CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

Index

age. See also children; elderly; middle-aged and older workers; students; young adults age-wage profile for female workers, 396
  homemakers and, 313
  housing wealth and, 127
  impact of on owning housing-reform housing, 115 in CHIP 2007 rural survey, 457 in CHIP 2007 rural-urban survey, 462 in CHIP 2007 urban survey, 453 income growth curves by, 275
  migration and, 249
  nonwork and nonworkers in urban China and, 304–316 of retirement by year, 302 of young men and young women beginning work, 292 poverty and, 276
  unemployment rates by, 307
  urban income and, 279–281 workforce average, 339
agricultural taxes and fees elimination of, 14, 44, 197, 218–221 agriculture, 150
  agricultural income, 59, 77 agricultural subsidies for rural households, 15, 45 as major source of rural income, 198, 201, 202, 226
  farmland preservation, 95
  industrialization of agriculture policy, 17, 146 slowdown in agricultural production, 198 Ant Tribe (Lian Si), 295 asset income. See also property income housing wealth and, 121, 124, 126, 127
  income inequality and, 34, 37, 77 migrants and, 61, 63
  poverty and, 31
  rural household income and, 202, 206, 207, 225

Basic Medical Insurance for Urban Residents Program (chengzhen jumin jiben yiliao baoxian zhidu), 7 Basic Pension Insurance Program for Enterprise Employees (qiye zhigong jiben yanglao baoxian zhidu), 6 benefits for laid-off workers (xiagang butie), 297 business income, 256, 261
  defined, 259
  income inequality and, 271
business tax, 364

central region, rise of (zhongbu jueqi) scheme, 46 children. See also educational inequality income growth curves and, 275
  migration and, 246
  poverty and, 276
  urban income inequality and, 261, 273, 278–281
China Household Income Project (CHIP). See CHIP surveys (general); CHIP urban surveys; CHIP rural surveys; CHIP rural-urban migrant surveys

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

CHIP income, 28, 200
  defined, 53
  measurement and definition of, 19–21
CHIP rural survey (2002), 23, 50, 199 parental education information in, 144–145
  provinces covered in, 199, 234
CHIP rural survey (2007), 23, 51, 199
  distribution of households in, by province, 455
  distribution of households in, by size and province, 456 distribution of individuals in, by age and province, 457 education level of parents in, 142 educational attainment of individuals over the age of 15 in, by province, 459 gender composition of individuals in, by province, 456 intergenerational transmission of education and, 157–159
  provinces covered in, 199, 235
  sample size for, 447
CHIP rural-urban migrant survey (2002), 23–26, 50, 51, 199, 230, 234
  bias in, 235
  composition of, 479
  hukou registration and, 446 migrant wages and, 236–244
CHIP rural-urban migrant survey (2007), 23–26, 51, 199
  bias in, 235
  composition of, 479
  distribution of households and individuals in, by city, 461 distribution of individuals in, by age and city, 462 educational attainment of individuals over the age of 15 in, by city, 462 gender composition of individuals in, by city, 461
  hukou registration and, 446 migrant wages and, 236–244
  provinces covered in, 235
  RUMiCI (Rural-Urban Migrants in China and Indonesia), 22
  sample size for, 447
CHIP surveys (general), 4, 51 alternative responses to employment question on, 305 as basis for the analyses of income inequality, 37 census and mini-census population information and, 472–474 census and mini-census sample reclassification, 474–476 classification of location and, 474 comparison of CHIP and NBS per capita household incomes, 28 construction of weights to reflect provincial populations, 471–472 construction of weights to reflect regional populations, 470–471 data sources of, 26
  design and survey question changes, 27 exclusion of self-built/inherited older housing in urban, 112 four regional groups covered in, 33 four waves of, in 1988, 1995, 2002, and 2007, 445 geographic regions used to construct sample frame of, 52 implementation of weights in, 480–485 lack of information on intra-household allocation in, 256 number of households covered in, 449
  provinces covered in, 22, 467
  questions on early retirement in, 304 reclassification in, 476–479 samples from earlier years, 22 sampling and sample size of, 445–448 summary of key indicators of inequality and poverty in, 30 three subsamples in, 22 vs. NBS surveys, 28, 448–450 weight calculations in, 27, 466–472
CHIP urban survey (1988), 261
  nonworkers in, 300
CHIP urban survey (1995), 261
  gender-wage gap in, 389
  nonworkers in, 300
CHIP urban survey (2002), 23, 50
  enterprise ownership in, 337–341
  gender-wage gap in, 389
  income inequality in, 261
  inconsistent data on urban rental values in, 133–136
  nonworkers in, 300
  provinces covered in, 261

