Contents

Acknowledgements       page vi

Introduction           1

1 Gender, melancholy, and the whiteness of impersonal form in The Great Gatsby 15

2 Redeeming violence in The Sun Also Rises: phallic embodiment, primitive ritual, fetishistic melancholia 54

3 Versions of traumatic melancholia: the burden of white man’s history in Light in August and Absalom, Absalom! 96

4 The Professor’s House: primitivist melancholy and the gender of utopian forms 137

Afterword             178

Notes                  194
Index                  214