7
    diabetes impact, 27–8
    overview, 25
    preliminary model, 28–9
    overview, 9
    psychopathology, 22–3, 220, 222, 224–5
  school environment, 189, 197–8 universal coping strategies, 21–2 critical life events, coping strategies, 20, 86–90 cystic fibrosis
    coping strategies, 13, 22
    prevalence, 4
D
  dating, see romantic relationships denial, developmental adaptation, 229–31, 239–44, 258
  depression
    chronically ill adolescents, 22–3, 222
    diabetic adolescents, 224–5
    friendship link, 170
    healthy adolescents, 220, 222, 224–5
    maternal depression, 116
  dethronement, sibling relationships, 152, 156 development (see also self-concept) adolescent-specific deficits, 209–12 coping adaptation pathways, 232–58
    denial and trivialization, 229–31, 239–44, 258
    developmental task
      postponement, 233–9, 264–5
      disfunctional families, 247–51
      noncompliance function, 272–3
      overemphasizing development, 244–7, 257
      overview, 232–3, 256–8
      underemphasizing metabolic control, 244–7, 257
      well adapted families, 251–7
    changes over time, 17, 30, 212–15
    contributing conditions, 215–18 adolescent, 216–17
    family, 217
    physicians, 217–18
    influencing factors, 15–17, 208–9
    models, 38–41, 264
    psychopathology, 22–4, 221–3
    overview, 203–4
psychopathology
chronically ill adolescents
adolescent role, 216–17
biomedical aspects, 6–8
changes over time, 212–15, 226–9
chronic illness effects, 207–9
coping strategies, 22–4, 221–3
current research, 22–4
delay maintenance conditions, 215–18
denial problems, 229–31
developmental delay relationship, 203–18
developmental tasks, 204–7, 209–12
epidemiological studies, 221–3 externalizing syndromes, 22–3, 227–8
family role, 217
internalizing behaviors, 22–3, 228
physician role, 217–18
prevalence, 219–20
denial problems, 229–31, 239–44, 258
depression, 22–3, 170, 220, 222, 224–5
developmental delay relationship, 203–18
adolescent role, 216–17
changes over time, 212–15
chronic illness effects, 207–9
delay maintenance conditions, 215–18
developmental tasks, 204–7, 209–12
family role, 217
physician role, 217–18
diabetic adolescents
changes over time, 212–15
current studies, 223–6
delay maintenance conditions, 215–18
denial problems, 229–31
developmental pressure, 210–11
developmental task deficits, 209–12 dysfunctional families role, 247–51
healthy adolescents
changes over time, 213–15, 226–9
current research, 22–3
delay conditions, 215–18
developmental pressure, 210–11
developmental tasks, 204–7
epidemiological studies, 221–3
externalizing syndromes, 227–8
prevalence, 219–20
overview, 203–4
social relationships, 39, 172–3 diabetes mellitus disease characteristics, 43–8 age at diagnosis, 43
complications, 47–8
disease course, 43–5
duration, 15, 45–6, 271
etiological factors, 43–5 glycosylated hemoglobin measurement, 26, 32, 46
insulin therapy, 27, 47–8 manifestations, 43–5
overview, 26–7
prevalence, 4–6, 26, 43
seasonal dependence, 43 impact, 27–8
discrimination, career choices, 192–6 divorce, stress effects, 86, 89, 243, 245 doctors, see physicians
E
eating disorders, diabetic adolescents, 224–5 education
career choices, 54–62, 190–2, 267–8
knowledge influence on compliance, 54–62 illness management over time, 60–2 illness-related knowledge, 55–8
metabolic control factors, 58–60, 273–4 education (continued)
  social resources, 267–8 school experiences, 189–202
  academic stress, 14, 190–2
  coping strategies, 189, 197–8
  future concerns, 199–202

epidemiology
  in adolescence, 2–6
  chronic and acute illnesses compared, 2
    diabetes disease course, 43–5
    overview, 1
    psychological perspectives, 6–8, 221–3 statistical perspectives, 1–2, 9

