Index

abandoned cubs 315
abdominal effusions 75, 75–76 see also ascites abortion 395
acrosomal integrity 171–175 membranes 164, 164–165 reaction 169–171, 170, 485 adaptations to captive environment 346–347, 514 dental/skeletal 102, 102, 380–381 digestive system 102–105, 378–380, 379 highly specialised 378
vocalisation 382–383, 383
see also anatomy/physiology Adventure World (Japan) 202 Aeromonas 366
age, and reproductive traits 176 ageing see geriatric animals aggression, male and cub rearing practices 334 historical perspectives 458
life history/behavioural traits 87, 94–96, 97 and mating 159, 289–292, 290 see also below play fighting 338, 338, 348
role of AI 490
selection against 346–347 aggressive behaviour management 98, 346–347, 348 hyper-aggression/misdirection of aggression in captivity 346, 348 opportunities for familiarity 346, 349 seasonal testosterone patterns 346, 348 selection against aggression 346–347 stepwise controlled exposure 347 aggressive behaviour, other animals 344–346 AI (artificial insemination) 469, 470, 471, 471–472 for aggressive pairs 490
anaesthesia 471
at Chengdu Research Base 485–490
cold storage of semen 479, 484 combined AI/natural mating 474, 479, 484 comparative data 471–472 critically ill sperm donor 474, 474–479, 490
future priorities 490–491
and gene diversity 491
historical perspectives 458, 461
for inexperienced animals 490 insemination methodology 471 for mate incompatibility 470 and natural mating 263–266, 479, 484 number of sperm required 491 oestrus, indications 471 results, reproductive successes 473–474, 474 semen processing for assisted breeding 470–471 testing/improving efficiency 491 timing of 484, 491 see also vaginal cytology transcervical 479, 479
AI (artificial insemination) (cont.)
ultrasound assessments, Berlin Zoo 415, 428, 428–431, 429 ultrasound assessments, San Diego Zoo 431–437, 432, 433, 434 for weak sexual behaviour 470, 485, 490 at Wolong Center 474, 474–484 see also genome resource banks;
sperm cryopreservation
allergies 393–394
soybean meal 394
altricial offspring 383, 471
immune system
underdevelopment 384
prolonged/high dependency 315, 342, 348 ambassadorial value, ex situ population 11 American Zoo and Aquarium Association (AZA) 20
anaesthesia 60–61, 61, 66–68
for AI 160, 471
alternative approaches 375 anaesthetic maintenance techniques 360–361 avoiding use 411–412, 469 see also restraint with no sedation biomedical survey 40
blindfolding 357
cheetah biomedical survey 20–21 documentation/record forms 361 for electroejaculation 360 emergence/recovery 361–362 endoscopy, gastrointestinal 442–443 endotracheal intubation 358, 358–359 fluid/temperature management 360 and hypertension 372 induction/intubation 357–359 intravenous catheter 359 isoflurane delivery system 358 ketamine hydrochloride 357 medical management 355–362, 356 oxygen facemask 357, 358 physiologic monitoring 357 pre-procedural planning 355–356 staffing/personnel 360–361 supplementary anaesthesia 358, 358 ultrasound assessments 411, 417–418 vital sign monitoring 360 anatomy/physiology 378
dietary/digestive adaptations 102–105, 378–380, 379 elongated radial sesamoid bone 102 gastrointestinal tract 102–105 highly specialised nature 378
microbial symbionts 104 skeletal 380–381
skull/dental modifications 102 urinogenital 381, 381–382, 382 for vocalisation 382–383, 383 androgen profiles, males 219, 219–221, 225–226
RIA 206
Annual Technical Meeting for Giant Pandas 25, 26 anorexia 401
geriatric animals 368
anovulatory endocrine profile 211 anthropogenic stress see stress anti-inflammatory medication 368–370 appetite, reduced, in geriatric animals 368 artificial insemination see AI ascarid infection (Baylisascaris schroederi) 78–79, 364–365, 366, 388 ascites (fluid accumulation) 367, 394, 416, 418–419, 438 see also abdominal effusions assisted breeding 469, 470–471
see also AI
atropine see anaesthesia avoidance, stress 302–303
and enclosure size 299
AZA (American Zoo and Aquarium Association) 20 bacteria diarrhoea see enteritis, haemorrhagic/bacterial diarrhoea
microbial symbionts 104
pathogens 366
see also infection
baiji river dolphin population, habitat viability assessment 25 bamboo 101, 102, 113–115 digestion 108–113, 388 logistics of supply 124–125, 281, 295 nutritional constituents 115 as primary food 129–130 protein 123
selective intake 105 species consumed 115
see also food; nutrition Bashania fargesii 113 see also bamboo Baylisascaris schroederi 78–79, 364–365, 366, 388, 388 behaviour
aggressive see aggressive behaviour repetitive see stereotypes behavioural conditioning see operant conditioning behavioural deficits
biomedical survey 40, 49
and cub rearing practices 334
behavioural homeostasis 302 behavioural management strategies, Wolong Center abnormal behaviours 276–277 behavioural signs of oestrus 287 conservation initiatives/reintroduction 296 cross-disciplinary studies 296
data gathering 295–296
empty time 282
ethological needs model of motivation 276
future priorities 294–296
improved captive breeding success 275–276 natural mating/cub rearing aims 275 olfactory management 286 reproduction in the wild 274 reproductive behaviour studies 287 scientific application, value of 294 social traits relevant to reproduction 285–286
stereotypies 276–277, 277
and suboptimal enclosures 276 targeting needs 274–275
see also environmental enrichment; mating introductions; neonatal management; operant conditioning behavioural responses to stress 304–305, 306–307 assessment 302–303
avoidance 302–303
conserve-withdraw response 302
and enclosure size 299
fight-flight response 302
measuring 301–302
behavioural survey data 92–96, 92–96 behavioural traits see life history/behavioural traits Beijing Zoo 25
Berlin Zoo, ultrasound health assessments 411, 411–417
AI guided/post-breeding monitoring 415, 428, 428–431, 429
anaesthesia 411
for ascites removal 416
for catheterisation 415–416 conscious assessment 411–412
drawing of female urinogenital tract 419, 424 to determine ovarian functioning 416 for general health assessment 416–417
pancreatitis 416, 417
prostate gland, presence 425
reproductive assessments, females 419, 419–422 reproductive assessments, males 424, 424–428
transabdominal 411
transcervical (for AI) 415
transcutaneous/transrectal 414, 414 biodiversity 539
biological data see data biomaterials, minimal export 34, 247
biomedical approach, need for 32 biomedical survey, reproductive success in captivity 245, 365, 462, 499, 499–500
anaesthesia 40
behavioural deficiencies 40, 49
biomaterials, minimal export 34 communication/translation 38 conclusions 52
cross-cultural learning/working 34, 53–54, 521–522 data/information 37, 52, 53 disease monitoring 53
factors limiting 38
funding/donors 38–40, 40
future priorities 52–54
genetic management plan 53 genetic over-representation 48, 48 historical/behavioural data collection 43–44 biomedical survey, reproductive success in captivity (cont.)
