

Index

- Abstract, Hume's* publication of, 31, 33
 abstraction, 38, 66–7
 and association of ideas, 24
 and customary conjunctions, 71 Berkeley's theory, 67
 Hume's theory, 71
 Academic philosophy, see skepticism, Academic skepticism ad hominem fallacy, 169
 Adam, 98
 Addison, Joseph
 on pleasures of the imagination, 53 afterlife fear of and hope in, 192 ambition and escape from total skepticism, 167 Anderson, Robert F., 154 anger, 6, 175, 191, 209, 210, 223, 224, 225, 227, 232
 animal spirits, 8–9, 52, 54, 56, 61, 62, 63, 71, 110, 135, 137, 148, 161, 229 elevation of, 110 rejected by Newtonians, 53
 Ardal, Pall, 194, 259
 Aristotle
 on association of ideas, 48
 on habit and moral character, 231 artificial virtues, see also justice; virtue and vice, artificiality or naturalness of approved because of utility and sympathy, 261
 association of ideas, 39, see also custom and habit, imagination, natural relations and abstraction, 24
 and belief, 112
 and complex ideas, 48 and indirect passions, 50, 193, 195, 197
 and probability, 104
 and strengthening of feelings, 110
 and sympathy, 206
 and transfer of mental energy, 51, 55 analogy with universal attraction, 248–51
 as source of irrationality, 48–49, 80
 causes of Cartesian theory, 53–56
 Hume's hypothesis, 52, 53
 Newtonian theory, 53 unknown, 52
 distinguished from comparison of ideas, 74 double relation of ideas and impressions, 196–98
 history before Hume, 48–50, 53–56 Hume's 3 principles of resemblance, contiguity and causation, 48 mistaken for a necessary connection, 124–26, 131
 the unifying principle of the Treatise, 47–51
 Arwood, Margaret, 15
 Bacon, Francis
 experimental method of, 27, 44, 47
 Baier, Annette, 60, 77, 107, 109, 122, 223, 224, 229, 280
 Barfoot, Michael, 10, 46
 Baxter, Andrew, 4
 Baxter, Donald, 142
 Bayle, Pierre, 132
 Hume's early reading of, 11
 idealism in geometry, 86 influence on Hume's Treatise, 27
 Beebe, Helen, 81, 85, 123 belief, 107–14, see also probability
 and sympathy, 206
 a feeling, 109

Index

305

- causes of, 109–12
- effects of, 112–14
- force and vivacity of an idea, 42, 109, 135
- impervious to rational doubt, 135
- in demonstrations, 111
- nature of, 108–9
- not a voluntary act, 108
- not the basis for moral distinctions, 241–42
- Bell, Martin, 127
- benevolence, 210, 212, 230, 238, 259, 263–5, 275, 283, 284
 - and desire, 191
 - and moral sense in Hutcheson, 238, 260
 - and natural virtues in Hume, 261–2
 - as instinctive, 228
- Bentham, Jeremy, xiv
- Berkeley, George, 67
 - influence on Hume's Treatise, 27
 - on abstraction, 67
 - on skepticism, 252
 - on the existence of matter, 153–55
 - theory of vision, 140
- Blackburn, Simon, 123
- body, see also external objects
 - common sense belief in, 150–51
 - defined, 136
 - no legitimate idea of, 140–42
 - philosophical belief in, 151–55
 - indirect realism or double existence, 151–53
 - the modern philosophy, 153–56
 - skepticism concerning, 137–42
 - source of belief in, 142–50
 - coherence and mental inertia principle, 143–45
 - constancy and coherence defined, 142–43
 - constancy and identity substitution principle, 147–49
 - not derived from reason, 141
 - not derived from the senses, 137–40
- Boyle, Robert, 44, 47
- brain traces
 - and imagination, 54–56
 - and impression of necessary connection, 115
 - and the copy principle, 71
- Bristol
 - Hume's sojourn in, 1, 15–19
- Broughton, Janet, 70, 120
- Brutus, Marcus, 281
- Buckle, Stephen, 126
- bundle theory, see personal identity
- Burnet, Gilbert
 - exchange with Francis Hutcheson, 239
- Butler, Joseph
 - experimental method of, 44
 - influence on Hume, xii, 28–29
 - on moral character and active habits, 229–31
 - on the object of the passions, 214
 - suggests problem of induction, 98
- calm passions
 - and character, 227–31
 - and reason, xii–xiii
 - and strength of mind, 227, 234
- calm vs. violent, 226–27
- instinctive, 228
- mistaken for reason, 226
- Cartesian philosophy, 26
 - compared with Hume's, 40–43, 78
 - occasionalism of, 128
 - skeptical doubts in, 43, 129–30
- Cato of Utica, 281
- causal maxim, 38, 93–95
 - based on experience, 94–5
 - not known by demonstration or intuition, 93–94
 - truth of, not denied by Hume, 93
- causal reasoning, see also induction; probability
 - based on input of nature, 103
 - Locke on, 79, 88, 98
 - narrower and wider senses of, 89, 107, 113
 - not based on demonstration or intuition, 97
- causation, see also necessary connection
 - and materialism, 57
 - a natural and philosophical relation, 106
 - a principle of association of ideas, 48
 - an inconstant relation, 88
 - definitions of, 118–20
 - as determination of the mind, 119
 - as regularity, 118
 - imperfection of, 120
 - discovered by experience, 79
 - impression of, 90–93
 - necessity is essential to, 92, 181
 - no insight into, 80
 - of ideas by impressions, 69–72
 - ontology of, 81

