Studies in Ancient Greek and Roman Society

This collection of papers originally published in Past and Present includes some of the most innovative history written about Greece and Rome in the last twenty years. The volume offers a convenient and enthralling guide to the hottest issues and topics in Greek and Roman history, maps the changing interests of ancient historians and raises stimulating questions about historical method.

The contributors to the volume represent many of the most exciting and influential ancient historians who have been active in the last quarter century. An introduction by the editor, which places the papers in the wider context of changing interests in Greek and Roman history, sets the scene for papers on Greek warfare, the regulation and representation of women and the nature and study of homosexual relationships in Athens, the relationship between Rome and its empire, whether Rome was democratic, the ideology of Augustan Rome, games and gaming at Rome, the lives of slaves, the ancient interpretation of dreams, the nature of religious pilgrimage, early Christian martyr stories, and bandits in the Roman empire.

ROBIN OSBORNE is Professor of Ancient History at the University of Cambridge and a Fellow of King's College. His many publications include Demos: The Discovery of Classical Attika (1985), Classical Landscape with Figures. The Ancient Greek City and its Countryside (1987), Greece in the Making 1200–479 B.C. (1996), Archaic and Classical Greek Art (1998) and seven edited or co-edited collections.

General Editors: LYNDAL ROPER, University of Oxford, and CHRIS WICKHAM, University of Birmingham

Past and Present Publications comprise books similar in character to the articles in the journal Past and Present. Whether the volumes in the series are collections of essays – some previously published, others new studies – or monographs, they encompass a wide variety of scholarly and original works primarily concerned with social, economic and cultural changes, and their causes and consequences. They will appeal to both specialists and non-specialists and will endeavour to communicate the results of historical and allied research in the most readable and lively form.
