Index

accurate informants, 94–100 actor effects and variance, 113, 116–117, 122 adolescence
development during, 224–228, 248–249, 250 gender and social support in, 71–72 genetic and environmental factors in, 79 trust and psychosocial adjustment during, 250–251 adolescent activities disclosure to parents about, 225–226, 236–236, 240–241 etnic and cultural differences, 236–240
Adolescent Family Process (AFP) measure, 254 adolescent relationships, and development, 248–249, 250 adolescent trustworthiness, 207–208, 216–219 research method and results, 208–216 adolescent–parent relationship, 226–228 and bases of trust, 251–252, 265 changing nature of, 224–225 deception in, 204, 205, 207–208, 213–214, 216–217, 227–228 disclosure and trust in, 225–226, 230–236, 240–241
etnic and cultural differences, 236–240
social domain theory, 228–230
adolescents
consequences of being too trusting, 17
intergroup trust among, 296–299 measuring trust beliefs of, 252–253, 261–266 research method, 253–256
research results, 256–261
parental knowledge and trust in, 204–208 parental monitoring of, 203–204, 225, 240, 251

significance of trust for, 13–14

see also young adults Adolphs, R., 43
affect see emotion
agreement and disagreement between adolescents and parents, 204, 207, 210, 213, 216–217, 229 group effects on epistemic trust, 100–105 Alpert, R., 181
altruistic prosocial behavior, 273–274, 277, 287–288 ambivalent children, 92–93 amygdala, 43
animal studies, 30–31, 32–37 anonymous prosocial behavior, 276 anxiety, about lying, 184 apartheid, 309–310
Asch, S., 191
Aseltine, H., Jr., 77
assertions, 157
assimilation, 113
Astington, J. W., 156–158
attachment
in animals, 34, 36–37
genetic and environmental factors, 59 attachment style, 19–20, 70–71, 249 and epistemic trust, 92–93, 94, 96 attachment theory, 11–13, 28, 56–57, 223, 249–250 compared with BDT framework, 14 and sibling trust, 134–135, 144, 146 autism, 48
autonomy, 88–89, 107, 224–225, 228–229 avoidance, 47
avoidant children, 93, 94, 96
Baier, A. C., 226
Bala, N., 191
Baumgartner, T., 44
BDT interpersonal trust framework (Rotenberg), 9, 29–30, 177–178, 206, 247–248, 271, 295

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org
Index

applied to adolescents, 252–266 applied to prosocial behaviors see prosocial behaviors cognitive/affective domain, 19–21 compared with attachment theory, 14 compared with trust game, 38–39 components of, 9–10
  discrepancy between, 17–18 developmental issues, 22 empirical support, 14–16 and perceived risk, 11–13
  and promise-keeping, 161–163 relationship to other research, 10–11
  and sibling trust, 136–137
  and significance of trust for children, 13–14
  and theory of mind, 21–22
trustworthiness, 16–17
behavior
dispositional trustworthiness, 177 intergroup trust and, 302, 307 behavior-dependency domain of BDT, 10 behavior-enacting domain of BDT, 10 early findings, 16–17
  and theory of mind, 21
and trust beliefs, 18
behavioral genetics approach, 57, 59–61 factors influencing trust in significant others, 61–70, 78–79 trust, life events, and psychological well-being, 72–78, 79–80 behavior-inhibition, 47 behavioral trust, 18
best friends, 60, 63, 64, 66, 68–70, 125–127 Bets, L. R., 15–16, 121, 125, 162, 163 bias, 296, 306–307
block design, 119
Blyth, D. A., 143
Boulton, M., 18, 110, 162
Bowlby, J., 56, 134, 135 brain imaging, 42–45
brain lesion studies, 42–45
Brewer, M. B., 306
Buhrmester, D., 114
Bukowski, W. M., 270
bullying, 71, 79
Bussey, K., 167–170
bystander assent and dissent, 100–102, 103 caregivers see attachment theory Carlo, G., 273
Cerda, C., 296, 297
CGTB see Children's Generalized Trust
  Belief Scale
child sexual abuse, 18, 159, 165–170 Child Witness Credibility Questionnaire, 192 child witnesses, 159, 165–167, 189–193 and social cognitive theory, 167–172 children age of
    and lying behavior, 180, 181–182, 183, 184, 187 and understanding of lying, 180 and understanding of promises, 160–161 consequences of being too trusting, 17 detecting honesty of, 189–193 epistemic dependence of, 88–89
intergroup trust among, 311
  and promise-keeping
development of concept, 156–158 extent of promise-keeping, 159–160 secrecy and disclosure of adult transgressions, 167–172 school age
  life events, trust, and psychological well-being, 72–78, 79–80 trust in significant other, 61–70, 78–79 sibling trust, TAPS study, 139–146
  significance of trust for, 13–14
young children
  and epistemic trust
    accurate informants, 94–95
    agreement and disagreement group effects, 100–105 balance of familiarity and accuracy, 95–100 familiar informants, 90–94 weighing indices of, 105–107 mutual influence analysis, 125–127, 128 SRM analysis, 121–123, 127–128 see also friends; mother–infant relationship; parent–child interactions; peer relationships Children's Generalized Trust Belief (CGTB) Scale, 142, 162, 252, 271 cognitive autonomy, 88–89, 107 cognitive schema mechanism, 276–277 cognitive theory, 167–172 cognitive trust, 18
cognitive/affective domain of BDT, 14–16, 19–21 collective guilt, 304, 305 communication, and truth, 178 competency test, 159–160 compliant prosocial behavior, 274 concealment see disclosure; lies and lying
Index

