

Index

- Abelard, Peter, 132–135
 Abraham (biblical), 112–113, 116–122 academic scepticism, 88–90, 92–94, 95 accountability. See responsibility action. See also conduct and awareness of the ‘I’, 415–417, 418–419
 and categorical imperative, 397–400
 and corruption of nature, 298–304
 and discourse ethics, 703–704
 and egoism, 283–284
 and justice, 347–348
 and perfectionism, 542
 and the laws of nature, 238–241 contractual, 413 determined by moral considerations, 396–397 final ends for, 394–396 for the good of others, 268–277 in humanist thought, 198–201
 in practical philosophy, 387 Leibniz’s motivation to, 270–271 meta-ethical approach to, 511 moral virtue and, 184–186, 384 motivated by desire, 342 realising freedom and, 646–650 act-utilitarianism, 518–519 Adorno, Theodor, 608, 610–617 Aesthetic Theory (Adorno), 617 afterlife happiness, 174 aischron (misguided), 51 Albert the Great and ethics as practical science, 169–170 and Nicomachean Ethics, 173 and speculative happiness, 171–173 Alberti, Leon Battista, 200–201 al-Fārābī, Abū Naṣr
 and the doctrine of the mean, 146–147 character development and, 144–146 ‘science of the city’ and, 153–155 alienation (capitalist), 498–499 Al-Kindī, 155–156
 Al-Rāzī, Abū Bakr, 157–159 altruism. See also good will and empirical observation, 451–453 and Spinoza’s conatus, 290–296 ambition
 and decision theory, 715
 and good spirits, 11–14
 Ambrose, 118–119, 121
 Ambrosiaster, 118–119
amour de soi. See self-love
An Essay on Liberation (Marcuse), 618 Analogy Concerning Religion, Natural and Revealed (Butler), 320 analytical philosophy, 519–520 Anarchical Fallacies (Bentham), 358–359 anger, 148, 149
 animals
 having morality, 455
 in meta-ethics, 518
 moral status of, 403
 Anscombe, G.E.M., 112–113, 681–684
 Anselm, 129–132
 Antiphon, 17–18
 anti-reductivism, 684–686 anti-Semitism, 623–624, 633 anti-theory and Anscombe, 681–682
 and anti-reductivism, 684–686 and moral authority, 682–684 current state of, 688–690 definition of, 678–681
 objections to, 681, 687–688 of Wittgenstein, 676
 Apel, K.-O., 701

Index

- Apology* (Plato), 21
aponia (freedom from pain), 61, 63, 64–65. See also pain applied ethics, 422
 ‘Apraxia Charge’, 92–94 Aquinas, Thomas
 and perfectionism, 539
 and prudence, 176–177
 and the Nicomachean Ethics, 173 and twofold happiness, 173–175
 free will and, 182–183
 natural law and, 173–176, 186, 304, 313–314 practical truth, 177 Arcesilaus, 93
aretê. See virtue argumentation methods
 and empirical observation, 198
 rhetorical, 196–197 Aristotle. See also Christian Aristotelianism aim of life, 78–79
 and Hegel, 423
 and Henry More, 251
 and Maimonides, 144–147
 and Pascal, 304
 and perfectionism, 538–539
 ethical idealism, 48–55 in protreptic strand of thought, 42–45 in republican strand of thought, 45–48 influence on Joseph Butler, 311 moral virtue and, 183–186 Arnauld, Antoine, 257–258 artificial virtue, 347–350 asceticism
 and the doctrine of the mean, 148–149
 in Christian Aristotelianism, 173
 in medieval Islamic lands, 156 assent (Stoic), 85–86, 90, 92–94 ataraxia (freedom from disturbance), 61, 63 atheism (virtuous), 259–263 attitude disagreement in, 602
 modern technology changing, 630 Augustine, of Hippo and Christian Aristotelianism clash, 168
 and Pascal, 297–298, 305
 and the Protestant Reformation, 211, 212–213 killing of innocents and, 119–122 Auschwitz, 614–615
autexousion (self-determination), 251, 254–255 authenticity (Heideggerian), 624–628 autonomy. See also will and heteronomy, 406
 and Kant, 501–502
 and laws in an ideal moral commonwealth, 405 in modern ethical thought, 314–315 avarice (virtue), 200
 axiology
 and good outcomes, 445
 Husserl’s formal, 565
 Ayer, A.J., 591–594
 Badiou, Alain, 660–662, 664
 Bahya ibn Pakuda, 154–155
 Balguy, John, 383
 Baumgarten, Alexander Gottlieb, 389–390 Bayle, Pierre
 and conscience, 266
 and pleasure, 257–259
 and the virtuous atheist, 259–263 and tolerance, 266–267 morality and God, 263–265 beauty kalon, 45
 Platonic, 34
 promotion of for good, 555 Being and Nothingness (Sartre) and freedom, 637
 and purgation, 638–640
 belief and a ‘gain of experience’, 521–522 and causal inference, 341 destabilisation of traditional, 492 Pascal’s reliable sources of, 300–301 benefit and harm. See good and evil benevolence. See also goodness as meta-ethical principle, 514
 as self-evident, 553–555 Bentham, Jeremy and jurisprudence, 358–360 influenced by sentimental philosophy, 353 public policy of, 352–353 punishment and, 363
Between Facts and Norms (Habermas), 693, 697 Blackburn, S., 519, 597–599, 603 Blackstone, William, 358–359 body (human) and the protreptic strand of thought, 42–45 dualism in Christian Aristotelianism, 172–173
 Jewish medieval view of, 142
 neo-Platonic, 104–107, 109–110
 Platonic, 37–39
 pleasure and pain, 61
 Boethius, 125–129

Index

- Bondage of the Will, The* (Luther), 212
 'boniform faculty' (More), 252–253
Book of Belief and Opinions, The (Saadia Gaon), 139 Book of the City of Ladies (Christine de Pizan), 202 Bradley, F.H., 544–547
 Braver, L., 626
 Brenkert, G., 499
 Brentano, Franz
 and emotivism, 595–596
 and Husserl, 565–568
 as a phenomenological ethicist, 563–565 Brief Disquisition of the Laws of Nature, A (Cumberland), 255 Brink, D., 520
British Moralists: Being Selections from Writers Principally of the Eighteenth Century (Selby-Bigge), 325–326
 Bruni, Leonardo, 199
 Buchanan, A., 498
 Burnet, Gilbert, 332–333, 382–383
 Burnett, Thomas, 326–327
 Butler, Joseph
 modern moral philosophy of, 319–323 philosophical differences from and commonalities with John Locke, 311–315 calmness (virtue), 344–345 Calvin, John
 and human agency, 212–218
 views on Scholasticism, 209–212 Cambridge Platonists. See also Plato common tenets of, 245–248
 Henry More and the, 250–253
 Nathaniel Culverwell as, 248–250
 Ralph Cudworth, 253–255
 Thomas Burnett as, 327 capacity-based perfectionism, 539–544 capitalism
 and the Frankfurt School, 608–609 evils of, 505
 ideology of, 500–505
 morality of, 495–500
 Carman, T., 625
 Carnap, R., 593
 Carneades, 93, 95, 274–277 Cartesianism, 247 catalogue (of soul parts), 46–47 categorical imperative
 and discourse ethics, 699
 principles of, 397–400
 types of duties in, 400–402 variants of, 404–406 causation
 and Heidegger, 629
 and moral sense theory, 340 freedom as a radical non-natural form of, 609 character traits and experimentation, 659–660 and Miskawayh, 159–160
 and Maimonides, 144–146
 and natural virtues, 345–347
 Platonic, 30–33
 revealed by actions, 455
 Stoic, 82–83
Characteristics of Men, Manners, Opinions, Times (Shaftesbury), 328–329 choice. See will Choice of Heracles (Prodicus), 20
 'Christendom' (Kierkegaard), 463 Christian Aristotelianism. See also Aristotle and Albert the Great, 169–173 and Thomas Aquinas, 173–178
 in Scholasticism, 168 Christianity, medieval and Peter Abelard, 132–135 and Yahyā ibn 'Adī, 156–157
 Anselm, 129–132
 Boethius, 125–129
 killing of innocents and, 112–122
 Christianity, middle ages and corruption of nature, 298–304
 and the Cambridge Platonists, 246–247
 and the necessity of grace, 305–310 Christianity, modern and Kierkegaard's ethics, 459 influence on Wittgenstein, 667 not needed in the content of morality, 388 rejection of 'monkish virtues', 346 Christina of Bohemia, Queen, 224
 Christine de Pizan, 202
 Chrysippus, 77–79, 85
 Chrysostom, 118
 Cicero, 59, 64–65, 92, 95 circles of sympathy, 355–356
 'Civil Disobedience' (Thoreau), 478 Clarke, John, 382
 Clarke, Samuel, 343–344, 379–382, 549–552 classical philosophy. See also Plato and British idealism, 535–536
 and Miskawayh, 159–160
 and modern moral philosophy, 313
 and Maimonides, 143–151