- causation (Cont.) requires temporal contiguity, 70, 91
 skepticism concerning, 120–22
- cause and effect and contiguity in space and time, 91 and succession, 91
 as a principle of association, 102 ideas are inadequate representations of, 126–28
 ignorance of, 120
 necessary connection of, 92
 no knowledge of, 128 reasoning about, 95–107
 resemblance between, 105
 separability of ideas of, 76 supposed inseparable, 124–26
- causes, contrary, 95, 106, 180
- Chambers, Ephraim, 62
 on 'imagination', 54
 on 'impression', 62
 on Pyrrhonian skepticism, 136
- chance or indeterminism, see also liberty, of indifference
 rejected by Hume, 95, 173
- character, 171
 and judgment of moral responsibility, 186–7
 and judgment of unexercised virtue, 280–83
 and predictability of action, 176, 181, 185
 and strength of mind, 234
 changeability of, 159, 160, 274 formed through custom, 175, 227–31, 271, 272
 judged from an impartial point of view, 278–80
 motivation for action, 274
 of just person, how formed, 275 permanence and moral judgment, 199, 274
- Charles I, 282
- Cheyne, George, 16–19, 53
 mysticism of, 18
- chivalry, Hume's essay on, 11–13
- Cicero, Marcus Tullius, 132, 267
 and Academic skepticism, 132
 Hume's reading of, 6, 10
- Clarke, Samuel, 3
 on the causal maxim, 94
 rationalism in morals, 218, 239, 243 war of reason and passion, 216–17
- coherence, defined, 142–43
- Cohon, Rachel, 113, 264
- common life beliefs of, 167
- complex ideas, 67–68
 and association of ideas, 48
- constancy, defined, 142–43
- constant conjunction, 98, see also experience and belief in causal power, 57 effect on inference, 102
 of action with motive, character, and circumstance, 179
- contiguity
 as a principle of association of ideas, 48
 spatial, 90
 temporal required by causes and effects, 70, 91
- contract, original Hume's rejection of, 269
- conventions of justice and language, how adopted, 269
- copy principle, 68–74
 and meaning, 73
 and origin of idea of necessary connection, 93
 exception to, 72
 formulation by Hume, 70
 proofs of, 68–69
- courage, 12, 182, 191, 230, 238
- Coventry, Angela, 123
- Craig, Edward, 126
- Cullen, William, 62
- curiosity, or love of truth motivates escape from total skepticism, 167
- custom, see custom and habit
- custom and habit, see also association of ideas
 and abstraction, 71
 and association of ideas, 48–49
 and belief in the uniformity of nature, 106 and causal reasoning, 83, 102
 and experience, 80
 and formation of brain traces, 110
 and indoctrination, 49, 103, 104
 and the origin of justice, 267, 269, 271–73
 an instinct or mechanical tendency, 103 as cause of the idea of necessary
 connection, 114
 cause of inductive inference, 103, 106
 defined, 102