implementation 33–35
leadership 33
management, population 37–38 measuring stress in wild pandas 53
MOU (memorandum of understanding) 34, 40, 54–58 nutrition survey 43 participating institutions/investigators 38–39 physical examination 41–43 planning 32 radio-collars ban 53
reintroduction 53
reporting/sharing results 34 reproductive potential 44–45 respect for hosts 34
results 44–46
rules/guidelines 34–35
semen collection 41
skills diversity 38, 52–54 skin biopsy 41
Stunted Development Syndrome 50, 50–51 suboptimal nutrition 49–50 timid diversity 34 testicular hypoplasia/atrophy 51–52 timing 40
tattooing 41, 42
transponder chipping 40–41, 42 unknown paternity 46, 47, 53
blindfolding 357
blood pressure see hypertension/epistaxis blood sampling avoiding stress of 224–225 without sedation 355 brain function, effects of environmental enrichment 294–295 breeding 3–4
behaviour and management working group, CBSG 30 behavioural management strategies 287, 287
and behavioural traits see life history/behavioural traits delayed 338–339, 348 historical perspectives see historical perspectives on breeding male breeding history, morphometric/testicular traits 160–161, 171, 171–174 vs non-breeding males 176, 176–179 programmes 456, 512–514 recommendations see demographic/genetic trends analysis self-sustainability goal 59–60, 85, 245–246, 456, 527 success in captivity see biomedical survey; success (captive breeding) wild vs. captive males 176, 176, 499, 499–500 see also aggression; endocrinology (reproductive hormones); pregnancy; reproductive biology cage restraint 354
squeeze 232
Canoidea socialization studies 334 capacitation, sperm 169–171, 170, 485 captive animals see ex situ population captive management working group, CBSG 378
carbohydrates 121–122
carcinoma, squamous cell 81 cardiac disease 402, 402–403 caregivers, human 317 cat socialization, domestic 345–346 catarrhal/mucus excretion 387–388 catastrophe modelling 511 catheterisation, semen collection 415–416 CAZG (Chinese Association of Zoological Gardens) 23–31, 39, 524
CBSG see Conservation Breeding Specialist Group Cervus programme 250–251 charisma, giant panda 299, 521 disease 19–22
anaesthesia 20–21
methodological challenges 20 reproductive inefficiency 19–20 Cheetah Species Survival Plan (SSP) 20
Chengdu Base of Giant Panda Breeding 23, 39, 440 Laboratory of Genetics and Reproductive Studies 247 sperm cryobiology 485, 485, 485–490 chewing/mastication, feeding enrichment strategies 281–282, 282, 295 China Conservation and Research Center for the Giant Panda see Wolong Center
China Wildlife and Conservation Association 524
Chinese Association of Zoological Gardens (CAZG) 23–31, 39, 524 Chinese goal of independence, conservation 536 location, training courses 536 Chongqing Zoo 39
chronic shifts 242
clinical pathology 65–66, 68, 68–72 see also diseases/pathology cold storage, sperm see sperm cryopreservation colic 366
colitis, catarrhal/ulcerative 387–388
collaborating organisations endocrinology 200 paternity assessment 247 see also partnerships colonoscopy 451, 451–452
colostrum 320–321, 330–331, 384
colour-flow imaging 437
Columbus Zoo 39
communication/translation biomedical survey 38 open see databases/knowledge collection; partnerships counter analysis (Cervus programme) 250–251 counterised record-keeping 96 conditioning see operant conditioning conservation ‘conservation assessment and research techniques’ CBSG workshop 528
future priorities 536–539
goals 299
habitat loss 4–5
hedge/insurance role of ex situ population 527–528 in situ 455
initiatives, and behavioural management strategies 296 multidisciplinary nature 523–524 role of zoos 523 training/information sharing needs 528 see also in situ population (status/threats); partnerships Conservation Breeding Specialist Group (CBSG) of IUCN 19, 39, 462 baiji river dolphin population 25
biomedical approach, need for 32
captive management working group 378 consensus/conclusions 31–32 demographics working group 28–29 genome resource bank 30 health/disease priorities 377 masterplan for captive giant pandas 25 mortality, veterinary and nutrition working group 30–31, 378 reproduction, behaviour and management working group 30 role 23–31
South China tiger captive breeding management plan 25 team members 25–26 see also workshop proceedings conserve-withdraw response 302
cooperative strategies see partnerships corticosteroids 217, 217–219, 224–225
RIA 206
courses, training see training courses creatine assessment/fluid balance 203–204 cross-cultural learning/working, biomedical survey 34, 53–54, 521–522 see also partnerships cross-disciplinary studies 296, 438 see also partnerships cross-fostering 343–344, 344, 347 crowds, human see noise stress cryopreservation, sperm see sperm cryopreservation Ibs see neonatal management/neonates cultural/international collaboration see cross-cultural learning/working; see also partnerships cytology, vaginal see vaginal cytology CWCA (China Wildlife and Conservation Association) 524 databases/knowledge collection application to in situ pandas 525 biomedical information 84, 375, 406–407
biomedical survey 37, 43–44, 52, 53 capacity building development 536 improving overall 465–466 databases/knowledge collection (cont.)
