The notion of a European constitution has, until recently, received unfavourable reactions within the European Union, with controversy surrounding its political and legal implications. Criticism has largely revolved around the threat of an emerging European federal state. Today, however, constitution-building has become a major point of debate among members of the European Community as the drafting of a European Constitution becomes more imminent. European Constitutionalism Beyond the State brings together some of the most innovative scholars in the field to highlight different facets of the new constitutional discussion. Provoking deep analysis of the different ideas of constitution and constitutionalism, the book delineates new ways of thinking about the future of Europe. In particular, it aims to challenge the idea of the European Union as an evolving federal polity. This book will appeal to anyone interested in the timely subject of constitutionalism, including students and practitioners of law, politics and philosophy.

J. H. H. Weiler is European Union Jean Monnet Professor at New York University School of Law, where he is the Director of the Jean Monnet Center for International and Regional Economic Law and Justice. His most recent publications include The Constitution of Europe: Do the New Clothes have an Emperor? (1999), Kompetenzen und Grundrechte (with Bruno Simma and Markus C. Zöckler, 1999), The EU, the WTO, and the NAFTA: Towards a Common Law of International Trade? (2000) and The European Court of Justice (edited, with Grainne de Burca, 2000).

Contributors include Philip Allott, Renaud Dehousse, Miguel Poiares Maduro, Francis Snyder, Neil Walker, J. H. H. Weiler, Antje Wiener and Marlene Wind.
EUROPEAN
CONSTITUTIONALISM
BEYOND THE STATE

Edited by
J. H. H. WEILER AND MARLENE WIND
CONTENTS

Notes on contributors page vii

Introduction: European constitutionalism beyond the state 1
  J. H. H. Weiler and Marlene Wind

PART I

1 In defence of the status quo: Europe's constitutional Sonderweg 7
  J. H. H. Weiler

PART II

2 Postnational constitutionalism and the problem of translation 27
  Neil Walker

3 The unfinished constitution of the European Union: principles, processes and culture 55
  Francis Snyder

4 Europe and the constitution: what if this is as good as it gets? 74
  Miguel Pioares Maduro

5 The European Union as a polycentric polity: returning to a neo-medieval Europe? 103
  Marlene Wind
PART III

6 Beyond representative democracy: constitutionalism in a polycentric polity  135
   Renaud Dehousse

7 Finality vs. enlargement: constitutive practices and opposing rationales in the reconstruction of Europe  157
   Antje Wiener

8 Epilogue: Europe and the dream of reason  202
   Philip Allott

Index  226
CONTRIBUTORS

PHILIP ALLOTT is Professor of International Public Law in the University of Cambridge and a Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge. He was formerly a Legal Counsellor in the British Foreign and Commonwealth Office. He is the author of Eunomia. New Order for a New World (Oxford University Press, 1990/2001) and The Health of Nations. Society and Law beyond the State (Cambridge University Press, 2002).

RENAUD DEHOUSSÉ is Jean Monnet Professor of EU Law at the Institut d’Etudes politiques de Paris (Sciences Po) and Research Director at Notre Europe, a Paris-based think tank established and directed by Jacques Delors. He holds a PhD in Law from the European University Institute (Florence). He has held regular appointments at the European University Institute, Florence and at the University of Pisa. He had been adviser to various units of the European Commission and to the French Government on various issues. His recent work has focused in particular on the transformation of European governance, with specific reference to the growing importance of transnational bureaucratic structures (comitology, European agencies), as well as on the influence of the European Court of Justice on European policies. (For a list of publications, see http://www.portedeurope.org/centre-europeen/whoiswho/dehousse.htm.)

MIGUEL POIARES MADURO is a Professor of European and International Law at the Universidade Nova de Lisboa. He is a Doctor of Laws by the European University Institute (Florence) where he was also a research assistant and Fellow. He is also an external Professor at the College of Europe (Natolin) Instituto Ortega y Gasset (Madrid) and the Institute of European Studies of Macao (China). He has taught at numerous other places including the European Masters on Human Rights and Democratisation and the Dubrovnik Summer Academy on Human Rights. He has been Fulbright Visiting Research Scholar at Harvard Law School. He is Co-Director of the Academy of International Trade Law (Macao).
co-edited with Joseph Weiler the Special Book Review Issue of the European Law Journal and is currently a member of the editorial board of the same journal. He is co-editor with Francis Snyder of the Hart Publishers Series Studies in European Law and Integration. He was the first winner of the Rowe and Maw Prize and winner of the Prize Obiettivo Europa (for the best PhD thesis at the EUI). He is the author of We the Court – The European Court of Justice and the European Economic Constitution (Oxford, Hart Publishing, 1997) and is currently preparing, with Damian Chalmers, a textbook on EU Law to be published by Cambridge University Press. He has published in several languages on issues regarding EU Law, European Constitutionalism, International Trade Law, Governance Issues and Human Rights.

Francis Snyder, Officier de l’Ordre des Palmes Académiques, is Professor of Public Law at the Université d’Aix-Marseille III, Centennial Visiting Professor at the London School of Economics and Professor of Law at the College of Europe (Bruges and Natolin). He serves as Co-Director of the Academy of International Trade Law (Macao, China). He is the Editor-in-Chief of the European Law Journal. His most recent books include International Trade and Customs Law of the European Union (Butterworths, 1998); The Europeanisation of Law: The Legal Effects of European Integration (editor) (Hart Publishing, Oxford, 2000); Regional and Global Regulation of International Trade (editor) (Hart Publishing, Oxford, 2001); and La Sécurité alimentaire dans l’Union européenne (co-editor) (Bruylant, Brussels, 2003).

Neil Walker has been Professor of European Law at the European University Institute, Fiesole since 2000, and before that he held posts in the Universities of Edinburgh and Aberdeen. He is the author of many articles and books on constitutional law in the UK and European context, and also on related matters of transnational police and justice co-operation. His most recent book is an edited collection on the development of sovereignty in the European Union (Sovereignty in Transition, Hart, 2003).

Antje Wiener is Professor of Political Science at Queen’s University, Belfast. Her publications include European Citizenship Practice – Building Institutions of a Non-State (Westview, 1998); European Integration After Amsterdam (with K. Neunreither) (Oxford, 2001); The Social Construction of Europe (with Th. Christiansen and K. E. Joergensen) (SAGE) and Evolving Norms of Constitutionalism (with J. Shaw) (Blackwell). She is currently completing a manuscript on ‘The Invisible Constitution’ of politics.