Index

- classical philosophy (cont.)
 and psychoanalytic theory, 577–578 and scepticism, 88–98
 and Stoicism, 75–87
 Aristotelian, 42–55
 Epicureanism and hedonism, 57–71 inequality of women in, 201–202 influence in medieval Islamic lands, 157–159 influencing moral realists, 380 Presocratic ethics in, 5–14
 Socrates and sophists in, 15–26
- Cleanthes, 77–79
- coercion and the ‘relation of right’, 412–413
- cognitivism
 and discourse ethics, 702–703
 and value, 567
 combining moral thought and talk, 591
- Cohen, G.A., 497, 499–500
- Collationes* (Abelard), 133
- commandments. See also Decalogue and moral obligations, 467 and Maimonides’ rationality, 149–151 and norms, 450–451 and the Decalogue, 187–188
 and the necessity of grace, 306–307 Jewish medieval view of biblical, 139–141 modern idea of, 314
- commands (categorical imperative), 397–398
- Commentaries on the Laws of England* (Blackstone), 358
- common good and self-realisation for the community, 541–542
 Aristotelian, 49–50
- common man. See ordinary person
- common sense morality defects, 511–512
- communism and capitalism, 495–500
- community. See society
- compassion as basis for morality, 453–454, 456–457
- conatus* (striving), 284
- Concluding Unscientific Postscript to ‘Philosophical Fragments’* (Kierkegaard), 463–465
- conduct. See also action rightful, 317 virtue of, 312
- conscience
 and the impartial spectator, 355–356
 and virtuous atheism, 266 based on a dependence on God, 389
 call of, 627
 in Rousseau’s Emile, 374
 in human psychic economy, 321–323
- consciousness and forms of being, 638–639 as mind awareness, 553
 in meta-ethics, 515–516
- consequentialism, 555–556, 708–710
- Considerations on Representative Government* (Mill), 361–363
- Consolation of Philosophy* (Boethius), 125–129
- constructivism, 718–719, 722–729
- contemplation
 as virtue, 109
 in humanism, 199
- contractualism, 720–722
- convention (sophist), 16–20
- copy principle, 340
- cosmology and the Stoic aim of life, 79
- courage (Socratic), 22–23
- ‘Cradle Argument’, 59–60, 64–65
- critical reason, 610
- critical theory, 607–608, 614, 617–619
- Critique of Dialectical Reason* (Sartre), 649–650
- Critique of Practical Reason* (Kant), 396, 404, 406, 408
- Critique of the Gotha Program* (Marx), 496
- Crito* (Plato), 21
- Crusius, Christian August, 388–389
- Cudworth, Ralph
 and David Hume, 342
 and Nathaniel Culverwell, 248–249 as an ethical rationalist, 253–255
- culture. See society
- Culverwell, Nathaniel, 248–250, 255
- cynicism, 75–77
- Cyprian, of Carthage, 118
- Darwall, Stephen, 273
- ‘Dasein’ (Heidegger), 624–629
- De cive* (Hobbes), 242
- De jure belli ac pacis* (Grotius), 274
- Decalogue, 187–188
- decision theory and deriving morality from rationality, 714–715
 and Descartes’ provisional moral code, 229 and Harsanyi’s hypothetical-choice argument, 711–712 and Rawls’ hypothetical-choice argument, 712–714 and the contents of moral principles, 708–710 not being a distinct moral theory, 706–707

Index

- deduction of rights, 268–270 Deleuze, Gilles, 657–660 Della famiglia (Alberti), 200–201 democracy and validity, 526–528 Democritus, 10–14
 Derrida, Jacques, 656, 663–664 Descartes, René
 and Ralph Cudworth, 253
 epistemology and metaphysics of, 230–231 provisional moral code definition, 228–230 provisional moral code maxims, 222–228 descriptive language. See noncognitivism desire and Hobbes' laws of nature, 234
 and utilitarianism, 504–505 particular and ideal, 415–416
 Stoic, 84–85
 despair (form of), 466–467 determinism, 448–449
 Dewey, John
 and the question of validity, 526–528 and whether ethics falls within the scope of pragmatism, 521 Dialectic of Enlightenment (Adorno, with Horkheimer), 610–612
 Diderot, Denis, 368–369 Differend, The (Lyotard), 657 disagreement (sceptical), 94–96 Discipline and Punish (Foucault), 659 Discours de Métaphysique (Leibniz), 270 discourse ethics and communicative action, 693–695 and the 'said' from the 'saying', 655 and universalism, 699–700
 definition of, 692–693
 law, politics and morality, 697–699 morality and ethics in, 695–697 Discourse on Inequality (Rousseau), 371
Discourse on the Method for Rightly Conducting Reason (Descartes), 221–228 discourse principle, 620 disinterested love, 277–280 dispreferred indifferent behaviour, 80–81 Dissertation Concerning Virtue (Butler), 319 Doctrine of Right (Kant), 723 doctrine of the mean, 146–149 dogmatism. See scepticism Doppelsatz (Hegel), 422 Dreyfus, H., 626 drinking behaviour, 8 dual instinct theory, 585–588 duties
 and action, 396–397
 and Hobbes' laws of nature, 234 as habituated norms of behaviour, 356–357 as relational notion, 450
 based on a dependence on God, 389 Clarke's laws of, 550–552 conditions of, 405
 Descartes' unconditional, 227–228 dynamic character of, 675–676 Kant's system of, 400–402 liberation in, 429–431
 prima facie, 555–556 transcendental theory of, 417–418 education and a metaphysics of morals, 405 and critical thinking, 5–6 and moral virtue, 108
 and sophists, 15
 and virtue, 18–20
 humanist, 201
 rational Stoic, 82–83
 egoism. See also ontology and Bentham's happiness principle, 362–363
 and human psychic economy, 320–321 and moral scepticism, 452–453
 and Nietzsche, 488–489
 and Spinoza's power of acting, 283–284 and the dualism of reason, 516–517 as a method in meta-ethics, 510, 514
 as a moral principle, 555
Eight Chapters, Laws Concerning Character Traits (Maimonides), 144–151
Elegant and Learned Discourse of the Light of Nature (Culverwell), 255
Elementa juris naturalis (Leibniz), 270, 274, 277–279
Elements of the Philosophy of Right (Hegel) abstract rights in, 427–428 and living an ethical life, 429–431 conservatism in, 422–424 freedom in, 424–426 Hegel's argument for, 426–427 morality, 428–429
 the rational state, 431–433
 Elisabeth of Bohemia, Princess, 223 Emerson, Ralph Waldo, 473–476, 477–478 Emile (Rousseau), 370–373 emotions
 and judgement, 355–356
 and moral judgement, 511, 663 as a form of bondage, 288–289 as changes in conatus, 284

