

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

Index

- access to justice
 - comparative civil justice 230–234
- administrative action see administrative law
- administrative law
 - civil service employment 146–148
 - civil society committees 163–165
 - and comparative law generally 145–146
 - courts and 148–160
 - economic aspects 158–159, 160, 164–165
 - freedom of information 166–167, 168
 - globalization of 168–169
 - judicial review
 - civil justice 214–215
 - procedural principles 154–156
 - substantive principles 156–160
 - systems for 148–154
 - litigation 151–152
 - notice-and-comment rulemaking 161–163
 - ombudsmen 165–166, 167
 - public access to government 165–167
 - public administration 146–148
 - public interest groups and 161–165
- ‘adversarial’ justice systems
 - civil procedure 212
- Afghanistan
 - constitution 172, 182–188
- Africa see African independence, public international law, sub-Saharan legal tradition
- African independence
 - economic aspects 329, 330, 333
- aggregation of claims
 - comparative civil justice 230–234
- Albania
 - constitution 173, 182–188
- Algeria
 - constitution 185
 - judicial review 153–154
- ALI/UNIDROIT Principles of Transnational Civil Procedure
 - aim of 225–226, 236–237
- Andorra
 - human rights 122
- Anglo-American law see common law
- Angola see also sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - constitution 173–174, 183, 185
- anthropology
 - bases for comparative law 76–77
 - and comparative law 13, 21–22, 33
 - contributions to comparative law 81–83
 - economic aspects 73, 74–75, 76
 - encounter with law 73–76
 - and evolutionism 74–75
 - and functionalism 75–76
 - future developments as to comparative law 84–86
 - and human rights 75–76
 - issues as to comparative law 77–81
 - and Latin American legal tradition 364–365
 - and mixed legal systems 374
 - perspective on law 28–32
 - and traditional law 314
- appeal cases
 - comparative civil justice 234–236
- Argentina see also Latin American legal tradition
 - constitution 172, 187–188
 - judicial review 155
- Aruba see also mixed legal systems
 - Dutch influence 361–362
- Australia
 - civil procedure 221, 222–223
 - corporate law and governance 51
 - employment law 51
 - judicial review 153–154, 155–156
 - legal families 211–212
 - ‘legal origins’ theory 51
 - positivist theory 45
- Austria
 - civil procedure 222–224
 - courts structure 249
 - judicial review 153–154

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

398 Index

- Azerbaijan
 - constitution 185, 188
- balancing/proportionality
 - characteristics 37–38
 - covert use of 40
 - critique of, contrasted with critique of ideology 41
 - as juristic technique 53
 - use of 35–37
- Bangladesh
 - constitution 182–188
- bankruptcy
 - micro level economic analysis 62
- Belgium
 - judicial review 153–154
- Brazil see also Latin American legal tradition
 - constitution 187–188
 - legal capability internationally 362–364
 - regional legal dialogue 351–353
- Burkina Faso see also sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - constitution 188
- Cambodia see also East African legal tradition
 - tradition
 - constitution 182
- Cameroon see also mixed legal systems, sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - constitution 185
- Canada
 - civil service law 146
 - corporate law and governance 51
 - employment law 51
 - legal families 211–212
 - legal language 110
 - 'legal origins' theory 51
 - positivist theory 45
- capitalism see also democracy
 - and civil procedure 48
 - competitive and cooperative models 47, 49–50
 - and corporate law 47
 - and employment law 47, 50
 - 'organic' approach to legal differences 48–51
 - 'semiotic' approach to legal differences 48–51
 - varieties 47–48
 - and welfare law 48
- Caribbean see Latin American legal tradition
- Chad see also sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - legal capability internationally 364–365
- Chicago School of Law and Economics
 - rise of 30
- Chile see also Latin American legal tradition
 - Civil Code 353–354
- China see also East Asian legal tradition
 - civil courts 214
 - civil procedure 211–212, 222–223, 224–225
 - conception of political space 265
 - Confucianism see Confucianism
 - constitution 172, 173–174, 181, 182–188
 - hegemony within East Asia 258–259, 266–267
 - 'Law and Economics' theory 31–32
 - legal profession 216–218
 - legal traditions 262–265
 - legal translation 100, 104
 - political aspects of legal tradition 262–263, 264, 265, 266–267
 - Sinocentrism 265–266
 - unwritten law as authoritative 104
- Christianity see also religion
 - as ideology 39
 - and secularism 389
 - and the sub-Saharan legal tradition 320–321
- civil justice
 - access to justice 230–234
 - aggregation of claims 230–234
 - appeals 234–236
 - and comparative law generally 210–213
 - courts 213–216
 - economic aspects 210, 219–220, 233–234
 - first instance proceedings 220–226
 - hierarchies of courts 214
 - judicial review 214–215
 - legal profession 216–220
 - political aspects 210, 214–215, 233–234
 - preclusive effect of judgments 226–230
 - selection of judges 215
 - summary of issues 236–237
 - supranational courts 215–216
 - supreme courts 214
- civil law
 - administrative procedure 154–155, 157
 - appeals 234–236
 - balancing/proportionality 35–36
 - civil procedure 212–213, 229
 - corporate law and governance 51–53
 - countries, number of 368
 - criminal law 199–200
 - and economic growth 67–68
 - employment law 51–53, 63