324

constructs, in SRM, 115, 116
Corriveau, K. H., 90, 102, 103
Couch, L. L., 250 criminal/immoral activity promises of secrecy and disclosure regarding, 164, 170–172 see also child sexual abuse cross-group friendships, 298–299, 303–305, 308, 310, 311–312 cultural differences, 105, 236–240 see also race and ethnicity Darling, N., 229
deception
  by adolescents, 204, 205, 207–208, 213–214, 216–217, 227
  in animals, 30–31
  in unequal power relationships, 227
  see also lies and lying deference, 104–105
Delgado, M. R., 42, 44
depression, 70–72
  life events, trust, and, 72–78
Depression Self-Rating Scale (DSRS), 72–73 development
  of concept of promises, 156–158, 160–161 during adolescence, 224–228, 248–249 importance of trust in, 223–224, 271 of lying behavior, 180–182
  neurobiological approach to, 45–48 and relationships, 56–57, 250 and trust, 22, 28–29
  see also behavioral genetics approach; epistemic trust deviance and adolescent trust, 255, 259, 264
  see also problem behaviors direct prosocial behavior, 275–276 disagreement see agreement and disagreement disclosure, 278
  by adolescents, 204, 205, 206, 210, 213, 229–230, 251
  ethnic and cultural differences, 236–240 and cross-group friends, 311–312
  genetic and environmental factors, 59
  influence of promises on, 167–172
  and sibling trust, 136
  and trust in significant others, 62
  see also secret-keeping; shared information dishonesty see deception
dispositional trustworthiness, 177
  see also lies and lying distrust, 217
Dunn, J., 19, 133
dyadic relationships see adolescent–parent relationship; mutual influence model; parent–child interactions; social relations model educational integration, 314
Eisenberg, N., 162
emotion, 19
  cognitive/affective domain of BDT, 14–16, 19–21 emotional prosocial behavior, 275 emotional tone, and adolescent trust, 254, 259, 261 emotional trust, 10, 18, 206, 278
  and adolescent–parent relationship, 251, 261, 265 empathy, 304, 305
environmental factors, 57
  see also behavioral genetics approach epigenetics, 47–48
epistemic dependence of children, 88–89 epistemic trust, 87
  in accurate informants, 94–95
  agreement and disagreement group effects, 100–105 balance of familiarity and accuracy in, 95–100 in familiar informants, 90–94 relationship with interpersonal, 87–88, 93, 100 weighing indices of trustworthiness, 105–107 Erikson, E. H., 28, 56, 134, 223 error variance, 114–115 ethnicity see race and ethnicity evolutionary theory, 137–138, 145, 146 extended contact hypothesis, 298–299, 314 external influences on disclosure, 168, 171 extremist groups, 305–307, 314 faces, trustworthiness of, 43 false beliefs, and epistemic trust, 99, 101, 102 false-belief reasoning, 21 familiar, infants’ preference for, 90
familiar informants, 90–94
  in conjunction with accuracy, 95–100 familiarity, and adult detection of children’s honesty, 183, 193–194 familiarity dimension of trust, 10

