

Contents

1	Introduction	1
2	Why Has China Grown So Fast?	5
3	Rural Development: From Being Farmer to Work as Wage Earner or Self-Employed	11
4	The Labour Market and Economic Reform: From Labour System to Labour Market	16
5	The Labour Market and Migration: From Labour Surplus to Labour Scarcity	21
6	Public Revenues, Expenditures, and Inequality	28
7	The Urban–Rural Gap and the Changed Distribution of Income and Wealth	36
8	The Development of Inequality of Opportunities and Poverty	42
9	Inequality by Gender and Ethnicity	48
10	The Growth of China’s Middle Class	55
11	Summary and Final Comments	61
	Appendix	65
	References	68