Index

307

- determines
 - belief in reality, 112, 114
 - moral character, 175, 227–31, 272
 - in Hutcheson's philosophy, 50
 - in Locke's philosophy, 49, 56, 103
 - in Malebranche, 54
 - indirect cause of belief in the causal
 - maxim, 106
 - influences the passions, xii
 - operates unconsciously, 105
 - source of impartial point of view, 278–80
- Darwall, Stephen, xiv
- Darwin, Charles, 80
- definitions of cause, 118–20
- demonstration, 82–87, 217, see also knowledge, demonstrative and correspondence to real relation of ideas, 217
- Descartes' philosophy founded on, 43
- impossibility of the contrary, 22
- not source of belief in causation, 97
- not source of moral judgments, 243
- results in knowledge, 84
- depression, Hume's, see Disease of the Learned
- Descartes, René, 72
- belief in external existence, 142
 - influence on the Treatise, 27
 - on freedom of the will, 173
 - philosophy compared with Hume's, 40–43
 - skepticism of, 43, 129–30
- Design, argument to accepted by Hutcheson, 256
- critiqued by Hume, 79
- in Hume's Treatise, 256
- desire and aversion
 as direct passions, 70, 191
- desires
 do not arise from reason alone, 220
- not representational, 223–26
- rational desires in Hutcheson and Malebranche, 231–3
- whether unreasonable, 221–23
- determinism, xii, 169, 170, 172, 181–2, 186–7, see also necessity, of human actions
- Dicker, George, 45
- direct passions, 191–93, see also passions, direct
- direct realism, see realism, direct
- Disease of the Learned, 5–9, 16–18
- Mandeville on, 8–9
- distinctions, see also separability principle of perceptions, 67
- of reason, 68
- double existence, see realism, indirect
- double relation of ideas and impressions, 196–98
- Downing, Lisa, 91
- Dudgeon, William, 3, 169
- duty
 and honesty, 263–4, 275
- and moral affections, 262, 275
- and reflection on utility, 285
- affects action, 240
- exists prior to discovery by reason, 245
- Elizabeth I, 282
- Emerson, Roger, 34
- Enquiry concerning human understanding* compared with the Treatise, viii, 38–39, 96, 118–26, 166, 169, 171, 177
- Enquiry concerning the principles of morals*
 compared with the Treatise, 38–39, 218, 235, 250, 253
- existence, belief in, see belief
- experience, see also constant conjunction as basis of the causal maxim, 94
- defined by Hume, 97
- gives no insight into causal connection, 83
- reasoning from, see causal reasoning
- the basis of induction, 97–99
- experimental method, see method, experimental
- external objects, see also body; realism and perceptions, 57–60, 143, 151–53
- origin of belief in, 142–50
- supposed specifically different from perceptions, 59–60, 73–4, 124–6, 138, 143–4, 146–51, 155–8, 165–6, 186
- external world
 belief in, xiv–xv, 136–56
- facility of transition
 and imagination, 54–56
- fear and hope
 and belief in an afterlife, 192
- fictions of the imagination, 73, 131, 133, 146, 147, 148, 150, 156, 157, 158, 159, 213
- defined, 74
- force, see power

- force and vivacity, 110, see also mental energy; animal spirits
 and belief, 42, 109
 and the difference of impressions and ideas, 64 maintains belief in opposition to reason, 135 not transferred through reason, 74, 114 of belief in body, 150
 of the idea of self, 212
 transferred through imagination, 51, 109–10
- France
 Hume writes Treatise in, 19–28
 Newtonian philosophy in, 26
- Frasca-Spada, Marina, 84
- free will Descartes on, 173
 mistaken belief in, 173–76, 182–86
- Galileo Galilei, 154
- Garrett, Don, 78, 131, 166, 172, 185
- Gay, John, 50
- Gay, Peter, 26
- general rules, 211, 261, 271
 cultural influence on pride and shame, 200
- geometry
 Hume's realism in, 86
- Gill, Michael, 49, 260, 265
- greatest happiness principle, xiv, 239
- Grotius, Hugo, 269
- Haakonssen, Knud, 269
- habit, see custom and habit
- Haller, Albrecht von, 53
- Harris, James, 177, 185, 253
- Hartley, David, 53
- hatred (contempt), 197, 210, 259
- Herd, Jennifer, 212
- Hobbes, Thomas, 179, 266–7 account of state of nature, 266 moral theory of, 239
 on the causal maxim, 94
 war of all against all, 267
- Home, Henry, 5, 30
 influence on Hume, 4
- Hooke, Robert, 44, 47
- human nature, see also science of human nature; imagination; passions, etc.
 uniformity of, 179–81
- Hume, David
 education of, 3, 10
 family background, 1 illness of, see Disease of the Learned new Scene of Thought, 7 religious doubts, 3–4 writings on religion, 29, 30
- humility, see shame
- Hutcheson, Francis, 232, 233
 and argument to design, 256
 and defense of Shaftesbury, 239
 aesthetic theory, 237
 association of ideas in, 49–50
 experimental method of, 44
 moral philosophy, xiii
 Hume's criticisms of, 231–4, 255–7, 284–8
 Hume's debt to, 236, 240
 Hume's early reading of, 11
 moral sense, theory of, 236–39
 on the greatest happiness principle, 239 on ultimate ends, 247
 on virtue and vice, 202
 opposition to Hobbes and Mandeville, 239 on rational or calm desires, 233 reason, definition of, 240 response to Hume's Treatise, 32–6
- hypotheses
 in Hume's philosophy, 46–47, 168
 concerning association of ideas, 52–53 concerning belief, 110
 Newton on, 53
- ideas, see also perceptions
 abstract
 Berkeley on, 67
 Lockean theory of, 66
 rejected by Hume, 66
 adequacy of required for knowledge, 86
 as copies of simple impressions, 68–74
 as inadequate representations of causes, 128 association of, see association of ideas caused by resembling impressions, 68–69 converted to impressions, 206
 deficiency of, 42, 120
 differ only in degree from impressions, 61, 65
 double aspect of, 65
 force and vivacity of, 109, See belief, nature of force and vivacity transferred to, 110