epilepsy
  coping strategies, 13
  prevalence, 4

F

family
  autonomy from parents, 154, 170, 180, 208, 211, 217, 265
  coping approaches
    climate changes, 122–38
    changes over time, 30, 128–9
    communication changes, 132–7, 217
    continual stress effects, 137–8
    developmental delay, 217
    metabolic control, 27, 129–32
    organization around the illness, 18–19, 122–4, 143–4
    parental roles, 124–8, 265–6
    structured family dynamics, 129–32
  family coping
    changes over time, 30, 128–9
    communication role, 132–7, 217
    continual stress effects, 137–8
    coping styles, 103–6
    critical life events, 20, 86–90
    current research, 95–8
    diabetes impact, 27–8, 137–8
    disfunctional families, 247–51
    early years of illness, 113–17, 143
    family dynamics, 118–21
    illness-specific coping, 101–3, 105
    initial diagnosis phase of illness, 109–13, 143
    integration, 106–7, 217, 239–44 leisure activities, 126–8, 131
    metabolic control influence, 27, 129–32
    organization around the illness, 18–19, 122–4, 143–4
    parental roles impact, 124–8, 139–42, 265–6
    psychosomatic families, 121, 125
    well-adapted families, 120, 251–7
  father relationships
    adolescent relationships, 126, 142–4, 149–51
    body image, 150–1
    desire to be with wife and child, 141–2
    family exclusion, 140–1, 143
    family responsibilities, 140, 217
    illness-specific coping, 101–3 involvment, 145–7
    overinvolvement, 147–9
    parental roles, 139–42
    wife’s overinvolvement effects, 140–3
    work responsibilities, 122–3, 140, 142
  individual coping
    critical life events, 20, 86–90
    current research, 96–7
    diabetes impact, 27–8
    early years of illness, 113–17
    gender differences, 107–8
    illness duration effects, 15, 45, 99, 101, 107, 271
    initial diagnosis phase of illness, 109–13
    integration, 106–7, 217, 239–44
  mother relationships
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Index</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>adolescent relationships, 126, 135–6, 142, 145</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ambivalent coping, 102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>body image integration, 76–83, 150–1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>chronic worry, 92, 116, 131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>daily stress, 92–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>guilt feelings, 92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>illness-specific coping, 101–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>maternal depression, 116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>overinvolvement, 140–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>overprotection, 142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>parental roles, 139–42, 156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>stress effects, 92, 116, 131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>parental coping</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>chronic sorrow, 117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>daily stress, 92–4, 107–8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>early years of illness, 113–17, 143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>guilt feelings, 92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>illness-specific coping, 101–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>parental roles impact, 124–8, 139–42, 265–6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>parents as coping models, 266–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sibling relationships, 151–65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in adolescence, 153–5, 160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>age differences, 152–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ambivalence, 152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>birth order effects, 157–8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in chronically ill adolescents, 155–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dethronement, 152, 156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>in diabetic adolescents, 159–61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>drug use influence, 154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>gender differences, 152–3, 156–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>household duties, 155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>illness-specific problems, 158</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>importance in the family unit, 152–3, 160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>psychosocial adaptation, 157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>as risk factor, 162–5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rivalry, 152, 156, 159, 161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>social support, 159–61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>study methods, 31, 35–6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>support role, 18–20, 30, 95–8, 267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>fathers, coping influence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>adolescent relationships, 126, 142–4, 149–51</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>body image, 150–1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>desire to be with wife and child, 141–2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>family exclusion, 140–1, 143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>family responsibilities, 140, 217</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>illness-specific coping, 101–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>involvment, 145–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>overinvolvement, 147–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>parental roles, 139–42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>wife’s overinvolvement effects, 140–3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>work responsibilities, 122–3, 140, 142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>friendships (see also romantic relationships)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>continuity and discontinuity, 186–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>duration, 186–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>gender differences, 169, 176–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>integration, 172–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>intimacy, 167–71, 175–9, 188</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>leisure activities, 172</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>network size, 30, 174–9, 268–70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>peer relationships compared, 167–8, 171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>quality of friendships, 167, 174–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>reciprocity, 178–9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>relationship dynamics, 20, 171–4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>social support, 16, 19, 39, 153, 166–71, 175–6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“funnel principle,” description, 38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>gastrointestinal diseases, prevalence, 4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>gender differences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>body image, 71–2, 74, 76, 85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>coping influence, 17, 107–8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>friendships, 169, 176–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>psychopathology, 219–20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>self-esteem, 65–6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sibling relationships, 152–3, 156–7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>glycosylated hemoglobin, measurement, 26, 32, 46</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Health Belief Model, description, 261–3 health status, evaluation, 65–71 diabetic adolescents perceived health, 40, 66–71
healthy adolescents, 66–8
heart disease mortality rates, 2
prevalence, 4
HIV/AIDS, mortality rates, 2 hospitals, see care facilities husbands, see spousal relationships hypothyroidism, prevalence, 4 I
insulin therapy (see also metabolic control)
complications, 47–8
types, 27, 47–8
integration
body image, 76–83, 150–1
of family and individual coping strategies, 106–7, 217, 239–44 peer relations, 172–4 internal resources, see body image; perceived health; self-concept intervention
care facilities
patient acceptance, 48–9
physician evaluations, 51–4
physician relationships, 49–50, 54, 217–18, 271–2
compliance knowledge influence, 54–62
illness management over time, 60–2
illness-related knowledge, 55–8
metabolic control factors, 58–60, 273–4
physician evaluations, 51–4 socioeconomic class role, 19, 31–3 coping strategies, see coping management plans, 275–7
metabolic control
compliance factors, 58–60, 272–4
coping strategies, 20, 27, 107–8
instability over time, 44, 46–7, 131, 263
insulin therapy, 27, 47–8
noncompliance function, 272–3
overemphasizing development, 244–7, 257
psychopathology, 231
quality, 45–6
psychological intervention, 277–8 revisions of treatment, 278–80 timing, 271
interviews, coping study, 37
K knowledge, see education L leukemia, prevalence, 5 longitudinal studies, coping study, 25–41
approach, 29–38
annual survey procedure, 34–5
data collection, 37–8
funnel principle, 38
interviews, 37
participant recruitment, 33–4
project team cooperation, 36–7
questionnaires, 37–8
sample characteristics, 31–3
sample maintenance, 35
developmental model, 38–41, 264
diabetes characteristics, 26–7
diabetes impact, 27–8
overview, 25
preliminary model, 28–9
M management, see intervention marital relationships
divorce, 86, 89, 243, 245
husbands desire to be with wife and child, 141–2 marital problems, 140, 144, 159, 247–51
roles, 139–42
wife’s overinvolvement effects, 140–3

© Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org medical facilities, see care facilities
metabolic control
compliance factors, 58–60, 272–4
coping strategies, 20, 107–8
gender differences, 17
instability over time, 46–7, 131, 263
insulin therapy, 27, 47–8
noncompliance function, 272–3
overemphasizing development, 244–7, 257
psychopathology, 231
quality, 45–6
mortality rates, chronic illness caused, 1–2 mothers
coping approaches
adolescent relationships, 126, 135–6, 142, 145
ambivalent coping, 102 body image integration, 76–83, 150–1
chronic worry, 92, 116, 131
daily stress, 92–4
guilt feelings, 92
illness-specific coping, 101–3
maternal depression, 116
overinvolvement, 140–3
overprotection, 142
parental roles, 139–42, 156
stress effects, 92, 116, 131 fathers desire to be with, 141–2 one body for two, 76–83, 150 muscular diseases, prevalence, 4 noncompliance, function, 272–3 normative stressors, coping influence, 20, 85–8 O
“one body for two,” body image integration, 76–83, 150
P
parents, see family peers (see also friendships; social support) friendships compared, 167–8, 171 social competence in relationships, 174 perceived health (see also body image) evaluation, 40, 66–71
personality, coping influence, 13, 18
physicians
developmental delay role, 217–18 longitudinal study role, 31, 36–7 patient acceptance, 48–9, 272
patient evaluations, 51–4 patient relationships, 49–50, 54, 217–18, 271–2 psychological perspectives, diabetic control factors, 28–9, 40, 58–60, 274–5 psychosocial factors, 28–9
psychopathology
chronically ill adolescents
biomedical aspects, 6–8
changes over time, 226–9
coping strategies, 22–4, 221–3
current research, 22–4
denial problems, 229–31
developmental delay relationship, 203–18
adolescent role, 216–17
changes over time, 212–15
chronic illness effects, 207–9
delay maintenance conditions, 215–18
developmental tasks, 204–7, 209–12
family role, 217
physician role, 217–18
epidemiological studies, 221–3
externalizing syndromes, 22–3, 227–8
internalizing behaviors, 22–3, 228
prevalence, 219–20
denial problems, 229–31, 239–44, 258
depression, 22–3, 170, 220, 222, 224–5
developmental delay relationship, 203–18

