Contents

Tables  page vii
Contributors  ix
Acknowledgments  xi

1 Introduction: Grand Strategy between the World Wars  1
STEVEN E. LOBELL, JEFFREY W. TALIAFERRO, AND NORRIN M. RIPSMAN

2 Deterrence, Coercion, and Enmeshment: French Grand Strategy and the German Problem after World War I  37
PETER JACKSON

SCOTT A. SILVERSTONE

4 The League of Nations and Grand Strategy: A Contradiction in Terms?  93
ANDREW WEBSTER

5 Economic Interdependence and the Grand Strategies of Germany and Japan, 1925–1941  120
DALE C. COPELAND

6 Britain’s Grand Strategy during the 1930s: From Balance of Power to Components of Power  147
STEVEN E. LOBELL

7 British Grand Strategy and the Rise of Germany, 1933–1936  171
NORRIN M. RIPSMAN AND JACK S. LEVY
Contents

8 Strategy of Innocence or Provocation? The Roosevelt Administration’s Road to World War II 193
JEFFREY W. TALIAFERRO

9 The Rising Sun Was No Jackal: Japanese Grand Strategy, the Tripartite Pact, and Alliance Formation Theory 224
TSUYOSHI KAWASAKI

10 Powers of Division: From the Anti-Comintern to the Nazi-Soviet and Japanese-Soviet Pacts, 1936–1941 246
TIMOTHY W. CRAWFORD

11 Soviet Grand Strategy in the Interwar Years: Ideology as Realpolitik 279
MARK L. HAAS

12 Conclusions: Rethinking Interwar Grand Strategies 308
DAVID M. EDELSTEIN

Index 337
Tables

- 8.1 Statistics on Relative Power Balance, 1936–1941
  page 203
- 8.2 A Comparison of the Great Powers’ Force Strengths in Manpower Equivalents (circa January 1940)
  204
- 8.3 Economic Capability/War Potential (1938)
  205