information survey, historical lack, wild pandas 6
mutual information sharing 535 reasons for knowledge increase 521, 521–522, 522–523, 539 record-keeping 96, 349
sharing/cooperation 85, 463, 528, 535 species-specific 525–527 see also partnerships; studbooks; training Davis, D. D. 378 decision tree, mating 287, 287, 294 decondensation, sperm 169–171, 485 delayed breeding 338–339, 348 demodecosis 77, 77, 365, 404
demographic/genetic trends analysis 495–497 adaptation to captive environment, avoiding 514 changing demographics in ex situ population 497–502 cooperative strategies 516–518 demographic vs genetic priorities 514–516
excluded groups 506
fecundity 498, 498–499, 500, 500–502
genetic diversity 505, 507, 514
genetic fragmentation 507, 508
genetic management workshop 496
genetic summary, population 506 global captive breeding programme requirement 512–514 heterozygosity 513
inbreeding in managed vs unmanaged populations 508 inbreeding/relatedness avoidance 507, 507–508, 514, 517 life table projections 503–504 management groups 517–518 metapopulation management 512, 513
methodology 497
paternity determination 497, 505–506 paternity uncertainties, resolving 516
pedigree analysis 505
population genetics 505–508 population increases 496, 498 productivity/genetic management strategies 514, 516 sexual incompatibility 499
software 497, 508
Species Survival Plan (SSP) 496
studbooks 495–496, 516 survival 502–503, 503
wild/captive reproductive success 499, 499–500 wild-caught animal input 506–507 wild panda sperm collection 513 see also population modelling demographics working group, CBSG 28–29 dental adaptations 102, 102, 380–381 dental disease 76–77, 373, 373–374 antibacterial therapy 374
see also oral pathology depression, emotional 401 development, stunted see Stunted Development Syndrome diabetes insipidus 400–401 diarrhoea, haemorrhagic/bacterial 390, 390–392 diet see bamboo; food; nutrition digestive system 386
adaptations 102–105, 378–380, 379 allergies 393–394
ascites 394
colitis, catarrhal/ulcerative 387–388 dietary factors 388 digestive capabilities 108, 108–113 disorders 366
microbial symbionts 104 mucus excretion 104, 387–388 mixing 113
pancreatitis 366
rates of transit 112–113, 113, 118–124
vomiting 393
see also enteritis; oral cavity pathology; parasites; viral diseases diseases/pathology 377–378 abdominal effusions 75, 75–76 ascites (fluid accumulation) 367 cardiac 402, 402–403 clinical pathology 65–66, 68, 68–72
colic 366
demodecosis 77, 404
diabetes insipidus 400–401
and emotional factors 401 fits/seizures 401, 402
future priorities 406–407
infectious disease research 466 monitoring, biomedical survey 53 multi-systemic illness 392
musculoskeletal system 404 neurological system 401–402 ocular system 404–406
and reintroductions into wild 377–378
respiratory system 403
testicular hypoplasia 79, 79–81 uterine/cervical infection 81, 81 veterinary training priorities 378
see also anatomy/physiology;
digestive system; geriatric animals; medical issues/management; neonatal pathology; parasites; renal system; reproductive biology; skin disease;
Stunted Development Syndrome; viral disease distemper virus vaccinations 364 distribution see population distribution diversity, genetic see genetic diversity DNA extraction 248, 248–249
DNA sequencing 248 see also genotyping dolphin populations, habitat viability assessment 25
domestic carnivores, socialization 336 domestic cat socialization 345–346 duodenoscopy 449–451
early socialization see rearing;
socialization
E. coli 390
educational value, ex situ population 11–12
electroejaculation 360, 415–416 see also sperm/semen
embryonic mortality/abortion 395 emotional factors, and health 401 empty time behavioural management strategies 282
enclosures size 279–280
and stress 299
structural complexity/choice options 280, 280–281, 295 suboptimal 276
visits by cubs 319–320
see also environmental enrichment; housing endangered species see in situ (wild) population, status/threats
gastroscopy 447–449, 448, 452
gastric ulcers 448, 448
endocrinology, reproductive hormones animals studied 200 collaborating organisations 200 delayed implantation 198
endocrine profiles see above
gestation span 198
monitoring and management 226–227
oestrus, behavioural changes 198
pregnancy, behavioural changes 198
pseudopregnancy 198–199
see also urine/faecal hormone measurements
endomyocardial fibrosis 402, 402–403
endoscopy, gastrointestinal 440–441
anaesthesia 442–443
animals evaluated 441
colonoscopy 451, 451–452
correlations with specific histories 453
duodenoscopy 449–451
enemas 442
equipment 443–444
fasting 441
future priorities 452–453
gastric ulcers 448, 448, 452
gastroscopy 447–449, 448, 452
laparoscopy 440
methodology 441–444
oesophagoscopy 444–446
preparation 441, 441–442 results/discussion 444–452 veterinary staff training 453 wider use of technique 453
-endotraceal intubation 358, 358–359
enemas 442
environmental enrichment
see environmental enrichment enteritis, haemorrhagic/bacterial diarrhoea 390, 390–392
dietary modifications 390
E. coli 390
and multi-systemic illness 392 oral inoculation 390

Cambridge University Press
978–0–521–83295–3 - Giant Pandas: Biology, Veterinary Medicine and Management Edited by David E. Wildt, Anju Zhang, Hemin Zhang, Donald L. Janssen and Susie Ellis
Index
More information

© Cambridge University Press
www.cambridge.org
environmental enrichment diet supplementation/enrichment strategies 281–282, 282, 295
  effects on health/brain function 294–295
  ensuring bamboo supply 281, 295
  implementation 466–469
  measuring 284–285, 294
  novel items 284
  observing natural situation 277 tailored programmes 295 temporal feeding pattern alterations 283–284
  see also enclosures
  enzyme immunoassays (EIAs) 207–208 oestrogen conjugate EIA 207
  progestin EIA 207–208
  RIA vs EIA 204
  escape response see avoidance Escherichia coli 390
  ethograms, stress 307, 307 ethological needs model of motivation 276 see also behavioural management
  strategies
  Euler equation 503–504
  ex situ (captive) population changing demographics 497–502 first cub 455, 457
  global breeding programme requirement 512–514
  hedge/insurance role 527–528 masterplan 25
  reproductive success see reproductive success in captivity
  status/threats to 9–11
  as threat to in situ population 6–7
  value see below ex situ population, value 11–14 ambassadorial 11
  educational 11–12
  funding 12–13
  insurance 12 research 13
  unknown 13–14
  Western 7–9
  excretion