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

CHIP urban survey (2007), 23, 51
  distribution of households in, by age group and province, 453
  distribution of households in, by province, 451
  distribution of households in, by size and province, 452
  education level of parents in, 142 educational attainment of individuals over age 15 in, by province, 454 enterprise ownership in, 337–341
  gender composition of individuals in, by province, 451
  gender-wage gap in, 389
  income inequality in, 261, 369 intergenerational transmission of education in, 157–159
  nonworkers in, 300
  personal income tax in, 363, 369
  provinces covered in, 235, 261
  sample size for, 447
Communist Party, 96, 119, 121, 443
  private enterprise ownership and, 258, 332
Company Law, 336
Compulsory Education Law, 151
consumer prices, 53
consumption tax, 364
corporate income tax, 365
cost of living. See also purchasing power parity (PPP) differences among regions, 53, 59, 65 inequality and, 203
Cultural Revolution
  educational trends during, 150, 187, 295 cumulative density functions, 255

danwei. See work unit dibao. See minimum living standard guarantee (dibao) program discrimination. See also gender-wage gap against female workers, 38, 386, 402 law and policy regarding ethnic, 420–422 disposable income, 19, 20, 52, 65, 114, 270, 280, 321, 326 measurement of, 234

early retired and retirement, 11, 292, 293, 321
  as nonworkers, 290, 291
  defined, 303
  phrasing in CHIP surveys in 2007 vs. previous surveys, 304 rate of, by age, 302
  underrepresentation of, in lowest decile, 327 earnings. See also earnings gap across ownership sectors; gender-wage gap; Han-minority earnings gap; income; urban-rural income gap; wages hourly, 341–345
earnings gap across ownership sectors, 332–335 descriptive statistics on, 342
  hourly earning determinants, 345–348 hourly earnings by ownership category and year, 343
  Juhn-Murphy-Pierce decomposition of earnings differentials, 353–358 Oaxaca-Blinder decomposition of earnings differentials, 348–353 summary statistics on earnings by ownership, 341 working time and, 343
economic growth, 44, 414
  differential among regions, 46
  income inequality and, 1
  migration and, 230
  proportion of children and elderly and, 257 rise in percentage of nonworkers and, 289 surplus labor and, 231
  urbanization and, 46
education. See also educational inequality attainment among minorities, 416, 417, 418 class background (chengfen) and, 144, 146 credit constraints and, 188 discrimination against female workers and, 384 earnings by employment ownership sector and, 346 economic growth and, 2
  gender and, 296
  gender-wage gap and, 391
  NBS estimates of, 385–386
  Han-minority earnings gap and, 432–435
  income growth curves and, 275
  inequality in, 154, 178
  middle school progression rates, 144, 146 nine-year free, 45, 188, 197

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

education (cont.)
nonwork and nonworkers and, 289, 292, 293–296, 309 of individuals over the age of 15 in CHIP 2007 rural survey, 459 of individuals over the age of 15 in CHIP 2007 rural-urban migrant survey, 462 of individuals over the age of 15 in CHIP 2007 urban survey, 454 parental, 144–145, 165–167 population shares, mean income, and income inequality by level of, 274, 277 preferential policies for minorities, 425 primary net enrollment rates, 144, 146 survey of policies and goals, 145–154 urban-rural income gap and, 33
work force and, 341
educational inequality, intergenerational transmission of education and, 142, 177–181, 185–188 aggregate educational mobility and, 159, 185 aggregate educational mobility defined, 142 average years of the sons'/daughters' education by the educational levels of fathers/mothers, 165–167 by birth cohort, 171–174 causal relationships as factor in policy, 187 changes across policy periods, 186 data issues, 189–190
differences between rural and urban areas, 186 gender-specific transmission, 187 general findings, 182–185 in 2007 CHIP survey, 142, 157–159 international literature on educational level of parents, 143–144 levels used in analysis of, 191 low and high educational level household comparison, 174–177 men and women, 168–171
microeconomic level of, 142
overall, and by urban-rural and birth year, 160–165 policies and goals affecting, 145, 153–154 rural areas and, 144–145 spatial considerations and, 144 theory and methodologies, 154–156, 181–182 urban and rural cohorts, 168–171 urban areas and, 146, 154 elderly, 261, 273, 276, 278, 279–281 imputed rents from owner-occupied housing and, 260
income growth curves and, 275
migration and, 246
pension income of as factor in income inequality, 260 pensions of in rural areas, 6 employment. See also self-employment; unemployment labor force and, in China (1995–2007), 233 labor-market policies and minimum wage regulations, 12 trends in, 390
ethnic minorities. See also Han-minority wage gap
gender-wage gap and, 392
law and policy regarding, 420–422 one-child policy and, 421 rules on classifying, 420