Index

309

- how caused by impressions, 69–72
- lively ideas affect the will and passions, 113
- nature of, 64–67
- obscure and confused, 22, 42
- of cause and effect
 - deficiency of, 120
- origin of, x, 68–74
- represent objects which are absent, 64, 190–91
- simple and complex, 67–68
- use of word contrasted with Locke's, 65
- identity, see also identity substitution principle; personal identity
 - a probable or inconstant relation, 87
 - determined by causal reasoning, 88
 - perfect
 - requires invariableness and uninterruptedness, 147, 160
 - qualitative and quantitative identity
 - confused, 146
 - distinguished, 75
- identity substitution principle, xi, 52–53, 132, 146, 147–49, 166
 - belief in material substance, 156
 - source of belief in body, 147–49, 151
 - source of belief in personal identity, 158, 159, 163–4
- identity, personal, see personal identity
- imagination, see also association of ideas
 - and brain traces, 53–56, 71
 - and facility of transition, 54–56, 109–10
 - as source of basic beliefs, 42
 - as the basis for human understanding, 130
 - Cartesian theory of, x, 53–56
 - distinguished from pure understanding, 66
 - defined, 54
 - distinguished from reason, 74–75
 - fictions of, 73, 131, 133, 146–8, 150, 156–9, 213
 - identity substitution principle, 147–49, 151, 156, 158, 163, 164, 166
 - mental inertia principle, 143–45
 - strong principles of, in
 - conflict, 131
 - trivial qualities of, 131, 156
 - weak and strong principles of, 130
- immortality
 - not based on false beliefs, 241–42
- impression
 - of necessary connection, 114–18
- impressions, see also sense perceptions & passions
 - are internal and mind-dependent, 138–40
 - as feelings, 63
 - cause resembling ideas, 68–69
 - mechanism of, 69–72
 - clarity and distinctness of, 73
 - distinguished from ideas, 61–5
 - divided into passions and sensations, 63, 190
 - double aspect of, 62
 - force and vivacity transferred from, 110
 - how identified, 73
 - meaning of the term, 62
 - nature of, 61–64
 - of necessary connection, 90–93
 - of the senses
 - mind-dependence of, 137–40
 - simple and complex, 67–68
 - standard notion of before Hume, 61–2
 - transfer of force and vivacity, 109
- indirect passions, see passions, indirect
- indirect realism, see realism, indirect
- induction, 44, 47, 95–107, see also probability; causal reasoning
 - based in experience, 97–99
 - caused by custom and habit, 102–6
 - justification of, xv, 96, 104
 - presupposes uniformity of nature, 97–99
- problem of, 95–102
 - suggested by Butler, 98
- insight, 178
 - and knowledge, x, 83
- implied by some philosophical relations, 75
- into causal power
 - Locke's view, 105
 - rejected by Hume, 80, 83, 97, 105, 121, 178, 183
 - source of belief in, 122–26, 189
- into the nature of perceptions themselves, 165
- introspection
 - not Hume's method, 45, 69, 174
- intuition, see knowledge, intuitive
- is/ought dichotomy, 254
- Jacob, Margaret, 23
- Jacquette, Dale, 84
- James, William, 84
- Jardine, Lisa, 44
- joy and grief, 191
- judicious spectator, 278–80

- justice, see also artificial virtues concerns property, 265 distinguished from natural virtues, 276 moral approval of, 261 moral obligation of, 270–75
 moral sentiments of fixed by custom, 272, 275
 how formed, 271
 origin of 3 sources of human conflict, 265 convention arises through custom, 269
 from judgment/understanding, 267 motivated by self-interest, 261, 265–70
 no natural motive of, 263–65
 not based on an original contract, 269 serves the public interest, 269
- Kail, Peter, 73, 89, 101, 113, 117, 124, 140, 249
- Kant, Immanuel, 262
 on Hume on causation, 125
- Kemp Smith, Norman, see Smith, Norman
- Kemp*
- knowledge, see also insight
 demonstrative, 43, 82–87
 degenerates to probability, 133 involves necessity, 85 distinguished from probability, 82 implies necessity, 86
 intuitive, 84
 moral, whether possible, 252
 no knowledge of causation, 128
 reality of, 86
 relations are constant, 87 requires adequate ideas, 86 requires insight, x, 83
 into essences, 97
- Kuehn, Manfred, 30
- La Flèche
 Hume writes Treatise in, 19
 Jesuit college at, 25–26
- Laird, John, 62
- laws of nature, 268
- libertarianism, see free will; liberty, of indifference
- liberty, see also will; free will and voluntary actions, 171
 and necessity, xi–xii, 169–89
 of indifference, 171, 185, 189
 mistaken belief in, 182–86
 sensation of, 174
 of spontaneity, 170
- Locke, John, 139, 154, 269 and the experimental method, 27 argument for the causal maxim, 94
 association of ideas in, 48–49, 56
 custom and habit, 56
 experimental method of, 44
 Hume's critique of on induction, 102–6
 insight into some causal connections, 105
 'natural' relations in, 49
 on abstract ideas, 66
 on causal reasoning, 88, 98
 on power, 4
 on the argument to design, 79
 on the existence of God, 3
 on thinking matter, 26, 80
- Loeb, Louis, xv, 104, 132, 144, 145
- love and hatred
 and moral approval and disapproval, 259
 have other persons as their objects, 198, 213
 produced by subjects related to others, 198
- madmen, 181
- Malebranche, Nicolas, 139, 249, 284 calm desires vs. passions, 233 imagination, theory of, 54–56
 influence on Hume's Treatise, 27, 56
 occasionalism of, 21, 56, 119, 127
 science of man and theory of natural relations, 56
- Mandeville, Bernard, xiii, 201, 260
 experimental method of, 44
 Hume's reading of, 11
 influence on Hume, 13 moral theory, 239, 260
 Hume's criticism of, 203, 261, 287
 Hutcheson's criticism of, 260
 on the Disease of the Learned, 8–9
 on virtue and vice, 201
 origin of virtue, 273
- materialism, 80
- mathematics, see knowledge, demonstrative matter activity in, 5, 126
 modern conception of, 153–55
- McCracken, Charles, 57, 127
- Meditations* of Descartes, 40–43, 129–30
- melancholy, see also Disease of the Learned philosophical, 19
 and skepticism, 129, 130

