

Contents

List of contributors	page vii
Preface	ix
Part I The phenomenon of stress
1 The study of word accent and stress: past, present, and future	3
HARRY VAN DER HULST
2 Do all languages have word accent?	56
LARRY M. HYMAN
3 Disentangling stress and pitch-accent: a typology of prominence at different prosodic levels	83
MATTHEW GORDON
4 The separation of accent and rhythm: evidence from StressTyp	119
ROB GOEDEMAN AND HARRY VAN DER HULST
Part II The description, selection, and use of stress data
5 Evaluating evidence for stress systems	149
PAUL DE LACY
6 Convergence of prominence systems?	194
KEREN RICE
7 Rhetorical stress in Spanish	228
JOSÉ I. HUALDE AND MARIANNA NADEU
Part III The analysis of stress types / stress phenomena
8 Culminativity times harmony equals unbounded stress	255
JEFFREY HEINZ

Cambridge University Press

978-1-107-03951-3 - Word Stress: Theoretical and Typological Issues

Edited by Harry Van Der Hulst

Table of Contents

More information

vi	Contents
9	Possible and impossible exceptions in Dutch word stress CARLOS GUSSENHOVEN	276
10	Symmetries and asymmetries in secondary stress patterns BRETT HYDE	297
11	Representing rhythm HARRY VAN DER HULST	325
	Index of languages	366
	Index of subjects	369