© in this web service Cambridge University Press  www.cambridge.org
Index

families
and adolescent trust, 254, 259–261, 264
and parental trust beliefs in adolescents, 205 see also adolescent–parent relationship; parents; siblings; significant others fathers, 254, 259–261, 264, 282–285
Finkenauer, C., 205
Fitzpatrick, S., 170
forgiveness, 303–305, 307
Fox, C., 18, 110, 162
Fraley, R. C., 135, 137
Frank, R. H., 42
friends
best friends, 60, 63, 64, 66, 68–70, 125–127 cross-group, 298–299, 303–305, 308, 310, 311–312 during adolescent development, 248–249 prosocial, 281, 282–285, 288
see also peer relationships; significant others
Furman, W., 114
Fusaro, M., 100, 102
game theory, 37–39
gender, 15
and development of trust, 63 and effects of social support, 71–72, 78
and lying, 183
and prosocial behaviors, 289
and reciprocity, 126
and response to life events, 74 generalization of trust, 57 Generalized Trust Beliefs-Late Adolescence (GTB-LA), 252–253, 256–259, 272, 280–281 assessment of, 261–266
genetics, 47–48
evolutionary approach to sibling trust, 137–138, 145, 146
see also behavioral genetics approach go/no-go association task (GNAT), 307
Gore, S., 77
Grimbeek, E. J., 167–170
group agreement and disagreement, 100–105 group socialization theory, 60 groups see ingroup bias; ingroup identification; intergroup contact; intergroup trust GTB-LA see Generalized Trust Beliefs-Late Adolescence
Harris, J. R., 60
Harris, P. L., 90, 100, 102, 173
Hartshorne, H., 16
helping behaviors see prosocial behaviors heritability, 138
see also genetics
Hewstone, M., 310
Home;School Linkages Project, 208 honesty, 10, 16, 177–178 in adolescent relations, 227–228 and adolescent trustworthiness, 217
and adolescent–parent relationship, 261, 265
in animals, 30–31
blunt truth-tellers, 194–195 and children’s testimonies, 189–193 detecting children’s, 184–193 parents’ belief in children’s, 189
and promise-keeping, 155, 172–173
and prosocial behaviors, 277, 282–285, 287–288
and theory of mind, 21
see also disclosure; lies and lying; shared information hormones see oxytocin; vasopressin Implicit Association Test (IAT), 306 implicit bias measures, 306–307 information see epistemic trust; shared information ingroup bias, 296, 306–307 ingroup identification, 303–304, 305, 314 inhibitory control, 16 insecure children, 92–93, 94, 96 interdependence, 124, 125 intergroup anxiety, 299, 310 intergroup conflict, 299 intergroup contact, 298–299, 313–314
in Northern Ireland, 300, 302
in South Africa, 309–311
see also cross-group friendships; racial segregation; religious segregation intergroup trust, 295, 296 among adolescents and young adults, 296–299 future research, 315
and intergroup contact, 299, 300, 302 mediating mechanisms, 314–315
in Northern Ireland, 300–309
predictors of, 313–314
in South Africa, 309–311
in UK, 311–312
internal influences on disclosure, 168, 171–172 Internal Working Model (IWM), 14, 56–57, 68, 249 internalized maladjustment, 17 interpersonal trust framework see BDT interpersonal trust framework relationship with epistemic, 87–88, 93, 100 intimacy, 248–249, 250
intrapersonal factors in development of trust, 57
Inventory of Parent and Peer Attachment (IPPA), 230, 237
Isaacs, S., 89
Ito, Y., 61
IWM see Internal Working Model
Jeffries, E. D., 238
Jones, W. H., 250
Kahn, P. H., Jr., 20
Kenny, D. A., 111, 124
see also social relations model
Kerr, M., 204–205, 206, 225, 226, 312
King-Casas, B., 42, 43
knowledge see parental knowledge
Koenig, M. A., 173
Kosfeld, M., 39–40, 41
Lee, K., 183, 191
legal system, and child sexual abuse, 165–167 legitimacy see parental legitimacy Lewis, D., 18–19
lies and lying, 178–179
by adolescents, 205, 227–228
children's understanding of, 180 detection of, 178, 179, 182–183
by parents, 184–189
development of lying behavior, 180–182 maintaining, 182, 183
prosocial, 178, 194
see also truth-telling Life Events Scale for Adolescence, 73 life stressors, trust as buffer of, 70–78 Lindsay, R. C. L., 191
loneliness, 251, 254, 258
McHale, S. M., 143
Maeshiro, K., 61
Manke, B., 59
maternal behaviors, in rodents, 33–34
maxim of quality, 178
Mayeroff, M., 270
Meins, E., 90
memory, 35–36
Michalik, N., 162
Mikulincer, M., 19–20
militant sectarian groups, 305–307 see also criminal/immoral activity
Morgan, C. J., 60
Morgenstern, O., 37
Morhenn, V. B., 40, 41
mother–infant attachment, in animals, 34 mother–infant relationship and development of trust, 28, 32 neurobiological approach to, 33–34, 46 mothers
ability to detect lies, 184–189 adolescent disclosure to, 238 children's epistemic trust in, 90–93
detection of, 182–285
life stressors and trust in, 282–285 parenting processes, 254, 259–261, 264 perceptions of adolescent trustworthiness, 207–208, 216–219 research method and results, 208–216
TAPS study on trust beliefs regarding, 142–143, 144 motivation to approach, 35 multifaceted issues in adolescent–parent relationship, 229 multivariate correlations, 116–117, 122–123 mutual influence model, 124–127, 128 mutuality, 226
neurobiology, 30
animal models of social bonding, 32–37 implications for study of trust, 45–49 role of oxytocin and vasopressin, 31–32 trust in humans, 37–45
neuroeconomics, 39
neurotransmitters see oxytocin; vasopressin non-verbal cues, 101–102 Northern Ireland, intergroup trust in, 300–309 oath, testifying under, 159 ordinal position, 235–236 outgroup attitudes, 302
outgroup derogation, 307
oxytocin, 31–32
as clinical treatment, 47 and mother–infant relationship in animals, 33–35 and social behavior in animals, 32, 35, 36, 37 and trust behavior in humans, 39–42, 44, 45, 46 parent–adolescent relationship see adolescent–parent relationship parent–adolescent social roles, 206
Index