Index

311

- religious, 8, 192
- mental energy, see also force and vivacity; animal spirits
 - economy of, 8–9, 135
 - transfer of, 51
- mental inertia principle, 143–45
- metaphysics, 4, 10, 18, 27, 31, 34, 39, 41, 54, 95
 - established maxim of, 41
- method
 - Cartesian vs. Humean, 43
 - experimental, 43–47, see also induction; probability
 - and Royal Society, 44, 47
 - and theory, 47
 - hypotheses in, 46–47, 53
 - in moral vs. natural sciences, 45
 - not introspective, 45, 69
- Millican, Peter, 177
- mind, see also mind/body relation; soul
 - bundle theory, 160–62
 - Cartesian notion of, 66
 - like a theatre, 160
 - study of, 45
- mind/body relation, 8–9, 57, 68–74
 - Hume and materialism, 57, 65
- minima, perceptual, 68
- miracles
 - Hume's argument against, 26, 28
- modern philosophy
 - skepticism concerning, 153–55
- Moore, James, 32, 236, 266–7, 286
- moral distinctions
 - reality of, 251–52
- moral judgments
 - and sympathy, 286
 - affect action, 239–41, 271–75
 - constituted by pleasure and pain, 258–59
 - fourfold scheme of, 283–86
 - made from an impartial point of view, 278–80
 - not based in immutable relations, 242–44
 - not based on reason, 239–45
 - primacy of usefulness to self and others, 283–86
- moral philosophy
 - association of ideas in, 49–50
 - free rider problem, 260–1, 270
 - Hume's distinguished from Hutcheson's, 284, 286, 287
 - moral rationalism, 217–18, 239, 243
 - criticism of, 239–45
 - moral relativism, 254
 - moral skepticism, 251–52
 - moral subjectivism, 250, 252, 254
 - of the ancients, 7
 - origin of Hume's, 12–13
 - question of artificiality or naturalness in, 259–61
- moral responsibility
 - and determinism, 186–88
- moral sense, xiii
 - as instinctive, rejected by Hume, 261, 287
 - contrast with sympathy, 235, 261
 - in Hutcheson's philosophy, 236–39, 256
 - in the Deity, 256
- moral sentiments, 259
 - and formation of character, 271–75
 - and sympathetic consideration of utility, 271
 - of justice, how formed, 271
 - question concerning the source of, 259
 - reality of, 251
- morality, see character, moral; virtue and vice
 - acting from sympathy is the source of, 288
 - an object of feeling, not reason, 247
 - judged by a judicious impartial spectator, 278–80
 - natural uncultivated ideas of, 264, 275
 - not a war between reason and passion, 216–17
 - not based in reason, 239–45
 - not based on beliefs, 241–42
 - regards only human nature and human life, 35, 256
 - sense of, see duty
- Mossner, E.C., 16
- motives, 176
 - and determinism, 174–5, 175, 181, 184, 187
- Mrs. Jellyby, 264
- mysticism, 18
 - Hume's views on, 8, 10, 24
- national characters, 179
- natural abilities, 283–4
- natural belief, see also supposition, natural
 - defined by Kemp Smith, 150
- natural relations, see also relations, natural; association of ideas
 - in Locke's philosophy, 103
 - Malebranche's theory of, 56
- natural suppositions, see supposition, natural

