CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00615-7 - Moral Leadership in Medicine: Building Ethical Healthcare Organizations
Suzanne Shale
Index
More information

Index

A4R (accountability for reasonableness) framework 132–3 abductive research methods 185, 270–1 acceptance, restorative propriety 175–6 accountability 21–2, 283
  comportment of 123
  employment procedures 285–90
  Fitness to Practise Procedures 284–5 organizational-level regulation 290–1 professional self-regulation 283–4 for reasonableness framework (A4R) 132–3 revalidation process 285 acknowledgement of iatrogenic injuries 154–5 example of patient death 156–9 actions
  attributing moral status to 209–10 moral narrative developing through 202 reaction and moral judgments 210 see also enactment of moral behaviour advocacy see fiduciary propriety aetiological approach, organizational ethics 225–7 allocative justice 99–100 ambiguities, resolving 47–52 Anspach, R 238–9, 262–3
apology 154, 173
Ashcroft, R 47–8
attention, remedy of 173–5

Barthes, R 195
Beauchamp, TL 234, 292
'bedside rationing' 101–2
beneficence principle 292 bioethics
  problem with treating as applied ethics 230–5 sociological perspectives 235–9
Blaikie, N 185
Blumer, H 272–3
Bosk, CL 236–7, 263
Boyle, PJ 226–7, 229–30, 244–5
Brody, H 215
bureaucracy
  contemporary conceptions of 115–18 versus collegiality and professionalization 124 bureaucratic propriety 24, 95, 115
  practices of 118–23
business ethics, learning from 240 capability procedures 287–8 care, duty to give 104–6 care environment, iatrogenic injuries 142–3 Care Quality Commission (CQC) 290–1 certainty of normative expectations 69–70

Chambliss, DF 9, 236–7
Childress, JF 234, 292
clinical innovation 75–8 clinical normative expectations 42–3 closure of hospitals, normative expectations surrounding 73–5 collegial normative expectations 43–5 collegial propriety 24, 95–6, 123–4 collegiality in medicine 124–6
  practices of 126
commissioning of healthcare by general practitioners 18–19 requests for exceptional medical treatment 79–82 community of practitioners 58–61 distancing members from 61 drawing members into 58 negotiating conditions for membership 59–61 complaints
  acceptance of 175–6
  attending to 173–5
conduct, disciplinary procedures 286–7 confidence patients' expectations 222 repair of following medical harm 151–2 confidentiality 104, 168–9 consequentialism 292–3 corporate comportment 118–20 data analysis, grounded theory 270–2 decisions, life-and-death 238–9 deontology 293–4

'diffusion of the health agenda' 13–14 disciplinary procedures 286–7 mishandling of 49–50 discrimination, institutional 245 dismissal/exclusion of medical staff 59, 61, 215–17 doubt, Ashcroft's three classes of 47–8
Dreyfus, HL 188
Dreyfus, SE 188
duties of care and loyalty 104–6 collegial 126
  conflicting 204

Emanuel, EJ 228–9
empirical uncertainty 49–50
employment procedures 285–90

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00615-7 - Moral Leadership in Medicine: Building Ethical Healthcare Organizations
Suzanne Shale
Index
More information

enactment of moral behaviour 9–10 in day-to-day work 236–7 judging 'fitness' 53–7
and propriety 189–90
through institutions, practices and micro-practices 57–61 end-of-life therapies 81 epistemological equivocality 50–2 epistemology 278–9
equivocality 47–8
epistemological 50–2
normative 48–9
virtue concerns 52–3
errors, medical 144–6
'ethical', meaning of 5–7 ethical organizations see organizational ethics ethics
commonly used frameworks 292–4 integrating narrative data into 215 narrative in 213–14
see also organizational ethics expectations see normative expectations expertise
bureaucratic propriety 121–2
and collegiality 127–8 Dreyfus model 188
learning expressive ethical 247–51 quality of groups 40–1
Expressive-collaborative model 197, 198–9 grounding healthcare organizational ethics in 241–3