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

Index 399

- first instance proceedings 220–226
- judges, recruitment of 215
- judicial review 148–154
- and 'legal origins' theory 51–53
- mixed legal systems 368–379
- and positivist theory 45
- civil procedure 224–225
 - 'adversarial' and 'inquisitorial' systems 212
 - and capitalism 48
 - class actions 232
 - connections with 50
 - convergence 221
 - differences 212–213
 - group litigation 232–233
 - ideological analysis 52
 - mass claims 232
 - micro level economic analysis 60–61
 - preclusive effect 227–228
 - Principles of Transnational 225–226, 236–237
 - similarities 221–222
- civil service employment
 - administrative law 146–148
- civil society committees
 - administrative law 163–165
- civil society groups
 - administrative law and 161–165
- class actions
 - comparative civil justice 230–234
- classification of legal traditions see legal families
- Colombia see also Latin American legal tradition
 - constitutional court, ideological mediation by 42–43
 - judicial review 153–154, 155
 - legal capability internationally 362–364
 - regional legal dialogue 354–355
- colonial era see sub-Saharan legal tradition
- colonization
 - economic aspects 310–311, 321
- common law
 - administrative procedure 154–156, 157
 - appeals 234–236
 - balancing/proportionality 35–36
 - Caribbean 349
 - civil procedure 212–213, 214, 229
 - and comparative law generally 31
 - contract law 136
 - corporate law and governance 51–53
 - countries, number of 368
 - criminal law 195–196, 198, 199–201, 204–205, 206–207
 - and economic growth 31–32, 67–68
 - employment law 51–53, 63
 - and English language 108, 109
 - and European law 250
 - first instance proceedings 220–226
 - and Islamic law 296–297, 303–304
 - and Jewish law 289
 - judges, recruitment of 215
 - judicial review 148–154
 - legal language 93–94, 356
 - and 'legal origins' theory 51–53
 - legal profession 216–218
 - legal translation 99
 - mixed legal systems 368–379
 - and positivist theory 45
 - private law 118
- comparative criminal justice see criminal law
- comparative law
 - and administrative law
 - see* administrative law
 - and African legal tradition see sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - anthropology and see anthropology
 - capitalism and see capitalism
 - and civil justice see civil justice
 - and constitutional law see constitutional law
 - and criminal law see criminal law
 - defining feature of 14
 - democracy and see democracy and Western legal tradition
 - distinctiveness of 14
 - and East Asian legal tradition see East Asian legal tradition
 - economics and see economics
 - foreign law, study of 15
 - idealist view 15
 - interdisciplinary approach see interdisciplinary approach to law
 - and international law see private international law; public international law
 - and international organizations see international organizations
 - international study generally 14–15
 - and Islamic law see Islamic law
 - and Jewish law see Jewish law
 - and Latin American legal tradition see Latin American legal tradition
 - and legal history 22–25
 - and legal language see legal language

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

400 Index

- comparative law (cont.)
 - and legal transplants see legal transplants
 - methodology 24
 - and mixed legal systems see mixed legal systems
 - and neighbouring disciplines 13–14, 32–33
 - object of 13–14, 21–22, 24
 - as perspective on law 21–22
 - philosophy and 27–28
 - politics and see politics
 - and private law see private law
 - realist view 15
 - religion and see Christianity; Islamic law; religion
 - scope of 21–22
 - sociology and 25–27
 - and sub-Saharan legal tradition see sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - and transnational law 20–21
- Comparative Law and Economics Forum
 - work of 30
- competition law
 - micro level economic analysis 63
- conflict
 - traditional law as to 318–319
- conflict of laws
 - international organizations and 243
 - macro level economic analysis 70
- Confucianism
 - China's political rejection of 259, 275
 - and individualism 264
 - and legal tradition 262–265
 - and pluralism 266
 - as state orthodoxy 264
 - world view 266
- constitution
 - allocation and control of power 184
 - amendment 184–185
 - as contract 179–180
 - as cultural phenomenon 173
 - definition of common wealth 183–184
 - as higher law 171
 - as instrument of government 172–173
 - justice provision 183
 - language of 172
 - as political manifesto 180
 - popular appeal 173–174
 - as programme 180–182
 - protection of 184–185
 - role generally 171
 - as statute 182
 - style of 172
 - validity 184–185
- constitutional courts
 - ideological mediation by 42–43
- constitutional law
 - academic approach 174–177
 - and African law see Sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - analytical approaches
 - constitutional structures 183–185
 - constitutional types 178–182
 - generally 178
 - comparative methodology, issues as to 177–178
 - constitutional transfer
 - common features enabling 185–187
 - differences resisting 187–188
 - economic aspects 180–181
 - and ideological conflict 44–45
 - macro level economic analysis 65–66
 - political aspects see also democracy
 - academic approach 174–175, 176
 - constitutional structures 179, 180, 181, 183–184, 185–186
 - constitutional transfer 186–187, 188
 - generally 172–173
 - role of constitutions generally 171
 - social contract 179–180
- constitutionalization
 - European private law see private law
- consumer law
 - harmonization 124–127
- contract law
 - legal translation 97
 - legal transplants 92–93
 - micro level economic analysis 58–59
 - traditional law 318–319
- convergence of legal rules
 - comparative methodology as to 133
- convergence of legal systems
 - macro level economic analysis 69
- corporate law and governance
 - and capitalism 47
 - competitive and cooperative models 50–51
 - connections with 50
 - globalization 51
 - ideological analysis 52
 - 'legal origins' approach 51
 - micro level economic analysis 61–62
 - models of 61–62
- Costa Rica see also Latin American legal tradition
 - judicial review 155
- courts see also civil justice, civil procedure