parent–child interactions BDT approach to, 12–13
  and theory of mind, 21–22
  see also mother–infant relationship parental knowledge, 203–204, 225, 240

  and adolescent trustworthiness, 204–208, 214–216, 218

parental legitimacy adolescent disclosure and domains of, 228–229, 230–231
  ethnic and cultural differences, 236–240
  and adolescent trustworthiness, 214–216, 218 parental monitoring, 203–204, 205, 225, 240, 251 parenting processes, and adolescent trust, 254, 259–261, 264 parents

  ability to detect lies, 184–189
  factors influencing trust in, 59–61, 64, 66 prosocial behavior and trust in, 282–285 response to life stressors and trust in, 70–78 see also mothers

partner effect and variance, 114, 116–117, 123 peer activities, adolescent disclosure about, 232

peer rejection, 17

peer relationships
  BDT applied to, 15
  compared with parent–adolescent relationship, 227 factors influencing trust in, 59–61 and level of trust beliefs, 17, 28–29 promises and trustworthiness in, 162, 163 trust violations in, 20–21 use of SRM to study, 118
  see also friends

peer-related life events, trust in parents, and response to, 70–78 peptides see oxytocin; vasopressin perceptual evidence, and epistemic trust, 90–91, 92–93, 105

Perkins, S. A., 227–228

personal domain, adolescent disclosure about, 228–229, 231, 236–240 perspective-taking, and intergroup trust, 304–305

Petigrew, T. F., 298

Phelps, E. A., 42

Piaget, J., 89

Plomin, R., 59

politicians, trust in, 18

positive expectations, 11–12

predictions, 157

prejudice, 298, 299, 312

primes, 30–31

problem behaviors
  and adolescent disclosure, 241
  and adolescent trustworthiness, 214–216, 218 see also deviance; substance use promise-keeping benefits and costs of, 172–173 children’s, 159–160

  mutual influence analysis of, 126–127

SRM analysis of, 115, 121–123

promises contextual influences on, 164–165 defining, 156, 157–158 development of understanding, 156–158, 160–161 importance and purposes of, 155, 160–164, 172–173 influence on disclosure and secrecy, 167–172
  and morality, 172–173
  and Rotenberg’s model of trustworthiness, 160–163 and witness testimony, 166–167

prosocial behaviors and collective guilt, 304 models and measurement of, 272–276 relationship with trust, 270–271, 276–279 exploratory study, 279–289

prosocial friends, 281, 282–285, 288

prosocial lies, 178, 194

Prosocial Tendencies Measure (PTM), 273, 281 psychological disorders, 46–47 see also depression; internalized maladjustment psychological well-being, 295–296

  and adolescent trust, 261–264
  and prosocial tendencies, 271
  and sibling trust, 133, 146
  and trust in significant others, 70–78