farm income. See agriculture farmland, 34, 71
farmland preservation, 95
rural land for housing use (zhaijidi) and, 95 female workers. See also gender; gender-wage gap; nonwork and nonworkers in urban China discrimination against, 38, 290, 299, 384, 386, 389, 395, 398, 401 unemployment and, 391
unskilled labor and, 384
fiscal decentralization, 151 fiscal recentralization, 152 five-guarantee program (wubao), 6, 11
Five-Year Plan, First (1953–57), 145, 187
Foster, Greer and Thorbecke (FGT) indices of poverty, 264

GDP
annual growth in, 44, 414 gender, 298–299, 326, 327 composition of individuals in CHIP 2007 rural survey, 456 composition of individuals in CHIP 2007 rural-urban migrant survey, 461

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

composition of individuals in CHIP 2007 urban survey, 451 earnings and, 317
education and, 296
increase in age of beginning work and, 292 middle-age workers and, 309 unemployment rates and, 307, 391 urban employment in SOEs and, 338 gender-wage gap, 384–386
age-wage profile for female workers, 396 decomposition of changes in, 399–400, 402 educational attainment and, 391 international context, 387 low-wage groups and, 402
methodology of decomposition of, 394–395
NBS estimates for, 29
ownership sectors and, 398 postreform widening of, 384, 402–404 previous findings on, 387–389 privatization of state-owned enterprises and, 385 quantile regression results, 400 regression analysis of, 397 wage structure by age, minority group, and marital status, 392 women's economic dependency by year, 318 Gini coefficient, 29, 53
calculation of, 55
cost of living (PPP) and, 59
decomposition of by income source (2002 and 2007), 58, 63, 206, 268 educational inequality and, 178, 182 for city employment rates, 300 for hourly earnings, 343
for household per capita incomes, 30, 138 for housing wealth, 107 for income sources, 270
for personal income among people of work-active ages, 323
imputed rents from owner-occupied housing and, 202
income inequality and, 267–271
international comparisons of, 55, 76
NBS estimates for, 29
pre- and post-tax income, 378
regional, 71
rise of 2002 to 2007, 55
rural, 29, 203
urban, 29, 415
Government Employee Health Insurance Program (gongfei yiliao), 7
government subsidies for agricultural production, 197 Great Leap Forward (1958), education during, 148 grey income, 21

Han-minority earnings gap, 392, 416, 418, 426–427, 430–432 descriptive statistics, 427–430, 434 determinants of, 436–438 determinants of change in, 424–425 females and, 440–441
human capital and occupational model, 423–424 in 1995, 2002, and 2007, 428 income ratio of, 429
intertemporal decompositions of, 426, 439–440 intratemporal decompositions of, 425–426, 438–439 males and, 441–443
ordinary least squares estimates of the effects of minority status on ln-earnings, 431 ratio of mean and median family household total incomes in urban China (1995, 2002, and 2007), 418 ratio of wage and salary incomes (1995, 2002, and 2007), 419 residual difference analysis, 435–436 return to education and SOE employment and, 425, 432–435 harmonious society (hexie shehui), 3, 414 health, 2, 303, 411
migration and, 246
high-income groups, underrepresentation of in household surveys, 21, 77 homemakers, 292, 309, 320, 321, 387 age as factor in, 313
as nonworkers, 290, 291
reappearance of traditional, 327 homeownership, 4, 86, 114, 129 international rates of, 129
mean income growth and, 55 migrant households and, 105 mortgage debt among, 101
NBS surveys yield rates of, 23, 26, 91, 99, 132–133, 448