Index

- emotions (cont.)
 Epicurean complexity of, 69–70
 neo-Platonic, 105–106
- emotivism, 594–596
- Empedocles, 9–10
- empiricism. See also pragmatism and Schopenhauer, 448–449, 453 for altruistic actions, 451–453 knowledge coming from, 436–438
- Enchiridion ethicum* (More), 156, 251, 255
- ends
 and Freudian psychoanalysis, 581–583
 and holistic perfectionism, 544 two kinds of final, 394–396
- Enlightenment
 in the Frankfurt School, 610–612 moral philosophy in, 436
- Enneads* (Plotinus), 105–107
- Enquiry Concerning Human Understanding*
 (Hume), 340–341
- Enquiry Concerning the Principles of Morals* (Hume), 339, 341, 346–347
- Enumeration of the Sciences* (al-Fārābī), 153–154
- environmentalism, 630–631, 632–633
- ephorate, 414
- Epicetus, 156
- Epicureanism
 and fourfold medicine, 66 and friendship, 71
 and pleasure, 257–258
 and the Cambridge Platonists, 247 fear of death in, 68–69 katastematic and kinetic pleasure in, 61–64 medical model of, 69–70 pleasure versus hedonism in, 57–61 role of gods in, 67–68 taxonomy of desires in, 65–66 virtue in, 70–71
- epistemology
 and the ‘Dasein’, 624–628 of Descartes’ provisional moral code, 230–231
- epoché* (suspension of judgement), 90
- equality and Leibniz’ three grades of nature, 269 in modern French ethics, 660–663, 664
- equity principle, 554
- Erasmus, 213
- Eros, 585–588
- Eros and Civilization* (Marcuse), 618
- esoteric morality, 518–519
- Essay Concerning Human Understanding* (Locke), 315, 317–319
- Essays on the Law of Nature* (Locke), 314, 316
- Ethical Studies* (Bradley), 544–547
- ethics
 as a personal challenge that must not be avoided, 671
 in classical philosophy, 97, 101 of equality, 660–663 of immanence, 657–659 of the other, 654–657 Presocratic, 5–14
- Ethics* (Spinoza), 283–296
- Ethics and Language* (Stevenson), 596
- eudaimonia* (happiness), 52–53, 80. See also happiness
- Eudemian Ethics* (Aristotle), 46, 53, 54, 78
- euthymia* (good spirits), 11–14
- Euthyphro* (Plato) and centripetalism, 21 and early Hebrew–Christian concepts, 113–117
 and Maimonides, 145
 and value disagreement, 95
- evaluation of benefit and harm (sophist), 25–26
- evil. See also good and evil Boethius’ concepts of, 129–132
 medieval view of, 134–135
- existentialism and Fichte, 419
 and Heidegger, 624–628
- expected-utility theory, 708–709
- experience and value in pragmatism, 524–525, 531
- experimentation
 and Deleuze, 663–664
 and Foucault and Deleuze, 659–660
- expressivism, 597–599
- facticity, 569–570
- Facts and Value* (Stevenson), 596
- fascism, 614–615
- ‘father of Scottish Enlightenment’. See Hutcheson, Francis
- Fear and Trembling* (Kierkegaard), 459–463
- Feder, Johann Georg Heinrich, 390
- Fichte, J.G.
 and Husserl, 568
 and Kant, 410
 moral duties, 417–418 on economic justice, 414–415 political philosophy of, 412–414 practising the awareness of the ‘I’, 415–417
- fitness/unfitness

Index

- and moral action, 549–550
- and morality, 344
- in moral rationalism, 380
- Five Modes of argument, 89, 90, 96
- Flugel, J.C., 579
- Foot, Philippa, 684
- forms. See Theory of Forms
- Forst, R., 696, 701
- Foundations of Natural Right* (Fichte), 410
- Fragment on Government, The* (Bentham), 358–359
- Frankfurt School
 - and critical theory, 607–608
 - and fascism and Auschwitz, 612–617
 - and the enlightenment dialectic, 610–612
 - and the rejection of negativity, 617–620
 - conceptual background of, 608–610
- free will. See also will
 - and slave morality, 485
 - and the ‘relation of right’, 412–414
 - and the Cambridge Platonists, 248, 251
 - and the necessity of grace, 307–308
 - and virtuous atheism, 263–265
- freedom
 - achieved only with communism, 505–506
 - and awareness of the ‘I’, 416–417
 - and capitalism, 608–609
 - and claim by Schopenhauer for not having, 449
 - and Heidegger, 628–629
 - and liberalism, 501
 - and Rousseau, 365–366
 - and Sartre, 636–650
 - and self-development, 442
 - and the sphere of individual liberty, 442
 - from moral laws, 407–408
 - of the objective mind, 424–426
- Frege–Geach problem, 602–604
- Freud, Sigmund
 - and critical theory, 608
 - and sexual freedom, 584–585
 - and sublimation, 583–584
 - and the dual instinct theory, 585–588
 - pessimism of, 578–579, 581–583
 - psychoanalytic theory of, 577–578
- friendship
 - and Miskawayh, 160
 - Aristotelian, 54
 - as struggle between powerful equals, 475
 - Epicurean, 71
 - Fuller, Margaret, 479–480
 - Gauthier, D., 520, 714–715
 - Geach, P., 602
 - gendered psychology, 479–480
 - genealogy of morality, 483–485
 - German Ideology* (Marx and Engels), 504
 - Gesamtausgabe* (Heidegger), 624
 - Geuss, R., 632
 - Gibbard, A., 519, 597–600, 603
 - God (Judaeo-Christian)
 - and divine precepts in the Middle Ages, 186–189
 - and religious orthodox moral views, 388–389
 - and virtuous atheism, 263–265
 - death of, 482–483
 - duty to, 550
 - human indebtedness to, 467–468
 - Maimonides’ intentions of, 150–151
 - moral status of, 404
 - obedience can be against moral standards, 463
 - Protestant Reformation theology of, 209–212
 - wisdom of basis of laws of nature, 316–317
 - gods
 - divinity and moral truths, 8–9
 - Epicurean, 67–68
 - Homeric failings in, 6–7
 - perfect moral standards in, 7–8
 - Platonic view of becoming like, 39–40
 - Golden Age, 370–373
 - Golden Rule (biblical), 290
 - good. See also mental good
 - agreeable, 129–132
 - and Spinoza’s sharing one’s nature, 293–294
 - as desirable consciousness, 516
 - true, 125–129
 - good and evil. See also evil
 - and Hobbes’ moral philosophy, 235–237
 - and noncognitivism, 597
 - and slave morality, 483–485, 487–488
 - and Spinoza’s naturalism, 284–287
 - and the necessity of grace, 308
 - as being simple concepts, 552–553
 - moral sense theory and, 326–327
 - originate from rational intuition, 384
 - result from the imagination, 145
 - Shaftesbury’s moral sense approach to, 327–330
 - Socratic evaluation of, 23–26
 - good life. See also ethics: in classical philosophy and ancient scepticism, 89–92 and Jewish ‘whole heartedness’, 142–143

Index

- good life (cont.)
 and Leibniz, 278
 body and soul in the, 37–39 in Marxism, 505–506
 in pragmatism, 531–532
 medieval view of, 134–135, 140–141 neo-Platonic relationship to the, 104 Platonic, 30–33, 36–37
 sceptical, 89–92
 Stoic, 78–79
- good will. See also altruism and the highest good, 396 and worldly success, 11–14 more important than happiness, 395
- goodness. See also benevolence; virtue and Moore, 555–556
 and noncognitivism, 591–594, 600
 and the Cambridge Platonists, 248, 253–254
 and the republican strand of thought, 46–48
 as balance between natural and self affection, 328
 as choosing best from what is available, 564 as motivation to act, 270–271, 558 in accordance with God, 388
 in human psychic economy, 321–323
 Martin Luther's view of, 214–215 of nature, 367
 sophist, 105–106
 Stoic uniqueness of, 79–81, 82–83
- Gorgias* (Plato), 21, 38, 51
- government. See also polis and civil society, 430–431 and guarantees of equality, 664 goal of, 417
 rational state, 431–433
- grace
 and the corruption of nature, 304–310
 and virtuous atheism, 263 necessity of, 305–310
- 'Great Speech' (Protagoras), 18–20
- Green, T.H., 539–544
- Grotius, Hugo
 and Stoicism, 226
 and the obligation to act justly, 274–277 natural law philosophy of, 315
- Groundwork for the Metaphysics of Morals* (Kant), 345, 395, 396, 400–401, 404–406, 720, 722
- Guide of the Perplexed, The* (Maimonides), 143–151
- Gutas, Dimitri, 155
- Habermas, Jürgen
 and argumentation, 618–620
 and communicative action, 693–695
 and discourse ethics, 693
 law, politics and morality, 697–699
 morality and ethics in, 695–697 universalism, formalism and cognitivism, 699–704
- happiness. See also eudaimonia and Boethius' idea of true good, 125–129 and perfection, 270–271
 and population numbers in the world, 518
 and the Cambridge Platonists, 252–253
 and the Golden Age, 370–373
- Aristotelian, 52–53
 as antithetical to creative power, 489 as calm in the face of misfortune, 346 as pleasure, 514–515 Bentham's principle, 360
 in medieval Islamic lands, 154–155, 160
 is desired for its own sake, 444
 neo-Platonic, 101, 102–103
 Platonic, 30–39
 Protestant Reformist views of, 218–219 second in importance to good will, 395 speculative, 171–173
 twofold nature of, 173–175
- happiness principle, 360, 362–363
- Hare, R.M., 596–597, 601
- Harsanyi, J.C., 711–712
- hasid* (saint). See saintliness and the doctrine of the mean
- hêdonê* (pleasure), 55
- hedonism
 and Freudian psychoanalysis, 582
 and human psychic economy, 320–321, 323
 and Leibniz, 270
 and Spinoza's power of acting, 283–284
 as a theory of value, 441 calculus, 60–61
 in Epicureanism, 58–59, 71, 257–259
- Hegel, G.W.F.
 abstract rights and, 427–428 and being moral subjects, 428–429 and freedom of the objective mind, 424–426 and the argument of Elements of the Philosophy of Right, 426–427 and the rational state, 431–433 and ties to modern liberalism, 433–434
 background and works of, 421–422 conservative ethics of, 422–424