psychosocial functioning, 250–251 and friendships, 28–29

trust and children’s, 110

public prosocial behavior, 275, 277, 288
Index

race and ethnicity, 15, 296, 297
and adolescent–parent relationship, 236–240
and epistemic trust, 105
intergroup trust in South Africa, 309–311 intergroup trust in UK, 311–312 racial conflict, 309, 311
racial segregation, 309–310
Randall, B., 272, 273
Rau, L., 181
reciprocity, 124
applying SRM to, 115–117, 119, 120, 123
in trust game, 38, 42
see also mutual influence model recognition of familiar individual, 35–36 recursive thinking, 21–22 relationship variance and effects, 114–115 relationships
and development, 250
models of see mutual influence model;
social relations model prosocial tendencies in, 270–271
see also adolescent–parent relationship; parent–child interactions; peer relationships; sibling relationship reliability trust, 10, 21, 278
and adolescent–parent relationship, 261, 265 religious segregation, 300, 308 remorse, 184
residential segregation, 300, 308, 310 respectful deference, 104–105 risk, and BDT framework, 11–13 risk game, 39
rodent studies, 33–34
romantic relationships, 19–20
Rotenberg, K. J., 60, 110, 226, 278, 296, 297 BDT model see BDT interpersonal trust framework on promise-keeping, 160–163
see also Children's Generalized Trust
Belief Scale
Rotter, J. B., 160
round-robin design, 119–120
Rousseau, J.-J., 88
Rutter, M., 69
Saarni, C., 179
Sadler, P., 125
Sakai, A., 61
school adjustment, 16–17, 163
Schweitzer, M. E., 19
Searle, J. R., 156, 157
Sears, R., 181
secret-keeping
influence of promises on, 167–172
mutual influence analysis of, 126–127 and negative use of promises, 147, 155, 164, 167–170 SRM analysis of, 115, 121–123
and trustworthiness, 162 secure children, 92
segregation see racial segregation; religious segregation self-efficacy, 169, 170–171 self-esteem, 251, 255, 258, 261 self-regulatory control, 162–163 semantic leakage control, 182, 183 Sense of Trust in Significant Others (STS) Scale, 62, 73–74 sexual abuse see child sexual abuse sexual intercourse, 251 shared information (honesty)
and adolescent trustworthiness, 214–216, 218
see also disclosure
sharing, 278
Shikishima, C., 79
sibling relationship, 133 measured in TAPS study, 143–144
Sibling Relationship Inventory, 143
sibling trust
factors influencing, 59–61, 63, 64, 66
hypothetical, 138–139
pros and cons of, 146–147 TAPS study, 139–146
theoretical perspectives, 134–138 siblings
as attachment figures, 135
within family variations in trust, 233–236
signal detection analyses, 192 significant others development of trust in, 57, 59–61
factors influencing, 61–70, 78–79 life events, well-being, and, 72–78, 79–80 see also families; friends; parents; siblings Sippola, L. K., 270
Smetana, J. G., 237
smoking, 251
social bonding, in animals, 32–37 social cognitive theory, 167–172 social consensus, 105–107 social desirability, 255, 258
social domain theory, 228–230
social histories, 13 social interaction mechanism, 277–279 social phobia, 46–47
