The Cambridge Guide to Jewish History, Religion, and Culture

The Cambridge Guide to Jewish History, Religion, and Culture is a comprehensive and engaging overview of Jewish life, from its origins in the ancient Near East to its impact on contemporary popular culture. The twenty-one essays, arranged historically and thematically and written specially for this volume by leading scholars, examine the development of Judaism and the evolution of Jewish history and culture over many centuries and in a range of locales. They emphasize the ongoing diversity and creativity of the Jewish experience. Unlike previous anthologies, which concentrate on elite groups and expressions of a male-oriented rabbinic culture, this volume also includes the range of experiences of ordinary people and looks at the lives and achievements of women in every place and era. The many illustrations and maps, the timeline, and the glossary of important terms enhance this book's accessibility to students and general readers.

Judith R. Baskin is Philip H. Knight Professor of Humanities and Associate Dean for Humanities in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Oregon. Her books include Midrashic Women: Formations of the Feminine in Rabbinic Literature and Pharaoh's Counsellors: Job, Jethro, and Balaam in Rabbinic and Patristic Tradition, and she is editor of Jewish Women in Historical Perspective and Women of the World: Jewish Women and Jewish Writing. She also served as subeditor for postbiblical entries for The Torah: A Women's Commentary, which received the Everett Family Foundation Jewish Book of the Year Award in 2008.

Kenneth Seeskin is Philip M. and Ethel Klutznick Professor of Jewish Civilization at Northwestern University. He is the author of Maimonides on the Origin of the World, which was selected by Choice as one of the outstanding books in the humanities for 2006, and Searching for a Distant God: The Legacy of Maimonides, which won the Koret Jewish Book Award in 2000; he is also editor of The Cambridge Companion to Maimonides. He has received several teaching awards, including the Charles Deering McCormick Professor of Teaching Excellence at Northwestern University.

Acknowledgments

We would like to thank the eighteen authors who have generously shared their scholarly expertise and their interpretive skills in the excellent essays that make up this volume. The support of our programs and institutions, the Harold Schnitzer Family Program in Judaic Studies at the University of Oregon, and The Crown Family Center for Jewish Studies at Northwestern University provided essential resources and enabled us to set aside time for the many editing tasks a project like this requires. We are grateful to Andy Beck, Beatrice Rehl, and Jason Pryzbylski for their encouragement, guidance, and patience. Our work began as a collaboration among strangers and developed into a rewarding friendship. We hope that readers of this book will share our excitement at the diversity, complexity, and richness of the Jewish story.
