General index

Except in the cases of famous people such as emperors or writers, the names of late antique people are followed by two numbers, separated by a slash: Arabic numbers refer to their numbering in the PLRE, Roman numerals to that in Seck (1906). A hyphen (-) indicates that the person has no number in the relevant prosopography, as he is the only person with that name included in it; a zero (o) indicates that a person is not mentioned in a prosopography.
