

CONTENTS

List of Figures	page vii
List of Contributors	ix
Editors' Acknowledgments	xv
 Introduction: What Is the American Graphic Novel? JAN BAETENS, HUGO FREY, AND FABRICE LEROY	 I
 PART I HISTORY AND GENRE
1 The “First” Graphic Novel in America: Revisiting He Done Her Wrong and It Rhymes with Lust LIVIO BELLOÏ	19
2 The Mad-Men Generation: Kurtzman and Feiffer FABRICE LEROY	38
3 From Justin Green and Art Spiegelman to Alison Bechdel: Writing the Self in the Graphic Novel JAN BAETENS	57
4 Graphic Journalism LAURIKE IN ’T VELD	72
5 “Great” American Graphic Novels: Canon Formation and Literary Value DANIEL STEIN AND ASTRID BÖGER	89
6 Crime: From EC Comics to Ed Brubaker ANDREW J. KUNKA	106
	v

CONTENTS

7	Superheroes in Graphic Novels	122
	MARC SINGER
8	Science Fiction and Fantasy: New Works of Imagination	139
	IAN HAGUE
9	“Scared Witless”: War in the American Graphic Novel	155
	HUGO FREY
PART II GRAPHIC NOVELS AND THE QUEST FOR AN AMERICAN DIVERSITY
10	Expressions of Jewishness alongside Grief in American Graphic Novels	177
	TAHNEER OKSMAN
11	Black Looking and Looking Black: African American Cartoon Aesthetics	193
	JOANNA DAVIS-MCELLIGATT
12	African American New History-Writing in Graphic Narratives	210
	MICHAEL A. CHANEY
13	Coming to America, “Land of the Free”: Asian American Representations in Graphic Narrative	226
	MONICA CHIU
14	Spatiotemporal Projections: Los Bros Hernandez, Fantagraphics, and the Rise of Latinx Creating and Reading Communities	242
	FREDERICK LUIS ALDAMA
15	Queer Graphic Novels: A Paradigm of Paradox	256
	ALISON HALSALL
16	American Women’s Lives in Graphic Novels: Becoming and Unbecoming Women	272
	MARTHA KUHLMAN
	Index	291