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

Index 401

- comparative civil justice 213–216
- international organizations 249–251
- judicial review see administrative law
- crimes of honour
 - ideological debate as to 43
- criminal justice
 - political aspects 203, 205, 206–207
- criminal law
 - comparative criminal justice
 - development 191–192
 - legal transplants
 - examples of 203–205
 - reasons for 205–207
 - methodology issues 194–203
 - prospects 192–194
 - comparative criminal procedure
 - connections with 50
 - development of methodologies 199–201
 - further developments 201–203
 - ideological analysis 52
 - micro level economic analysis 61
 - comparative methodology 194–199
 - economic aspects 192, 204, 205–206
 - European law 193–194
 - foreign law
 - comparison with 197–199
 - study of 194–195
 - understanding of 195–197
 - ideological debate as to crimes of honour 43
 - international courts and tribunals 193
 - criminal procedure see criminal law
- Cuba see also Latin American legal tradition
 - and Dominican Republic 349–350
- Czech Republic
 - judicial review 153–154
- democracy see also capitalism, Western legal tradition
 - autonomy of law and justice 387–390
 - and comparative law generally 384–385
 - East Asia 260–262, 274, 275–276
 - economic aspects 384, 388, 390–391
 - individualism 263–264
 - communicative resources 386, 390
 - non-democratic societies 384–385, 386
 - political aspects 384, 386, 387–388, 389, 390
 - constitutional forms 386
 - politics 390–393
 - Rule of Law see Rule of Law
 - secularism 387–390
- Denmark
 - freedom of information 166–167
 - judicial review 155
 - ombudsmen 166
- difference
 - ideological analysis of causes of 46
 - investigation of 135–139
 - ‘organic’ and ‘semiotic’ approaches 48–51
 - resisting constitutional transfer 187–188
- divergence of legal rules
 - comparative methodology as to 133
- Dominican Republic see also Latin American legal tradition
 - and Cuba 349–350
 - and Haiti 349–350
- East Asian legal tradition
 - and comparative law generally 257
 - competition law 63
 - definition of East Asia 257–260
 - definition of law 260–262
 - economic aspects 276
 - end of 275–276
 - and international law 268
 - legal transplants 271
 - political aspects
 - decline of traditional legal systems 275–276
 - dominance of Western legal tradition 260–262, 274, 275–276
 - generally 258, 259, 274
- economics
 - and administrative law 158–159, 160, 164–165
 - and African independence 329, 330, 333
 - and African law development 336–337
 - and anthropology 73, 74–75, 76
 - and civil justice 210, 219–220, 233–234
 - and colonization 310–311, 321
 - and comparative law generally 13, 22, 33, 71–72
 - and conceptualization of law 44, 47, 48, 49–50, 51, 52
 - and constitutional law 180–181
 - and criminal law 192, 204, 205–206
 - and democracy 384
 - and East Asian legal tradition 276
 - and Latin American legal tradition 344–345, 348, 356–359
 - ‘Law and Economics’
 - Chicago School 30
 - growth of 30
 - meaning of 57–58
 - origins of 57–58