Index

- hégemonikon*. (will as power of self-determination). See autexousion
- Heidegger, Martin and being, 658
 and Sartre, 646
 authenticity and existentialism, 624–628 freedom and human agency, 628–630 relationship between philosophy and ethics in, 623–624 technology and, 630–634
- Heraclitus, 8–9
- herd morality, 486, 491
- Herodotus, 94–95
- Hesiod, 8
- heteronomy, 406
- Hippias (sophist), 16–17
- History and Class Consciousness* (Lukács), 608
- History of Sexuality* (Foucault), 660
- Hobbes, Thomas and Clarke, 549–550
 and decision theory, 714–715
 and Rousseau, 366
 and Sidgwick, 514–515
 and the Cambridge Platonists, 247 and the need for moral codes, 235–237
 and the obligation to act justly, 273–277
 moral duties of rulers and subjects, 241–244 moral grounding for political philosophy, 233–235 natural law and government, 238–241 reciprocity as a law of nature, 237–238
- Homer and failings of gods and men, 6–7 and Heraclitus, 8
- Hooker, B., 709
- Horgan, T., 599
- Horkheimer, Mark, 607–612
- hubris*. See pride
- human agency. See also will
 and Heidegger, 629–630, 631–632
 during the Protestant Reformation, 212–218
- humanism
 and Heidegger, 632
 and Petrarch, 193–196
 argumentation methods in, 196–198 beginnings during the Renaissance period, 192–193 gendered virtues in, 201–203 human nature in, 198–201 legacy of, 203–204 literature types of, 196
- Hume, David
 and Hegel, 423
 and Sidgwick, 510
 and the centrality of usefulness, 357–358 and the ‘science of man’, 338–339 catalogue of virtues, 345–350 influence of Francis Hutcheson on, 334–336 influencing Smith and Bentham, 353 moral sense and, 340–345
- Husserl, Edmund
 early phenomenological ethics, 565–568 transcendentalist philosophy of, 568–574
- Hutcheson, Francis
 and David Hume, 343
 and moral sense theory, 330–334
 and sentimentalism, 383 influence on subsequent moral philosophy, 334–336
 influencing Smith and Bentham, 353
- hypothetical-choice argument
 Harsanyi’s, 711–712
 Rawls’, 712–714
- ‘I’ (awareness of the), 411–412
- Ibn ‘Adī, Yahyā., 156–157. See Yahyā ibn ‘Adī
- Ibn Bājja, 162–164
- Ibn Gabirol, Solomon, 141–142
- Ibn Ṭufayl, 162–164
- idealism
 and capacity-based perfectionism, 539–544
 and holistic perfectionism, 544–547
 Aristotelian, 48–55
 as a link between classical philosophy and Kant, 535–536 ultimately constituted by reason, 424
- ideology and Marxism, 500, 517, 608
- idolatry and Maimonides, 150–151
- Iliad (epic poem), 6
- Illustrations upon the Moral Sense* (Hutcheson), 331, 332–334, 343
- imagination and Maimonides, 144–145
- immanence, 460
- impartial spectator, 355–356
- imperative types, 397
- In Defence of Usury* (Bentham), 358
- individualism and abstract rights, 427–428 and the dynamic character of rules, 675–676
 and the Frankfurt School, 611–612
- Initium institutionum juris perpetui* (Leibniz), 277–278
- Inquiry into the Original of Our Ideas of Beauty and Virtue, An* (Hutcheson), 330
- instincts
 and desired ends, 343

Index

- instincts (cont.)
 and Freudian psychoanalysis, 581–583, 585–588
 and sublimation, 583–584
Institutes of the Christian Religion (Calvin), 210 instrumental reason, 609–610, 613 intellect (acquired), 171–172 intellectual school (of philosophy), 325–326, 334
 intention and Christian moral action, 298–300 and consciousness, 566
 in human psychic economy, 320
 interest theory, 594
 intersubjective reality, 648–649
Introduction to the Principles of Morals and Legislation, An (Bentham), 358–363 intuitionism (ethical) and G.E. Moore, 555–556 and H.A. Prichard, 556–559 and Henry Sidgwick, 553–555 and Richard Price, 552–553 and Samuel Clarke, 549–552 and the concept of right and wrong, 384 and W.D. Ross, 559–560
 in meta-ethics, 510, 516
 Irwin, T., 535–538
 Isaac (biblical), 112–113, 116–122 Islamic lands
 Abū Bakr al-Rāzī, 157–159
 and Al-Kindī, 155–156
 Ibn Ṭufayl and mysticism, 162–164 mirrors for princes (literature category), 160–162
 Miskawayh and happiness/friendship, 159–160
 ‘science of the city’ in, 153–155
 Yahyā ibn ‘Adī, 156–157
 James, William, 524–525
 Jansenist movement, 307 Jesuit Order (Roman Catholic) and intention, 298–300 and probabilism, 300–301 Jewish ethics and the Mosaic commandments, 138–139 killing of innocents and, 112–122 Maimonides in, 143–151 natural law and commandment rationality, 139–141
 philosophical law system and duties of the heart, 142–143 practical morality in, 141–143 Johns, Christopher, 275 judgement (moral) and emotion in phenomenology, 566
 and Hobbes, 235, 241
 and the theory of moral sentiments, 353–358 constrained by anthropological facts, 446
 in meta-ethics, 510–511
 in moral sense theory, 331–332 sympathy as source for, 335 jurisprudence. See also laws Adam Smith on, 363
 and Jeremy Bentham, 358–360, 363 justice. See also social contract and Anselm’s rightness, 130 and contractualism, 720–722 and property rights, 414–415
 and Rawls’ hypothetical-choice argument, 712–714
 and the deduction of rights, 268–270 and usefulness, 357–358 as an artificial virtue, 347–350 as charity of the wise, 272
 as meta-ethical principle, 513 as morality in accordance with the ‘said’, 655
 communism an ideal beyond, 497–500 in early Hebrew–Christian thought, 114
 Platonic, 34
kalon (beautiful), 45, 50–52 Kant, Immanuel and anti-theory, 687–688
 and Brentano, 564
 and British idealism, 535–536
 and capacity-based perfectionism, 542–544
 and discourse ethics, 692–693
 and Hegel, 428–429
 and Heidegger, 625
 and Marxism, 502–503
 and Nietzsche, 488–490
 and perfectionism, 536–538
 and Pierre Bayle, 262
 and Rawls, 712–714, 718–729
 and Sartre, 646–648
 and Schopenhauer, 448, 450–451
 and the categorical imperative, 397–400
 and the Frankfurt School, 614–615, 618–619
 and transcendentalism, 473 and two kinds of final end, 394–396 and universalisation, 345 ethics of, 189
 on autonomy, 406 system of duties, 400–402

