Contents

List of figures
Preface
List of abbreviations

Introduction: rethinking the foundations of modern international thought

I HISTORIOGRAPHICAL FOUNDATIONS
1 The international turn in intellectual history
2 Is there a pre-history of globalisation?
3 The elephant and the whale: empires and oceans in world history

II SEVENTEENTH-CENTURY FOUNDATIONS: HOBBS AND LOCKE
4 Hobbes and the foundations of modern international thought
5 John Locke’s international thought
6 John Locke, Carolina and the Two Treatises of Government
7 John Locke: theorist of empire?

III EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY FOUNDATIONS
8 Parliament and international law in eighteenth-century Britain
9 Edmund Burke and reason of state
10 Globalising Jeremy Bentham
Contents

IV Building on the Foundations: Making States since 1776

11 The Declaration of Independence and international law 191

12 Declarations of independence, 1776–2012 215

Bibliography 233

Index 292
Figures

2.1 Relative frequency of ‘globalisation’/‘globalization’ in English-language works, 1980–2008
2.2 Relative frequency of the terms ‘global’, ‘international’ and ‘transnational’ in English-language works, 1900–2008