'family treatment test' 165–6 fateful decisions 238–9 fidelity to patients' interests 105–6 fiduciary propriety 23–4, 95, 102–3 conceptual background to 103–6 danger of excessive advocacy 114–15 fiduciary, role of 107
integrity 114
re-prioritizing patient narratives 110–12 representation of clinician's voice 112–14 representation of patients' interests 107–10 financial retrenchment 205–10
'fitness' of moral behaviour, judging 53–7
fitness to practise (FTP) procedures 284–5 formal rationality 116–18
four moral principles 292 Freidson, E 21, 124–5, 146

'general management', NHS 14, 15–17 General Medical Council (GMC)
fitness to practise (FTP) procedures 284–5 referral of concerns to 286–8 registration 283–4
and inclusion on Performers List 290
revalidation process 285
general practitioners (GPs)
accountability 55–7
medical management by 17–19 normative expectations 41–5
professional self-regulation 283–5 regulation of 288–90 standards of performance 34–5, 36–7 uncertainties about disciplining 47–50
Gentile, M 250–1
Georgetown mantra 292
globalization of medicine 12–13 government guidance on professional standards 285–8 government targets, treatment waiting times 70–1 grounded theory approach 264–6 creating the data 266
interviewing 266–8
theoretical sampling 268–70 transcribing 268
data analysis 270–2
evidence for moral narrating 277–9 meaning in interview narratives 272–3 moral narrative in interview data 273–5 narrating a preferred moral self 275–7 stories not told 279–80
groups
conventions of morality and ethics 5–6 expertise of 40–1
Expressive-collaborative model 198–9, 241–3
moral sense-making 38–41

Healthcare Commission 290–1 healthcare organizational ethics see organizational ethics High Professional Standards in the Modern NHS (DoH) 286–8 hindsight, medical errors 46, 145–6 Hoffmaster, B 231–2
Holm, S 262
hospital closure, normative expectations 73–5 hospital medicine, general management 15–17 hypocrisy 84–5

iatrogenic injuries 141–2 care environment 142–3 confidentiality issues 168–9 conscious neglect/deliberate wrongdoing 146 foreseeable treatment risk 143–4 medical errors 144–6
moral injuries 146–8
morally managing 154–5
patient safety movement 148–9 impartiality in investigation of iatrogenic harm 163–5 incompetence versus moral turpitude 59–60, 146 industrialization of medicine 12–13 information, use of sensitive 168–9 innovation, normative expectations surrounding 75–8 inquisitorial propriety 24–5, 96, 159–60 centrality of procedure to 160–2

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00615-7 - Moral Leadership in Medicine: Building Ethical Healthcare Organizations
Suzanne Shale
Index
More information

inquisitorial propriety (cont.)
as 'hearing the other side' 162 as impartiality 163–5
and inescapability of judgement 170 and the interpretation of standards 165–8 and reciprocal expectations 170–2 and use of sensitive information 168–9 institutional discrimination 245 institutionalization of healthcare 13 institutions 57–8
interview process
data collection for research 266–8 determining meaning in 272–3 proprieties emerging from 184–6 justice allocative 99–100

and inquisitorial propriety 96 principle of 292

Kant, I 6, 25–6, 97, 293–4

'last chance' therapies 80–1 leadership see moral leadership legal liability, separating from moral fault 153–4 licence to practice, revalidation requirements 17, 285 life-and-death decision-making 238–9 logical priority assumption 232 loyalty
corporate 119
duty of 104–6