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

402 Index

- economics (cont.)
 - macro level analysis of legal structure
 - conflict of laws 70
 - constitutional law 65–66
 - convergence of legal systems 69
 - judiciary 64–65
 - lawmaking 71
 - legal education 66
 - legal families and economic growth 67–68
 - legal profession 66
 - legal scholarship 66
 - legal transplants 70
 - rule of law 70–71
 - micro level analysis of legal rules
 - bankruptcy 62
 - civil procedure 60–61
 - competition law 63
 - contract law 58–59
 - corporate law and governance 61–62
 - criminal procedure 61
 - employment law 63
 - family law 63
 - intellectual property 63
 - litigation 60–61
 - property law 60
 - tort law 59
 - perspective on law 28–32
 - and private law 117, 137
 - and traditional law 333
 - welfare law analysis 57–58
 - and Western legal tradition 388, 390–391
 - World Bank see World Bank
- education see legal education
- Egypt
 - constitutional court, ideological mediation by 42–43
 - judicial review 153–154
 - as mixed jurisdiction 371
- El Salvador see also Latin American legal tradition
 - regional legal dialogue 354–355
- employment law
 - and capitalism 47, 50
 - connections with 50
 - ideological analysis 52
 - 'legal origins' approach 51
 - micro level economic analysis 63
- England see United Kingdom
- English
 - and Law French 93–94
 - as universal legal language 93–94, 109–111
- equivalent rule
 - identification of 134–135
- Estonia
 - judicial review 153–154
- European law
 - African conventions 326
 - and African law see Sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - Civil Code as harmonization measure 127–133
 - civil justice 215–216
 - civil procedure 48, 49–50, 225–226
 - civil society committees 163–165
 - civil society groups 163–165
 - clash of comparative law and legal history approaches 24–25
 - Common Frame of Reference as harmonization measure 127–133
 - competition law 63
 - constitution proposals 181–182
 - constitutional law and positivist theory 44–45
 - constitutional provisions 179
 - criminal law 193–194
 - criminal law transplant 205, 206–207
 - criminal procedure 203
 - English as legal language 109–111
 - establishment of European Community 242–243
 - European Court of Justice 250–251
 - European Union bodies 249
 - freedom of information 166–167
 - harmonization of private law see private law
 - human rights 203
 - human rights treaty interpretation 19–20
 - ius commune* as source of private law 24
 - judicial review 148–160
 - judiciary 64–65
 - legal profession 219
 - and multilingualism 105–109
 - private law comparative studies see private law
 - supranational courts 215–216
 - tobacco smuggling action in US 243–244
- evolutionism
 - and anthropology 74–75
- families of law see legal families
- family law
 - ideological analysis 45
 - micro level economic analysis 63
 - traditional law 316–318

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

Index 403

- Far East see East Asian legal tradition
- Fiji
 - constitution 182–188
- Finland
 - freedom of information 166–167, 168
 - judicial review 153–154
- Fiqh see Islamic law
- first instance proceedings
 - comparative civil justice 220–226
- foreign law
 - study of 15
- France
 - African Community (Communauté) 326
 - bankruptcy law 61–62
 - and Caribbean 349
 - Chad child trafficking case 364–365
 - civil procedure 221, 222–225
 - civil service law 146
 - civil society groups 163–165
 - colonial rule in Africa 322–323
 - constitution 173–174, 180, 182
 - criminal law transplant 207
 - economic growth and legal system 67–68
 - freedom of information 167
 - judicial review 148–155, 156–157, 159
 - and Latin America 347–348, 353–354, 354–355, 359–360
 - Law French 93–94
 - legal profession 218–220
 - legal translation 97, 101–102
 - ombudsmen 166
- freedom of information
 - administrative law 166–167, 168
- functionalism
 - and anthropology 75–76
- functionally equivalent rule
 - identification of 134–135
- Germany
 - civil appeals 235
 - civil courts 214
 - civil procedure 221, 222–225, 227
 - civil service law 146
 - civil society groups 164–165
 - constitution 173–174, 182–188
 - constitutional court 186–187
 - corporate law and governance 61–62
 - courts structure 249
 - criminal law transplant 204–205
 - East German constitution 181
 - freedom of information 167
 - Imperial Constitution 179
 - judicial review 151–152, 153, 157–159
 - and Latin America 353–355
 - legal profession 219
 - legal translation 95–96, 97, 98–100, 101–102, 111
 - legal transplant to Italy 92–93
 - mass harms 232, 233–234
 - pandectist theory 35
 - privacy law 120–122
 - Prussian civil service law 146
 - Weimar Constitution 173–174
- Ghana see also sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - ideological mediation by constitutional court 42–43
- globalization
 - of administrative law 168–169
 - corporate law and governance 51
 - and transnational law 20
- governance see corporate law and governance
- Greece
 - judicial review 153–154
- group claims
 - comparative civil justice 230–234
- Haiti see also Latin American legal tradition
 - and Dominican Republic 349–350
- harmonization
 - European private law see private law
- harms
 - mass harms and comparative civil justice 230–234
- Hayek, Friedrich August
 - on economic growth and legal systems 67–68
- Hinduism see also religion
 - as ideology 39
- history see legal history
- Hong Kong see also East Asian legal tradition
 - freedom of information 167
- honour crimes
 - ideological debate as to 43
- human rights
 - anthropology and 75–76
 - constitutional law 180
 - constitutionalization of private law 119–123
 - criminal procedure 203
 - European law 216, 221–222
 - Inter American Court 350–351
 - international organizations 246–247
 - judicial review 157
 - Latin America 350–351, 360–361, 362–364
 - and politics 260
 - protection of 20, 360–361