  mucus 104, 128, 130, 387–388 neonates 325, 329–330, 330
  see also faeces; urinary/faecal hormone measurements export/import biomaterials, avoiding 34, 247 policies 522
  extinction risk 511–512 eye 404–406 examinations without sedation 355 and UV radiation 405
  faeces 126, 126–128
  analysis 268, 270 hormone analysis 204, 213, 213 see also urinary/faecal hormone measurements
  mucus excretion 104, 128, 130, 387–388
  neonates 325, 329–330, 330
  Fargesia spathacea 113 see also bamboo fasting, for endoscopy 441 fat 123
  fecundity 498, 498–499, 500
  age-specific 500, 500–502 see also demographic/genetic trends analysis
  feeding/nutrition, neonates 128–129, 318, 320–327
  apparatus 323–324
 colostrum 320–321, 330–331, 331, 384
  formula milk 321
  see also hand rearing maternal milk 321
  position 316, 325–326
  regimes 325, 325–326 transitions 326–327
  tube feeding compromised infants 324–325
  weaning onto solids 326–327
  see also food (adults); nutrition females
  gonadotrophin-treated/untreated females 213, 213–217, 217
  ultrasound health assessments 419, 419–422, 422, 422–424 urinogenital tract 419, 424
  see also maternal behaviour; pregnancy; vaginal cytology fertility onset, male 194 fibre, dietary 121–122
  and health 388
  lignin 111
  supplementation/feeding enrichment strategies 281–282, 282, 295
  fight-flight response 302
  fighting, play 338, 338, 348 see also aggression financial issues see funding fluid accumulation see ascites balance, assessment 203–204 foetal development 438
food, adults
  geophagia 115–117
  lignin 111
non-bamboo foods 115–117, 124, 125–126 sources, wild pandas 6 timing alterations 283–284 see also bamboo; feeding (neonates); nutrition formula milk 321, 321–323, 323
founders 506–507
fragmentation, genetic 507, 508 freezing/frozen sperm see sperm cryopreservation funding
  biomedical survey 38–40, 40
  loans, panda 537–538
  and panda charisma 522–523 value of ex situ population 12–13
future priorities 14
AI 490–491
alternative anaesthetic approaches 375 behavioural competencies for reintroduction 98
behavioural management strategies 294–296, 469 capacity building programme development 536
colour-flow imaging 437
computerised record-keeping 96 conservation/reintroduction 296, 536–539 continuing routine medical examinations 84 cooperation/partnerships 296, 407, 536–539 cub rearing management 87–88, 97–98
data gathering 84, 295–296, 375, 406–407 demographic 516–518 diet/nutrition 129–130
diseases 85, 377, 406–407
disease monitoring 53
endoscopy, gastrointestinal 452–453
enhanced reproductive representation 462–465 enrichment, implementation 295, 466–469 establishing successful breeding traits 98 foetal development studies 438 genetic management planning 53 genome banks 194, 270, 492–493
 improve overall health knowledge 465–466
 infectious disease research 466
 increase cub survival 465 information/technology sharing/transfer 85
 life history/behavioural traits 96–99
 loans, North American zoos 536–537 male seasonality studies 194
 measuring stress in wild pandas 53 medical management studies 374–375 microsatellite analysis, faecal/hair samples 268, 270 miniaturisation, instruments 437 neonatal management studies 194 operant conditioning 368, 375 optimising use of frozen-thawed sperms 193–194 ovulation-determination, ultrasound 438 paternity assessment 268–271
 pregnancy diagnosis 438 rearing practices 347–349
 record-keeping 349
 reintroduction 53
 reproductive biology 52–54, 193–194
 species-specific instruments 437 speed up research progress 469–470
 Stunted Development Syndrome 83, 438
 testicular hypoplasia/atrophy studies 194 ultrasound use 437–438 urinary/faecal hormone measurements 221–226 vaginal cytology 241–242
gastric ulcers 448, 448, 452
 gastrointestinal distress 387–388 see also digestive system gastrointestinal endoscopy see endoscopy General Adaptation Syndrome 301 genetic diversity 505, 507, 514
and AI 491
Laboratory of Genomic Diversity, USA 248 maintenance goal 246
see also heterozygosity; inbreeding/relatedness genetic/s fragmentation 507, 508
management 53, 492–493, 496 over-representation 48, 48 see also genetic diversity; heterozygosity; inbreeding/relatedness population see population genetics see also demographic/genetic trends
genome resource banks (GRBs) 183–184, 270, 469, 485 Action Plans 492
CBSG 30
developing 194, 270
global management plans 493 strategies/facilities for genetic management 492–493 wild male sperm banking 493 see also semen cryopreservation genotyping facility, development of 247–248, 248 training seminar 248
geophagia 115–117
geriatric animals 353–354, 367–368
anorexia/reduced appetite 368
dental disease 373, 373–374
operant conditioning 368
quality of life 368, 370, 374, 375 see also hypertension/epistaxis; osteoarthritis; renal insufficiency gestation span 198
giant panda
Annual Technical Meeting for Giant Pandas 25, 26
biological data/tools collection, species-specific 525, 525–527 captive see ex situ population characteristics charisma/unicqueness fascination 1–3, 299, 521 current distribution 463, 463 emblem of fragile biodiversity 539 as endangered species see in situ (wild) population, status/threats as flagship for cooperation 539 Genome Resource Bank (GRB) 183 iconic status 1
in situ see wild population juveniles/cubs see neonatal management population see population range map, wild populations survival, demographic trends 502–503, 503 wild see in situ population GRBs see genome resource banks habitat loss, wild pandas 4–5 hair samples analysis 268, 270 hand rearing 292, 315–316 abandonment 315
caregivers 317
housing/environmental requirements 317, 317 illness/injury 316
incubators 316, 318–319
malpositioning 316
maternal milk supply, inadequate 316 multiple births/twins 316 nursery admittance 316 skin coloration 316
transition housing 319
visits to adult enclosures 319–320 vocalisation/activity levels 316 see also feeding (neonates); neonatal management; rearing; socialization health effects of environmental enrichment 294–295
and emotional factors 401 improve knowledge 465–466 priorities 377
see also diseases/pathology
heterozygosity 513
table 251
see also genetic diversity; inbreeding/relatedness historical information survey 88, 88 historical perspectives on breeding 160, 455–456 AI 458, 461
behaviour management/operant conditioning 469
biomedical survey 43–44
conservation in situ 455
current distribution 463, 463
enhanced reproductive representation 462–465
enrichment, implementation 466–469
