

Contents

Preface	page vii
1 The Two-Collar Conflict: A Philosopher's Memoir of the Iraq War	1
2 Our Better Angels Have Broken Wings: Human Nature and the Nature of Evil	49
3 Responsibility for Innocence Lost	85
4 Virtuous Responses to Moral Evil	95
5 Assessing Attempts at Moral Originality	125
6 Public and Private Honor, Shame, and the Appraising Audience	143
7 Torture	156
8 Community and Worthwhile Living in Second Life	177
9 Of Merels and Morals: Musts and Oughts	193
10 Inference Gaps in Moral Assessment: Individuals, Organizations, and Institutions	208
11 Blaming Whole Populations: The American People and the Iraq War	225
12 The Moral Challenge of Collective Memories	244
13 Corporate Responsibility and Punishment Redux	266
14 Mission Creep	293
Bibliography	335
Index	339