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

homeownership (cont.)
rural households and, 104 urban households and, 104 household income. See also rural household income; urban household income by employment sector, 273 components and growth of per capita (2002 and 2007), 268 Gini coefficients of income sources (2002 and 2007), 270 increase in, between 2002 and 2007, 55
per capita, 52, 269
personal income and, 321–323 regional differences and, 67–72 household registration. See hukou housing. See also homeownership; imputed rental income from owner-occupied housing comparisons of market value and equity value per capita (2002), 101 floor area of urban (1990–2007), 91 housing provident fund (zhufang gongjijin), 90 housing-related questions in 2002 CHIP survey, 50
income inequality and, 108–110 inequality in access to, 94 marriage and, 124
prices in urban China, 93, 260
rent-price ratios and, 135 self-built/inherited older housing exclusion in CHIP urban surveys, 112 housing reform, 85, 87
chronology of rural, 88
chronology of urban, 88 commercialization of (zhufang shangpinhua), 87 privatization of in urban China and, 34, 86, 259 rent reform (zujin gaige), 87
rural, 94–97
rural-urban migrants and, 131
urban, 48, 87–94
housing tenure, 92
determinants of in urban areas, 110–118 for rural, urban, and migrant households (2002 and 2007), 92 multinomial logit analysis of choice in urban areas (2002 and 2007), 116 multiple tenure choices and, 115 housing wealth, 4, 85
average annual increases in per capita (2002 to 2007), 106 calculating, 97
determinants of in rural areas, 110–129
determinants of in urban areas, 118–124 distribution of across income quintiles, 108 estimates for other countries, 98 gap in between urban and rural areas, 106 Gini coefficient for, 107
income inequality and, 92, 129–131 inequality of, 106–108, 115 market value of housing and, 105 mean of, per capita (2002 and 2007), 105 methodology and data of, 97–104 mortgage data and, 132–133 negative housing equity and, 133 ratios of per capita, between urban, rural, and migrant households (2002 and 2007), 106 hukou, 475. See also rural-urban migrants and migration exclusion from housing refoms and, 94 in 2002 and 2007 CHIP migrant surveys, 446 loosening of regulations, 213 qualifications for status change, 18 reform policies, 17–19, 252 human capital, 1, 416, 418, 420, 422, 423–424 Hu-Wen New Policies, 3, 5–19, 37, 44, 255
housing and, 260
increase in enterprise and property income, 259 nonwork and, 290, 296–298 positive distributional effects, 30 imputed rental income from owner-occupied housing, 4, 34, 50, 57, 81, 86, 98, 200, 259 alternative estimates of, 55, 102, 136–138 alternative estimates of, based on market value vs. equity value of, 102 as part of household income, 261

as slightly equalizing for rural inequality, 203 elderly and, 260
estimates of per capita (2002 and 2007), 109
income inequality and, 110, 271

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

inconsistent data in 2002 NBS and CHIP surveys and, 133–136 market rent estimates, 31, 81, 97, 98, 102, 103, 134, 136, 137, 318
mean income growth and, 55
methodology and data of, 97–104 rate of return estimates, 31, 81, 97, 98, 102, 103, 134, 136, 137
rent-price ratios and, 135
urban inequality and, 256 income. See also asset income; business income; earnings; household income; housing wealth; imputed rental income from owner-occupied housing; rural household income; property income; urban household income; urban-rural income gap; wages Gini coefficients of, 206 high-income groups, 21
labor, 231, 374, 375
self-employment, 19
income growth curves, 255 education levels and, 275 for 1988–1995, 1995–2002, and 2002–2007, 262 in households connected with state sector, the private sector, and those with no workers (2002 and 2007), 274 income inequality, 271–272, 414–415 agricultural taxes and fees and, 219 alternative estimates of imputed rental income from owner-occupied housing and, 81 among children, adults, and elderly (2002 and 2007), 276 asset income and, 34, 37, 77 business income and, 256
China's ranking worldwide, 30
CHIP surveys as basis for analyses of, 37, 255 cost of living (PPP), with and without adjustments for, 30, 59 decomposition of by income source (2002 and 2007), 58, 63, 268 downsizing of state and collective sector and, 257
earnings and, 343
economic growth and, 1
education and, 277
equalizing processes in, 48, 77 estimates with and without cost of living (PPP) adjustments (2002 and 2007), 60 first decade of the 21st century as important juncture in, 36 housing and, 48, 92, 107, 108–110, 260
housing wealth and, 85, 106–108, 129–131
imputed rental income from owner-occupied housing and, 110, 256 income measurement considerations in estimates of, 19–21
increase in, between 2002 and 2007, 4, 256
indices (1988, 1995, 2002, and 2007), 263
international comparisons, 76
key indicators of, 31
mean incomes with alternative weights (2002 and 2007), 79
measurement of, 55
migrants and migration and, 35–36, 37, 59–64
minimum living standard guarantee (dibao) program and, 9, 226 national mean income and (2002 and 2007), 54 past trends in, by year, 48
pensions and, 260
personal income tax and, 366, 381 post-2007 trends, 38
property income and, 34, 77 regional income differences and, 33, 67–72
rural, 77, 198, 202–207, 226
social security programs and, 21
taxation and, 226, 362
unskilled labor and, 252
urban, 48, 255–257, 260, 267–271, 281–283 urban-rural income gap as contributing factor to, 32, 48, 64–67, 77, 197 work status and ownership sector, 273 income measurement and definition. See also CHIP income; NBS income alternative calculation of, 52 measurement preference, 52 rural as net household income per capita, 28 urban as disposable household income per capita, 28 income tax. See personal income tax income, business. See business income