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

404 Index

- human rights (cont.)
 - transnationalization 118–119
 - treaty interpretation 19–20
- Hungary
 - constitutional court 186–187
 - judicial review 153–154
- idealist view of comparative law
 - overview 15
- ideology see politics
- immanent values
 - and legal translation 103–104
- incest
 - legal anthropology and 81–82
- India
 - constitution 173–174, 188
 - constitutional court, ideological mediation by 42–43
 - judicial review 153–154
 - 'Law and Economics' theory 31–32
 - legal families 211–212
 - legal translation 100, 104
 - mass harms 231
- individuals
 - rights of God and of humans 307–310
 - traditional law 316–318
 - Western legal tradition 263–264
- Indonesia see also East Asian legal tradition
 - legal anthropology 83
- 'inquisitorial' justice systems
 - civil procedure 212
- insolvency
 - micro level economic analysis as to bankruptcy 62
- intellectual property
 - micro level economic analysis 63
- interdisciplinary approach to law
 - methodology issues 135–139
 - use of 26, 33
- international law see private international law; public international law
- international organizations
 - and comparative law generally 241–242
 - constraints 251–253
 - courts 249–251
 - and customary international law 252–253
 - legal environment 243–244
 - legal method 248–249
 - legal status 242–243
 - norm production 244–246
 - political aspects 241, 242
 - private international law and 243, 246–247
 - sponsorship of treaties 246–248
 - structure 242–243
 - summary of issues 253
- Iran
 - constitution 188
- Ireland
 - constitution 172
 - freedom of information 167
 - and harmonization of European private law 42
 - judicial review 153–154
- Islamic law
 - Africa see Sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - and comparative law generally 295–296
 - criminal law transplant 205, 206–207
 - decline 310–311
 - ideological debate as to crimes of honour 43
 - Islam as ideology 39
 - legal transplant from West 296–297
 - modernity and 310–311
 - Muslim law distinguished 296–297
 - nature of 299–301
 - political aspects 295–297, 310–311
 - purpose of 299–301
 - rights of God and of humans 307–310
 - sacred and profane in 306–307
 - Shari'a and Fiqh distinguished 301–306
 - sources 297–299
- Israel see Jewish law
- Italy
 - civil appeals 235
 - civil procedure 223
 - civil service law 146
 - civil society groups 163–165
 - contract law 92–93
 - courts structure 249
 - freedom of information 167
 - judicial review 153–154, 155
 - legal translation 97, 98–100, 101–102
- ius commune*
 - as source of European private law 24
- ius gentium* see private international law; public international law
- Japan see also East Asian legal tradition
 - Chinese influence 258–259, 266–267
 - civil courts 214
 - civil procedure 211–212, 221, 223–224, 227
 - civil service law 146
 - constitution 182–188
 - criminal law transplant 205, 206–207
 - East Asian legal tradition 271–272

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

Index 405

- judicial review 153–154, 155
- legal profession 216–218
- political aspects of legal tradition 271, 272
- prosecutor incentives 65
- Jewish law
 - Diaspora 283–287
 - Hebrew as legal language 102–103
 - Israeli State 283–287
 - Judaism and 278–283
 - and other legal systems 287–291
 - political aspects 286–287, 288–289
 - sources 278–283
 - structure 278–283
 - survival 291–292
- judgments
 - preclusive effect 226–230
- judicial review see administrative law
- judiciary
 - 'career' and 'recognition' types 64
 - incentives 64–65
 - macro level economic analysis 64–65
 - selection 64–65
 - selection of judges 215
- jurisprudence
 - connection of comparative law and philosophy 28
- Kohler, Joseph
 - comparative law theory 23–24
- Korea, South see also East Asian legal tradition
 - Chinese influence 258–259, 266–267
 - civil procedure 211–212
 - freedom of information 167
 - judicial review 153–154, 155
 - political aspects of legal tradition 269–270
- labour law see employment law
- language see legal language
- Latin
 - transition to national languages 91–92
 - as universal legal language 89–90
- Latin American legal tradition
 - and anthropology 364–365
 - Brazilian and Hispanic legal dialogue 351–353
 - civil procedure 211–212
 - competition law 63
 - constitutional law and positivist theory 44–45
 - economic aspects 344–345, 348, 356–359
- Inter American Court of Human Rights 350–351
- judicial review 153–154
 - as legal family 359–366
 - legal language 359–360
 - as 'legal space' 344–359
 - legal transplants 354–355, 358, 367
 - political aspects
 - British influence 348
 - comparative law generally 359–366
 - criminal procedure 358–359
 - development of legal tradition 354–356
 - Dutch influence 348
 - French influence 346–347, 349
 - Italian influence 345, 353, 361, 364
 - migration from Latin America 344–345
 - political convergence 350, 351–353
 - political mapping 350
 - US influence 346–347, 356–358
- law
 - definition of 260–262
- 'Law and Economics' see economics
- lawmaking
 - macro level economic analysis 71
- law of nations (ius gentium) see private international law; public international law
- lawyers see legal profession
- Lebanon
 - judicial review 153–154
- legal anthropology see anthropology
- legal education
 - macro level economic analysis 66
- legal families
 - Africa 313 see also Sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - civil law see civil law
 - common law see common law
 - economic analysis 71–72
 - and economic growth, macro level analysis 67–68
 - groupings 211–212
 - Latin America 347–348, 359–366 see also Latin American legal tradition
 - and legal transplants 70
 - Middle East see Islamic law; Jewish law
 - mixed legal systems 373
 - Socialist 37
- legal history
 - clash with comparative law 24–25
 - and comparative law 13–14, 21–22, 22–25, 31
 - methodology 24