Index

- Kantian morality and good will in practice, 396–397, 558
 and judgement, 132
 and the status of animals, people, and God, 403–404
 justification for, 407–408
- Karaism, 139–141
- katastematic pleasure, 61–64
- kathékonta* (duties), 227–228
- Kierkegaard, Søren and higher pseudonyms, 463–467 and lower pseudonyms, 459–463 on loyalty, 120
Works of Love, 467–470
- killing of innocents
 and Maimonides, 150–151
 in medieval Islamic lands, 158–159 in medieval Jewish ethics, 112–122
- kinetic pleasure, 62
- knowledge
 and Maimonides, 144–146
 and Spinoza's conatus, 287–289 and value in pragmatism, 528–532 coming from empirical observation, 436–438
 medieval Jewish sources of reliable, 140
 Platonic, 35–37
 Price's three grounds of, 553
 Socratic, 22–23
- Kohlberg, L., 696
- Kutadgu Bilig* (Yüsuf of Balasagun), 160–162
- Laches* (Plato), 21
- language
 and sophists, 15
 logic of, 667–669, 672–673, 674–675
- Language of Morals, The* (Hare), 596
- Language, Truth and Logic* (Ayer), 591
- law of nature and the fitness of things, 382
 in practical philosophy, 387
 independent of reward or punishment, 381
- laws. See also jurisprudence and a formula of autonomy, 405 and Leibniz' three grades of nature, 269–270
 eternal, 176 grounded in agent morals, 312 rationality of, 149–151 respect for, 397
 sophist, 17
- Lectures on the History of Moral Philosophy* (Rawls), 722
- LeDoeuff, Michelle, 223
- Legitimization Problems in Late Capitalism* (Habermas), 618
- Leibniz, Gottfried Wilhelm and disinterested love, 277–280 and just action, 271–274 and motivation to act, 270–271
 and the obligation to act justly, 274–277 influencing Christian Wolff, 385
- Letter to Menoeceus* (Epicurus), 66
- Leviathan* (Hobbes), 243, 720
- Levinas, Emmanuel, 654–656, 663
- Lewis, C.I., 528–532
- liberalism
 and Rawls, 725–727
 ideology of, 501
- Life of Proclus* (Marinus), 108–110
- life process of society, 500
- literature
 humanist, 196
 mirrors for princes, 160–162
- Locke, John and rational system of morality, 326
 and Rousseau, 366
 and Shaftesbury's moral sense approach, 327–330
 natural law ethical tradition of, 315–319 philosophical differences from and commonalities with Joseph Butler, 311–315
- Loewald, Hans, 580
- logic inconsistency in, 686
 Jewish medieval view of, 139
- Logical Investigations* (Husserl), 566
- love and absolute value, 570–573 and debt and obligation to God, 467–468 and Eros, 585–588
 and intrinsic goodness, 564–565 and reason paradox, 573–574 disinterested, 277–280
- Lukács, Georg, 608–609
- Luther, Martin
 and human agency, 212–218
 views on Scholasticism, 209–212
- Lyons, David, 360
- Lyotard, Jean-François, 657
- Magna Moralia* (Aristotle), 46, 48
- Maimonides, Moses and moral character, 144–146
 and the doctrine of the mean, 146–149

Index

- Maimonides, Moses (cont.)
 borrowing from classical philosophy, 143–144
- Malebranche, Nicolas, 257–258
- malice. See vice
- Mandeville, Bernard
 influencing Smith and Bentham, 33 virtue and vice, 330–331
- Manetti, Giannozzo, 199
- Marcuse, Herbert, 608–609, 617–618
- Marinus, of Neapolis, 108–110
- Marty, Anton, 595
- Marx, Karl
 and Kant, 502–503
 and liberalism, 501
 and Sartre, 649
 and Schopenhauer, 449
 and social contractarianism, 503–504
 and the Frankfurt School, 608–609
 and the good life, 505–506 and the moral status of capitalism, 495–500 and utilitarianism, 504–505 critical theory and, 618 ideology of, 500–505
 master morality, 483–485 maximisation argument, 710–711
- McClennen, E.F., 714–715
- Meaning of 'Meaning', The* (Richards), 595
- Méditation sur la notion commune de la justice* (Leibniz), 272
- Memorabilia* (Xenophon), 25
- Mendelssohn, Moses, 390
- mental good. See also good Epicurean, 61
 Stoic, 80
- mental health and virtue, 579–580
- meta-ethics principles of, 512–514
 use of methods in, 509–510
- metaphysics
 and Descartes' provisional moral code, 225–226, 230–231
 of mind, 639–640
- methods (in meta-ethics), 509–510
- Methods of Ethics, The* (Sidgwick) and Butler, 319
 and contemporary ethics, 519–520
 and egoism, 514
 and the development of meta-ethics, 509–510
 and the dualism of practical reason, 516–517 and the failure of common sense morality, 511–512
 and utilitarianism obligations, 517–519 happiness as pleasure, 514–515 reason and ethical judgement, 510–511
 self-evident principles of, 512–514
- Middle Ages
 Christian Aristotelianism in the, 168–179 Duns Scotus and William of Ockham, 181–189
- Mill, John Stuart
 and Brentano, 564
 and commitment to naturalism, 436–438
 and Hegel, 424
 and Jeremy Bentham, 358
 and pleasure, 360–361, 439–441
 and public policy, 361 axiology and proof of the principle of utility, 442–446
- Miller, D.E., 440
- mimesis, 611, 615–617
- Minima Moralia* (Adorno), 617
- minimalism, 598–599
- mirrors for princes (literature category), 160–162
- Miskawayh, 157, 159–160
- modern ethical philosophy and anti-theory, 678–681
 and decision theory, 706–707
 and discourse ethics, 694–695 and the ethics of equality, 660–663 ethics of immanence, 657–659 ethics of the other, 654–657 Locke and Butler examples of, 313
- modern moral philosophy. See also modern ethical philosophy and classical philosophy, 313 and natural law, 314 of Joseph Butler, 323
 versus Anscombe, 681
- Monita quaedam ad Samuelis Puffendorffii principia* (Leibniz), 271–272
- Montaigne, Michel de, 198
- Moore, G.E., 319, 553, 555–556, 563, 591–594
- moral code
 and self-actualisation theory, 426–427
 conservative, 422
 necessary for development for ethical philosophy, 320 need for simplicity in, 552–553 of Albert the Great, 169 of Ockham and Scotus, 188–189 Protestant Reformist views of, 219 provisional, 221–231

Index

- moral disagreement and noncognitivism, 601–602
- Moral Letters* (Rousseau), 375–376
- moral realism and moral rationalism, 379–385
 and perfectionism, 385–390
 Platonic, 33–37
- moral sense theory. See also reason
 and David Hume, 340–345
 and Francis Hutcheson, 330–334 and Shaftesbury, 327–330 origins of, 326–327
- moral subjects, 428–429
- morale par provision*. See provisional moral code
- morality
 being personal, 673–675 in crisis, 450
- More, Henry, 250–253, 255
- Mosaic commandments (Jewish), 138–139
- motivation and internalism, 600–601 and moral obligation, 317–319
- mysticism, 162–164
- Nancy, Jean-Luc, 657
- natural law. See also reason
 and conscience, 266
 and divine precepts in the Middle Ages, 186–189
 and Hobbes, 233–235, 237–241 and Kant's system of duties, 401
 and Leibniz, 268–270
 and modern moral philosophy, 313–314
 and Nathaniel Culverwell, 248–250
 and prudence, 170–171
 and the corruption of nature, 301–302
 and Thomas Aquinas, 173–176
 and universal law of nature, 404 ethical tradition of John Locke, 315–319 rationality of, 149
- natural rights, 359
- natural virtues, 345–347
- nature
 aim of life in, 78–79
 and convention, 17–18
 and Thoreau, 477–478
 corruption of, 298–304
 Mills' commitment to, 436–438
 Spinoza's belief that humans should share same, 291–293 Stoic senses of, 77–78
- technological control of, 619 three grades of, 269–270, 272–273
- necessity (Protestant views of), 215–218
- Negative Dialectics* (Adorno), 617
- neo-Platonism. See also Plato ontology of, 100–102
 virtue in, 107–110
 wise man as ethical demonstration in, 102–107
- Nicomachean Ethics* (Aristotle) and al-Fārābī, 154–155
 and Christian Aristotelianism, 168, 173 and goodness, 46, 78
 and Pascal, 304
 and practical virtue, 45, 53
 and the doctrine of the mean, 146–148
 on friendship, 54
- Nietzsche, Friedrich and death of God, 482–483 and genealogy of morality, 483–485 and the will to power, 483 as philosopher of culture, 485 conflicting with Kant and utilitarianism, 488–490 creative forces overcoming traditional values, 491–492 good and evil and, 487–488 place in history, 482
 self-determination, 486–487 virtue ethics of, 490–491
- Nogarola, Isotta, 202
- nomos/phusis* (convention/nature) antithesis, 17–18, 76, 95
- noncognitivism
 and emotivism, 594–596
 and the Frege–Geach problem, 602–604 and universal prescriptivism, 596–597 and Wittgenstein, 673–674 central motivations for, 599–602
 definition of, 591
 expressivism and, 597–599 history of, 591–597
- normative ethics. See moral code
- Notebooks for an Ethics* (Sartre), 648
- Nouveaux essais* (Leibniz), 272, 273
- Nova methodus discendae docendaeque jurisprudentiae* (Leibniz), 268–270
- Nussbaum, M., 12
- obligation. See also modern moral philosophy and debt owed to God, 468–469 and right action, 384–385 in Anscombe, 681, 682