- natural virtues, see also virtue and vice, artificiality or naturalness of distinguished from justice, 276 preliminary account based on natural passions, 261–63 partiality of, 264
 revised account
 based on utility, 275–78
 natural vs. philosophical relations, 50, 74, 106–7
 natural, meaning of the term, 277 naturalism, Hume's, 129, See science of human nature
 nature as teacher, 104 necessary connection, see also necessity; power
 as essential to causation, 92
 as external to the observer, 117, 122–26
 as unintelligible, 120
 impression of, 114–18
 and brain traces, 115
 meaning of term, 117
 natural supposition of, 122–26
 no insight into, 80
 not perceived in external objects, 92, 115–17
 not perceived in the mind itself, 120–21
 necessity, xi–xii, see also liberty and necessity, necessary connection, power
 and demonstrative knowledge, 85
 and hidden causes, 181
 and moral responsibility, 186–88 and voluntary action, 181–82 in the physical world, 126–8, 177–9 is never perceived, 178
 objective, 122–26
 of causes, 95
 mistaken for logical inseparability, 111 of human actions, 170
 projected on to objects, 122–24
 Newton, Isaac
 on hypotheses, 53
 on the argument to design, 79
 theory of nervous transfer, 53 Newtonian philosophy, 17
 and association of ideas, 53
 absolute space and time are inconceivable, 76
 in France, 26
 reference in the Treatise, 52
 Ninewells, 1
 Norton, David F., 286
 objects, external, see body obligation, see also duty and motivation to be just, 274
 moral, 271
 natural, 270
 rationalist view of, 243
 to be honest, 263
 occasionalism, see also Malebranche, Nicolas;
 occasionalism
 Hume's rejection of, 57, 126–28
 not Descartes' view, 126
 other minds, 212–15
 Owen, David, 85
 passions
 and reason, 19, 113, 216–17
 affected by belief, 113
 as principles of action, 228
 calm vs. violent, 226–27
 direct, 190, 191–93
 depend on modalities, 191
 desire and aversion, 191
 hope and fear, 192
 joy and grief, 191
 distinguished from rational desires by Hutcheson, 233
 founded on pleasure and pain, 190
 idea of a passion converted to an impression, 206
 indirect, 190–91, 193–200
 and moral judgment, 200–202, 259
 associational mechanism, 196–98
 object is self or other person, 194 subject (cause) of, 194–96
 not representational, 223–26
 philosophy of, 172
 usual force is source of natural virtues, 264 Penelhum, Terence, 194
 on Hume on other minds, 213
 perceptions, see also sense perceptions and external objects, 57–60, 143, 153
 as distinct existences, 76–77, see also personal identity
 division into impressions and ideas, 61 division into simple and complex, 67–68
 double aspect of, 60–61
 nature of, 60
 of the senses, 136–56
 person, see self; other minds personal identity, 38, 158–66, see also self a fiction of the imagination, 159 explanation of belief in, 162–63

Index

313

- Hume's second thoughts on, 163–66
 the bundle theory, 160–62
 understanding the problem, 158–60
- phenomenalism
 not Hume's view, 62, 138–40
- philosophical melancholy, see melancholy, philosophical
- philosophical relations, 74–75, 107
 constant resemblance, contrariety, quality, quantity, 83 inconstant
 identity, time and space, causality, 87
- pity, 209–12
 defined, 209
 Hume's view opposed to Hobbes and Mandeville, 209
- Plato, 267
 on reason and the passions, 216
- pleasure and pain
 as source of passions, 190
 moral distinguished from self-interested, 258–59
- Popkin, Richard, 30
- Pouilly, Lesvesque de, 20
- power, see also necessary connection, necessity and its exercise, 90, 172, 281 and will, 121
 in matter, 5
 inadequacy of our idea of, 82 is unknown, 126–28
 no insight into, 80
 not discovered by experience, 101–2 synonyms of, 92
- Price, H.H., 58, 144
- pride and humility
 object is self, 194
 result from virtue and vice, 200–202
 subjects, 194–96
 cultural significance of, 200
 discernability of, 199 durability of, 199
 relation to self, 199
 uniqueness of, 199
 sympathy
 as a secondary cause, 203
- primary and secondary qualities, 151–55, 190,
see also sensible qualities
- probability, 87–89, 95–107, 217, see also belief; induction
 and Academic skepticism, 132
 and association of ideas, 104
 and causal reasoning, 88
 and inconstant relations, 87–89
 and the direct passions, 191 3 kinds of probable relations, 87
 based in experience, 97–99
 distinguished from proofs and knowledge, 22, 82 eliminated on reflection, 134–5
 how it affects human action, 219
 Hume vs. Locke on, 102–6
 Hume's method based on, 43
 presupposes the uniformity of nature, 97–99
- problem of induction, see induction, problem of
- projection, 121–2, 249–50
- projectivism, 123–24
- proofs distinguished from knowledge and probability, 22, 82, see also probability of the copy principle, 68–69
- property defined by 3 laws of nature, 268 development of the institution of, 265, see also justice
 rules of, serve the public interest, 269
- psychic energy, 19, see also animal spirits
- Pufendorf, Samuel von, 252
- Pyrrhonian or total skepticism, 43, 129–33, 136–56, 251, see also skepticism, Pyrrhonian or total
 Hume's escape from, 166–68
- quasi-realism, see projectivism
- Ramsay, Chevalier (Andrew Michael), 18
 Hume's relations with, 25
 mysticism of, 23
 on knowledge, proofs, probabilities, 22 on uniformity and belief, 22 rejection of occasionalism, 21
- Ramsay, Michael, 13, 21
- realism
 and human knowledge, 86
 direct, 60, 138, 143, 146
 belief in, explained, 142–50 falsity of, 150–51
 indirect, 57–60, 151–53
 and specific difference of impressions and objects, 77

