

Contents

Preface	page ix
Acknowledgments	xxi
List of abbreviations	xxv
Introduction: On the Extreme Right and Transnational History	I
A Case of National Populism?	4
Continuity and Terminology	9
Conceptualization and Fascism	13
More on Adaptation and Contemporarization	16
Writing New Histories of Europe	20
Going Transnational	25
Outline	27
1 Nations and Fascisms	31
Neofascisms and Memories: Some Initial Reflections	34
Continuities, Purges, and Support	38
Nostalgia in Extreme-Right France	45
An Oath of Fascist Allegiance: The Birth of the MSI	49
The Multifaceted Extreme Right Goes to Parliament	55
2 Regenerating Right-Wing Extremism	62
The Black Baron: Julius Evola	65
A “Universal” Neofascism	69
Maurice Bardèche, a Fascist European Writer	74
Black Internationals: “We Fought for Europe”	78
An Italian Action for Europe	84
Europe-Action in France	88
Links in Italy	90

viii	Contents
3	The Algerian Years	94
	Activism in the 1950s	96
	The French Extreme Right at the Time of Algeria	100
	Importing “Nationalist” de Gaulle to Italy?	104
	Defending French Algeria?	108
	The Authoritarian and Subversive Temptation	112
	Neofascism before 1968	115
4	1968 and the Response of Political Fronts	121
	On the Significance of 1968	123
	Italian Neofascists: Order and Disorder	127
	Libérons la Sorbonne!	132
	The MSI-Destra Nazionale	136
	For a New Order	141
	Establishing the Front National: “With Us, before It Is Too Late!”	145
5	Culture after 1968	151
	Culture in Extreme-Right Italy	153
	The Nouvelle Droite	158
	Gramsci, Right and Left	163
	Metapolitics: Using Evola	167
	Hobbit Camps in Italy	171
	Culture: A Bridge toward the New World	176
6	From the Euroright to a Euro-leader	180
	The Neofascist Environment	183
	The Euroright Years	188
	Les Français d’Abord!	193
	A Throne for the New King	199
	On the Alleanza Nazionale	206
	The Blackshirt Archipelago in Italy	210
	Borrowing the Préférence Nationale	217
	Transnational Webs: French movements and Marine Le Pen	220
	Afterword – On the Recent Old Europe	229
	Bibliography	250
	Index	271