Index

- obligation (cont.)
 resulting from a dependence on God, 389
 to act justly, 273–277
 transcendental view of, 571–573
 Odyssey (epic poem), 6
Of the Immortality of the Soul (More), 251 Of Hospitality (Derrida), 656
 Ogden, C.K., 595–596
 Olympic games, 8
On Avarice (Bracciolini), 200
On Benefits (Seneca), 87
On Choices (Epicurus), 61
On Happiness (Plotinus), 103
On Harmony (Anselm), 130
On Liberty (Mill), 442
On Pleasure (Valla), 198
On the Basis of Morality (Schopenhauer), 450–451
On the Dignity and Excellence of Man (Manetti), 199
On the Fall of the Devil (Anselm), 129–130
On the Freedom of the Will (Anselm), 448
On the Freedom of the Will (Schopenhauer), 448, 455
On the Genealogy of Mortality (Nietzsche) and values, 482–485
 self-determination, 486–487
On the Jewish Question (Marx), 504
On the Means of Dispelling Sorrows (al-Kindī), 156
On the Moral Ends (Epicurus/Cicero), 59, 62
On Truth (Anselm), 24
On Truth (Antiphon), 17–18, 24
On Truth (Protagoras), 129
On Virginité (Ambrose), 121
On Virtues and Vices (Aristotle), 46, 48
On What Matters (Parfit), 510
One-Dimensional Man (Marcuse), 618 ontology. See also egoism
 neo-Platonic, 100–102
 of Heidegger, 631–633
 open question argument, 553, 555–556, 599 ordinary person and the sage, 101, 107
 in Hobbes, 241–244
 organic unities (doctrine of), 556 Origenism, 250
Origin of our Knowledge of Right and Wrong, The (Brentano), 563 original rights, 412 original sin, 211, 213–218, 374 orthos logos (right reason), 53–54 Otherwise than Being, or Beyond Essence (Levinas), 654
Outlines of Skepticism (Sextus Empiricus), 89 pain. See also aponia Epicurean, 59–61, 66
 Platonic, 39
 Palmieri, Matteo, 199
 Parfit, D., 510, 519–520
 Pascal, Blaise and corrupt nature, 301–304
 grace, 304–310
 moral law, 298–301
 passion
 and the Cambridge Platonists, 252–253
 in human psychic economy, 321–323 reason slave to, 343
 Stoic freedom from, 84–85
Passions of the Soul (Descartes), 224
 Peirce, C.S., 521–524
Pensées (Pascal), 297, 301, 308 perfection and happiness, 270–271, 279
 and Kant, 536–538
 and Spinoza, 284–287, 294–296 and the goodness of nature, 367
 in meta-ethics, 515
 in practical philosophy, 387
 not an end, 627–628 perfectionism capacity-based, 539–544 holistic, 544–547
 perfectionist moral realism and theological voluntarism, 385–390 capacity-based and holistic perfection in, 538–539
 personhood, 403–404
 pessimism
 as only intrinsic value, 456–457 of Freud, 578–579, 581–583 of Sartre, 644–645 Petrarch and the beginnings of humanism, 193–196 rhetorical argumentation style of, 196–197 Phaedo (Plato), 37–39, 101 phenomenological ethics. See also transcendentalist philosophy and Franz Brentano, 563–565
 and Sartre, 637–638
Phenomenology of Spirit (Hegel), 421, 425 Philebus (Plato), 39
philia (friendship), 54

Index

- Philosopher's Way of Life* (Abū Bakr al-Rāzī), 157–159
- Philosophical Investigations* (Wittgenstein), 672, 674–675
- philosophy (as a vocation), 230
- phronēsis* (practical wisdom), 43–44, 53–54
- Pico, Giovanni, della Mirandola, 199
- piety
 and Leibniz' three grades of nature, 269
 and Maimonides, 148–149
 in early Hebrew–Christian thought, 114, 117–118
- Plato. See also Cambridge Platonists; classical philosophy; neo-Platonism and good education, 5–6
 and perfectionism, 539
 and piety, 113–115
 and sophists, 15–16
 and the nomos/phusis antithesis, 17–20 becoming like a god, 39–40 goodness and evaluation in, 23–26 influence on ethical philosophy, 28–29 moral realism and expertise, 33–37 republican strand of thought, 45–48 Socratic theory, 21–23 soul and body in, 37–39 virtue and the good life in, 30–33, 80
- pleasure
 and atheism, 262
 and perfection, 279
 and Pierre Bayle, 257–259
 Aristotelian, 55
 bodily and mental, 61
 in Epicureanism, 57
 katastematic and kinetic, 61–64
 Platonic, 39
 quantification of, 360–361, 439–441
- pleasure principle, 581–583
- Plotinus
 as founder of the Neoplatonic school, 100–102
 wise man as ethical demonstration in, 102–108
- pluralism and anti-theory, 688–689
- poetry
 Homeric, 6–7
 in Presocratic education, 5–6 reincarnation theories in, 9–10
- Poggio Bracciolini, Gian Francesco, 198, 200
- polis*
 and the republican strand of thought, 45
 Aristotelian, 48–50, 77
 value of the wise man in the, 8
- Political Liberalism* (Rawls), 726
- political philosophy. See also social contract and autonomous legislation, 406
 and civil society, 430–431
 and constructivism, 725–727
 and contractualism, 720–722
 and discourse ethics, 697–699
 and the French ethics of equality, 660–663
 and transcendentalism, 478 and truth as a community project, 522–524 of J.G. Fichte, 412–414 of John Locke, 311–312
- political virtue
 and Hobbes' moral philosophy, 238–241
 moral duties of rulers and subjects, 241–244
- population rise (world), 518
- Porphyry, 107–108, 109
- power and possibility, 306
 and virtue, 287
 will to, 482–483
- practical philosophy and discourse philosophy, 692–693 and moral realism, 386
 and morality one domain of reason, 445–446
 as choosing best from what is available, 564
- pragmatism. See also empiricism and C.I. Lewis, 528–532 and C.S. Peirce, 521–524 and John Dewey, 526–528 and William James, 524–525 experience and value in, 524–525
 in humanism, 193
 scope of, 521
- praxis theory, 565
- preferred indifferent behaviour, 80–81
- Price, Richard and Cudworth, 255
 an ethical intuitionist, 552–553 as a union between moral rationalism and moral realism, 383–385
- Prichard, H.A., 556–559
- pride, 148
- prima facie duties, 555–556
- Principia Ethica* (Moore), 555
- principle of morality
 and decision theory, 708–710 in discourse ethics, 699–704
- probabilism, 300–301
- Proclus, 108–110
- Prolegomena to Ethics* (Green), 539–544
- prolēpsis* (preconception), 67

Index

- property rights, 315, 412
Protagoras (Plato) and the pursuit of good things, 23
 and virtue, 16–17, 18–20
 goodness and evaluation in, 6, 105–106
 self-improvement, 21 Protestant Reformation
 and human agency, 212–218 and the attack on Scholasticism, 209–212 complexity of, 208–209 views of personal happiness in, 218–219
 protreptic strand of thought, 42–45 Protrepticus (Aristotle), 42, 44–45, 48 providential determinism, 82–83, 85–86 Provincial Letters (Pascal), 297, 299 provisional moral code and Descartes' epistemology and metaphysics, 230–231
 definition of, 228–230
 maxims of, 222–228
 prudence
 and Christian Aristotelianism, 170–171
 and Thomas Aquinas, 176–177
 as meta-ethical principle, 513 as partial competencies, 186
 in humanist thought, 199
 pseudonyms, lower, 459–463 psychic economy, 321–323 psychoanalysis
 and sexual freedom, 584–585
 as an ethical inquiry, 577–578 Freudian pessimism, 578–579, 581–583 sublimation in, 583–584
 public policy
 and Adam Smith, 352–353
 and Jeremy Bentham, 352–353, 361–363 Pufendorf, Samuel von, 326, 404 punishment
 Adam Smith and Jeremy Bentham on, 363
 and sophists, 19
 as sympathetic indignation, 355 capital, 298 independent of the law of nature, 381–382
 Kant and Marx on, 503
 only valid if an existing law, 402 tied to blame, 446
 purificatory virtue, 109
 Pyrrhonian scepticism, 88–90, 92–94, 97
Questions on the Heptateuch (Augustine), 121–122
 radical conversion, 640–646 radical scepticism, 222–223 Rancière, Jacques, 660–662, 664 rational egoism, 290–296 rational state, 431–433
 rationalism
 and decision theory, 714–715
 and expected-utility theory, 709 and free will to act socially, 425–426, 502 and Hobbes' moral philosophy, 237
 and moral realism, 379–385
 and Maimonides, 144–146, 149–151
 and the 'relation of right', 412–414
 and the theory of communicative action, 619–620
 means–end, 695–697
 of Jewish commandments, 139–141 Stoic, 82–85
 Rawls, J.
 and constructivism, 718–719, 722–727
 and contractualism, 720–722 and contractualist constructivism, 728–729 and Marx, 499
 and the social contract tradition, 719–720
 and utilitarianism, 711 reality independent of human agreements and conventions, 674 principle, 581–583 reason. See also moral sense theory; natural law
 and Descartes' provisional moral code, 225–226
 and Hobbes' moral philosophy, 237 and love paradox, 573–574 and Romanticism, 438
 and scepticism, 93
 and Spinoza's sharing one's nature, 291–293
 and the Cambridge Platonists, 249
 and the Frankfurt School, 609–610
 and virtue, 288
 as passive storehouse for experience, 452 as reliable source of belief, 300–301 distinct from reasoning, 375–376 dualism of practical, 516–517
 in medieval Islamic lands, 157–159
 in meta-ethics, 510–511
 in practical philosophy, 387
 Jewish medieval view of, 140 moral use of, 695–697 phenomenological critique of, 566 Samuel Pufendorf as example of, 326 universality of, 399