Index 551

first ex situ cub 455, 457
future priorities 462
improve overall health knowledge 465–466
infectious disease research 466
male aggression 458
mentoring 463
oestrus failure 458
refusal to mate 458
1990 to present 460–462 partnerships/collaboration 461–462 population 1936–2003 458 resource/knowledge sharing/cooperation 463 speed up progress 469–470 self-sustainability goal, ex situ breeding programmes 456 homeostasis, behavioural 302 hormones see corticosteroids; endocrinology; urinary/faecal hormone measurements hookworms 389
housing/environmental requirements, hand reared cubs 317, 317 transition housing 319
see also enclosures
hunting, wild pandas 6
hyper-aggression/misdirection of aggression in captivity 346, 348 see also aggression hypertension/epistaxis 372–373 and ketamine anaesthesia 372 taking readings 354, 372, 372 hypothalamic-pituitary-adrenal activity (HPA) measures 301–302 illness see diseases/pathology immune system underdevelopment, cubs 384 immunisation see vaccination imunoassays 204
RIA vs EIA 204
see also enzyme immunoassays (EIAs); radioimmunoassays (RIAs) import see export/import in situ (wild) population biological data 525
biomedical survey 53
vs captive males, reproductive success 176, 176, 245, 499, 499–500 conservation 455 endangered see below input to gene pool 506–507 maternal behaviour 293, 339–340 sexual behaviour 274
sperm banking 493, 513
see also reintroduction to wild in situ (wild) population, status/threats to 4–7 from ex situ (captive) population 6–7 food sources 6
habitat loss 4–5
hunting 6
information lack 6
inbreeding/relatedness
avoidance 507–508, 514, 517
genetic estimation 251, 268 managed vs unmanaged populations 508 see also genetic diversity: heterozygosity incubators 316, 318–319
inexperienced animals AI for 490
delayed breeding 338–339, 348 maternal skills 343, 347, 348–349 see also mentoring infection bacterial pathogens 366
neonates 384, 384–386
parasitic see parasites reproductive tract 395 uterine/cervical 81, 81
see also diseases/pathology
infertile animals, evaluating 241 information see databases/knowledge collection inoculation see vaccination insemination methodology see AI insurance value, ex situ population 12 interdisciplinary studies, behavioural management strategies 296
see also partnerships
international learning/working, biomedical survey 34, 521–522
see also partnerships
intubation see anaesthesia isoflurane see anaesthesia IUCN (World Conservation Union Species Survival Commission)
see Conservation Breeding Specialist Group breeding vs non-breeding 176, 176–179 fertility onset 194
prostate gland, presence 425
seasonality studies 194, 346, 348
ultrasound health assessments 424, 424–428, 428 management in China 22–23, 25, 26 CBSG working group 378 genetic 53, 246, 492–493, 496 genetics workshop 496 groups, demographic/genetic trends analysis 517–518
nutritional 124–126
olfactory 286
population 37–38
see also aggressive behaviour management; medical issues/management; neonatal
management
mange, demodectic 77, 77, 365, 404 mastication, feeding enrichment strategies 281–282, 282, 295
maternal behaviour, and cub rearing practices 334, 342–343
critical timeframe determination 343, 348
cross-fostering 343–344, 344, 347 later learning of maternal skills 343, 347, 348–349 over four month cub-dam separation 342, 347
premature (under four month) cub-dam separation 342–343, 349 prolonged dependency 342, 348 maternal behaviour, other animals 340–341
maternal behaviour, wild pandas 293 mating
aggression see aggression
management
assessing AI vs natural 263–266
behavioural management
strategies 275
decision tree 287, 287, 294 incompatibility 470, 499 introduction of animals for 287–292
lordotic posture failure 339 mounting positions 280
multi-male mating strategies in captivity 340, 348–349
natural/ AI combined 263–266, 474, 479, 484
problems and cub rearing practices see sexual behaviour refusal see sexual behaviour, lack of libido separation 292
timing, monitoring see vaginal cytology see also breeding; reproductive biology; sexual behaviour mean kinship see kinship measurements, body see morphometrics medical issues/management, captive populations animals surveyed 60 breeding trauma 367
common medical problems of adults 365–367 continuing routine examinations 84 cooperative programmes 353 data collection 84, 331, 375 disease identification/management 85
future priorities 82–83, 374–375
identification, permanent 63–64 information/technology sharing/transfer 85 interdisciplinary approach 59
laparoscopy 63, 440
morphometric methods/results 64–65, 68, 68
operant conditioning 368, 375 procedural techniques 61–63 self-sustainability goal 59–60, 85
semen collection 66
ultrasound 62–63
see also anaesthesia; disease/pathology; geriatric animals; neonatal management; preventive medicine; restraint with no sedation; stunted development syndrome medication
anti-helmintics 365
NSAID 368–370
Mellen, Jill 25
memorandum of understanding (MOU) 34, 40, 54–58
mentoring 463, 490
female maternal skills 343, 347, 348–349 multimale mating strategies 340, 348–349 see also inexperienced animals Mexico, Zoológico de Chapultepec 202 microchip transponders 63–64
microbial symbionts 104
microsatellite analysis, faecal/hair samples 268, 270
milk collection without sedation 354 formula 321, 321–323, 323 inadequate 316
maternal 321
Miller, Philip 25
missionary approach, avoiding 34, 521–522 morphometrics 64–65, 68, 68 and diet/nutrition 126 male breeding/testicular traits 160–161, 171, 171–174
neonates 327, 327–328, 328
mortality, veterinary and nutrition working group, CBSG 30–31, 378 see also neonatal mortality motivation, ethological needs model 276 see also behavioural management strategies MOU (memorandum of understanding), biomedical survey 34, 40, 54–58 mounting positions 290
lordotic posture 339
mucus excretion, digestive 104, 128, 130, 387–388 multi-disciplinary nature of conservation work 523–524 skills diversity, biomedical survey 38, 52–54
musculoskeletal system 404
National Conservation Management Plan for China 377 natural (combined mating 263–266, 474, 479, 484 conditions, approximating to 277 see also enclosure design; environmental enrichment nature reserves 455 neonatal management/neonates 292–294 birth weights 327
body weight/growth monitoring 327, 327–328, 328 database 331
excreta 325, 329–330, 330
future priorities 331–332
immunoglobulin transfer 330–331 medical issues 330–331 neonatal/management/neonates (cont.)
