

THE RUSSIA SANCTIONS

In The Russia Sanctions, Christine Abely examines the international trade measures and sanctions deployed against Russia in response to its 2022 invasion of Ukraine. Abely situates contemporary sanctions within their larger historical and economic backgrounds and provides a uniquely accessible analysis of the historic export controls and import restrictions enacted since 2022. She argues that these sanctions have affected, and will continue to affect, global trading patterns, financial integration, and foreign policy in novel ways. In particular, she examines the effects of sanctions on energy, food, fertilizer, the financial system, and the global use of the US dollar, including trends of de-dollarization. Coverage includes sanctions against oligarchs, the freezing and seizure of assets, and steps taken to make sanctions more effective by promoting financial transparency worldwide.

Christine Abely is an assistant professor at New England Law | Boston. She previously practiced international trade and sanctions law and is a licensed customs broker. Her work has appeared in The Hill, Just Security, and numerous academic journals.

Acknowledgments

I owe a debt of gratitude to the exemplary reporting worldwide on the Russian invasion of Ukraine, its global economic effects, and the sanctions and trade measures imposed in response. The timeline compiled by Chad Bown at the Peterson Institute for International Economics was particularly helpful in drafting the chapter about the first week of the invasion.

Thank you to Matt Gallaway, Jadyne Fauconier-Herry, and Laura Blake at Cambridge University Press, as well as Marijasintha Jacob Srinivasan. Thank you to Victoria George for her work creating the index of this book.

I would like to thank the organizers and participants of conferences at which I received invaluable comments and feedback, including the Junior International Law Scholars Summer Workshop, the Junior International Law Scholars 2023 Conference, the conference of the American Society of International Law International Economic Law Interest Group, the AALS Financial Regulation Section Conference, the Sydney Centre for International Law Works-in-Progress Conference, the New England Law | Boston Junior Faculty Colloquium, and the Money as a Democratic Medium Conference. Thank you to Stacie Strong, Perry Mehrling, Erin Fitzgerald, Aliza Bloom, Ellen Farwell, Eliot Tracz, Bhamati Viswanathan, Lynn Muster, Jason Giannetti, Ben Heath, Stratos Pahlis, David Zaring, Paolo Saguato, Jeffery Zhang, Nizan Packin, Matt Bruckner, Nathan Arriba-Sellier, Heidi Schooner, Charlotte Ku, Steven Koh, Guillermo Garcia Sanchez, Daimeon Shanks, Haley Anderson, Stephen Cody, Rachel Ngo Ntomp, and all others who provided helpful comments on this manuscript. I truly appreciate your time and assistance. Thank you to Lawrence Friedman and Rachel Wechsler for their assistance during the proposal stage of the project. Thank you to Christos Nikolos for research assistance on the issue of the withdrawal of private companies from doing business in Russia.

Thank you to my family: my parents, Bob and Sue Mandell; my husband, Jim; and my two daughters, Keira and Grace.