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

inequality indices. See Gini coefficient; Lorenz curve; Theil indices intertemporal decompositions, 425, 426, 438, 439–440 intratemporal decompositions, 425–426, 438–439

job tenure, 257, 290
Juhn-Murphy-Pierce decompositions, 353–358

kernel density estimations of hourly earnings, 343

Labor Contract Law, 12
Labor Health Insurance (laobao yiliao) Program, 7 labor income. See also earnings; wages
  inequality in, 231
  Personal Income Tax Law (PITL) and, 374, 375 labor-market trends, 232–234, 252, 289, 296–298 competition in urban due to influx of rural migrant workers, 290, 385 discussion about issues related to, 291 employment and unemployment by gender and age, 390 labor force and employment in China (1995–2007), 233 labor force defined, 307 labor policies and minimum wage regulations, 12 labor surplus, 231
  laws and regulations for female workers, 386
  privatization of state-owned enterprises and, 384, 385 scarcity of unskilled labor, 252 labor mobility. See rural-urban migrants and migration laid-off (xiagang) workers, 291, 297, 385, 387 Land Administration Law, 95
laws
  Company Law, 336
  Compulsory Education Law, 151
  Labor Contract Law, 12
  Land Administration Law, 95
  Law of Population and Family Planning, 421
  Law of Regional National Autonomy, 422
  Law of the People's Republic of China on Employment Contracts, 298 Law on the Protection of Women's Rights and Interests, 386
  National Program for Women's Development (2001–2010), 386
  National Unemployment Insurance Rules, 297
  Personal Income Tax Law (PITL), 13, 373–376
  Real Rights Law, 96
  Regulations for Enterprise Minimum, 12
  Regulations for Unemployment Insurance, 8 Regulations on the Administration of Land for Housing in Villages and Rural Townships, 95
  Regulations on Urban Nationality Work, 422
  Rules of Classifying the Nationality of Chinese Citizens, 420
  Tentative Stipulations on Private Enterprises, 335
Lewis model, 231, 251
Lorenz curve, 54, 56, 62
  defined, 54
  of household per capita income (2002 and 2007), 56
  of migrant per capita income (2002 and 2007), 62 mean logarithmic deviation (MLD) inequality index, 54, 60, 79, 80, 263 medical insurance policies, 7–8 middle-aged and older workers, 297, 307, 310, 326 education levels and gender of, 292 gender differences among, 309 migrants. See rural-urban migrants and migration migration. See rural-urban migrants and migration Mincerian earnings equation, 345 minimum living standard guarantee (dibao) program, 5, 9–12, 45, 221–224, 226, 266 official data on participation in, 224 participation rates by region, 223

  poverty and, 225

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

statistics on individuals in dibao vs. non-dibao households, 222 minimum wage (zuidi gongzi) regulations, 12, 239, 242
migrant wages and, 12
minorities. See ethnic minorities; Han-minority wage gap mortgage data, 132–133, 137
mortgage debt, 101
Musgrave Thin (MT) index, 377–381 decomposition of effects of horizontal equity and vertical equity, 379 definition of and formula for, 366
personal income tax, 378