Index

- unreliability of, 309–310 ‘reason of things’, 380–382 reciprocity and governance, 238–241
 and Hobbes’ moral philosophy, 237–238
Refinement of Character (Miskawayh), 159–160 Reformation of Morals, The (Yaḥyā ibn ‘Adī), 156–157 reincarnation (Presocratic), 9–10 ‘relation of right’, 411–412 religion and higher self-love, 372
 as reliable source of belief, 300–301 independent of right and wrong, 328–329, 332–333 needing to operate in the boundaries of reason, 404 regulation of as moral duty, 243 Renaissance humanism, 192–193 renewal, ethics of, 570–571 Republic (Plato) becoming like a god in, 39 body and soul in, 38–39 complexity of the soul, 32–33 justice in, 28
 moral realism and expertise, 33, 34, 35, 36
 republican strand of thought, 45–48 responsibility for actions, 455
 Stoic, 85–86
 to the other, 655–656 towards ethical values, 568–574 Reveries of a Solitary Walker (Rousseau), 375 Review of the Principal Questions in Morals, A (Price), 255 rhetoric. See language Richards, I.A., 595–596
 Ridge, M., 599 right and wrong. See good and evil right reason
 and atheism, 261–262
 and obligation, 384–385
 and pleasure, 53–54
 meaning maximisation of good, 555–556 never being grounded in the good, 556–559 Rights of War and Peace, The (Grotius), 315 risk and totality, 654
 Rawls’ aversion to, 721
 Rodis-Lewis, Geneviève, 231 Romanticism and empiricism, 438
 and John Stuart Mill, 437 Rosen, Frederick, 360
 Ross, W.D., 319, 385, 559–560 Rousseau, Jean-Jacques and a general society of the human race, 368–370 and human freedom, 365–366 and the sentiment of existence, 367–368 dualism between physical and moral nature, 373–376 Emile and the Golden Age, 370–373 rulers
 and the republican strand of thought, 47–48 moral duties of, 241–244 rules. See duties
 Ryan, A., 527
 Saadiah, ben Joseph al-Fayyumi Gaon, 139–141, 149 Sabianism, 150–151 sacrifice (offering). See killing of innocents sage. See wise man saintliness and the doctrine of the mean, 148 Salutati, Coluccio, 196–197, 199 Sartre, Jean-Paul
 and purgation, 638–640
 freedom and ethical theory of, 636–638 freedom in action, 646–650 radical conversion of, 640–646 Sayings of Socrates, The (al-Kindī), 156 scepticism agency and assent, 92–94 and the nature of value, 96–98 as a Socratic philosophical strand, 88–89
 disagreement in, 94–96
 truth in a good life, 89–92 Scholasticism
 and Christian Aristotelianism, 168
 and the emergence of humanism, 193–196
 Duns Scotus and William of Ockham, 181–189
 during the Protestant Reformation, 209–212 Schopenhauer, Arthur and determinism, 448–449
 and Kant, 448, 450–451
 egoism, compassion and malice, 451–455 responsibility, pessimism and asceticism, 455–457 Schwarze Hefte (Heidegger), 624, 633 science and al-Fārābī types, 153–154 and Descartes’ provisional moral code, 225–226

Index

- science (cont.)
 and the validity of moral commands, 407–408
 differing from ethics because of voluntary conduct, 526
 ethical like physical, 524 ethics as a practical, 169–170 Freud presenting psychoanalytic theory as, 577
 ‘science of man’ philosophy, 338–339 Scotus, John Duns
 free will and, 181–183
 natural law and divine precepts, 186–189
 virtue and, 183–186
 Searle, J., 693
Second Treatise of Government (Locke), 315 Sefer Hovot ha-Levavot (The Book of Direction to the Duties of the Heart) (Bahya), 142–143 Sein und Zeit (Time and Being) (Heidegger), 623–628
 Selby-Bigge, L.A., 325–326 self-actualisation
 and holistic perfectionism, 545–547
 and master/slave morality, 486–487 theory, 426–427
 self-direction
 and awareness of the I, 411–412
 and Husserl, 568
 and Ralph Cudworth, 254–255
 and the Cambridge Platonists, 252
 and the impartial spectator, 355–356 without emotional overload, 289 self-evident principles of Sidgwick, 512–514 of truth, 553 testing of, 553–555
 selfhood and communion with God, 469 as process that occurs in social context, 465–467
 self-improvement (views on), 20–22 self-interest and a sympathetic moral code, 357–358
 and Marxism, 503–504
 and the categorical imperative, 400 and the motivation to act, 271–274 as main reason for will, 539–541 self-knowledge being possible for everyone, 473 Stoic, 82–83
 self-love
 and self-love, 366
 in Rousseau’s Emile, 371–373
 in human psychic economy, 320–322
 self-preservation, 551 Seneca, 226
 senses
 as reliable source of belief, 300–301
 Jewish medieval view of, 139, 141 sensible world (neo-Platonic), 100–102 Sentences (Porphyry), 107 sentimental school (of philosophy) and existence, 367–368 and Hume, 339, 341–343
 and morality, 325–326
 compared to rationalism, 382–383
 in meta-ethics, 511
 influencing Smith and Bentham, 353 theory of moral, 353–358 Sermons (Butler), 319–323
 Sextus Empiricus, 88, 91, 95–98 sexual freedom, 584–585
 Shaftesbury, Anthony Ashley Cooper, 327–330
 Sheehan, T., 632
Sickness unto Death, The (Kierkegaard), 465–467
 Sidgwick, Henry
 and contemporary ethics, 519–520
 and egoism, 514
 and Joseph Butler, 319, 323
 and the development of meta-ethics, 509–510
 and the dualism of practical reason, 516–517
 and the failure of common sense morality, 511–512
 and utilitarianism obligations, 313, 517–519
 and Wittgenstein, 672
 as intuitionist, 553–555
 happiness as pleasure, 514–515
 reason and ethical judgement, 510–511
 self-evident principles of, 512–514
 Simon, H., 710
 sin
 and divine precepts in the Middle Ages, 188–189
 and forms of despair, 466–467
 and the corruption of nature, 302–304
 and the necessity of grace, 305–310
 and the Protestant Reformation, 211, 213–218
 and virtuous atheism, 263–265 Singer, P., 519–520 slave morality, 483–485 slavery, 478
 Slote, M., 710
 Smart, J.J.C., 709