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

406 Index

- legal history (cont.)
 - object of 24
 - pluralism and 374–375
- legal language
 - common law 93–94
 - and comparative law generally 88–89
 - contract law 97
 - English as universal 93–94, 109–111
 - genius of 102–103
 - Hebrew as 102–103
 - Latin America 359–360
 - Latin as universal 89–90
 - Law French 93–94
 - and legal transplants 90–94
 - multilingualism and European law 105–109
 - and ordinary language 89–90
 - translation
 - function of 105
 - generally 94–95
 - genius of language 100–102
 - immanent values 103–104
 - of legal concepts
 - methodology 95–100
 - scope 100–102
- 'legal origins' theory
 - as analytical tool 51–53
 - debate on 32
- legal philosophy see philosophy
- legal positivism
 - methodology issues as to 135–139
- legal profession see also judiciary
 - comparative civil justice 216–220
 - macro level economic analysis 66
- legal scholarship
 - interdisciplinary approach 26
 - macro level economic analysis 66
- legal sociology see sociology
- legal tradition
 - definition of 260–262
- legal transplants
 - comparative law as study of 21–22, 23–24, 27, 31, 169
 - constitutional transfer see
 - constitutional law
 - contract law 92–93
 - criminal justice see criminal law
 - criminal law see criminal law
 - East Asian legal tradition 271
 - into Islamic law 296–297
 - Latin America 354–355, 367, 358–359
 - and legal language 90–94
 - macro level economic analysis 70
 - mixed legal systems 377–379
 - Rule of Law 27
- litigation
 - administrative law 151–152
 - micro level economic analysis 60–61
- Luxembourg
 - judicial review 153–154
- Marxism
 - and African independence 330
 - and ideological diversity 41
- Mexico
 - ideological mediation by constitutional court 42–43
- Middle East see Islamic law, Jewish law
- mixed legal systems
 - and anthropology 374
 - and comparative law generally 368–369
 - definition and description of 382–383
 - development of concept of 369–374
 - legal transplants 377–379
 - pluralism and
 - intersection between 377–379
 - pluralist conception of comparative law 374–377
 - political aspects 377–378
- Morocco
 - constitution 188
 - judicial review 153–154
 - legal anthropology 83
- multilingualism
 - and European law 105–109
- Muslim law see Islamic law
- Namibia see also sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - constitution 173–174, 188
- Netherlands
 - and Caribbean 349
 - civil procedure 224–225
 - freedom of information 166–167
 - judicial review 153–154
 - and Latin America 348, 361–362
- New Zealand
 - corporate law and governance 51
 - employment law 51
 - freedom of information 167
 - judicial review 153–154
 - 'legal origins' theory 51
- norm production
 - by international organizations 244–246
- North Korea see also East Asian legal tradition
 - constitution 173–174