social recognition and memory, 35–36 social relations model (SRM), 111–117, 127–128 example, 121–123
suitability for examining trust, 117–121 social roles (parent–adolescent), 206 social support, 71–72, 77–78, 80 South Africa, 309–311
specificity dimension of trust, 10
SRM see social relations model
Stattin, H., 204–205, 206, 225, 312
Stocker, C., 143
strategic disclosure card sort, 210 stress responses
in animals, 33, 47
role of trust in, 70–78
stressor-resource matching theory, 77 striatum area, 43–44
structural equation modelling (SEM), 125 substance use, and adolescent trust, 255, 259, 264 Sugawara, M., 61
superficial compliance, 104 suspicion, 217
Swart, H., 310
sympathy, 282–285, 288
Talwar, V., 160, 163, 166, 183, 191
Tancredy, C. M., 135, 137
TAPS (Twins, Adoptees, Peers, and Siblings) study, 134, 139–146 target dimensions, 10, 249–250, 264 targets, of prosocial behavior, 289 Tasopoulos, M., 237
tattletales, 194–195
teachers, trust in, 94, 96–97 temptation-resistance paradigm, 181, 185–186 testimonies see witness testimony touch, influence on trust behaviors, 40–41 Trost, K., 204–205, 206, 312
Trueman, M., 16, 125
trust belief scales, 14–15 trust beliefs, 177, 248
applying SRM to, 113, 114, 117–119, 121
and attachment, 249–250 and behavior-enacting trust, 18 and cognitive schema mechanism, 276–277 consequences of high and low, 17, 28–29 and development of adult relationships, 249 measuring adolescent, 252–253, 261–266
research method, 253–256
research results, 256–261
mothers’, 212–218
parents’ ability to detect lies, 184–189 parents’ knowledge and, 204–208 and psychosocial adjustment, 250
sibling trust, 138–139
see also TAPS study
trust game, 38–42, 43–44 trusting, consequences of, 17
trustworthiness, 11, 177–179, 207, 248, 251 of adolescents, 207–208, 216–219
research method and results, 208–216
applying SRM to, 113, 114, 118
BDT framework, 16–17
dispositional, 177
epistemic and interpersonal, 88 of faces, 43–44
and lying, 178–179
and morality, 173
and promise-keeping, 160–163
of significant others, 62
in trust game, 38, 40, 42
weighing indices of epistemic, 105–107 truth, and communication, 178 truth-telling adults’ ability to detect, 189–193 child witness testimony, 159–160, 166–167
tattletales, 194–195
see also disclosure; lies and lying Turiel, E., 20, 227–228
Turkheimer, E., 64
twin studies
of attachment, 59
development of trust
factors influencing, 61–70
life events, psychological well-being, and, 72–78
see also TAPS study
twins
attachment bond between, 135
and sibling trust, 137–138
Twins, Adoptees, Peers, and Siblings (TAPS) study, 134, 139–146
UK, intergroup trust in, 311–312
Index

vasopressin, 32, 35, 36, 37
virtual twins, 140

Weigert, A., 18–19
Wentzel, K. R., 163
Winston, J. S., 43

witness testimony
in child sexual abuse cases, 165–167 and children’s promise-keeping, 159–160 credibility of children’s, 189–193

and social cognitive theory, 167–172
Woody, E., 125
Wright, S. C., 298

Yau, M., 237, 239

young adults
intergroup trust among, 296–299, 312
in Northern Ireland, 301–309
see also prosocial behavior

Zak, P. J., 40, 41