MacIntyre, A 85–6, 213, 234
'managed care', US 13–14, 224 meaning(s)
attentiveness to, collegiality 130 of 'ethical' and 'moral' 5–7 in interview narratives 272–3 of moral leadership 7–9 of narrative 194–7
of 'norms' 66–7
of propriety 93–4
medical error, iatrogenic injuries arising from 144–6 medical harm 1–2, 140–1 explanatory frameworks 149–50 iatrogenic injury 141–8 issues of confidence, trust and hope 150–3 management of 14–15, 35, 140–1, 149 narratives of moral repair 154–9 and the patient safety movement 148–9 responsibility for 153–4 see also inquisitorial propriety: restorative propriety medical leaders 1–2
areas of concern 47–53
eliciting commitment of others 55–7 enactment of ethics 53–5 inescapability of judgement 170 involving others in sense-making 46–7 issues neglected by 245 recognition of need for moral action 37–8 shaping their behaviour 186–7 medical management medical leaders' view of 15 pleasures and pitfalls of 19–22 roles in the UK 15–17
micro-practices of responsibility 57–8 middle ground, performance management in 149, 166–7 misconduct, disciplinary procedures 286–7 moral bargaining 59 moral community
moral negotiations within 198–9 referencing existing narrative and norms within 208 moral expertise 40–1
habitual versus deliberate 187–8
moral injuries 146–8
moral leadership 7–8, 33
definition of 22, 33
enactment of 9–10, 215–17
learning expressive 246–51 medicine as special case of 8–9 moral anxiety in 25
seven features of 61–2
three phases in 22–3, 34–5 moral narratives 22–3, 33–4, 193–4 background to the stories 35–7 conceptualizing 194–7
example of shared 199–205
financial example 205–10 models of 197–9
as part of ethics 213–15
social meanings of 194–7 moral neutrality 82–6
moral reckoning 210
moral repair 140–1, 150 acknowledgement practices 154–9
inquisitorial propriety 159–72
reliance and responsibility 150–4 restorative propriety 172–7
moral sense-making
building on morally significant expectations 41–5 cyclical nature of 46 group process 38–41
identifying morally relevant events, causes and consequences 208–9 resolution of uncertainty and equivocality 47–53 moral suasion 58
morality
meanings of 4–7, 25–6
see also ethics: Kant, I narrative ethics see moral narratives narrative social research 211–12 narrative unity, MacIntyre's work 85–6, 213 National Clinical Assessment Service (NCAS) 59–60, 287 neglect, iatrogenic injuries arising from 146

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00615-7 - Moral Leadership in Medicine: Building Ethical Healthcare Organizations
Suzanne Shale
Index
More information

Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU), making fateful decisions 238–9
'network medicine' 12–14 neutrality 82–6
  value neutrality of formal rationality 116–17 nomological assumption 231–2, 233 non-maleficence principle 292
'non-sectarian' comportment 120–1 norm(s), meaning of 66–7 normative equivocality 48–9
normative expectations 41–2, 66–9
  certainty of 69–70
  clinical 42–3
  and clinical innovation 75–8
  collegial 43–5
  doctors' moral neutrality 82–6 hospital closure 73–5
  and moral sense-making 41–5
  requests for exceptional medical treatment 79–82 role related 45
  and trust-based relationships 150–3 of waiting times 70–3

obligations see duties occupational moralities 236–7 ontology 277–8
organizational ethics 11–12, 222–3 aetiological approach 225–7 and business ethics 240
  enactment of 229–35
  Expressive-collaborative model 241–3 expressive ethical behaviour, learning 246–51 in healthcare, emergence of 223–5 issues to focus on 243–6
  sociological perspectives 235–9 topographical approach 227–9 organizational moral narrative 22–3, 193–4 concepts 194–7
  financial retrenchment example 205–10 medical leader's narrative 215–17 models of morality 197–9 narrative turn in social research and ethics 210–15 planning for pandemic flu 199–205 pandemic influenza planning 199–205 patient advocacy see fiduciary propriety patient autonomy, respect for 41, 67–8, 292 patient death, moral repair example 156–9 patient narratives fiduciary role of medical leader in moderating 114–15