natural/dam rearing 292–293 peer exposure 293, 348
placentation, endotheliochorial 330
and reintroduction to wild 293 temperature monitoring 328–329
twin swapping 316, 330
twins 293–294
weaning 293
wild panda maternal behaviour 293
see also altricial offspring; feeding/nutrition; hand rearing; rearing;
socialization
neonatal mortality embryonic mortality/abortion 395 1963–2002 457
reducing 460–461, 465
neonatal pathology 383–386 bacterial infection 330, 384, 384–386
and hand rearing 316
immune system
underdevelopment 384
post-weaning stress 294
twinning 383
neurological system 401–402
fits/seizures 401, 402
noise stress, anthropogenic 303–305
analysis of impact, methodology 303–304
charisma/crowd attraction 299 ethograms 307, 307
findings 311
hypotheses tested 311
independent variables/stressors 305–306
monitoring 305–307, 307–309, 307–311
reactive responses 304–305, 305–307
and reproductive failure 303 nonhuman primate socialization studies 334, 335–336, 340–341, 344–345
North America
Cheetah Species Survival Plan (SSP) 20
panda loans see loans
see also USA
NSAID medication 368–370 nutrition/diet 101–102
allergies 394
anatomical adaptations see anatomical adaptations to herbivory
biomedical survey 43
body mass 126
carbohydrates 121–122
enrichment strategies 281–282, 282, 295
and enteritis 390
evaluation/assessment 126–128
faeces 126, 126–128
fat 123
fibre 121–122
future priorities 129–130
and habitat restriction by humans 123
and ill-health 388
life stage considerations 128–129 management/dietary husbandry 124–126
nutrient guidelines 118–124
protein 122–123
requirements/availability 117–118, 118
suboptimal, biomedical survey 49–50
vitamins/minerals 124
water 118–121
see also bamboo; food ocular system see eye
oesophagoscopy 444–446
oestrus 221–223
conjugate EIA 207
conjugate RIA 205
and reproductive failure 458
indications, for AI 471 monitoring for timed matings 239–241 see also vaginal cytology pubertal endocrine profile 211
short oestrus period 87
ultrasound assessments 416, 438
olfactory management 286
open communication see database knowledge collection;
partnerships
operant conditioning 368, 375, 469
for vaginal swabs 232, 233, 233, 241, 354
see also restraint with no sedation
opposable thumb (elongated radial sesamoid bone) 102, 102 oral cavity pathology 386–387, 386 see also dental disease oral inoculation, enteritis 390 osteoarthritis 368–370
anti-inflammatory medication 368–370
radiographic indicators 368, 368
vertebral spondylosis 368
ovarian functioning see oestrus pacing see stereotypies pancreatitis, ultrasound assessments 416, 417 parasites 364–365, 388–390
anti-helmintics 365
ascarids (Baylisascaris schroederi) 78–79, 364–365, 366, 388, 388 demodectic mange 389
protozoan 389
roundworm 389
parentage see paternity, assessment of unknown partnerships, human 18–19, 21–22, 461–462, 520–521
biomedical information 407
biomedical survey 34, 38
CBSG/Chinese federal agencies level 524 cross-cultural learning/working, biomedical survey 34, 53–54, 521–522
cross-disciplinary studies 296, 438
CWCA/CAZG/western zoos level 524 demographic/genetic trends analysis 516–518
endocrinology 200
ex situ/in situ benefits 520, 538 fostering 523–525, 538–539 individual/personal interactional level 524–525 information sharing/cooperation 85, 463, 528, 535 international relationships 521–522 multi-disciplinary nature of conservation work 523–524 multi-disciplinary skills diversity, biomedical survey 38, 52–54 mutual information sharing 535 panda as flagship for cooperation 539 paternity assessment 247
team diversity 34
see also databases/knowledge collection; training opportunities/courses parvovirus vaccinations 364 paternity, assessment of unknown 246–247, 258, 497, 505–506, 516 addressing 258–263 assessing AI vs natural mating 263–266 avoiding export of biomaterials 247
biomedical survey 46, 47, 53
computer analysis (Cervus programme) 250–251
DNA extraction 248, 248–249
DNA sequencer 248
future priorities 268–271
genetic diversity maintenance goal 246 genetic management need 246 genetic relatedness estimation 251, 268
genome banks 268
patient exposure, development of 247–248, 248 heterozygosity table 251 low reproductive success in captivity 245 microsatellite analysis, faecal/hair samples 268, 270 paternity assessment example 251, 251–258, 252 pedigree construction 251, 251 PCR (polymerase chain reaction) amplification 249–250
self-sustainability goal 245–246
training seminar 248
twins/genetic over-representation 266, 266 validation with blinded samples 258 pathology see diseases/pathology:
neonatal pathology
PCR (polymerase chain reaction) amplification 249–250
pedigree analysis 505
construction 251, 263
peer exposure
neonatal management 293, 348
play fighting 338, 338, 348 peri-oestrual endocrine profile 208–209, 209 Phillips, Lyndsay 25
Phyllostachys nigra 115 see also bamboo physiology see anatomy/physiology placentation, endothermochorial 330 play fighting 338, 338, 348
poaching, wild pandas 6 polymerase chain reaction (PCR) amplification 249–250
population
  current distribution 463, 463
  ex situ (captive) see ex situ population increases 496, 498, 498 management, biomedical survey 37–38 1936–2003 458
  wild see in situ population population genetics 505–508
  excluded groups 506
  genetic diversity 505, 507, 514
  genetic fragmentation 507, 508
  genetic summary, population 506
  inbreeding/relatedness avoidance 507–508, 514
  paternity determination 497, 505–506
  pedigree analysis 505
  summary 506
  wild-caught animal input 506–507
  see also demographic/genetic trends population modelling 508, 511
catastrophe modelling 511
extinction risk 511–512
input parameters 508, 510 mean kinship 510, 514–516, 515 scenarios modelled 508–510 starting conditions 511
see also demographic/genetic trends practice see inexperienced animals; see also mentoring pregnanediol-3-glucuronide (PdG) RIA 205–206 pregnancy behavioural changes 198 delayed implantation 198
  diagnosis 438
  endocrine profile 209–210, 211
  foetal development 438
  ultrasound assessments 422, 422–424, 428, 428
preventive medicine 362 quarantine procedures 363 routine examinations 362–363 see also parasites; vaccinations progestins 223–224
EIA 207–208
progesterone excretion over successive years 211, 211–212 prostate gland, ultrasound assessments 425 protein 122–123
protozoan parasites 389 psychological well-being 401