Index

- Smith, Adam
 and the theory of moral sentiments, 353–358
 influence of Francis Hutcheson on, 334–335
 influenced by sentimental philosophy, 353
 public policy, 352–353
 punishment and, 363
- Smith, Norman Kemp, 339
- social contract. See also justice; political philosophy and action, 413
 and Marxism, 503–504
 and Rawls, 719–720
- Social Contract* (Rousseau), 365
- society and being-in-itself, 648–649
 and holistic perfectionism, 545–546 and ideology, 500–505
 and pragmatism, 522–524
 and self-actualisation theory, 426–427
 and Stoicism, 83
 and the Frankfurt School, 612–617
 and the French ethics of equality, 661–663 and transcendental phenomenology, 569–570 as a long-running experiment, 524 civil, 430–431
 duty to, 550
 periods of withdrawal from, 480
 sophist, 16–20
- Socrates
 and al-Kindī, 156
 and an unexamined life, 91 and ancient scepticism, 88–89 and differences in good souls, 13–14 and disagreement, 95 and humanist movement, 195
 and sophists, 15–26
 protreptic strand of thought, 42–45 separation of body and soul in, 101
- Socratic paradox, 31
- Socratic question, 29
- sophists, 15–26
- soul
 and autexousion (self-determination), 254–255 and courage, 22–23
 and the protreptic strand of thought, 42–45
 and the republican strand of thought, 47–48
 Jewish medieval view of, 142
 Miskawayh's theory of the immortality of, 159–160
 neo-Platonic, 100–102, 104
 Platonic, 31–33, 37–39
 pre-existence of the, 250 Presocratic reincarnation of the, 9–10 Stoic education of the, 82–83
- sovereigns. See rulers
- speculative happiness, 171–173
- Spinoza, Baruch and altruism, 290–296
 and Deleuze, 658–659
 and egoism, 283–284
 and virtue, 287–289
- Spiritual Medicine* (al-Rāzī), 157
- spiritual pleasure, 258
- spoudaios* (sage). See wise man
- Stevenson, Charles, 594–596, 599–602
- Stocker, M., 451
- Stoicism
 and Descartes' provisional moral code, 226–227
 and the Cambridge Platonists, 247 freedom from passion in, 84–85 natural sociability in, 83 origins of, 75–77
 paradox in, 86–87
 providential determinism, 85–86 self-preservation in, 201 senses of nature in, 77–78 uniqueness of the good in, 79–81 virtue and vice in, 82
- Stoics
 and Al-Kindī, 156
 and the 'Cradle Argument', 64–65
- Structural Transformation of the Public Sphere* (Habermas), 618
- subjective will, 429
- subjects, Hobbes' view of, 241, 243
- sublimation, 583–584
- summation principle, 564, 573
- sunderesis* (fundamental moral awareness), 176–177
- 'Symmetry Argument', 68–69
- sympathy
 and the theory of moral sentiments, 354–355
 as source of moral judgement, 335
- Symposium* (Plato), 38, 39
- System of Ethics* (Fichte), 410
- System of Moral Philosophy* (Hutcheson), 334
- ta'amei ha-mitzvot* (study of the underlying reasons behind the commandments), 138–151
- technology, 630–634
- telos* (goal of life), 78–79
- Ten Modes of argument, 89, 90, 96

Index

- tetrapharmakos (fourfold medicine), 66 Theaetetus (Plato), 24, 39 thelematology, 389 theology
 and Schopenhauer, 450
 of the Cambridge Platonists, 246–247 voluntarism in, 385–390 Theory of Communicative Action,
 The (Habermas), 619–620, 693–695 Theory of Forms, 33–35
Theory of Justice, A (Rawls) and act utilitarianism, 711
 and contractualism, 720–722
 and the social contract tradition, 719–720 Theory of Moral Sentiments, The (Smith), 335, 353–358
 theurgic virtue, 109
Thinking How to Live (Gibbard), 598 Thoreau, Henry David, 476–479 thought experimentation, 527 three grades of nature, 269–270 Timaeus (Plato), 33, 38, 39, 158
 Timmons, M., 599 Tiqqun Middot ha-Nefesh (On the Improvement of the Moral Qualities) (ibn Gabirol), 141 tolerance (religious), 266–267 Torah
 and the doctrine of the mean, 140 killing of innocents in, 112–113, 115–117 Totality and Infinity (Levinas), 654 Tractatus Logico-Philosophicus (Wittgenstein), 667–669
 tradition, 140
 tranquillity (virtue), 344–345, 346 transcendentalist philosophy. See also phenomenological ethics
 and Deleuze, 657
 and discourse ethics, 701–702
 and Fuller, 479–480 and immanence, 460–461
 and pragmatism, 522
 and Sartre, 640–646, 648–650
 and Thoreau, 476–479
 Emerson, 473–476
 in America, 472
Treatise Concerning Eternal and Immutable Morality, A (Cudworth), 253–255, 342 Treatise of Human Nature (Hume), A, 339, 342–345
True Intellectual System of the Universe, The (Cudworth), 253 truth and democratic inquiry, 526–528 as a pragmatic community project, 522–524 as self-evident and incapable of proof, 553 spoken, 511
 truth in a good life practical, 177
 sceptical, 89–92
 Tyrell, James, 255
 universal law
 and categorical imperative, 399–401
 and master/slave morality, 489–490 universalism
 and discourse ethics, 699–704
 and prescriptivism, 596–597 utilitarianism
 and decision theory, 710–712
 and expected-utility theory, 708–709
 and Marxism, 504–505
 and Nietzsche, 487–488
 as a method in meta-ethics, 510, 517–519
 centrality of in justice, 357–358 Utilitarianism (Mill), 361 utopian philosophy, 617 validity. See truth Valla, Lorenzo, 198 value absolute, 570–574
 and facts, 669
 and Nietzsche, 482–485, 491–492
 and Sartre's idea of freedom, 639–640, 646–650
 and the doctrine of organic unities, 556
 and the quantity of pleasure, 439–441 conditional, 394–396 of wise man, 8 phenomenological analogies for objective, 567 pragmatic, 524–525, 528–532 rank ordering of, 565 sceptical nature of, 96–98 vice and falsehood, 343–344
 and public prosperity, 261 Islamic medieval, 157 opposed to kindness, 454 Stoic paradox of, 86–87 Vienna Circle, 592–594 virtue. See also goodness and achieving potential for selfhood, 464–465
 and atheism, 259–263

Index

- and Descartes' provisional moral code, 223–225
 and Miskawayh, 159–160
 and Maimonides, 144–147
 and obligation, 385
 and religion, 328–330
 and Spinoza's conatus, 287–289
 and the protreptic strand of thought, 42–45 calmness and tranquillity as, 344–345 duties of, 402
 Epicurean, 70–71
 genealogical picture of, 474
 'Great Speech' (Protagoras), 18–20 grounded in conduct, 312 Hume's catalogue of, 345–350
 in Christian Aristotelianism, 173
 in humanist thought, 200, 201–203 in psychoanalysis, 579–580
 Islamic medieval, 157
 Stoic, 80, 82, 86–87
 virtue ethics, 228, 490–491 virtue, classical and the Cambridge Platonists, 252
 Aristotelian, 53
 in Presocratic times, 5–6
 neo-Platonic, 101, 107–110
 Platonic, 30–33
 Socratic, 15, 22–23
 Vives, Lodovico, 195
- Walden, or Life in the Woods* (Thoreau), 476–478 wealth (humanist), 200
Wealth of Nations (Smith), 352–353, 358
 Weber, Max, 608, 693
 Whichcote, Benjamin, 245, 250 whole-heartedness (Jewish medieval), 142–143 will, 132–135. See also autonomy; free will and Leibniz' motivation to action, 270–271 and practical philosophy, 386 and self-interest, 539–541
 and the categorical imperative, 397–400
 and thelematology, 389
 as powerless to change the world, 670 Boethius' concepts of, 130–132 free, 181–183
 hypothetical-choice argument, 711–714 primacy over reason, 453, 456–457 set by desire for well-being, 537–538 subjective, 429
 will to power, 482–483
 William of Ockham
 and the Protestant Reformation, 210
 free will and, 181–183
 natural law and divine precepts, 186–189
 virtue and, 183–186
 Williams, B., 683–690
Wise Choices, Apt Feelings (Gibbard), 598 wise man and citizenship, 16–17
 and disinterested love, 280
 and Maimonides, 148–149
 and phronēsis (practical wisdom), 43–44 in neo-Platonic thought, 101–107 in the Kutadgu Bilig (The Wisdom that Conduces to Royal Glory or Fortune) (Yūsuf of Balasagun), 300–301
 Stoic, 86–87, 90
 value of in the Greek polis, 8 Wittgenstein, Ludwig and Philosophical Investigations, 674–676 anti-theory of, 676 formative influences on, 666–667 influence of, 672–674 manifest and latent views of, 668–672 writings on ethics, 667–668 Wolff, Christian
 perfectionism and universal law, 537, 539 universal practical philosophy of, 385–390 Wollaston, William, 343–344, 382 Woman in the Nineteenth Century (Fuller), 479 women and inequality, 201–203 Wood, A., 426, 496–497
Works of Love (Kierkegaard), 459, 467–470 Writings on Grace (Pascal), 306–307
- Xenophanes and drinking party behaviour, 8 goodness and evaluation in, 25–26, 80
 Olympics and the polis, 8 perfect moral standards in gods, 7–8
- Yaḥyā ibn 'Adī, 156, 157
 Yūsuf of Balasagun, 160–162
- Zeno
 aim of life, 78–79
 origins of Stoicism, 75–77 Stoic senses, 77–78
 Zopyrus (Phaedo), 21