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

Index 407

- Norway
 - civil procedure 221, 223
- notice-and-comment rulemaking
 - administrative law 161–163
- ombudsmen
 - administrative law 165–166, 167
- ‘organic’ approach to legal differences
 - capitalism 48–51
- Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC)
- US antitrust action 243
- pandectist theory
 - ideological analysis of law 35
- Peru see also Latin American legal tradition
 - judicial review 155
 - legal capability internationally 362–364
- philosophy
 - and comparative law 13–14, 21–22, 27–28, 174
 - and constitutional law 176, 179
 - and European law 261
 - and Islamic law 296
 - Marxist 330
 - political philosophy in Japan 271
- pluralism see mixed legal systems
- Poland
 - judicial review 153–154
- politics
 - administrative law and 146, 147, 162–163, 164–165
 - Africa see Sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - analytic scheme 37–41
 - anthropology and 73–74, 75–76, 77–78
 - balancing/proportionality 37–38
 - capitalism see capitalism
 - civil justice and 210, 214–215, 233–234
 - and comparative law generally 35–37, 133, 140
 - constitutional law and see constitutional law
 - criminal justice and 203, 205, 206–207
 - definition of 260
 - and democracy 390–393
 - East Asia see East Asian legal tradition
 - European law and 128–132
 - ideological analysis
 - comparative law analytical framework 53–54
 - conceptual issues 43–46
 - critique of ideology, contrasted with critique of balancing 41
 - examples 42–43
 - generally 39–40
 - identification of ideologies 39
 - varieties 51–53
 - ideological conflict
 - and law application 44–45
 - mediation of 46
 - ‘ideology’ defined 40–41
 - influence of ideology 38–39
 - international organizations and 241, 242
 - Islamic law and 295–297, 310–311
 - Jewish law and 286–287, 288–289
 - Latin America see Latin American legal tradition
 - mixed legal systems and 377–378
 - political philosophy in Japan 271, 272
 - private law and 117
 - and rights 260
 - socialism and sub-Saharan legal tradition 330
 - sociology and 25–26
 - and Western legal tradition 384, 386, 387–388, 389, 390–393
- Portugal
 - freedom of information 167
 - judicial review 153–154
- positivist theory
 - civil law 45
 - common law 45
 - and constitutional law 44–45
 - methodology issues as to 135–139
- privacy law
 - constitutionalization of European 120–122
- private international law see also conflict of laws
 - and comparative law 15–18, 243–244
 - international organizations and 243, 246–247
 - as transnational law 14, 20
- private law
 - comparative European law
 - constitutionalization
 - assessment of 122–123
 - generally 119–120
 - privacy law 120–122
 - generally 117–119
 - harmonization
 - Common Frame of Reference 127–133
 - consumer law 124–127
 - development of European Civil Code 127–133
 - generally 117–119, 123–124
 - human rights 119–123

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

408 Index

- private law (cont.)
 - ideological debate 42
 - legal translation 105
 - methodology issues
 - convergence/divergence of legal rules 133
 - generally 133
 - identification of functionally equivalent rule 134–135
 - interdisciplinary approach 135–139
 - investigation of difference 135–139
 - as to positivist theory 135–139
- economic aspects 117, 137
- ius commune* as source of European 24
- procedural law see civil procedure; criminal law
- property law
 - micro level economic analysis 60
 - traditional law 317–318
- proportionality see balancing/proportionality
- prosecutors
 - incentives 65
- public access to government
 - administrative law 165–167
- public administration see administrative law
- public interest groups
 - administrative law and 161–165
- public international law see also conflict of laws
 - and African law 336–337
 - and comparative law 13–14, 18–20
 - domain of 251–252
 - East Asian legal tradition 268
 - as transnational law 20
- racism
 - legal anthropology and scientific racism 81–82
- realist view of comparative law
 - overview 15
- religion see also Christianity; Hinduism; Islamic law; Jewish law
 - Africa see Sub-Saharan legal tradition and anthropology 73
 - balancing/proportionality 38–39
 - constitutional role 172, 180, 188
 - definition of law and 73–74
 - and ideological conflict 45
 - as ideology 39
 - as means of social control 25–26
 - official role for 44
 - rights of God and of humans 307–310
 - and secularism 387–390
 - religious law see also Christianity; Hinduism; Islamic law; Jewish law; sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - pluralism and 374–375, 376
- Romania
 - freedom of information 167
 - judicial review 153–154
- rule making see administrative law
- rule of law
 - as legal transplant 27
 - macro level economic analysis 70–71
- Russia
 - civil procedure 211–212, 221, 222–224
 - constitution 186–187
 - and East Asia 258
 - legal profession 216–218
 - Soviet constitution 181
- scholarship see legal scholarship
- scientific racism
 - legal anthropology and 81–82
- Scots law see mixed legal systems, United Kingdom
- secularism
 - and Western legal tradition 387–390
- 'semiotic' approach to legal differences
 - capitalism 48–51
- Senegal see also sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - judicial review 153–154
- Shari'a see Islamic law
- Slovenia
 - judicial review 153–154
- social contract
 - constitution as 179–180
- social movements
 - as ideologies 39
- social welfare see welfare law
- socialism
 - legal family 37
 - Sub-Saharan legal tradition 330
- sociology
 - and comparative law 13–14, 21–22, 25–27, 53–54
- Spain
 - Chad child trafficking case 364–365
 - civil appeals 235
 - civil procedure 221, 222–225, 227–228
 - constitution 65–66
 - freedom of information 167
 - and harmonization of European private law 42