© Cambridge University Press psychopathology (continued)
changes over time, 212–15
chronic illness effects, 207–9
delay maintenance conditions, 215–18
adolescent role, 216–17
family role, 217
physician role, 217–18
developmental tasks
in adolescence, 204–7
deficits, 209–12
diabetic adolescents
current studies, 223–6
developmental delay relationship
changes over time, 212–15
delay maintenance conditions, 215–18
denial problems, 229–31
developmental pressure, 210–11
developmental task deficits, 209–12
disfunctional families, 247–51
healthy adolescents
current research, 22–3
development of psychopathology
changes over time, 213–15
delay conditions, 215–18
developmental pressure, 210–11
developmental tasks, 204–7
epidemiological studies, 221–3
e externalizing syndromes, 227–8
prevalence, 219–20
overview, 203–4
Q
questionnaires, coping study, 37–8 R
romantic relationships (see also friendships) chronically ill adolescents, 182–6 continuity and discontinuity, 186–9
duration, 186–9
intimacy, 185–6, 188
leisure activities, 181, 185
overview, 179–80
sexual development, 166, 180–2, 211, 214
sexual experience, 180–4, 187
social support, 39, 179, 269
S
school experiences, 189–202
academic stress, 190–2
coping strategies, 189, 197–8
future concerns, 199–202
seasonal dependence, manifestations, 43
self-concept (see also development) in adolescents, 63–5
body image
changes over time, 40, 75–6, 213, 264
in developmental model of coping, 40
diabetic adolescents, 72–6, 85, 264
family relationships
fathers, 150–1
mother relationships, 76–83, 150–1
healthy adolescents, 71–2, 75–6
sexual experiences, 180–2, 184 body image integration, mother relationships, 76–83, 150–1 coping influence, 18, 30, 63, 65
health status evaluation, 65–71 diabetic adolescents perceived health, 40, 66–71
healthy adolescents, 66–8
personality relationship, 18 self-esteem, 63–6
sexuality, see romantic relationships sibling relationships, 151–65
in adolescence, 153–5, 160
age differences, 152–3
ambivalence, 152
birth order effects, 157–8
in chronically ill adolescents, 155–9
dethronement, 152, 156
in diabetic adolescents, 159–61
drug use influence, 154
Index

gender differences, 152–3, 156–7
household duties, 155
illness-specific problems, 158
importance in the family unit, 152–3, 160
psychosocial adaptation, 157
as risk factor, 162–5
rivalry, 152, 156, 159, 161
social support, 159–61
sickle cell anemia, prevalence, 4 social competence, in peer relationships, 174 social support (see also family; friendships; physicians; romantic relationships) coping influence, 17–20, 30, 39, 167
developmental role, 39, 172–3 socioeconomics, compliance association, 19, 31–3 spina bifida, coping strategies, 13 spousal relationships
divorce, 86, 89, 243, 245
husbands desire to be with wife and child, 141–2
marital problems, 140, 144, 159, 247–51
roles, 139–42
wife’s overinvolvement effects, 140–3
stress
academic stress, 190–2
career choices, 192–6, 199
continual stress effects on families, 137–8 coping strategies, see coping
critical life events, 20, 86–90
daily stress, 60, 92–4, 98–101, 137–8
developmental factors, see development
divorce, 86, 89, 243, 245
gender differences, 17, 107–8
illness duration effects, 15, 45, 99, 101, 107, 271
illness phases
diagnosis, 109–13, 270
early years following manifestation, 113–17, 143, 270–1 illness severity effects, 14–15 illness-specific stressors, 12, 21–2, 92–3, 98–103 normative versus nonnormative stress, 20, 85–8
overview, 84
perceptions of stress adolescent–adult discrepancies, 90–2 anxiety disorders, 22–3, 220, 222
changes over time, 93–5
personality effects, 13, 18 stressor types, 20, 85–8 timing and synchronism of stressors, 85–8 study methods, see longitudinal studies T
treatment, see intervention
U
unemployment, stress, 192, 196
W
wives, see spousal relationships