pseudopregnancy 198–199
puberal oestrus endocrine profile 211 pyelonephritis/anaemia in adult 398, 398
quality of life 368, 370, 374, 375 rabies vaccinations 364 radial sesamoid bone 102, 102 radiography without sedation 355 radioimmunoassays (RIAs) 205–206
androgen 206
corticosteroid 206
oestrogen conjugate 205 pregnanediol-3-glucuronide (PdG) 205–206
RIA vs EIA 204
radiotelemetry collars 312 ban 53
rearing 87–88, 97–98
future priorities 347–349
by humans see hand rearing influence on behaviour see socialization, early peer group and subsequent development 348
record-keeping 349
research methodology 335
and subsequent maternal behaviour see maternal behaviour and subsequent sexual behaviour see sexual behaviour
see also aggressive behaviour management; neonatal management record-keeping 349
computerised record-keeping 96
reintroduction to wild
behavioural management strategies 296
biomedical survey 53
establishing behavioural competencies for 98
neonatal management 293
relatedness see inbreeding/relatedness renal system, disease/pathology 396–400 insufficiency 370–372 kidney failure in geriatric panda 399–400 kidney failure in young panda 396–398
pyelonephritis/anaemia in adult 398, 398
see also urinogenital tract repetitive behaviour see stereotypies reproductive biology
acrosomal membranes 164, 164–165
age and reproductive traits 176
anaesthesia 160
animals evaluated 160
breeding vs. non-breeding males 176, 176–179 disease/pathology 394–396
embryonic mortality-abortion 395
future priorities 193–194
goals 159–160, 193 see also self-sustainability GRBs 183, 194
historical data 160 see also historical perspectives on breeding infections of reproductive tract 395 male aggression see aggression
male breeding history, morphometric/testicular traits 160–161, 171, 171–174
male seasonality studies 194 onset of male fertility studies 194 optimising use of frozen-thawed sperm 193–194
and stress 303
testicular anomalies 396, 396
testicular hypoplasia/atrophy studies 179, 179–181, 194
ultrasound assessments 419–422, 422–424, 424–428
uterine lesions 396, 396
see also breeding; mating;
sperm/semen
reproductive potential, biomedical survey 44–45 reproductive success in captivity and AI 473–474, 474
behavioural management strategies 275–276
captive vs wild males 176, 176, 245, 499, 499–500 see also biomedical survey research resource, ex situ (captive) population 13, 37 resources, information see databases/knowledge collection respiratory system 403
restraint with no sedation 354–355 blood pressure monitoring 354
blood sampling 355
milk collection 354
ocular examinations 355 radiography 355
restraint cage 322, 354 ultrasound examinations 354, 354, 411–412 vaginal swabs 232, 233, 233, 241, 354 see also operant conditioning
roundworm 389
Saint Louis Zoo 39
San Diego Zoo 39, 200 see also below
San Diego Zoo, ultrasound health assessments 417–419, 418, 419
AI, guided/post-breeding monitoring 431–437, 432, 433, 434
anaesthesia 417–418
ascites 418–419
reproductive assessments, females 422, 422–424
reproductive assessments, males 428, 428 Seal, Dr Ulysses S. 23, 23–25
seasonality
female see oestrus
male 194, 346, 348
sedation, without restraint see restraint with no sedation; see also anaesthesia selection, against aggression 346–347
see also adaptations
self-sustainability goal, ex situ breeding programmes 59–60, 85, 245–246, 456, 527 semen see sperm/semen sexual behaviour, and cub rearing practices 334, 336–340
delayed breeding 338–339, 348
female oestrus behaviour 336 sex differences 337–338 wild panda observations 339–340
see also aggression; aggressive behaviour management;
mating
sexual behaviour, lack of libido 334, 458
and AI 470, 485, 490
see also aggression; aggressive behaviour management;
mating
sexual behaviour, other animals 335–336 sharing knowledge see databases/knowledge collection; partnerships siblings see peer exposure
SIMPOP 508
Sinarundinaria sp. 115 see also bamboo skeletal adaptations 102, 102, 380–381 skills diversity biomedical survey 38, 52–54
skin biopsy biomedical survey 41 coloration, neonates 316
skull/dental modifications 102, 102, 380–381 Smithsonian’s National Zoological Park 39, 201, 523 social environment 401
social traits relevant to reproduction 285–286 socialization, early contemporary practices/early cub-dam separation 335, 349 influence on later behavioural traits 334
and subsequent maternal behaviour see maternal behaviour
and subsequent sexual behaviour see sexual behaviour
wild panda observations 339–340
socialization, other animals Canoidea studies 334
domestic carnivores 336 domestic cat 345–346
nonhuman primate studies 334, 335–336, 340–341, 344–345 solitary carnivores 341 and subsequent aggressive behaviour 344–346 and subsequent maternal behaviour 340–341 and subsequent sexual behaviour 335–336 wild carnivores 336 worth/value of studying 348
software
Cervus programme 250–251
demographic trends 497, 508
SIMPOP 508
VORTEX 508
solitary carnivores, socialization 341 South China tiger captive breeding management plan, CBSG 25 soybean meal allergies 394 Species Survival Plan (SSP) 496
sperm/semen
banks see genome resource banks capacitation/acrosome reaction/decondensation 169–171, 170, 485 collection 41, 66, 161, 161–162, 499–500 see also electroejaculation critically ill donor 474, 474–479, 490 morphology 163, 163–164, 171–175 motility 169
number required, for AI 491 ovum interaction/zona penetration 169–171, 170, 192, 192–193, 485 processing for assisted breeding 470–471 quality/acrosomal integrity 171–175
ultrasound assessments 415–416
wild panda sperm collection 513
see also AI
sperm cryopreservation 166–169, 183–184, 469, 491
cryobiology 485, 485, 485–490 cryodiluants 165, 182, 182 efficiency at Chengdu Research Base 485, 485,485–490 efficiency at Wolong Center 474, 474–484 freezing method, impact 184–185, 185, 185, 185–187, 187 freezing rate impact 185–187, 185 fresh/cold use 181–183 functionality 191
glycerol temperature/duration of exposure 187–189, 189 optimising use of frozen-thawed sperm 193–194 storage 479, 484 testing/improving efficiency, fresh/thawed 491
see also AI
squamous cell carcinoma 81, 404, 474, 474–479 squeeze cages 232
stereotypies 276–277, 277
and stress 302–303, 311
vomiting 393
stress anthropogenic activities 312 anthropogenic noise see noise avoiding stress of blood testing 224–225
behavioural assessment 302–303
