

CONTENTS

Notes on contributors	page ix
Acknowledgements	xii
Chronology	xiii
Directing work	xviii

Introduction	I
RICHARD BOON

PART I TEXT AND CONTEXT

1 Portable Theatre: 'fine detail, rough theatre'. A personal memoir	15
TONY BICÂT
2 Keeping turning up: Hare's early career	31
RICHARD BOON
3 In opposition: Hare's response to Thatcherism	49
LIB TAYLOR
4 Hare's trilogy at the National: private moralities and the common good	64
LES WADE
5 Hare's 'stage poetry', 1995–2002	79
DUNCAN WU
6 'Stopping for lunch': the political theatre of David Hare	92
PETER ANSORGE

CONTENTS

PART II WORKING WITH HARE

- |   |  |     |
|---|--|-----|
| 7 | Hare in collaboration: writing dialoguesCATHY TURNER | 109 |
| 8 | Acting Hare: The Permanent WayBELLA MERLIN    | 123 |
| 9 | Directing HareRICHARD EYRE                           | 138 |

PART III HARE ON SCREEN

- |    |  |     |
|----|--|-----|
| 10 | ‘Being taken no notice of in ten million homes’: David Hare’sadventures in televisionJOHN BULL | 153 |
| 11 | Hare on film: an interviewRICHARD BOON   | 169 |

PART IV OVERVIEWS OF HARE

- |    |   |     |
|----|---|-----|
| 12 | ‘To ask how things might have been otherwise . . .’: history andmemory in the work of David HareSTEVE NICHOLSON | 183 |
| 13 | Performing histories: Plenty and A Map of the WorldJANELLE REINELT                                    | 200 |
| 14 | ‘Marbled with doubt’: satire, reality and the alpha male in the playsof David HareMICHAEL MANGAN                | 220 |
| 15 | ‘Theatre and anti-theatre’: David Hare and public speakingCHRIS MEGSON AND DAN REBELLATO                            | 236 |
|    | Selected bibliography  | 250 |
|    | Index  | 260 |