National Program for Women's Development (2001–2010), 386
National Unemployment Insurance Rules, 297
NBS household surveys, 21, 23, 26, 49, 445
comparison of CHIP and NBS per capita household incomes, 28
inconsistent data on urban rental values in, 133–136
number of households covered in, 449 rates of growth in household income and, 44 rural-urban migrants underrepresentation in, 27 total gross income of urban households and, 370 vs. CHIP surveys, 28, 448–450 NBS income, 28, 200
disposable household per capita income calculations, 52 measurement and definition of, 19–21
poverty and, 73
NBS labor-market surveys, 297 negative housing equity, 133 net transfer income, 271
rural income and, 202
New Rural Pension System (xinxing nongcun shehui yanglao baoxian), 7, 8
New Socialist Countryside, 197 nonwork and nonworkers in urban China, 273, 278, 290, 326–327 age and, 292, 304–316
by category, age, and gender (1988, 1995, 2002, and 2007), 305, 306 CHIP urban survey data and, 300 data and description of, 300–307 determinants of among persons ages 30–55/60 (1995, 2002, and 2007), 314 determinants of among young adults, 311 early retired as, 290, 303 education and students and, 292, 293–296, 309
gender and, 292, 298–299, 317
income of other household members and, 291 increases in per year post-economic growth, 289 local labor-market conditions, 292 personal income and economic well-being of, 321–323 residual category, 304
spatial differences, 300
unemployment and labor trends pre- and post-economic restructuring, 296–298 Northeast strategy, revival of (zhenxing dongbei), 46

Oaxaca-Blinder decompositions earnings gap across ownership sectors and, 335, 348–353
gender-wage gap and, 394–395
of log hourly wages, 350 occupational class, 422
one-child policy, 421
ownership sectors. See also earnings gap across ownership sectors; labor-market trends; nonwork and nonworkers in urban China; state-owned enterprises (SOEs) categories of, defined, 339 coastal premiums in SOEs and UCEs, 348 data overview of, 337–341 descriptive statistics on individual characteristics by, 340 earning differential statistics and, 341–345 economic reforms and, 85, 335–337
gender-wage gap and, 348, 398
hourly earning determinants, 345–348
hourly wage functions by (2002), 346
hourly wage functions by (2007), 347 income distribution and, 271–272 Oaxaca-Blinder decomposition of log hourly wages, 350 work experience and, 347

P index, 366

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

pensions, 6–7, 271, 278
in urban areas, 6
income inequality and, 260 reform of urban system, 6
personal income tax, 362–363, 365–366, 377–381 average and alternative rates, 370 average rate by decile, 377
international comparisons of, 379 mean business operating income and the proportion of individuals (non-) reporting, 372 mean income and proportion of individuals (non-) reporting, 371 methodology and data issues in study of, 366–376 Musgrave Thin (MT) index decomposition of effects of horizontal equity and vertical equity, 379 nonreporting of, 370–372 reforms of, 13
taxable income categories, deductions and rates of, 382 understatement of taxation in dataset, 373
Personal Income Tax Law (PITL), 13, 373–376 population control measures, 232 population weights, 51, 52, 55, 65, 104, 162, 465, 466–470 provincial, 471–472
regional, 470–471
poverty, 16, 72–76, 217
absolute poverty lines, 47, 73, 263, 281 absolute vs. relative, 36 among individuals living in households primarily connected to the state sector, the private sector, and those with no workers (2002 and 2007), 273
calculation of poverty lines for urban and rural, 74
decline in absolute, 36
education and, 144, 277
Foster, Greer and Thorbecke (FGT) indices of, 264
in autonomous ethnic areas, 417
in low- vs. high-income cities, 256, 281, 282 international PPP absolute line threshold, 73
key indicators of, 31
low-income (dishouru) line, 11 measurement of absolute, 49
minimum living standard guarantee (dibao) program and, 225 national incidence and composition of (2002 and 2007), 74 of children, adults, and elderly, 274, 276
of migrants, 75
poverty function, 284
PPP and, 74
predicted probabilities of urban relative poverty and affluence (2002 and 2007), 280 rates of, in migrant and nonmigrant households (2002 and 2007), 217 reduction record in China, 48, 72, 78 regional dimensions of, 49, 75, 76 relative poverty lines, 73 rural. See rural poverty
urban, 36, 73, 256, 261–267
poverty, rural. See rural poverty prices. See also cost of living; purchasing power parity (PPP) consumer, 53
private enterprises, 258–259, 332 lifting of prohibitions on, 85 private property, 34
income inequality and, 57
private property rights, 85 property income. See also asset income; housing wealth categories of in PITL, 374
imputed rent and, 34
in rural China, 225
income inequality and, 34, 77
NBS urban income measure and, 19 proportion of to total household income, 259, 268 provinces, 46, 50, 51, 111, 445–448, 451, 454 CHIP survey compatibility and, 235 dibao participation rates in, 223 in the CHIP surveys (1988 through 2007), 234, 467 in the CHIP urban survey (2002 and 2007), 261 migrant wage contributions, by province, 216 population weights and, 471–472 purchasing power parity (PPP). See also cost of living