- realism (Cont.)
 Hume's adoption of, 153
 scientific, 253
- reality
 psychological systems of, 112
- reason, see also reasoning and passion, 19, 113, 216–17
 not opposed to passions, 220–21
 as a faculty, 90
 as motive
 reason alone does not motivate action, 218–20 calm passions mistaken for, 226 discovers truth, 217–18
 distinguished from imagination, 74–75 does not motivate action, 113, 239–41
 limits of, 7, see also skepticism moral distinctions not based in, 239–45
 narrower and wider senses of, 89, 107
 skepticism concerning, 133–36
- reasoning, see also reason; probability; demonstration about causes, 95–107
 as comparison, 74, 89–90
 demonstrative, 82–87, 217
 does not establish induction, 100 probable does not establish itself, 101 probable or matter of fact, 89
- Reid, Thomas, xv
- Reims
 Hume's sojourn in, 19
- relations, see also association of ideas; natural relations
 7 philosophical relations, 75
 3 probable including causality, 87, 106
 4 constitute knowledge, 83, 243 constant and inconstant relations, 87 natural relations
 transfer of vivacity, xii, 55, 74, 110, 112, 197, 205, 215 natural vs. philosophical, 50, 74, 106–7 religion, see also Hume, David, writings on religion; religious doubts and libertarianism, 186
 an unstable source of belief, 168
- resemblance
 and abstraction, 71
 a source of confusion of ideas, 53, 132
 as a philosophical relation, 74
 as a principle of association of ideas, 48
 as an object of knowledge, 84 between cause and effect, 105 identity is substituted for, 146, 148–9, 157–8, 162–3, see identity substitution principle
- Rivers, Isabel, 15
- Ross, Ian, 4, 32
- Royal Society of London, 17, 44, 47
- Russell, Paul, 3, 230
- Schneewind, J.B., 252, 276
- science of human nature
 and necessity, 173
 and physical sciences, 43–47, 177
 and principles of the imagination, 78
 as foundation of the sciences, 39, 41–44 experimental method in, 43–47
 in Malebranche, 56
 innovators in, 44
 science of man, see science of human nature
- secondary qualities, see sensible qualities; virtue and vice, analogy with sensible qualities
- Selby-Bigge, L.A., ix, 38
- self, see also personal identity
 lively idea of, 204
 object of pride and humility, 194
 with regard to the passions, 204–5, 206, 212
- self-interest
 and the origin of justice, 261, 268, 269, 270
 as a calm passion, 226 inadequate to maintain justice in large societies, 270 often confused with moral feelings, 258 opposed by violent passions, 227 opposed to benevolence by Hutcheson, 238 original motive of justice, 265–70 rejected by Hume as source of pity, 210
 source of morality for Hobbes and Mandeville, 239
- sense perceptions
 3 kinds of, 190
 are internal and mind-dependent, 138–40
 coherence of, 142–43, 143–45
 constancy of, 142–43, 147–49
- senses cannot be doubted in practice, 155–56
 skepticism concerning, 137–40
 sources of belief in, 142–50