behavioural homeostasis 302 conservation goal, keeping animals in captivity 299 conserve-withdraw response 302
definition of stress 300 deleterious consequences 299 discussion/future priorities 311–312
and enclosure size 299
fight-flight response 302
General Adaptation
Syndrome 301
hormones see corticosteroids hypothalamic-pituitary-adrenal activity (HPA) measures 301–302
individual assessment approach 300 measuring reactive response 301–302
post-weaning 294
radiotelemetry collar 53, 312
stereotypic behaviour 302–303, 311
in wild pandas, biomedical survey 53
studbooks 349, 495–496, 516 see also databases/knowledge collection Stunted Development Syndrome 68, 70, 70–75
biomedical survey 50, 50–51
causality 83, 438
diet 75
disease/infection 75 success, captive breeding see reproductive success
Switzerland see Conservation Breeding Specialist Group (CBSG) of IUCN symbions, microbial 104
tattooing 63–64
biomedical survey 41, 42
team diversity 34
members, CBSG 25–26
see also partnerships
TEST cryodilutant 165 testicular anomalies 396, 396
hypoplasia/atrophy studies 51–52, 79, 79–81, 179, 179–181, 194

morphometric traits 171, 171, 171–174
testosterone patterns, seasonal 346, 348 threats (wild pandas) see in situ population (status/threats) thumb, opposable (elongated radial sesamoid bone) 102, 102 tiger captive breeding management plan, CBSG 25
traffic stress 312
training opportunities/courses 528, 528, 528–535
Chinese independence goal 536 Chinese location 536 mutual information sharing 535
needs 528
seminar, genotyping facility 248 tailored courses 535 training trainers 536 veterinary 378, 453
transabdominal ultrasound assessments 411
transcervical AI 415, 479, 479
transcutaneous/transrectal
ultrasound assessments 414, 414
for ascites removal 416
for catheterisation prior to semen collection by electroejaculation 415–416 to determine ovarian functioning 416
for general health assessment 416–417
pancreatitis 416, 417
transponder chipping biomedical
survey 40–41, 42
trichrome staining 233–236
tube feeding compromised infants 324–325
twins
 genetic over-representation 266, 266
hand rearing 316
neonatal management 293–294
neonatal pathology 383
swapping 316, 330
ulcerative colitis 387–388 ulcers, gastric 448, 448, 452 ultrasonography 62–63, 410–411
AI, Berlin Zoo 415, 428, 428–431, 429
AI, San Diego Zoo 431–437, 432, 433, 434
anaesthesia 411, 417–418
ascites 416, 418–419, 438
ultrasonography (cont.)
  catheterisation 415–416
colour-flow imaging 437
conscious assessment 354, 354, 411–412
cross-disciplinary studies 438
drawing of female urinogenital tract 419, 424
foetal development 438
future priorities/applications 437–438
for general health assessment 416–417 large-scale/wider application 438 miniaturisation 437
ovarian functioning 416, 438
pancreatitis 416, 417
pregnancy diagnosis 438
prostate gland, presence 425
reproductive assessments, females 419, 419–422, 422, 422–424
reproductive assessments, males 424, 424–428, 428
species-specific instruments 437
Stunted Development Syndrome 438
three-dimensional 437
transabdominal 411
transcervical (for AI) 415
transcutaneous/transrectal 414, 414
see also Berlin Zoo; San Diego Zoo ultra violet (UV) radiation 405 University of California at Davis 39 urine/faecal hormone measurements 199–200, 202–203
androgen profiles, males 206, 219, 219–221, 225–226
corticosteroids 206, 217, 217–219, 224–225 creatinine assessment/fluid balance 203–204 data analysis 208
discussion/future priorities 221
enzyme immunoassays 207–208 faecal extraction methods 204 faecal hormone analysis 213 gonadotrophin-treated/untreated females 213, 213–217, 217 immunoassays 204
oestrogens 205, 207, 221–223, 236–238, 236–237
pregnanediol-3-glucuronide (PdG) RIA 205–206
progesterone excretion over successive years 211, 211–212
progestins 207–208, 223–224
radioimmunoassays (RIAs) 205–206
RIA vs EIA 204
urinogenital adaptations 381–382, 16, 16, 382 tract, ultrasound assessments 419, 424 USA
Fish & Wildlife Service, import policy 522 Laboratory of Genomic Diversity 248 see also North America vaccinations 363–364 distemper virus 364
enteritis 390
parvovirus 364
rabies 364
vaginal cytology, oestrus cycle monitoring for timed matings 231–232 animals used/study group 232 case studies/representative profiles 238–239, 238 daily collection of swabs 242 evaluating infertile animals 241 evaluating underlying mechanism 241 false/second chromic shifts 242
future priorities 241–242
methodology 233–236
morphology/staining traits 236, 236 oestrous cycle monitoring 239–241 training females to allow procedure 232, 233, 233, 241, 354
trichrome staining 233–236
in relation to urinary oestrogen 236–238, 236–237 vaginal cytological monitoring of wild pandas 368
vertebral spondylosis 368
veterinary training 378, 453
Index 561

viral diseases 392–393
distemper 392, 393
parvovirus 392
vitamins/minerals 124
vocalisation, adaptations to 382–383, 383
neonates 316
vomiting 393
VORTEX 508
weaning 326–327
critical timeframe determination 343, 348
neonatal management 293
post-weaning stress 294
water 118–121 see also fluid balance well-being, psychological 401 see also stress wild carnivores, socialization 336 wild giant pandas see in situ population Wildt, David 25, 33
Wolong Center (China Conservation and Research Center for the Giant Panda) 39, 81, 274 AI efficiency 474, 474–484 breeding programme 23–25
cold storage of semen 479, 484
combined AI/natural mating 474
endocrinology studies 202
environmental enrichment 303
male squamous cell carcinoma case 474, 474–479 timing of AI 484
transcervical AI 479, 479
see also behavioural management strategies working groups behaviour and management, CBSG 30 conservation assessment and research techniques, CBSG 528 mortality, veterinary and nutrition, CBSG 30–31, 378 workshop proceedings 26, 26–28
captive management working group 378
demographics working group 28–29
genetic management workshop 496
mortality, veterinary and nutrition working group 30–31, 378
reproduction, behaviour and management working group 30 World Conservation Union Species Survival Commission see Conservation Breeding Specialist Group worms see parasites Zoo Atlanta 39, 200
zoo science 17–19
multidisciplinary/integrative approach see partnerships practical applications 17–18 priorities 35
whole animal approach 18
Zoological Society of San Diego see San Diego Zoo Zoológico de Chapultepec (Mexico) 202