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

cost of living adjustments and, 30, 53, 59, 200 inequality with regional adjustments in, 67–72 poverty threshold and, 74
rural inequality and, 203

Rain and Dew Program (yulu jihua), 17 real estate. See homeownership; housing
Real Rights Law, 96
reforms. See also housing reforms; Hu-Wen New Policies; laws; rural policies discrimination and, 420–422 economic, 1, 44, 332
enterprise ownership evolution and, 85, 258, 290, 332–337
gender-wage gap and, 387–389
Han-minority earnings gap and, 415
key indicators of, 10
of education, 14, 45, 145–154 of gender policies, 386 of housing in urban China, 34, 85, 87, 94 of hukou policies, 17–19 of minimum wage (zuidi gongzi) regulations, 12 of personal income tax, 13 of real estate, 85
of rents (zujin gaige), 87 of taxation, 13–14, 363 of unemployment insurance, 8, 298 of urban medical coverage, 7 of urban public pensions, 6 overview of policies, 44–46 regions, 46, 47, 52, 471–472 CHIP sampling strategy and, 22 cost of living differences among, 53, 59, 65 dibao participation rates and, 223 Gini coefficients in, 71 inequality between and within, 33, 48, 67–72 population weights in, 470–471 poverty differences in, 49, 75, 76 uneven economic growth among, 46 urban-rural income gap in, 72 Regulations for Enterprise Minimum Wages, 12
Regulations on Urban Nationality Work, 422
rent, imputed. See imputed rental income from owner-occupied housing retirement. See early retired and retirement rise of central region (zhongbu jueqi) scheme, 46
RUMiCI (Rural-Urban Migrants in China and Indonesia), 22, 459
rural areas, 14–16
determinants of housing wealth in, 110–129
education and, 45, 144–145, 146–154, 188, 197
homeownership in, 104
housing reform in, 94–97
inequality in, 198, 202–207
labor force increase in, 232 one-child policy in, 421 pensions in, 6
self-employment in, 113, 128
surplus labor in, 251
tax and fee reform (nongcun shuifei gaige) in, 14, 226 rural household income. See also imputed rental income from owner-occupied housing agriculture and, 59, 198, 201, 226 average annual growth (2002 to 2007), 205
composition of, 201
data and methods, 200
distribution of, across decile groups, 56
estimates of Gini coefficient of (2002 and 2007), 203 growth in nonagricultural business, transfers, asset, and property, 202, 206, 207, 225 in poor and nonpoor households, 211–213 levels and growth by deciles, 57 mean income per capita by region (2002 and 2007), 81, 200
migrants and migration and, 35–36, 213–218, 225 net transfer income and, 202 richest and poorest groups in the income distribution, 204 rural inequality and, 77, 202–207, 226 rural taxation and, 218–221, 226
urban-rural income gap and, 198
rural policies. See also agricultural taxes and fees giving more, taking less (slogan), 13–14
government subsidies for agricultural production, 197

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

rural policies (cont.)
high priority of, 197 housing and land policies, 94–97 minimum living guarantee standard guarantee (dibao) program, 226 minimum living standard guarantee (dibao) program, 45, 221–224 pro, 14–16, 44
pro-agriculture policies, 202 public investments in rural infrastructure, 197 tax and fee reforms, 218 rural poverty. See also minimum living standard guarantee (dibao) program calculation of poverty lines for urban and rural, 74 changes in, 198, 207–213
decline in absolute, 36
in autonomous ethnic areas, 417 majority of all poverty lines as, 75 policies to alleviate, 16–17 poverty line for, 73
rates of, in migrant and nonmigrant households (2002 and 2007), 217 spatial dimensions of, 49, 76
taxation and, 220
rural taxation, 14, 44, 197, 218–221, 226 rural-urban migrants and migration, 46, 61, 244–250 by province, 215
CHIP surveys and, 50, 199 decomposition of migrant income inequality by income source (2002 and 2007), 63 definition of, 47, 60 effect on rural and urban incomes, 46 first inclusion in CHIP survey (2002), 230
gender-wage gap and, 400, 404
growth in the number of, 213 health and, 246
housing and, 94, 104
housing welfare policy and, 131
income inequality and, 37, 59–64
inequality among, 63
international financial crisis and, 25 labor-market trends and, 232–234, 385 poverty rates and, 217 probability of migrating, 245
rural income and, 213–218
unskilled labor and, 290
wages, 12, 236–244, 251