    re-asserting 112–14
    re-presenting 107–10
    re-prioritizing 110–12
  of illness and medical treatment 213–14
patient safety movement 148–9
Pearson, S 228–9
Pellegrino, ED 190, 294
percentage game, playing 19–20 performance management 283 Care Quality Commission 290–1
  employment procedures 285–8
  fitness to practise (FTP) procedures 284–5 in the middle ground 149
  professional self-regulation 283–4
  regulation of GPs 288–90
Performers Lists, PCTs 288–90
phronesis (practical wisdom) 234
'practices of responsibility' 23, 57–8 pre-natal genetic diagnosis (PGD) 80 predictive uncertainty 49–50 preferred moral self, narration of 275–7 primary care, medical management 17–19 Primary Care Trusts (PCTs)
  dealing with requests for exceptional medical treatment 79–82 Performers Lists 288–90
  see also general practitioners (GPs) Primary Medical Performers Lists 288–90 principlism 292
procedures
  disciplinary 286–7
  fitness to practise 284–5
  inquisitorial propriety 160–2 professional management, UK 14
professional self-regulation 283–4 professional standards 286–8 propriety 23–6, 92, 93–7
  bureaucratic propriety 115–23
  collegial propriety 123
  inquisitorial propriety 159–72
  and matching impropriety 131–2
  restorative propriety 172–7
  usefulness of 191
  versus virtue 190–1
  see also fiduciary propriety public testimony, moral remedy 176–7

Quality and Outcomes Framework (QOF) 167

reactive attitudes 41–2, 66–9 effects of equivocality and uncertainty on 69–86 reciprocity 127
  inquisitorial propriety 170–2 vices and virtues of collegiality 125–6 registration by GMC 283–4
regulation of GPs 288
reliance and responsibility 150–3 Remembrance Hospitals Trust, planning for pandemic flu 199–205 research 261

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org

CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge University Press
978-1-107-00615-7 - Moral Leadership in Medicine: Building Ethical Healthcare Organizations
Suzanne Shale
Index
More information

research (cont.)
deciding what to investigate 262–4 process 261–2
study participants 3–4, 27–9 see also grounded theory approach resource allocation 99–100 accountability for reasonableness 132–3 playing the percentage game 19–20 providing the best care possible 100–2 responsibility confidence, trust and hope 150–3 individual 22
and medical harm 153–4
practices of 23, 57–8
Walker on moral 7, 94–5
Rest, J 240
restorative propriety 25, 96, 172–3 remedy of acceptance 175–6 remedy of attention 173–5 remedy of public testimony 176–7 revalidation of doctors' licences 17, 285 Riessman, CK 195
risks of treatment, iatrogenic injuries 143–4 role related normative expectations 45
Rosenthal, M 125–6

Sabin, J 228–9
sampling, theoretical 268–70 scrutiny 58
secondary care, management 15–17 self-regulation, professional 124–5, 283–4 sensitive information, managing 168–9 social description, value-laden activity 189 social meanings of narrative 194–7 social research
narrative turn in 211–12 value-laden activity 189 sociological perspectives on ethics at work 235–9 specialty allegiances, forfeiting 19–21 Spencer, EM 227–8
stakeholder theory 227–8 standardization in healthcare 122 standards
interpretation of 165–8
normative expectations 41, 69
professional 42–3, 285–8 standoff thermometer 21
stories not told 279–80
surgical innovation 75–8

tactical uncertainty 52 testimony, using to remedy moral wrongs 176–7 theoretical-juridical model (TJM) 188, 197–8, 230–2 bioethics in the distorting mirror of 233–6 theoretical sampling, grounded theory 268–70 theory-building, grounded theory approach 270–2 topographical approach, organizational ethics 227–9 training in expressive ethical expertise 247–51 transcription of interviews 268 treatment
requests for 'exceptional' 79–82 risk and iatrogenic injuries 143–4 waiting times 70–3
trust-based moral relationships 150–3 Tuskegee study of untreated syphilis 78

uncertainty 47–8
empirical and predictive 49–50
tactical 52
United States
JCAHO requirements 224
managed care 13–14, 224
utilitarianism 292–3

value neutrality of formal rationality 116–17
virtue concerns of leaders 52–3 MacIntyre's account of 85–6 versus propriety 190–1 virtue ethics 234–5, 294
in-vitro fertilization (IVF) 80, 81–2 voice, attentiveness to, collegiality 128–30 waiting times for treatment, normative expectations 70–3 Walker, M 14

on confidence, trust and hope 150–3 Expressive-collaborative model 198–9, 241–3 moral responsibilities 7, 94–5 on normative expectations 66
practices of responsibility 23
Theoretical-juridical model 197–8, 231
Weber, M 115, 117, 122
work ethics, sociological perspectives 235–9

© in this web service Cambridge University Press www.cambridge.org