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

Index 409

- judicial review 153–154, 155
 - and Latin America 349
- sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - Christianity and 320–321
- colonial era
 - decolonization 325–326
 - development of colonial legal systems 321–323
 - European colonial law 324–325
 - European law 324–325
 - religious law 323–324
 - traditional law 323–324
- and comparative law generally 313–314
- conflict, traditional law as to 318–319
- constitutional law, and politics 331–332
- contract, traditional law 318–319
- criminal law transplant 205, 206–207
- decolonization 325–326
- European colonial law 324–325
- European law
 - colonial era 324–325
 - and independence 328–329
- family
 - traditional law 316–318
- independence
 - birth of African state 327–329
 - and European law 328–329
 - generally 326
 - and Islamic law 329
 - and socialism 330
 - and traditional law 329–330
- individuals, traditional law 316–318
- international law and Africa, current situation 336–337
- Islam, and African law 319–320
- Islamic law, and independence 329
- Marxism, and independence 330
- political aspects
 - colonialism 322–323, 324, 325
 - constitutional law 331–332
 - generally 338, 339
 - independence 328, 329, 330
 - Islam 319–320
 - traditional law 315
- property
 - traditional law 317–318
- religion and law
 - Christianity 320–321
 - colonial era 323–324
 - Islamic law 319–320
- socialism, and independence 330
- traditional law
 - and anthropology 314
 - characteristics 314–316
 - colonial era 323–324
 - as to conflict 318–319
 - contract 318–319
 - family 316–318
 - and independence 329–330
 - individuals 316–318
 - property 317–318
 - unwritten law as authoritative 104
- supranational courts
 - civil justice 215–216
- supreme courts see also civil justice; civil procedure; courts
 - civil justice 214
- Sweden
 - freedom of information 166–167, 168
 - judicial review 153–154, 155
 - ombudsmen 165, 166
- Switzerland
 - civil procedure 221
 - constitution 186–187
 - human rights 122
 - judicial review 153–154
 - privacy law 120–121
- Tanzania see also sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - constitution 185
- tort law
 - mass torts and comparative civil justice 230–234
 - micro level economic analysis 59
- traditional law see Sub-Saharan legal tradition
 - economic aspects 333
- transnational law
 - and comparative law 13–14, 20–21
 - and globalization 20
- transplants see legal transplants
- treaties
 - interpretation 19–20
 - sponsorship by international organizations 246–248
- Turkey
 - judicial review 153–154
- United Kingdom
 - anthropology and evolutionism 74–75
 - anthropology and functionalism 75–76
 - and Caribbean 349
 - civil appeals 235
 - civil procedure 60–61, 221, 222–223, 228
 - civil service law 146

Cambridge University Press

978-0-521-89570-5 - The Cambridge Companion to Comparative Law

Edited by Mauro Bussani and Ugo Mattei

Index

More information

410 Index

- United Kingdom (cont.)
 - civil society groups 164–165
 - colonial rule in Africa 322–323, 324
 - constitutional provisions 180
 - corporate law and governance 51, 61–62
 - criminal law 196–197, 198
 - economic growth and legal system 67–68
 - employment law 51
 - English as universal legal language 93–94, 109–111
 - freedom of information 167
 - group litigation 232–233
 - and harmonization of European private law 42
 - judicial review 148–157, 159
 - judiciary 64–65
 - and Latin America 348
 - 'Law and Economics' theory 31–32
 - legal families 211–212
 - 'legal origins' theory 51
 - legal profession 218–220
 - legal translation 97
 - positivist theory 45
 - Scotland as mixed jurisdiction 369–370
- United Nations
 - constitution 186–187
- United States
 - anthropology and evolutionism 74–75
 - anthropology and functionalism 75–76
 - antitrust law 63
 - bankruptcy law 61–62
 - civil appeals 235
 - civil procedure 48, 49–50, 60–61, 221, 222–224, 227–230
 - civil service law 146
 - civil society groups 161–163
 - class actions 231–232
 - constitution 172, 173–174, 182
 - corporate law and governance 51, 61–62
 - criminal law 198, 204–205
 - criminal law transplant 204–207
 - and customary international law 252–253
 - and East Asia 258
 - employment law 51
 - family law 63
 - freedom of information 166–167, 168
 - incest 81–82
 - interdisciplinary approach to law 26, 33
 - judicial review 151–159, 160
 - judiciary 64–65
 - and Latin America 346–347, 358–359
 - 'Law and Economics' theory 30, 31–32
 - legal families 211–212
 - 'legal origins' theory 51
 - legal profession 216–218
 - notice-and-comment rulemaking 161–163
 - OPEC antitrust action 243
 - positivist theory 45
 - scientific racism 81–82
 - tobacco smuggling action by European Commission 243–244
 - Uniform Commercial Code 81–82
- Uzbekistan
 - constitution 188
- Vietnam see also East Asian legal tradition
 - Chinese influence 258–259, 266–267
 - constitution 172, 173–174, 181, 183, 187–188
 - political aspects of legal tradition 272–273, 274
- welfare law
 - and capitalism 48
 - connections with 50
 - corporatist 50–51
 - ideological analysis 52
 - 'law and economics' analysis 57–58
- Western legal tradition see civil law; common law; democracy; mixed legal systems
- World Bank
 - advocation of policies 42–43
 - and 'legal origins' theory 32