Contents

List of figures x
List of tables xi
List of contributors xii
Preface xxii
JAMES C. KAUFMAN
Acknowledgments xxiv

Part I Creativity and mental illness: the state of the field

1 A socio-historical overview of the creativity–pathology connection: from antiquity to contemporary times 3
   GEORGE BECKER

2 The mad (creative) genius: what do we know after a century of historiometric research? 25
   DEAN KEITH SIMONTON

3 Reviewing recent empirical findings on creativity and mental illness 42
   MELANIE L. BEAUSSART, ARIELLE E. WHITE, ADAM PULLARO, AND JAMES C. KAUFMAN

4 Building connections on sand: the cautionary chapter 60
   JUDITH SCHLESINGER

Part II Cognitive and neuroscientific perspectives on creativity and mental illness

5 Neurocognitive mechanisms underlying creative thinking: indications from studies of mental illness 79
   ANNA ABRAHAM
Contents

6 The evolutionary genetics of the creativity–psychosis connection
Aaron Kozbelt, Scott Barry Kaufman, Deborah J. Walder, Luz H. Ospina, and Joseph U. Kim 102

7 Non-linearity in creativity and mental illness: the mixed blessings of chaos, catastrophe, and noise in brain and behavior
James E. Swain and John D. Swain 133

8 Artists’ vulnerability to psychopathology: an integrative cognitive perspective
Mark Papworth 145

Part III Creativity and the spectrum of mental illness

9 Creativity and the spectrum of affective and schizophrenic psychoses
Neus Barrantes-Vidal 169

10 When good is bad and bad is good: mood, bipolarity, and creativity
Geir Kaufmann and Astrid Kaufmann 205

11 Attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder and creativity: ever the twain shall meet?
Dione Healey 236

Part IV Creativity and mental illness: possible commonalities

12 The shared vulnerability model of creativity and psychopathology
Shelley Carson 253

13 On the fragility of the artist: art’s precarious triad
Maja Djikic and Keith Oatley 281

14 Creativity as “compensatory advantage”: bipolar and schizophrenic liability, the inverted-U hypothesis, and practical implications
Dennis K. Kinney and Ruth Richards 295
Contents ix

Part V Creative and mental health

15 Bringing the whole universe to order: creativity, healing, and posttraumatic growth 321
MARIE J. C. FORGEARD, ANNE C. MECKLENBURG, JUSTIN J. LACASSE, AND ERANDA JAYAWICKREME

16 Inspiration and the creative process 343
TODD M. THRASH, EMIL G. MOLDOVAN, AMANDA K. FULLER, AND JOHN T. DOMBROWSKI

17 King Solomon and psychoneuroimmunology: creativity and life coping 363
MICHAEL J. LOWIS

Part VI Creative and mental illness: what now?

18 Ruminating about mental illness and creativity 395
EMILY C. NUSBAUM, ROGER E. BEATY, AND PAUL J. SILVIA

19 Creativity and mental illness: reasons to care and beware 403
JAMES C. KAUFMAN

Index 408