self-employment, 13, 17, 19, 127, 391
in rural areas, 113, 128
in urban areas, 117, 122, 236, 258
of migrants, 236–244
smashing the iron rice bowl (za tiefanwan), 290, 296, 333 social welfare and social security system. See also minimum living standard guarantee (dibao) program; reforms establishment of in 2000, 6 types of assistance, 11
urban-rural income gap and, 21
State Administration of Taxation (SAT), 369 state-owned enterprises (SOEs). See also ownership sectors corporatization of, 332 decrease of employees in, 257, 385
defined, 339
students, 292, 293–296, 304, 309, 321
as nonworkers, 291
living conditions among recent university graduates, 295

taxation. See also agricultural taxes and fees 1994 fiscal reform (tax-sharing reform) and, 363
business tax, 364
consumption tax, 364
corporate income tax, 365
horizontal and vertical equity, 367, 369
income inequality and, 260, 362
indirect taxes and, 363–365
Musgrave Thin (MT) index and, 366
P index as measure of progressivity, 366 phases of reform, 13–14 progressive, 362, 366, 368 rates, 370
rural tax and fee reform (nongcun shuifei gaige), 14, 226 share of major taxes in total tax revenue in selected years after the 1994 fiscal reform, 364
State Administration of Taxation (SAT), 369
value-added tax (VAT), 363
Theil indices, 53, 54, 55, 67, 204, 263
Two Exemptions, One Subsidy policy, 153

unemployment. See also nonwork and nonworkers in urban China insurance program, 8

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00291-3 - Rising Inequality in China: Challenges to a Harmonious Society
Edited by Li Shi, Hiroshi Sato and Terry Sicular
Index
More information

international financial crisis and, 25
labor force participation and, 388 laid-off (xiagang) workers as, 387 missed categories in unemployment rate, 291, 297 National Unemployment Insurance Rules, 297
open, 292
rate by year, 307
rate defined, 304
rate for urban workers, 390 rates for men vs. women, 307, 385 recent graduates and, 290 trends in post-economic restructuring, 296–298 xiagang as, 387
urban areas
determinants of housing tenure in, 110–118
determinants of housing wealth in, 118–124
dibao program in, 45
education in, 146, 154
geographical boundaries of, 11 housing in, 91, 93, 260 housing reform policies in, 87–94
income inequality in, 255–257, 260, 281–283 multinomial logit analysis of housing tenure choice in (2002 and 2007), 116 rise of private enterprises in, 258–259
self-employment in, 117, 122, 258
urbanization, 46
urban household income, 57, 267–271, 281–283
defined, 261
distribution of, across decile groups, 56
imputed rental income from owner-occupied housing and, 259
levels and growth by deciles, 57
mean income per capita by region (2002 and 2007), 81
overall trends in, 261–267
pensions and, 260
wage earnings' share of total income, 259 wages and, 232
urban net transfers, 59, 77
urban-rural income gap, 46, 47
by region, 72
calculation of contribution to inequality, 107 contribution to inequality, 32, 48, 64–67, 77, 197
cost of living adjustments and, 65, 66
education and, 33
educational attainment among minorities and, 416, 417, 418
international comparisons, 65 ratio of in 2007 CHIP survey, 233 regional dimension of, 32 rural income growth and, 198
social security programs and, 21
widening of between 2002 and 2007, 198 widening of since late 1980s, 32

value-added tax (VAT), 363

wages. See also earnings; gender-wage gap; Han-minority earnings gap; incme; urban-rural income gap migrant, 12, 236–244, 251
minimum wage (zuidi gongzi) regulations, 12, 239, 242 wealth. See also housing wealth cost of living and, 59
data on, 21
variations among households, 1 western development strategy (xibu dakaifa zhanlüe), 46 women. See female workers; gender; gender-wage gap; homemakers work unit, 8, 90–92, 96, 257, 297, 387, 395 as social security in pre-reform era, 5 xiagang, to keep ties with, 8, 297, 387 working time, 343

young adults, 289, 307–313 three states of nonwork among, 309 unemployment rates for, 307

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org