Index

315

- sensible qualities, see also modern philosophy analogy with virtue and vice, 251 Malebranche on, 249
 not in external objects, 151–55, 250
 separability principle, 75–77 and analysis of the passions, 226 and distinction between pride and its object, 194
 and ideas of cause and effect, 76, 94 and puzzle of personal identity, 77
 Sextus Empiricus, 132 Shaftesbury, Lord (Anthony Ashley Cooper), xiii
 experimental method of, 44
 Hume's reading of, 11, 14–15
 on moral sense, 235
 on virtue and vice, 202
 shame (humility), see also pride and humility
 object is self, 194
 subjects of, 194–96
 Sher, Richard, 34
 simplicity of perceptions, 67–68 skeptical realism, xi, xv, 81, 126–8, 132–3, 189
 skepticism
 and deficiency of our ideas, 42, 131
 and Hume's account of the origin of ideas, x and modern philosophy, 153–55
 and probability, 32
 and the limits of reason, 7
 Academic skepticism, xi, 132
 Cartesian vs. Humean, 43
 causal, xi, 120–22
 cognitive, xvi, 131–2, see also skeptical realism
 moral, 251–52
 Pyrrhonian or total, xi, 43, 129–33
 escape from, 130, 166–68
 with regard to reason, 133–36 with regard to the senses, 136–56 source of, 137–40
 Smith, Norman Kemp, 213 attributes causal realism to Hume, 125
 non-skeptical reading of Hume, xv
 on Hume on other minds, 213
 on Hume's new Scene of Thought, 7 on Hume's alleged Newtonian physiology, 51 solid principle, 77 soul, see also mind; mind/body relation belief in substantial soul explained, 165 dark night of, 8 elevated through philosophy, 6
 materiality of, 26, 57 principles of, 40
 question of materiality of, 38
 space
 manner or order of the appearance of objects, 76
 spectator point of view, 173–76, 185, 188, 189, 278–83
 state of nature
 Hume's account of, 265–67
 Stuart, Robert, 10
 Stewart, John, 93
 Stewart, M.A., 3, 5, 10, 30, 33, 34
 Stoicism, Hume's adoption of, 5–6 Strawson, Galen, 70, 126
 substance, see also soul material, 156–58
 superstition, 130
 supposition, natural, xi, 59, 73 of personal identity, 149
 of a substantial soul, 165
 of causal power, 80, 81, 117, 122–24, 124–26
 of continued existence, 149 of external existence, 73, 144
 of necessary connection, 57
 of objective necessity, 122–26 of material substance, 156–8
 of the identity of distinct perceptions, 156 Swain, Corliss, 164
 sympathy
 and formation of sentiment of justice, 271 and judgment of natural virtues, 276
 and moral judgment, 286
 and other minds, 215
 and transfer of mental energy, xii
 as empathy with another, 208–12
 causes of like those of belief, 206 extensive, 210, 212, 235, 287
 mechanism of, 204–7
 nature of, 207–12
 refinements of, 278–80
 useful to oneself and others, 288 variation in strength of, 206, 208, 278–9 Taylor, Jacqueline, 278 temper, see character
 testimony depends on causal reasoning, 88
 time manner of appearance of impressions, 76

Treatise of Human Nature

- compared with the Enquiries, viii, 38–39, 126, 169, 218, 235, 250, 253
- Hume's disappointment in, viii, 31, 36–38
- philosophical forerunners of, 26–7, 43–4
- reviews of, 36–38
- revisions of, 28, 29–30, 34
 - Book 3, 33–36
- the Appendix to, 109, 163–66
- writing of
 - in France, 19–28
- truth
 - and morality, 253
 - as correspondence, 217
 - as the natural effect of reason, 217, 240
 - independence of us, 253
 - love of, 167
 - the natural effect of reason, 133
- Turco, Luigi, 236, 240
- understanding, the
 - based on general properties of imagination, 130
- uniformity of nature
 - principle of, 99–101
 - not based on demonstration, 100
 - not proved by induction, 100
- utilitarianism
 - Hume and, xiv
- utility, xiv, 237, 238, 271–72, 278, 285
 - primacy in making moral judgments, 286
 - sympathy itself is useful to oneself and others, 288
 - to the person himself, 283, 285
 - why artificial virtues are approved, 261
- vacuum
 - inconceivability of, 76
- value
 - distinguished from fact, 252–55
- vice, see virtue and vice
- Virgil
 - Hume's reading of, 10

- virtue and vice, 261, see also artificial virtues; natural virtues; virtues
- analogy with sensible qualities, 246, 248–51
- are human categories, 257
- artificiality or naturalness of, xiii–xiv, 39
 - preliminary contrast, 261–65
 - revised account, 275–78
- as sources of pride, shame, love, hatred, 200–202, 259
- in the spectator, not actions, 245–48
- question of artificiality or naturalness of, 202, 259–61, 275–78
- virtues, see also virtue and vice
 - and the dominion of reason over passions, 216–17
 - artificial
 - Mandeville's view, 201
 - cardinal, 238
 - Hume's fourfold classification, 285
 - ineffective, 280–83
 - natural and original, 12
 - Shaftesbury's and Hutcheson's view, 202
- Voltaire, 26
- voluntary action, 171, see also liberty, of spontaneity
 - and necessity, 181–82
- Warren, Howard C., 48
- will
 - freedom of, 169, see also liberty
 - compatibilism, 170
 - Descartes' view, 173
 - gives no insight into power, 121
 - moved by causal reasoning, 113
 - not moved by reason, 113, 218–20
- Willams, Bernard, 202
- Wollaston, William, 242
- Wright, John P., 7, 16, 29, 55, 63, 76, 81, 229, 253
- Yolton, John W., 33, 126, 186
 - on being present to the mind, 58